gladnes, both with thankesgiuings and with songs, cymbales, viols and with harpes. <sup>28</sup>Then the singers gathered themselues together both from the plaine countrey about Ierusalem, and from the villages of Netophathi, <sup>29</sup>And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreis of Geba, and Azmaueth: for the singers had built them villages round about Ierusalem. <sup>30</sup>And the Priestes and Leuites were purified, and censed the people, and the gates, and the wall. <sup>31</sup>And I brought vp the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thankes, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate. <sup>32</sup>And after them went Hoshaiiah, and halfe of the princes of Iudah, <sup>33</sup>And Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam, <sup>34</sup>Iudah, Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Ieremiah, <sup>35</sup>And of the Priestes sonnes with trumpets, Zechariah the sonne of Ionathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiiah, the sonne of Zaccur, ye sonne of Asaph. <sup>36</sup>And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the muscicall instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the scribe went before them. <sup>37</sup>And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by the staires of the citie of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward. <sup>38</sup>And the seconde companie of them that gaue thankes, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the towre of the furnaces euen vnto the broad wall. <sup>39</sup>And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the olde gate, and vpon the fish-gate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Meah, euen vnto the sheepgate: and they stood in the gate of the warde. <sup>40</sup>So stood the two companies (of them that gaue thankes) in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me. <sup>41</sup>The Priestes also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiiah, Elieoenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, <sup>42</sup>And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Vzzi, and Iehohanan, and Malchiiah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the singers sang loude, hauing Izrahiah which was the ouerseer. <sup>43</sup>And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women, and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Ierusalem was heard farre off. <sup>44</sup>Also at the same time were men appointed ouer the chambers of the store for the offerings (for the first fruites, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fieldes of the cities, the portions of the Law for the Priestes and the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priestes and for the Leuites, that serued. <sup>45</sup>And both the singers and the Leuites kept the ward of their God, and the warde of the purification according to the commandement of Dauid, and Salomon his sonne. <sup>46</sup>For in the dayes of Dauid and Asaph, of olde were chiefe singers, and songs of praise and thankesgiuing vnto God. <sup>47</sup>And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did al Israel giue portions vnto the singers and porters, euerie day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

13And on that day did they reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite should not enter into the Congregation of God, <sup>2</sup>Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing. <sup>3</sup>Now when they had heard the Lawe, they separated from Israel all those that were mixed. <sup>4</sup>And before this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobiah: <sup>5</sup>And he had made him a great chamber and there had they aforetime layde the offrings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offrings of the Priests. <sup>6</sup>But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yere of Artahshashte King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and after certaine dayes I obtained of the King. <sup>7</sup>And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstood the euil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, <sup>8</sup>And it griued me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber. <sup>9</sup>And I commanded them to cense ye chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offring and the incense. <sup>10</sup>And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his lande, euen the Leuites and singers that executed the worke. <sup>11</sup>Then reproued I the rulers and sayd, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place. <sup>12</sup>Then brought all Iudah the tithes of corne and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures. <sup>13</sup>And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hande Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mataniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren. <sup>14</sup>Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my kindenes that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof. <sup>15</sup>In those dayes saw I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on ye Sabbath, and that brought in sheaues, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold vitailles. <sup>16</sup>There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem. <sup>17</sup>Then reproued I the rulers of Iudah, and sayd vnto them, What euil thing is this that yee doe, and breake the Sabbath day? <sup>18</sup>Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie? yet yee increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath. <sup>19</sup>And when the gates of Ierusalem beganne to be darke before the Sabbath, I commaded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened til after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there shoulde no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day. <sup>20</sup>So the chapmen and marchants of al marchandise remained once or twice all night without Ierusalem. <sup>21</sup>And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. from that time came they no more on the Sabbath. <sup>22</sup>And I sayde vnto the Leuites, that they should cense themselues, and that they shoulde come and keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercy. <sup>23</sup>In those dayes also I saw Iewes that married wiues of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab. <sup>24</sup>And their children spake halfe in ye speach of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people. <sup>25</sup>Then I reproued them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their heare, and tooke an othe of them by God, Yee shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues. <sup>26</sup>Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these thinges? yet among many nations was there no King like him: for he was beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel: yet strange women caused him to sinne. <sup>27</sup>Shall wee then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euil, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marry strange wiues? <sup>28</sup>And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest was the sonne in law of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me. <sup>29</sup>Remember them, O my God, that defile the Priesthoode, and the couenant of the Priesthoode, and of the Leuites. <sup>30</sup>Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appoynted the wardes of the Priestes and of the Leuites, euery one in his office, <sup>31</sup>And for the offring of the wood at times appoynted, and for the first fruites. Remember me, O my God, in goodnes.

Esther

1In the dayes of Ahashuerosh (this is Ahashuerosh that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth, and seuen and twentie prouinces) 2In those dayes when the King Ahashuerosh sate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan, 3In the third yeere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him, 4That he might shewe the riches and glorie of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundreth and foure score dayes. 5And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were founde in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the Kings palace, 6Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blue clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blue colour. 7And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessel, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the King. 8And the drinking was by an order, none might compel: for so the King had appoynted vnto all the officers of his house, that they should do according to euery mans pleasure. 9The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of King Ahashuerosh. 10Vpon the seuenth daye when the King was merie with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Ahashuerosh) 11To bring Queene Vashti before the King with the crowne royall, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was fayre to looke vpon. 12But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the Kings worde, which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him. 13Then the King said to the wise men, that knew the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement: 14And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome) 15What shall we do vnto the Queene Vashti

according to the law, because she did not according to the worde of the King Ahashuerosh by the commission of the eunuches? 16Then Memucan answered before the King and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not only done euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh. 17For the acte of the Queene shall come abroade vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The King Ahashuerosh comanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not. 18So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefulnesse and wrath. 19If it please the King, let a royal decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media, (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come no more before King Ahashuerosh: and let the King giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she. 20And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (though it be great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour, both great and small. 21And this saying pleased the King and the princes, and the King did according to the worde of Memucan. 22For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man should beare rule in his owne house, and that he should publish it in the language of that same people.

2After these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerosh was appeased, he remembred Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her. 2And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, sayd, Let them seeke for the King beautifull yong virgins, 3And let the King appoynt officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautiful yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the Kings eunuche, keeper of the women, to giue them their things for purification. 4And the mayde that shall please the King, let her reigne in the steade of Vashti. And this pleased the King, and he did so. 5In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Iewe, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Iemini, <sup>6</sup>Which had bene caryed away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was caryed away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caryed away) <sup>7</sup>And he nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vnckles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the mayde was fayre, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his own daughter <sup>8</sup>And when the Kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maydes were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hande of Hege the keeper of the women. <sup>9</sup>And the mayde pleased him, and she founde fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her state, and seuen comely maides to be giuer her out of the Kings house, and he gaue change to her and to her maydes of the best in the house of the women. <sup>10</sup>But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that shee should not tell it. <sup>11</sup>Aud Mordecai walked euery day before the court of the womens house, to knowe if Ester did well, and what should be done with her. <sup>12</sup>And when the course of euery mayd came, to go in to King Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweete odours and in the purifying of the women: <sup>13</sup>And thus went the maides vnto the King) whatsoever she required, was giuen her, to go with her out of the womens house vnto ye kings house. <sup>14</sup>In the euening she went, and on the morow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shaashgaz the Kings eunuche, which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except shee pleased the King, and that she were called by name. <sup>15</sup>Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should go in to the King, she desired nothing, but what Hege the Kings eunuche the keeper of the women sayde: and Ester founde fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her. <sup>16</sup>So Ester was taken vnto King Ahashuerosh into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne. <sup>17</sup>And the King loued Ester aboute all the women, and shee founde grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene instead of Vashti. <sup>18</sup>Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to the power of a King. <sup>19</sup>And whe the virgins were gathered ye second time, then Mordecai sate in the Kings gate. <sup>20</sup>Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the worde of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him. <sup>21</sup>In those dayes whe Mordecai sate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunuches, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the King Ahashuerosh. <sup>22</sup>And the thing was knowen to Mordecai, and he tolde it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: <sup>23</sup>and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

3After these things did King Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboute all the princes that were with him. <sup>2</sup>And all the Kings seruants that were at the Kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the King had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence. <sup>3</sup>Then the Kings seruants which were at the Kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressest thou the Kings commandement? <sup>4</sup>And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they tolde Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stande: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe. <sup>5</sup>And when Haman sawe that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath. <sup>6</sup>Now he thought it too litle to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai. <sup>7</sup>In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yere of King Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adar. <sup>8</sup>Then Haman said vnto King Ahashuerosh, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to suffer them. <sup>9</sup>If it please the King, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the Kings treasure. <sup>10</sup>Then the King tooke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie. <sup>11</sup>And the King sayde vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee. <sup>12</sup>Then were the Kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of King Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the Kings ring. <sup>13</sup>And the letters were sent by postes into all the Kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray. <sup>14</sup>The contents of the writing was, that there shoulde be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day. <sup>15</sup>And the postes compelled by the Kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the King and Haman sate drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

<sup>4</sup>Now when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cryed with a great crye, and a bitter. <sup>2</sup>And he came euen before the Kings gate, but he might not enter within the Kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth. <sup>3</sup>And in euery prouince, and place, whither the Kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorowe among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping and mourning, and many laye in sackcloth and in ashes. <sup>4</sup>Then Esters maydes and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauie, and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not. <sup>5</sup>Then called Ester Hatach one of the Kings eunuches, whom he had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to knowe what it was, and why it was. <sup>6</sup>So Hatach went foorth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the citie, which was before the Kings gate. <sup>7</sup>And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them. <sup>8</sup>Also he gaue him the copy of the writing and commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shewe it vnto Ester and declare it vnto her, and to charge her that she should goe in to the King, and make petition and supplication before him for her people. <sup>9</sup>So when Hatach came, he told Ester the wordes of Mordecai. <sup>10</sup>Then Ester sayde vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, <sup>11</sup>All the Kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces doe knowe, that whosoever, man or woman, that commeth to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shall dye, except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rodde, that he may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King these thirtie dayes. <sup>12</sup>And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes. <sup>13</sup>And Mordecai saide, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Iewes. <sup>14</sup>For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time? <sup>15</sup>Then Ester commanded to answere Mordecai, <sup>16</sup>Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so will I go in to the King, which is not according to the lawe: and if I perish, I perish. <sup>17</sup>So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

<sup>5</sup>And on the third day Ester put on her royal apparel, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King sate vpon his royal throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house. <sup>2</sup>And when the King saw Ester the Queene standing in the court, shee founde fauour in his sight: and the King held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drewe neere, and touched the toppe of the scepter. <sup>3</sup>Then saide the King vnto her, What wilt thou, Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of ye kingdome. <sup>4</sup>Then saide Ester, If it please the King, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banquet, that I haue prepared for him. <sup>5</sup>And the King sayd, Cause Haman to make haste that he may doe as Ester hath sayde. So the King and Haman came to the banquet that Ester had prepared. <sup>6</sup>And the King sayd vnto Ester at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome. <sup>7</sup>Then answered Ester, and sayd, My petition and my request is, <sup>8</sup>If I haue found fauour in the sight of the King, and if it please the King to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the King and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morowe according to the Kings saying. <sup>9</sup>Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the Kings gate, that he stode not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai. <sup>10</sup>Neuerthesse Haman refrayned himselfe: and when he came home, he sent, and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife. <sup>11</sup>And Haman tolde them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the King. <sup>12</sup>Haman sayde moreouer, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banquet that she had prepared, saue me: and to morowe am I bidden vnto her also with the King. <sup>13</sup>But al this doth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai ye Iewe sitting at ye Kings gate. <sup>14</sup>Then sayde Zeresh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubites hie, and to morowe speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

6The same night the King slept not, and he comanded to bring ye booke of the records, and the chronicles: and they were read before ye King. 2Then it was found written that Mordecai had tolde of Bigtana, and Teresh two of the Kings eunuches, keepers of the dore, who sought to lay hands on the King Ahashuerosh. 3Then the King sayde, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, sayd, There is nothing done for him. 4And the King sayde, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that he might speake vnto the King to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.) 5And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the King sayd, Let him come in. 6And when Haman came in, the King saide vnto him, What shalbe done vnto ye man, whom the King will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the King do honour more then to me? 7And Haman answered the King, The man whome the King would honour, 8Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the King vseth to weare, and the horse that the King rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head. 9And let the raiment and the horse be deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparel the man (whome the King will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the streete of the citie, and proclayme before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man, whome the King will honour. 10Then the King said to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment and the horse as thou hast said, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Iewe, that sitteth at the Kings gate: let nothing fayle of all that thou hast spoken. 11So Haman tooke the rayment and the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horse backe thorowe the streete of the citie, and proclaymed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the King will honour. 12And Mordecai came againe to the Kings gate, but Haman hasted home mourning and his head couered. 13And Haman tolde Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then sayd his wise men, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Iewes, before whom thou hast begunne to fall; thou shalt not preuaile against him, but shalt surely fall before him. 14And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches and hasted to bring Haman vnto the banquet that Ester had prepared.

7So the King and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester. 2And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giue thee? and what is thy request? It shalbe euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome. 3And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request. 4For we are solde, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slayne and to perish: but if we were solde for seruants, and for handmaidens, I woulde haue helde my tongue: although the aduersarie could not recompense the Kings losse. 5Then King Ahashuerosh answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he? and where is he that presumeth to doe thus? 6And Ester said, The aduersarie and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afrayde before the King and the Queene. 7And the King arose from ye banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he sawe that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King. 8And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sate! therefore the King sayd, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the worde went out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamans face. 9And Harbonah one of the eunuches, sayde in the presence of the King, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the King. Then the King sayd, Hang him thereon. 10So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

8The same day did King Ahashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. and Mordecai came before the King: for Ester tolde what hee was vnto her. 2And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman. 3And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he would put away the wickednes of Haman the Agagite, and his deuce that he had imagined against the Iewes. 4And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King, 5And sayd, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuce of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces. 6For how can I suffer and see the euil, that shall come vnto my people? Or howe can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred? 7And the King Ahashuerosh sayde vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whome they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he layd hand vpon the Iewes. 8Write yee also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kinges

name, and seale it with the Kings ring (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke) <sup>9</sup>Then were the Kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in the thirde moneth, that is the moneth Siuan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Iewes and to the princes, and captaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language. <sup>10</sup>And hee wrote in the King Ahashuerosh name, and sealed it with the Kings ring: and he sent letters by postes on horsebacke and that rode on beastes of price, as dromedaries and coltes of mares. <sup>11</sup>Wherein the King graunted the Iewes (in what cities so euer they were) to gather theselues together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy al the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoyle their goods: <sup>12</sup>Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, which is the moneth Adar. <sup>13</sup>The copie of the writing was, howe there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day to auenge themselues on their enemies. <sup>14</sup>So the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with speede, to execute the Kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace. <sup>15</sup>And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blewe, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad. <sup>16</sup>And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioy and gladnes, and honour. <sup>17</sup>Also in all and euery prouince, and in al and euery citie and place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnes to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

9So in the twelft moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth daye of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them) <sup>2</sup>The Iewes gathered themselues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, to lay hande on such as sought their hurt, and no man coulde withstande them: for the feare of them fel vpon al people. <sup>3</sup>And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them. <sup>4</sup>For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater. <sup>5</sup>Thus the Iewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sworde and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they woulde vnto those that hated them. <sup>6</sup>And at Shushan the palace slewe the Iewes and destroyed fiew hundreth men, <sup>7</sup>And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha, <sup>8</sup>And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha, <sup>9</sup>And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha, <sup>10</sup>The ten sonnes of Haman, ye sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slewe they: but they layd not their hands on the spoyle. <sup>11</sup>On the same day came ye nomber of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King. <sup>12</sup>And the King sayd vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slayne in Shushan the palace and destroyed fiew hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be performed? <sup>13</sup>Then sayd Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to do according vnto this daies decree, that they may hang vpon ye tree Hamans ten sonnes. <sup>14</sup>And the King charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes. <sup>15</sup>So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundreth men in Shushan, but on the spoyle they layd not their hand. <sup>16</sup>And the rest of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces assembled themselues, and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slewe of them that hated them, seuentie and fiew thousand: but they layd not their hand on the spoyle. <sup>17</sup>This they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy. <sup>18</sup>But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth therof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy. <sup>19</sup>Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, kept the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour. <sup>20</sup>And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, both neere and farre, <sup>21</sup>Inioyning them that they shoulde keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere. <sup>22</sup>According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and to sende presents euery man to his neyghbour, and giftes to the poore. <sup>23</sup>And the Iewes promised to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, <sup>24</sup>Because Haman the sonne of Hamme-

datha the Agagite al the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroy them, and had cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them. <sup>25</sup>And when she came before the King, he commanded by letters, Let this wicked deuise (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree. <sup>26</sup>Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them. <sup>27</sup>The Iewes also ordeined, and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not faile to obserue those two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season, <sup>28</sup>And that these dayes shoulde be remembred, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery citie: euen these daies of Purim should not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them should not perish from their seede. <sup>29</sup>And the Queene Ester ye daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iew wrote with al authoritie (to cofirme this letter of Purim ye second time) <sup>30</sup>And he sent letters vnto al the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with words of peace and trueth, <sup>31</sup>To confirme these dayes of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iewe and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them selues and for their seede with fasting and prayer. <sup>32</sup>And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

Job

1There was a man in the lande of Vz called Iob, and this man was an vpright and iust man, one that feared God, and eschewed euill. 2And he had seue sonnes, and three daughters. 3His substance also was seuen thousande sheepe, and three thousand camels, and fiue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fiue hundreth shee asses, and his family was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East. 4And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate and to drinke with them. 5And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified them, and rose vp early in the morning, and offred burnt offrings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euery day. 6Nowe on a day when the children of God came and stooode before the Lord, Satan came also among them. 7Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and from, and from walking in it. 8And the Lord saide vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seru-ant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? 9Then Satan answered the Lord, and sayde, Doeth Iob feare God for nought? 10Hast thou not made an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land. 11But stretch out now thine hand and touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face. 12Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord. 13And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 14There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places, 15And the Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slayne the seruants with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. 16And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayde, The fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. 17And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The Caldeans set on three bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slayne the seruantes with the edge of the sworde: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. 18And whiles he was yet speaking, came an other, and sayd, Thy sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19And behold, there came a great wind from beyonde the wilderness, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fel vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. 20Then Iob arose, and rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fel downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21And sayd, Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: blessed be the Name of the Lord. 22In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God foolishly.

2And on a day the children of God came and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stooode before the Lord. 2Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, From compassing the earth to and from, and from walking in it. 3And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seru-ant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet he continueth in his vprightnesse, although thou mouedst me against him, to destroy him without cause. 4And Satan answered the Lord, and sayde, Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life. 5But stretch now out thine hand, and touch his bones and his flesh, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face. 6Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue his life. 7So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne. 8And he tooke a potsharde to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes. 9Then said his wife vnto him, Doest thou continue yet in thine vprightnes? Blaspheme God, and dye. 10But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hande of God, and not receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his lippes. <sup>11</sup>Nowe when Iobs three friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him. <sup>12</sup>So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knewe him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinkled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen. <sup>13</sup>So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the grieffe was very great.

<sup>5</sup>Call nowe, if any will answere thee, and to which of the Saintes wilt thou turne? <sup>2</sup>Doubtlesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiote. <sup>3</sup>I haue seene the foolish well rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying, <sup>4</sup>His children shalbe farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them. <sup>5</sup>The hungrie shall eate vp his haruest: yea, they shall take it from among the thornes, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance. <sup>6</sup>For miserie commeth not foorth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth. <sup>7</sup>But man is borne vnto trauaile, as the sparkes flie vpwarde. <sup>8</sup>But I would inquire at God, and turne my talke vnto God: <sup>9</sup>Which doeth great things and vnsearchable, and marueilous things without number. <sup>10</sup>He giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes, <sup>11</sup>And setteth vp on hie them that be lowe, that the sorrowfull may be exalted to saluation. <sup>12</sup>He scattereth the deuices of the craftie: so that their handes can not accomplish that which they doe enterprise. <sup>13</sup>He taketh the wise in their craftinesse, and the counsel of the wicked is made foolish. <sup>14</sup>They meete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night. <sup>15</sup>But he saueth the poore from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hande of the violent man, <sup>16</sup>So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie shall stop her mouth. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, blessed is the man whome God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty. <sup>18</sup>For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his handes make whole. <sup>19</sup>He shall deliuer thee in sixe troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touch thee. <sup>20</sup>In famine he shall deliuer thee from death: and in battel from the power of the sworde. <sup>21</sup>Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth. <sup>22</sup>But thou shalt laugh at destruction and dearth, and shalt not be afraide of the beast of the earth. <sup>23</sup>For the stones of the felde shall be in league with thee, and the beastes of the field shall be at peace with thee. <sup>24</sup>And thou shalt knowe, that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visite thine habitation, and shalt not sinne. <sup>25</sup>Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seede shalbe great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth. <sup>26</sup>Thou shalt goe to thy graue in a ful age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne. <sup>27</sup>Lo, thus haue we inquired of it, and so it is: heare this and knowe it for thy selfe.

6Bvt Job answered, and said, <sup>2</sup>Oh that my grieffe were well weighed, and my miseries were layed together in the balance. <sup>3</sup>For it woulde be nowe heauier then the sande of the sea: therefore my wordes are swallowed vp. <sup>4</sup>For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrours of God fight against me. <sup>5</sup>Doeth the wilde asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder? <sup>6</sup>That which is vnsauerie, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge? <sup>7</sup>Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meate. <sup>8</sup>Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God would grant me the thing that I long for! <sup>9</sup>That is, that God would destroy me: that he would let his hand go, and cut me off. <sup>10</sup>Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the wordes of the Holy one. <sup>11</sup>What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life? <sup>12</sup>Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse? <sup>13</sup>Is it not so, that there is in me no helpe? and that strength is taken from me? <sup>14</sup>He that is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty. <sup>15</sup>My brethre haue deceiued me as a brook, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away. <sup>16</sup>Which are blackish with yee, and wherein the snowe is hid. <sup>17</sup>But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hote they

faile out of their places, <sup>18</sup>Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish. <sup>19</sup>They that go to Tema, considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them. <sup>20</sup>But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed. <sup>21</sup>Surely nowe are ye like vnto it: ye haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraide. <sup>22</sup>Was it because I said, Bring vnto me? or giue a rewarde to me of your substance? <sup>23</sup>And deliuer me from the enemies hande, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrants? <sup>24</sup>Teach me, and I wil hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstande, wherein I haue erred. <sup>25</sup>Howe stedfast are the wordes of righteousnes? and what can any of you iustly reprove? <sup>26</sup>Doe ye imagine to reprove wordes, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde? <sup>27</sup>Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friende. <sup>28</sup>Nowe therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face. <sup>29</sup>Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousnesse in that behalfe. <sup>30</sup>Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouth feelee sorowes?

7Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an hyreling? <sup>2</sup>As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, and as an hyreling looketh for the ende of his worke, <sup>3</sup>So haue I had as an inheritance the moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me. <sup>4</sup>If I layed me downe, I sayde, When shall I arise? and measuring the euening I am euen full with tossing to and from vnto the dawning of the day. <sup>5</sup>My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my skinne is rent, and become horrible. <sup>6</sup>My dayes are swifter then a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope. <sup>7</sup>Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure. <sup>8</sup>The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer. <sup>9</sup>As the cloude vanisheth and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shall come vp no more. <sup>10</sup>He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place knowe him any more. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirite, and muse in the bitternesse of my minde. <sup>12</sup>Am I a sea or a whalefish, that thou keepest me in warde? <sup>13</sup>When I say, My couch shall relieue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, <sup>14</sup>Then fearest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions. <sup>15</sup>Therefore my soule chuseth rather to be strangled and to die, then to be in my bones. <sup>16</sup>I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie. <sup>17</sup>What is man, that thou doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him? <sup>18</sup>And doest visite him euery morning, and tryest him euery moment? <sup>19</sup>Howe long will it be yer thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallowe my spettle. <sup>20</sup>I haue sinned, what shall I do vnto thee? O thou preseruer of me, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe? <sup>21</sup>And why doest thou not pardon my trespasse? and take away mine iniquitie? for nowe shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

<sup>8</sup>Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and saide, <sup>2</sup>Howe long wilt thou talke of these things? and howe long shall the wordes of thy mouth be as a mightie winde? <sup>3</sup>Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth the Almightye subuert iustice? <sup>4</sup>If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie, <sup>5</sup>Yet if thou wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almightye, <sup>6</sup>If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and he wil make the habitation of thy righteousnesse prosperous. <sup>7</sup>And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter ende shall greatly encrease. <sup>8</sup>Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers. <sup>9</sup>(For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadowe) <sup>10</sup>Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart? <sup>11</sup>Can a rush grow without myre? or can ye grasse growe without water? <sup>12</sup>Though it were in greene and not cutte downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe. <sup>13</sup>So are the paths of al that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish. <sup>14</sup>His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a spyder. <sup>15</sup>He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall holde him fast by it, yet shall it not endure. <sup>16</sup>The tree is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof. <sup>17</sup>The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about ye house of stones. <sup>18</sup>If any plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not seene thee, <sup>19</sup>Beholde, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde. <sup>20</sup>Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, <sup>21</sup>Till he haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lippes with ioy. <sup>22</sup>They that hate thee, shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

<sup>9</sup>Then Iob answered, and sayd, <sup>2</sup>I knowe verily that it is so: for howe should man compared vnto God, be iustified? <sup>3</sup>If I would dispute with him, hee could not answere him one thing of a thousand. <sup>4</sup>He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered? <sup>5</sup>He remoueth the mountaines, and they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath. <sup>6</sup>Hee remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake. <sup>7</sup>He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: hee closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet. <sup>8</sup>Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea. <sup>9</sup>He maketh the starres Arcturus,

Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South. <sup>10</sup>He doeth great things, and vnsearcheable: yea, marueilous things without number. <sup>11</sup>Lo, when he goeth by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not. <sup>12</sup>Behold, when he taketh a pray, who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou? <sup>13</sup>God will not withdrawe his anger, and the most mightie helpe doe stoupe vnder him. <sup>14</sup>Howe much lesse shall I answere him? or howe should I finde out my words with him? <sup>15</sup>For though I were iust, yet could I not answere, but I would make supplication to my Iudge. <sup>16</sup>If I cry, and he answere me, yet woulde I not beleue, that he heard my voyce. <sup>17</sup>For he destroyeth mee with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause. <sup>18</sup>He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse. <sup>19</sup>If we speake of strength, behold, he is strog: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade? <sup>20</sup>If I woulde iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne mee: if I would be perfite, he shall iudge me wicked. <sup>21</sup>Though I were perfite, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life. <sup>22</sup>This is one point: therefore I said, Hee destroyeth the perfite and the wicked. <sup>23</sup>If the scourge should suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent? <sup>24</sup>The earth is giuen into the hand of ye wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges therof: if not, where is he? or who is he? <sup>25</sup>My dayes haue bene more swift then a post: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing. <sup>26</sup>They are passed as with the most swift ships, and as the eagle that flyeth to the pray. <sup>27</sup>If I say, I wil forget my complaynt, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort mee, <sup>28</sup>Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent. <sup>29</sup>If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine? <sup>30</sup>If I wash my selfe with snowe water, and purge mine hands most cleane, <sup>31</sup>Yet shalt thou plunge mee in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthie. <sup>32</sup>For he is not a man as I am, that I shoulde answere him, if we come together to iudgement. <sup>33</sup>Neyther is there any vmpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both. <sup>34</sup>Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me: <sup>35</sup>Then will I speake, and feare him not: but because I am not so, I holde me still.

thou destroy me? <sup>9</sup>Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe? <sup>10</sup>Hast thou not powred me out as milke? and turned me to cruds like cheese? <sup>11</sup>Thou hast clothed me with skin and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes. <sup>12</sup>Thou hast giuen me life, and grace: and thy visitation hath preserued my spirit. <sup>13</sup>Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe that it is so with thee. <sup>14</sup>If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde mee giltlesse of mine iniquitie. <sup>15</sup>If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction. <sup>16</sup>But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe marueilous vpon me. <sup>17</sup>Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: changes and armies of sorowes are against me. <sup>18</sup>Wherfore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me! <sup>19</sup>And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue! <sup>20</sup>Are not my dayes fewe? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a litle comfort, <sup>21</sup>Before I goe and shall not returne, euen to the land of darkenesse and shadow of death: <sup>22</sup>Into a land, I say, darke as darknes it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darkenesse.

11Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great talker be iustified? <sup>3</sup>Should men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed? <sup>4</sup>For thou hast sayde, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes. <sup>5</sup>But, oh that God would speake and open his lippes against thee! <sup>6</sup>That he might shewe thee the secretes of wisdomes, howe thou hast deserved double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie. <sup>7</sup>Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out ye Almighty to his perfection? <sup>8</sup>The heauens are hie, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it? <sup>9</sup>The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea. <sup>10</sup>If hee cut off and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe? <sup>11</sup>For hee knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing. <sup>12</sup>Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wilde asse colte. <sup>13</sup>If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him: <sup>14</sup>If iniquitie be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle. <sup>15</sup>The truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare. <sup>16</sup>But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past. <sup>17</sup>Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and bee as the morning. <sup>18</sup>And thou shalt bee bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pittes, and shalt lye downe safely. <sup>19</sup>For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee. <sup>20</sup>But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shalbe sorow of minde.

12Then Iob answered, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>In deede because that ye are the people onely, wisdomes must dye with you. <sup>3</sup>But I haue vnderstanding aswel as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things? <sup>4</sup>I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iust and the vpriight is laughed to scorne. <sup>5</sup>Hee that is readie to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche. <sup>6</sup>The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, whome God hath enriched with his hand. <sup>7</sup>Aske now the beasts, and they shall teach thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee: <sup>8</sup>Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee. <sup>9</sup>Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hande of the Lord hath made these? <sup>10</sup>In whose hande is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all mankinde. <sup>11</sup>Doeth not the eares discern the words? and the mouth taste meate for it selfe? <sup>12</sup>Among the ancient is wisdomes, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding. <sup>13</sup>With him is wisdomes and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, he will breake downe, and it can not be built: he shutteth a man vp, and he can not be loosed. <sup>15</sup>Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth. <sup>16</sup>With him is strength and wisdomes: hee that is deceiued, and that deceiueh, are his. <sup>17</sup>He causeth the counsellors to goe as spoyled, and maketh the iudges foolles. <sup>18</sup>He looseth the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle. <sup>19</sup>He leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mightie. <sup>20</sup>He taketh away the speach from the faithfull counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient. <sup>21</sup>He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weake. <sup>22</sup>He discovereth the deepe places from their darkenesse, and bringeth foorth the shadowe of death to light. <sup>23</sup>He increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe. <sup>24</sup>He taketh away the heartes of the that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernes out of the way. <sup>25</sup>They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh the to stagger like a drunken man.

13Loe, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstande it. <sup>2</sup>I knowe also as much as you knowe: I am not inferiour vnto you. <sup>3</sup>But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire to dispute with God. <sup>4</sup>For in deede ye forge lyes, and all you are physitions of no value.

<sup>5</sup>Oh, that you woulde holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdom! <sup>6</sup>Nowe heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips. <sup>7</sup>Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause? <sup>8</sup>Will ye accept his person? or will ye contende for God? <sup>9</sup>Is it well that he shoulde seeke of you? will you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man? <sup>10</sup>He will surely reprove you, if ye doe secretly accept any person. <sup>11</sup>Shall not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you? <sup>12</sup>Your memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay. <sup>13</sup>Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore doe I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hande? <sup>15</sup>Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reprove my wayes in his sight. <sup>16</sup>He shalbe my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him. <sup>17</sup>Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke. <sup>18</sup>Beholde nowe: if I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shalbe iustified. <sup>19</sup>Who is he, that will pleade with me? for if I nowe holde my tongue, I dye. <sup>20</sup>But doe not these two things vnto me: then will I not hide my selfe from thee. <sup>21</sup>Withdrawe thine hande from me, and let not thy feare make me afraide. <sup>22</sup>Then call thou, and I will answere: or let me speake, and answere thou me. <sup>23</sup>Howe many are mine iniquities and sinnes? shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemye? <sup>25</sup>Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and from? and wilt thou pursue the drie stubble? <sup>26</sup>For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth. <sup>27</sup>Thou putttest my feete also in the stocks, and lookest narrowly vnto all my pathes, and makest the print thereof in ye heeles of my feet. <sup>28</sup>Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

<sup>14</sup>Man that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble. <sup>2</sup>He shooteth forth as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as a shadowe, and continueth not. <sup>3</sup>And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee. <sup>4</sup>Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one. <sup>5</sup>Are not his dayes determined? the nober of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his boundes, which he can not passe. <sup>6</sup>Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, as an hyreling. <sup>7</sup>For there is hope of a tree, if it bee cut downe, that it will yet sproute, and the branches thereof will not cease. <sup>8</sup>Though the roote of it waxe olde in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in ye ground, <sup>9</sup>Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant. <sup>10</sup>But man is sicke, and dyeth, and man perisheth, and where is he? <sup>11</sup>As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp, <sup>12</sup>So man sleepeth and riseth not: for hee shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

he knoweth that the day of darknesse is prepared at hande. <sup>24</sup>Affliction and anguish shall make him afraide: they shall preuaile against him as a King readie to the battell. <sup>25</sup>For he hath stretched out his hand against GOD, and made him selfe strong against the Almightye. <sup>26</sup>Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shielde. <sup>27</sup>Because he hath couered his face with his fatnesse, and hath colloppes in his flancke. <sup>28</sup>Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, <sup>29</sup>He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth. <sup>30</sup>He shall neuer depart out of darknesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and he shall goe away with the breath of his mouth. <sup>31</sup>He beleueeth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shalbe his change. <sup>32</sup>His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day. <sup>33</sup>God shall destroy him as the vine her sower grape, and shall cast him off, as the oliue doeth her flowre. <sup>34</sup>For the congregation of the hypocrite shalbe desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of bribes. <sup>35</sup>For they conceiue mischiefes and bring fourth vanitie, and their bellie hath prepared deceite.

16 Bvt Iob answered, and said, <sup>2</sup>I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all. <sup>3</sup>Shall there be none ende of wordes of winde? or what maketh thee bold so to answeere? <sup>4</sup>I could also speake as yee doe: (but woulde God your soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you, <sup>5</sup>But I woulde strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should asswage your sorowe. <sup>6</sup>Though I speake, my sorow can not be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I? <sup>7</sup>But now hee maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate, <sup>8</sup>And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witness thereof, and my leannes ryseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face. <sup>9</sup>His wrath hath torne me, and hee hateth me, and gnasheth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me. <sup>10</sup>They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten me on the cheeke in reproch; they gather themselues together against me. <sup>11</sup>God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked. <sup>12</sup>I was in welth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe. <sup>13</sup>His archers compasse mee rounde about: he cutteth my reines, and doth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground. <sup>14</sup>He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant. <sup>15</sup>I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine horne vnto the dust. <sup>16</sup>My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes, <sup>17</sup>Though there be no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure. <sup>18</sup>O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place. <sup>19</sup>For lo, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on hie. <sup>20</sup>My friends speake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God. <sup>21</sup>Oh that a man might pleade with God, as man with his neighbour! <sup>22</sup>For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall go the way, whence I shall not returne.

17 My breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is readie for me. <sup>2</sup>There are none but mockers with mee, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness. <sup>3</sup>Lay downe nowe and put me in suretie for thee: who is hee, that will touch mine hand? <sup>4</sup>For thou hast hid their heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not set them vp on hie. <sup>5</sup>For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speaketh flattery to his friends. <sup>6</sup>Hee hath also made mee a byword of the people, and I am as a Tabret before them. <sup>7</sup>Mine eye therefore is dimme for grieffe, and all my strength is like a shadowe. <sup>8</sup>The righteous shalbe astonied at this, and the innocent shalbe moued against ye hypocrite. <sup>9</sup>But the righteous wil holde his way, and he whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength. <sup>10</sup>All you therefore turne you, and come nowe, and I shall not finde one wise among you. <sup>11</sup>My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart <sup>12</sup>Haue changed the nyght for the day, and the light that approached, for darknesse. <sup>13</sup>Though I hope, yet the graue shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke. <sup>14</sup>I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister. <sup>15</sup>Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing, that I hoped for? <sup>16</sup>They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lye together in the dust.

18 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said, <sup>2</sup>When will yee make an ende of your words? cause vs to vnderstande, and then wee will speake. <sup>3</sup>Wherefore are wee counted as beastes, and are vile in your sight? <sup>4</sup>Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the earth bee forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place? <sup>5</sup>Yea, the light of the wicked shalbe quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine. <sup>6</sup>The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candle shalbe put out with him. <sup>7</sup>The steps of his strength shalbe restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe. <sup>8</sup>For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he walketh vpon the snares. <sup>9</sup>The grenne shall take him by the heele, and the theefe shall come vpon him. <sup>10</sup>A snare is layed for him in the ground, and a trappe for him in the way. <sup>11</sup>Fearefulnessse shall make him afrayde on euery side, and shall driue him to his feete. <sup>12</sup>His strength shalbe famine: and destruction shalbe readie at his side. <sup>13</sup>It shall deuoure the inner partes of his skinne, and the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength. <sup>14</sup>His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to go to the King of feare. <sup>15</sup>Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and brimstone shalbe scattered vpon his habitation. <sup>16</sup>His rootes shalbe dried vp beneath, and aboue shall his branche be cut downe. <sup>17</sup>His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete. <sup>18</sup>They shall driue him out of the light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world. <sup>19</sup>Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings. <sup>20</sup>The posteritie shalbe astonied at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient. <sup>21</sup>Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

19 Bvt Iob answered, and said, <sup>2</sup>Howe long will yee vex me soule, and torment me with wordes? <sup>3</sup>Ye haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward mee. <sup>4</sup>And though I had in deede erred, mine error remaineth with me. <sup>5</sup>But in deede if ye will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproche, <sup>6</sup>Know nowe, that God hath ouerthrowen me, and hath compassed me with his net. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answere: I crie, but there is no iudgement. <sup>8</sup>Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot passe, and he hath set darkenesse in my paths. <sup>9</sup>Hee hath spoyled mee of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head. <sup>10</sup>He hath destroyed mee on euery side and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree. <sup>11</sup>And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth mee as one of his enemies. <sup>12</sup>His armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle. <sup>13</sup>He hath remoued my brethre farre from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me. <sup>14</sup>My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me. <sup>15</sup>They that dwel in mine house, and my maydes tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight. <sup>16</sup>I called my seruant, but he would not answere, though I prayed him with my mouth. <sup>17</sup>My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body. <sup>18</sup>The wicked also despised mee, and when I rose, they spake against me. <sup>19</sup>All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whome I loued, are turned against me. <sup>20</sup>My bone cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skinne of my teeth. <sup>21</sup>Haue pitie vpon me: haue pitie vpon me, (O yee my friendes) for the hande of God hath touched me. <sup>22</sup>Why do ye persecute me, as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh? <sup>23</sup>Oh that my wordes were nowe written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, <sup>24</sup>And grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer! <sup>25</sup>For I am sure, that my Redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth. <sup>26</sup>And though after my skin wormes destroy this bodie, yet shall I see God in my flesh. <sup>27</sup>Whome I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other for me, though my reynes are consumed within me. <sup>28</sup>But yee sayde, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me. <sup>29</sup>Be ye afraide of the sworde: for the sworde will be auenged of wickednesse, that yee may knowe that there is a iudgement.

20 Then answered Zophar the Naamathite and saide, <sup>2</sup>Doubtlesse my thoughts cause me to answere, and therefore I make haste. <sup>3</sup>I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirite of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere. <sup>4</sup>Knowest thou not this of olde? and since God placed man vpon the earth, <sup>5</sup>That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment? <sup>6</sup>Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reache vnto the cloudes, <sup>7</sup>Yet shall hee perish for euer, like his dung, and they which haue seene him, shall say, Where is hee? <sup>8</sup>He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night, <sup>9</sup>So that the eye which had seene him, shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more. <sup>10</sup>His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance. <sup>11</sup>His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust. <sup>12</sup>When wickednesse was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue, <sup>13</sup>And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, <sup>14</sup>Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him. <sup>15</sup>He hath deuoured substance, and hee shall vomit it: for God shall drawe it out of his bellie. <sup>16</sup>He shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him. <sup>17</sup>He shall not see the riuers, nor the floods and streames of honie and butter. <sup>18</sup>He shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shalbe his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more. <sup>19</sup>For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which he builded not. <sup>20</sup>Surely he shall feele no quietnes in his bodie, neither shall he reserue of that which he desired. <sup>21</sup>There shall none of his meate bee left: therefore none shall hope for his goods. <sup>22</sup>When he shalbe filled with his abundance, he shalbe in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him. <sup>23</sup>He shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall sende vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to rayne vpon him, euen vpon his meate. <sup>24</sup>He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of steele shall strike him through. <sup>25</sup>The arrowe is drawn out, and commeth forth of the body, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him. <sup>26</sup>All darkenes shalbe hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blowen, shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroyed. <sup>27</sup>The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him. <sup>28</sup>The increase of his house shall go away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath. <sup>29</sup>This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that he shall haue of God

21Bvt Iob answered, and sayd, <sup>2</sup>Heare diligently my wordes, and this shalbe in stead of your consolations. <sup>3</sup>Suffer mee, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on. <sup>4</sup>Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled? <sup>5</sup>Marke mee, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth. <sup>6</sup>Euen when I remember, I am afrayde, and feare taketh hold on my flesh. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore do the wicked liue, and waxe olde, and grow in wealth? <sup>8</sup>Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes. <sup>9</sup>Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them. <sup>10</sup>Their bullocke gendreth, and fayleth not: their cow calueth, and casteth not her calfe. <sup>11</sup>They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes dance. <sup>12</sup>They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs. <sup>13</sup>They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they go downe to the graue. <sup>14</sup>They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes. <sup>15</sup>Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him? <sup>16</sup>Lo, their wealth is not in their hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from me. <sup>17</sup>How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he wil deuide their liues in his wrath. <sup>18</sup>They shall be as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away. <sup>19</sup>God wil lay vp the sorowe of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, hee shall knowe it. <sup>20</sup>His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty. <sup>21</sup>For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off? <sup>22</sup>Shall any teache God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things? <sup>23</sup>One dyeth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie. <sup>24</sup>His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marowe. <sup>25</sup>And another dieth in the bitternes of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure. <sup>26</sup>They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them. <sup>27</sup>Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, wherewith ye do me wrong. <sup>28</sup>For ye say, Where is the princes house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling? <sup>29</sup>May ye not aske the that go by the way? and ye can not deny their signes. <sup>30</sup>But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath. <sup>31</sup>Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done? <sup>32</sup>Yet shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape. <sup>33</sup>The slimie valley shalbe sweete vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable. <sup>34</sup>How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answeres there remaine but lyes?

<sup>2</sup>May a man be profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe? <sup>3</sup>Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright? <sup>4</sup>Is it for feare of thee that he will accuse thee? or go with thee into iudgement? <sup>5</sup>Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable? <sup>6</sup>For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoyled the clothes of the naked. <sup>7</sup>To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungry. <sup>8</sup>But the mightie man had the earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it. <sup>9</sup>Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of the fatherles were broken. <sup>10</sup>Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee: <sup>11</sup>Or darkenes that thou shouldst not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee. <sup>12</sup>Is not God on hie in the heauen? and behold the height of the starres how hie they are. <sup>13</sup>But thou sayest, How should God know? can he iudge through the darke cloude? <sup>14</sup>The cloudes hide him that he can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen. <sup>15</sup>Hast thou marked the way of the worlde, wherein wicked men haue walked? <sup>16</sup>Which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuier that ouerflowed: <sup>17</sup>Which sayd vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could do for them. <sup>18</sup>Yet hee filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me. <sup>19</sup>The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne. <sup>20</sup>Surely our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them. <sup>21</sup>Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie. <sup>22</sup>Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart. <sup>23</sup>If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be buylt vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle. <sup>24</sup>Thou shalt lay vp golde for dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers. <sup>25</sup>Yea, the Almighty shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer. <sup>26</sup>And thou shalt then delite in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God. <sup>27</sup>Thou shalt make thy praier vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes. <sup>28</sup>Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes. <sup>29</sup>When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person. <sup>30</sup>The innocent shall deliuer the yland, and it shalbe preserued by the purenes of thine hands.

23Bvt Iob answered and sayd, <sup>2</sup>Though my talke be this day in bitternes, and my plague greater then my groning, <sup>3</sup>Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place. <sup>4</sup>I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments. <sup>5</sup>I would knowe the wordes, that he would answer me, and would vnderstand

what he would say vnto me. <sup>6</sup>Would he plead against me with his great power? No, but he would put strength in me. <sup>7</sup>There the righteous might reason with him, so I shoulde be deliuered for euer from my Iudge. <sup>8</sup>Behold, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I can not perceiue him: <sup>9</sup>If to the North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he wil hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot beholde him. <sup>10</sup>But he knoweth my way, and trieth mee, and I shall come forth like the gold. <sup>11</sup>My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined. <sup>12</sup>Neyther haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, and I haue esteemed the words of his mouth more then mine appointed foode. <sup>13</sup>Yet he is in one minde, and who can turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth. <sup>14</sup>For he will performe that, which is decreed of me, and many such things are with him. <sup>15</sup>Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him. <sup>16</sup>For God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me. <sup>17</sup>For I am not cut off in darknesse, but he hath hid the darknesse from my face.

24Howe should not the times be hid from the Almightye, seeing that they which knowe him, see not his dayes? <sup>2</sup>Some remoue the land marks, that rob the flockes and feede thereof. <sup>3</sup>They leade away the asse of the fatherles: and take the widowes oxe to pledge. <sup>4</sup>They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselues together. <sup>5</sup>Behold, others as wilde asses in the wilderness, goe forth to their businesse, and rise early for a praye: the wilderness giueth him and his children foode. <sup>6</sup>They reape his prouision in the felde, but they gather the late vintage of the wicked. <sup>7</sup>They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde. <sup>8</sup>They are wet with the showres of the moutaines, and they embrace the rocke for want of a couering. <sup>9</sup>They plucke the fatherles from the breast, and take the pledge of the poore. <sup>10</sup>They cause him to go naked without clothing, and take the glening from the hungrie. <sup>11</sup>They that make oyle betweene their walles, and treade their wine presses, suffer thirst. <sup>12</sup>Men cry out of the citie, and the soules of the slayne cry out: yet God doth not charge them with follie. <sup>13</sup>These are they, that abhorre the light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof. <sup>14</sup>The murtherer riseth earely and killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night he is as a theefe. <sup>15</sup>The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and sayth, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face. <sup>16</sup>They digge through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselues in the daye: they knowe not the light. <sup>17</sup>But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one knowe them, they are in the terrours of the shadowe of death. <sup>18</sup>He is swift vpon the waters: their portion shalbe cursed in the earth: he will not beholde the way of the vineyardes. <sup>19</sup>As the dry ground and heate consume the snowe waters, so shall the graue the sinners. <sup>20</sup>The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shall feele his sweetenes: he shalbe no more remembered, and the wicked shalbe broke like a tree. <sup>21</sup>He doth euil intreat ye barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth he good to the widowe. <sup>22</sup>He draweth also the mighty by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life. <sup>23</sup>Though men giue him assurance to be in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes. <sup>24</sup>They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the toppe of an eare of corne. <sup>25</sup>But if it be not so, where is he? or who wil proue me a lyer, and make my words of no value?

26Bvt Iob answered, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou the arme that hath no strength? <sup>3</sup>Whome counsellest thou? him that hath no wisdome? thou shewest right well as the thing is. <sup>4</sup>To whom doest thou declare these words? or whose spirit cometh out of thee? <sup>5</sup>The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them. <sup>6</sup>The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction. <sup>7</sup>He stretcheth out the North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing. <sup>8</sup>He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the cloude is not broken vnder them. <sup>9</sup>He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and spreadeth his cloude vpon it. <sup>10</sup>He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and night come to an ende. <sup>11</sup>The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe. <sup>12</sup>The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride thereof. <sup>13</sup>His Spirite hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked serpent. <sup>14</sup>Loe, these are part of his wayes: but how litle a portion heare we of him? and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

27Moreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying, <sup>2</sup>The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almightye hath put my soule in bitterness. <sup>3</sup>Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, <sup>4</sup>My lips surely shall speake no wickednesse, and my tongue shall vtter no deceite. <sup>5</sup>God forbid, that I should iustifie you: vntill I dye, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe. <sup>6</sup>I will keepe my righteousnesse, and wil not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprove me of my dayes. <sup>7</sup>Mineemie shall be as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous. <sup>8</sup>For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule? <sup>9</sup>Will God heare his cry, when trouble commeth vpon him? <sup>10</sup>Will he set his delight on the Almighty? will he call vpon God at all times? <sup>11</sup>I will teache you what is in the hande of God, and I wil not conceale that which is with the Almighty. <sup>12</sup>Beholde, all ye your selues haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish in vanitie? <sup>13</sup>This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty. <sup>14</sup>If his children be in great nomber, the sworde shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread. <sup>15</sup>His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes shall not weepe. <sup>16</sup>Though he shoulde heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare rayment as the clay, <sup>17</sup>He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall deuide the siluer. <sup>18</sup>He buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh. <sup>19</sup>When the rich man sleepeth, he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone. <sup>20</sup>Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night. <sup>21</sup>The East winde shall take him away, and he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place. <sup>22</sup>And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand. <sup>23</sup>Euery man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

28The siluer surely hath his veyne, and ye gold his place, where they take it. <sup>2</sup>Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone. <sup>3</sup>God putteth an end to darkenesse, and he tryeth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darkenesse, and of the shadowe of death. <sup>4</sup>The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away. <sup>5</sup>Out of the same earth commeth bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp. <sup>6</sup>The stones thereof are a place of saphirs, and the dust of it is golde. <sup>7</sup>There is a path which no foule hath knowen, neyther hath the kites eye seene it. <sup>8</sup>The lyons whelpes haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby. <sup>9</sup>He putteth his hand vpon the rockes, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes. <sup>10</sup>He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing. <sup>11</sup>He bindeth the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light. <sup>12</sup>But where is wisdom found? and where is the place of vnderstanding? <sup>13</sup>Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing. <sup>14</sup>The depth sayth, It is not in mee: the sea also sayth, It is not with me. <sup>15</sup>Golde shall not be giuen for it, neyther shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof. <sup>16</sup>It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir. <sup>17</sup>The golde nor the chryshall shall be equall vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine

golde. <sup>18</sup>No mention shall be made of coral, nor of the gabish: for wisdom is more precious then pearles. <sup>19</sup>The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold. <sup>20</sup>Whence then commeth wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding, <sup>21</sup>Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the foules of the heauen? <sup>22</sup>Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares. <sup>23</sup>But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof. <sup>24</sup>For he beholdeth the endes of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, <sup>25</sup>To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure. <sup>26</sup>When he made a decree for the rayne, and a way for the lightening of the thunders, <sup>27</sup>Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it. <sup>28</sup>And vnto man he said, Behold, the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euil is vnderstanding.

29So Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying, <sup>2</sup>Oh that I were as in times past, when God preserued me! <sup>3</sup>When his light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorowe the darkenesse, <sup>4</sup>As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle: <sup>5</sup>When the almightie was yet with me, and my children round about me. <sup>6</sup>When I washed my pathes with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle: <sup>7</sup>When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seate in the streete. <sup>8</sup>The yong men saw me, and hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood vp. <sup>9</sup>The princes stayed talke, and layde their hand on their mouth. <sup>10</sup>The voyce of princes was hidde, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth. <sup>11</sup>And when the eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye sawe me, it gaue witness to me. <sup>12</sup>For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him. <sup>13</sup>The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce. <sup>14</sup>I put on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne. <sup>15</sup>I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the feete to the lame. <sup>16</sup>I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently. <sup>17</sup>I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the praye out of his teeth. <sup>18</sup>Then I sayde, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiplie my dayes as the sand. <sup>19</sup>For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dewe shall lye vpon my branche. <sup>20</sup>My glory shall renue towarde me, and my bowe shall be restored in mine hand. <sup>21</sup>Vnto me men gaue eare, and wayted, and helde their tongue at my counsell. <sup>22</sup>After my wordes they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them. <sup>23</sup>And they wayted for me, as for the rayne, and they opened their mouth as for the latter rayne. <sup>24</sup>If I laughed on them, they beleued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall. <sup>25</sup>I appoynted out their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the army, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

30 But now they that are yonger then I, mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the dogges of my flockes. <sup>2</sup>For whereto shoulde the strength of their handes haue serued mee, seeing age perished in them? <sup>3</sup>For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate and waste. <sup>4</sup>They cut vp nettels by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meate. <sup>5</sup>They were chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a theefe. <sup>6</sup>Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes. <sup>7</sup>They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselues. <sup>8</sup>They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth. <sup>9</sup>And now am I their song, and I am their talke. <sup>10</sup>They abhorre me, and flee farre from mee, and spare not to spit in my face. <sup>11</sup>Because that God hath loosed my corde and humbled mee, they haue loosed the bridle before me. <sup>12</sup>The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my feete, and haue trode on me as on the paths of their destruction. <sup>13</sup>They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe. <sup>14</sup>They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes. <sup>15</sup>Feare is turned vpon mee: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude. <sup>16</sup>Therefore my soule is nowe powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me. <sup>17</sup>It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest. <sup>18</sup>For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the colar of my coate. <sup>19</sup>He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust. <sup>20</sup>When I cry vnto thee, thou doest not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp. <sup>21</sup>Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto mee with the strength of thine hand. <sup>22</sup>Thou takest me vp and causest mee to ride vpon the winde, and makest my strength to faile. <sup>23</sup>Surely I knowe that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the house appoynted for all the liuing. <sup>24</sup>Doubtles none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction. <sup>25</sup>Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore? <sup>26</sup>Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenesse. <sup>27</sup>My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me. <sup>28</sup>I went mourning without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation and cryed. <sup>29</sup>I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches. <sup>30</sup>My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heate. <sup>31</sup>Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

31 I made a couenant with mine eyes: why then should I thinke on a mayde? <sup>2</sup>For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almightye from on hie? <sup>3</sup>Is not destruction to the wicked and strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie? <sup>4</sup>Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steps? <sup>5</sup>If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceite, <sup>6</sup>Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vprightness. <sup>7</sup>If my steppe hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine handes, <sup>8</sup>Let me sowe, and let another eate: yea, let my plantes be rooted out. <sup>9</sup>If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue layde wayte at the doore of my neighbour, <sup>10</sup>Let my wife grinde vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her: <sup>11</sup>For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to bee condemned: <sup>12</sup>Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out al mine increase, <sup>13</sup>If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayde, when they did contend with me, <sup>14</sup>What then shall I do when God standeth vp? and when he shall visit me, what shall I answeere? <sup>15</sup>He that hath made me in the wombe, hath he not made him? hath not he alone facioned vs in the wombe? <sup>16</sup>If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile, <sup>17</sup>Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherles hath not eaten thereof, <sup>18</sup>(For from my youth hee hath growen vp with me as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her) <sup>19</sup>If I haue seene any perish for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, <sup>20</sup>If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe, <sup>21</sup>If I haue lift vp mine hande against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, <sup>22</sup>Let mine arme fal from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone. <sup>23</sup>For Gods punishment was fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnes. <sup>24</sup>If I made gold mine hope, or haue sayd to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence, <sup>25</sup>If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much, <sup>26</sup>If I did behold the sunne, when it shined, or the moone, walking in her brightness, <sup>27</sup>If mine heart did flatter me in secrete, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand, <sup>28</sup>(This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denied the God aboue) <sup>29</sup>If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioye when euill came vpon him, <sup>30</sup>Neither haue I suffred my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule. <sup>31</sup>Did not the men of my Tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? we can not bee satisfied. <sup>32</sup>The stranger did not lodge in the streete, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way. <sup>33</sup>If I haue hid my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome, <sup>34</sup>Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare me: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore. <sup>35</sup>Oh that I had some to heare me! beholde my signe that the Almighty will witnesse for me: though mine aduersary should write a booke against me, <sup>36</sup>Woulde not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me? <sup>37</sup>I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a prince. <sup>38</sup>If my lande cry against me, or the furrowes thereof complayne together, <sup>39</sup>If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without siluer: or if I haue grieved the soules of the masters thereof, <sup>40</sup>Let thistles growe in steade of wheate, and cockle in the stead of Barley. The wordes of Iob are ended.

32So these three men ceased to answer Iob, because he esteemed himselfe iust. <sup>2</sup>Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the familie of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe more then God. <sup>3</sup>Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an answer, and yet condemned Iob. <sup>4</sup>(Now Elihu had wayted til Iob had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he) <sup>5</sup>So when Elihu saw, that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled. <sup>6</sup>Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and sayd, I am yong in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraide to shewe you mine opinion. <sup>7</sup>For I said, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisdom. <sup>8</sup>Surely there is a spirite in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding. <sup>9</sup>Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement. <sup>10</sup>Therefore I say, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion. <sup>11</sup>Behold, I did waite vpon your wordes, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out reasons. <sup>12</sup>Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproued Iob, nor answered his wordes: <sup>13</sup>Lest ye should say, We haue found wisdom: for God hath cast him downe, and no man. <sup>14</sup>Yet hath he not directed his words to me, neyther will I answer him by your wordes. <sup>15</sup>Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke. <sup>16</sup>When I had wayted (for they spake not, but stood still and answered no more) <sup>17</sup>Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion. <sup>18</sup>For I am full of matter, and the spirite within me compelleth me. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottels that brast. <sup>20</sup>Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lippes, and will answer. <sup>21</sup>I will not now accept the person of man, neyther will I giue titles to man. <sup>22</sup>For I may not giue titles, lest my Maker should take me away suddenly.

33Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes. <sup>2</sup>Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth. <sup>3</sup>My words are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lippes shall

speake pure knowledge. <sup>4</sup>The Spirite of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life. <sup>5</sup>If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe and stand before me. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon thee. <sup>8</sup>Doubtles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes. <sup>9</sup>I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me. <sup>10</sup>Lo, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for hisemie. <sup>11</sup>He hath put my feete in the stockes, and looketh narrowly vnto all my paths. <sup>12</sup>Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man. <sup>13</sup>Why doest thou striue against him? for he doeth not giue account of all his matters. <sup>14</sup>For God speaketh once or twice, and one seeth it not. <sup>15</sup>In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beds, <sup>16</sup>Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he had sealed, <sup>17</sup>That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man, <sup>18</sup>And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword. <sup>19</sup>He is also stricken with sorow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore, <sup>20</sup>So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meate. <sup>21</sup>His flesh faileth that it can not be seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter. <sup>22</sup>So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers. <sup>23</sup>If there be a messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousnesse, <sup>24</sup>Then will he haue mercie vpon him, and will say, Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation. <sup>25</sup>Then shall his flesh be as fresh as a childe, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth. <sup>26</sup>He shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his righteousnes. <sup>27</sup>He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruerted righteousnesse, and it did not profite me, <sup>28</sup>He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light. <sup>29</sup>Lo, all these things will God worke twice or thrise with a man, <sup>30</sup>That he may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing. <sup>31</sup>Marke well, O Iob, and heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake. <sup>32</sup>If there be matter, answer me, and speak: for I desire to iustifie thee. <sup>33</sup>If thou hast not, heare me: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

I lye in my right? my wound of the arrowe is grieuous without my sinne. <sup>7</sup>What man is like Iob, that drinketh scornfulnesse like water? <sup>8</sup>Which goeth in the companie of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men? <sup>9</sup>For he hath saide, It profiteth a man nothing that he should walke with God. <sup>10</sup>Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdome, God forbid that wickednesse should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty. <sup>11</sup>For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way. <sup>12</sup>And certainly God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement. <sup>13</sup>Whome hath he appointed ouer the earth beside him selfe? or who hath placed the whole worlde? <sup>14</sup>If he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto him selfe his spirit and his breath, <sup>15</sup>All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust. <sup>16</sup>And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this and hearken to the voyce of my wordes. <sup>17</sup>Shal he that hateth iudgement, gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust? <sup>18</sup>Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly? <sup>19</sup>How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his handes. <sup>20</sup>They shall die suddenly, and the people shalbe troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth and take away the mightie without hand. <sup>21</sup>For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings. <sup>22</sup>There is no darkenesse nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein. <sup>23</sup>For he will not lay on man so much, that he should enter into iudgement with God. <sup>24</sup>He shall breake the mightie without seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead. <sup>25</sup>Therefore shall he declare their works: he shall turne the night, and they shalbe destroyed. <sup>26</sup>He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers, <sup>27</sup>Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes: <sup>28</sup>So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the cry of the afflicted. <sup>29</sup>And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely? <sup>30</sup>Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared. <sup>31</sup>Surely it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy. <sup>32</sup>But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more. <sup>33</sup>Wil he performe the thing through thee? for thou hast reprobued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I. now speake what thou knowest. <sup>34</sup>Let men of vnderstanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me. <sup>35</sup>Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neyther were his wordes according to wisdome. <sup>36</sup>I desire that Iob may be tryed, vnto the ende touching the answeres for wicked men. <sup>37</sup>For he addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his handes among vs, and multiplieth his wordes against God.

35Elihu spake moreouer, and said, <sup>2</sup>Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am more righteous then God? <sup>3</sup>For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee and what auaieth it me, to purge me from my sinne? <sup>4</sup>Therefore will I answer thee, and thy companions with thee. <sup>5</sup>Looke vnto the heauen, and see and behold the cloudes which are hyer then thou. <sup>6</sup>If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him? <sup>7</sup>If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand? <sup>8</sup>Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousnes may profite ye sonne of man. <sup>9</sup>They cause many that are oppressed, to crye, which crye out for ye violence of the mightie. <sup>10</sup>But none saieth, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the nyght? <sup>11</sup>Which teacheth vs more then the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdome then the foules of the heauen. <sup>12</sup>Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not. <sup>13</sup>Surely God will not heare vanitie, neyther will the Almighty regard it. <sup>14</sup>Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him. <sup>15</sup>But nowe because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euill with great extremitie, <sup>16</sup>Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

36Elihu also proceeded and sayde, <sup>2</sup>Suffer me a litle, and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe. <sup>3</sup>I will fetche my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousnes vnto my Maker. <sup>4</sup>For truely my wordes shall not be false, and he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee. <sup>5</sup>Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is mighty and valiant of courage. <sup>6</sup>He mainteineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted. <sup>7</sup>He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with Kings in ye throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted. <sup>8</sup>And if they bee bound in fetters and tyed with the cordes of affliction, <sup>9</sup>Then will he shewe them their worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude. <sup>10</sup>He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquity. <sup>11</sup>If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperity, and their yeres in pleasures. <sup>12</sup>But if they wil not obey, they shall passe by the sworde, and perish without knowledge. <sup>13</sup>But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them. <sup>14</sup>Their soule dyeth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers. <sup>15</sup>He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble. <sup>16</sup>Euen so woulde he haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broade place and not shut vp beneath: and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat. <sup>17</sup>But thou art ful of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things. <sup>18</sup>For Gods wrath is, least hee should take that away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee. <sup>19</sup>Wil he regard thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excel in strength. <sup>20</sup>Be not carefull in the night, howe he destroyeth the people out of their place. <sup>21</sup>Take thou heede: looke not to iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him? <sup>23</sup>Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly? <sup>24</sup>Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold. <sup>25</sup>All men see it, and men beholde it afarre off. <sup>26</sup>Beholde, God is excellent, and we knowe him not, neither can the number of his yeres bee searched out. <sup>27</sup>When he restraineth the droppes of water, the rayne powreth down by the vapour thereof, <sup>28</sup>Which raine the cloudes do droppe and let fall abundantly vpon man. <sup>29</sup>Who can know the diuisions of ye clouds and the thunders of his tabernacle? <sup>30</sup>Beholde, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea. <sup>31</sup>For thereby hee iudgeth the people, and giueth meate abundantly. <sup>32</sup>He couereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to go against it. <sup>33</sup>His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

it be told him when I speake? or shall man speake when hee shall be destroyed? <sup>21</sup>And nowe men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and clenseth them. <sup>22</sup>The brightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible. <sup>23</sup>It is the Almightye: we can not finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he afflicteth not. <sup>24</sup>Let men therefore feare him: for he will not regarde any that are wise in their owne conceit.

39Wilt thou hunt the pray for the lyon? or fill the appetite of the lyons whelpes, <sup>2</sup>When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lye in waite? <sup>3</sup>Who prepareth for the rauē his meate, when his birdes crie vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate? <sup>4</sup>Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring foorth yong? or doest thou marke when the hindes doe calue? <sup>5</sup>Canst thou number the moneths that they fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring foorth? <sup>6</sup>They bow them selues: they bruise their yong and cast out their sorowes. <sup>7</sup>Yet their yong waxe fatte, and growe vp with corne: they goe foorth and returne not vnto them. <sup>8</sup>Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? or who hath loosed the bondes of the wilde asse? <sup>9</sup>It is I which haue made the wilderness his house, and the salt places his dwellings. <sup>10</sup>He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the crie of the driuer. <sup>11</sup>He seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing. <sup>12</sup>Will the vnicorne serue thee? or will he tary by thy cribbe? <sup>13</sup>Canst thou binde the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrowe? or will he plowe the valleyes after thee? <sup>14</sup>Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him? <sup>15</sup>Wilt thou beleue him, that he will bring home thy seede, and gather it vnto thy barne? <sup>16</sup>Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the peacockes? or winges and feathers vnto the ostriche? <sup>17</sup>Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them hote in the dust, <sup>18</sup>And forgetteth that the foote might scatter the, or that the wild beast might breake the. <sup>19</sup>He sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauailed in vaine. <sup>20</sup>For God had depriued him of wisdom, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding. <sup>21</sup>When time is, he mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider. <sup>22</sup>Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or couered his necke with neyng? <sup>23</sup>Hast thou made him afraid as the grasshopper? his strong neyng is fearefull. <sup>24</sup>He diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth

in his strength: he goeth foorth to meete the harnest man. <sup>25</sup>He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sworde, <sup>26</sup>Though the quiuer rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield. <sup>27</sup>He swalloweth the ground for fearcenes and rage, and he beleueth not that it is the noise of the trumpet. <sup>28</sup>He sayth among the trumpets, Ha, ha: hee smelleth the battell afarre off, and the noyse of the captaines, and the shouting. <sup>29</sup>Shall the hauke flie by thy wisdom, stretching out his wings toward the South? <sup>30</sup>Doeth the eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on hie? <sup>31</sup>Shee abideth and remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the toppe of the rocke, and the tower. <sup>32</sup>From thence she spieth for meate, and her eyes beholde afarre off. <sup>33</sup>His young ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine are, there is she. <sup>34</sup>Moreouer ye Lord spake vnto Iob, and said, <sup>35</sup>Is this to learne to striue with the Almighty? he that reprooueth God, let him answere to it. <sup>36</sup>Then Iob answered the Lord, saying, <sup>37</sup>Beholde, I am vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth. <sup>38</sup>Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea wise, but I will proceede no further.

40Againe the Lord answered Iob out of the whirle winde, and said, <sup>2</sup>Girde vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demaunde of thee, and declare thou vnto me. <sup>3</sup>Wilt thou disanul my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayst be iustified? <sup>4</sup>Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him? <sup>5</sup>Decke thy selfe now with maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glory. <sup>6</sup>Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proude, and abase him. <sup>7</sup>Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place. <sup>8</sup>Hide them in the dust together, and binde their faces in a secret place. <sup>9</sup>Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can saue thee. <sup>10</sup>Behold now Behemoth (whom I made with thee) which eateth grasse as an oxe. <sup>11</sup>Behold now, his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the nauil of his belly. <sup>12</sup>When hee taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar: the sinews of his stonnes are wrapt together. <sup>13</sup>His bones are like stauē of brasse, and his small bones like stauē of yron. <sup>14</sup>He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: he that made him, will make his sworde to approach vnto him. <sup>15</sup>Surely the mountaines bring him foorth grasse, where all the beastes of the fiede play. <sup>16</sup>Lyeth hee vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes? <sup>17</sup>Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about? <sup>18</sup>Behold, he spoyleth the riuer, and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth. <sup>19</sup>Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoever meeteth him. <sup>20</sup>Canst thou drawe out Liuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue? <sup>21</sup>Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou perce his iawes with an angle? <sup>22</sup>Will he make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire? <sup>23</sup>Will hee make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer? <sup>24</sup>Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bynd him for thy maydes? <sup>25</sup>Shall the companions baket with him? shall they deuide him among the marchants? <sup>26</sup>Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fishpanier with his head? <sup>27</sup>Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battel, and do no more so. <sup>28</sup>Behold, his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

41None is so fearece that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand before me? <sup>2</sup>Who hath preuented mee that I shoulde make an ende? Al vnder heauen is mine. <sup>3</sup>I will not keepe silence concerning his partes, nor his power nor his comely proportion. <sup>4</sup>Who can discouer the face of his garmet? or who shall come to him with a double bridle? <sup>5</sup>Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about. <sup>6</sup>The maiestie of his scales is like strog shields, and are sure sealed. <sup>7</sup>One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them. <sup>8</sup>One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundered. <sup>9</sup>His niesings make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning. <sup>10</sup>Out of his mouth go lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out. <sup>11</sup>Out of his nostrels cometh out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron. <sup>12</sup>His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth. <sup>13</sup>In his necke remayneth strength, and labour is reiected before his face. <sup>14</sup>The members of his bodie are ioyned: they are strong in themselues, and cannot be mooued. <sup>15</sup>His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether milstone. <sup>16</sup>The mightie are afraid of his maiestie, and for feare they faint in themselues. <sup>17</sup>When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergeon. <sup>18</sup>He esteemeth yron as strawe, and brasse as rotten wood. <sup>19</sup>The archer canot make him flee: ye stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him: <sup>20</sup>The dartes are counted as strawe: and hee laugheth at the shaking of the speare. <sup>21</sup>Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre. <sup>22</sup>He maketh the depth to boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oyntment. <sup>23</sup>He maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head. <sup>24</sup>In the earth there is none like him: hee is made without feare. <sup>25</sup>He beholdeth al hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

42Then Iob answered the Lord, and sayd, <sup>2</sup>I knowe that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hidde from thee. <sup>3</sup>Who is hee that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderfull for me, and which I knew not. <sup>4</sup>Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demaunde of thee, and declare thou vnto me. <sup>5</sup>I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee. <sup>6</sup>Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes. <sup>7</sup>Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, ye Lord also said vnto Eliphaz ye Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for yee haue not spoken of me the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob. <sup>8</sup>Therefore take vnto you nowe seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and go to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I wil accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob. <sup>9</sup>So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had saide vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob. <sup>10</sup>Then the Lord turned the captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before. <sup>11</sup>Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for al the euil, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of golde. <sup>12</sup>So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had foureteene thousand sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses. <sup>13</sup>He had also seue sonnes, and three daughters. <sup>14</sup>And he called the name of one Iemimah, and the name of the seconde Keziah, and the name of the third Kerenhappuch. <sup>15</sup>In all the lande were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren. <sup>16</sup>And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeres, and sawe his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations. <sup>17</sup>So Iob dyed, being old, and full of dayes.

Psalms

thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked. 8Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

4To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of Dauid. Heare me when I call, O God of my righteousnes: thou hast set me at libertie, when I was in distresse: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer. 2O ye sonnes of men, howe long will yee turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lyes? 5To him that excelleth upon Nehiloth. A Psalm of Dauid. Heare my wordes, O Lord: vnderstande my meditation. 2Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray. 3Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will waite. 4For thou art not a God that loueth wickednes: neither shall euill dwell with thee. 5The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie. 6Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes: the Lord will abhorre the bloodie man and deceitfull. 7But I wil come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple. 8Leade me, O Lord, in thy righteousnes, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face. 9For no constancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue. 10Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee. 11And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee. <sup>12</sup>For thou Lord wilt blesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compasse him, as with a shielde.

<sup>6</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth upon the eith tune. A Psalme of Dauid. O lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. <sup>2</sup>Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for my bones are vexed. <sup>3</sup>My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay? <sup>4</sup>Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake. <sup>5</sup>For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall prayse thee? <sup>6</sup>I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares. <sup>7</sup>Mine eye is dimmed for despight, and sunke in because of all mine enemies. <sup>8</sup>Away from mee all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping. <sup>9</sup>The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer. <sup>10</sup>All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame suddenly.

<sup>7</sup>Shigaion of Dauid, which he sang unto the Lord, concerning the wordes of Chush the sonne of Iemini. O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust: saue me from all that persecute me, and deliuer me, <sup>2</sup>Least he deuoure my soule like a lion, and teare it in pieces, while there is none to helpe. <sup>3</sup>O Lord my God, if I haue done this thing, if there be any wickednes in mine handes, <sup>4</sup>If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with mee, (yea I haue deliuered him that vexed me without cause) <sup>5</sup>Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him treade my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the iudgement that thou hast appointed. <sup>7</sup>So shall the Congregation of the people compasse thee about: for their sakes therefore returne on hie. <sup>8</sup>The Lord shall iudge the people: Iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my righteousnesse, and according to mine innocencie, that is in mee. <sup>9</sup>Oh let the malice of the wicked come to an ende: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reines. <sup>10</sup>My defence is in God, who preserueth the vpright in heart. <sup>11</sup>God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God euery day. <sup>12</sup>Except he turne, he hath whet his sword: he hath bent his bowe and made it readie. <sup>13</sup>Hee hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordeine his arrowes for them that persecute me. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, hee shall trauaile with wickednes: for he hath conceiued mischief, but he shall bring forth a lye. <sup>15</sup>Hee hath made a pitte and digged it, and is fallen into the pit that he made. <sup>16</sup>His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, and his crueltie shall fall vpon his owne pate. <sup>17</sup>I wil praise the Lord according to his righteousnes, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

<sup>8</sup>To him that excelleth on Gittith. A Psalme of Dauid. O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the worlde! which hast set thy glory aboute the heauens. <sup>2</sup>Out of the mouth of babes and suckelings hast thou ordeined strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the auenger. <sup>3</sup>When I beholde thine heauens, euen the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordeined, <sup>4</sup>What is man, say I, that thou art mindefull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him? <sup>5</sup>For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feete: <sup>7</sup>All sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beastes of the field: <sup>8</sup>The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the paths of the seas. <sup>9</sup>O Lord our Lord, howe excellent is thy Name in all the world!

<sup>9</sup>To him that excelleth vpon Muth Laben. A Psalme of Dauid. I will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake of all thy marueilous workes. <sup>2</sup>I will bee glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High, <sup>3</sup>For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall, and perish at thy presence. <sup>4</sup>For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudget right. <sup>5</sup>Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer. <sup>6</sup>O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them. <sup>7</sup>But the Lord shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement. <sup>8</sup>For he shall iudge the worlde in righteousnes, and shall iudge the people with equitie. <sup>9</sup>The Lord also wil be a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction. <sup>10</sup>And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee. <sup>11</sup>Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes. <sup>12</sup>For whe he maketh inquisition for blood, hee remembreth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore. <sup>13</sup>Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord: consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate mee, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death, <sup>14</sup>That I may shewe all thy praises within the gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation. <sup>15</sup>The heathen are sunken downe in the pit that they made: in the nette that they hid, is their foote taken. <sup>16</sup>The Lord is knowen by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne handes. Higgsaion. Selah. <sup>17</sup>The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God. <sup>18</sup>For the poore shall not bee alway forgotten: the hope of the afflicted shall not perish for euer. <sup>19</sup>Vp Lord: let not man preuaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy sight. <sup>20</sup>Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may knowe that they are but men. Selah.

10Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction? <sup>2</sup>The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the craftes that they haue imagined. <sup>3</sup>For the wicked hath made boast of his owne heartes desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord. <sup>4</sup>The wicked is so proude that hee seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alwayes, There is no God. <sup>5</sup>His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are hie aboue his sight: therefore defieth he all his enemies. <sup>6</sup>He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger. <sup>7</sup>His mouth is full of cursing and deceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie. <sup>8</sup>He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth hee murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore. <sup>9</sup>He lyeth in waite secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lyeth in waite to spoyle the poore: he doeth spoyle the poore, when he draweth him into his net. <sup>10</sup>He croucheth and boweth: therefore heaps of the poore doe fall by his might. <sup>11</sup>He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see. <sup>12</sup>Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hande: forget not the poore. <sup>13</sup>Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God? he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard. <sup>14</sup>Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse. <sup>15</sup>Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searche his wickednes, and thou shalt finde none. <sup>16</sup>The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed fourth of his land. <sup>17</sup>Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bendest thine eare to them, <sup>18</sup>To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man cause to feare no more.

11To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Daud. In the Lord put I my trust: howe say yee then to my soule, Flee to your mountaine as a birde? <sup>2</sup>For loe, the wicked bende their bowe, and make readie their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at them, which are vpright in heart. <sup>3</sup>For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done? <sup>4</sup>The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lordes throne is in the heauen: his eyes wil consider: his eye lids will try the children of men. <sup>5</sup>The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate. <sup>6</sup>Vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the porcion of their cup. <sup>7</sup>For the righteous Lord loueth righteousness: his countenance doeth beholde the iust.

ble heart. <sup>3</sup>The Lord cut off all flattering lippes, and the tongue that speaketh proude things: <sup>4</sup>Which haue saide, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs? <sup>5</sup>Now for the oppression of the needy, and for the sighes of the poore, I will vp, sayeth the Lord, and will set at libertie him, whom the wicked hath snared. <sup>6</sup>The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, as the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen folde. <sup>7</sup>Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preserue him from this generation for euer. <sup>8</sup>The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

13To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Daud. Howe long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for euer? howe long wilt thou hide thy face from me? <sup>2</sup>How long shall I take counsell within my selfe, hauing wearinesse dayly in mine heart? how long shall mineemie be exalted aboue me? <sup>3</sup>Beholde, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death: <sup>4</sup>Lest mineemie say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide. <sup>5</sup>But I trust in thy mercie: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: <sup>6</sup>I will sing to the Lord, because he hath delt louingly with me.

14To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Daud. The foole hath said in his heart, There is no God: they haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good. <sup>2</sup>The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God. <sup>3</sup>All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one. <sup>4</sup>Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord. <sup>5</sup>There they shall be taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust. <sup>6</sup>You haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust. <sup>7</sup>Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iacob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

15A Psalme of Daud. Lord, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy Mountaine? <sup>2</sup>He that walketh vprightly and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the trueth in his heart. <sup>3</sup>He that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiue a false report against his neighbour. <sup>4</sup>In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not. <sup>5</sup>He that giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh reward against the innocent: hee that doeth these things, shall neuer be moued.

Thou art my Lord: my weldoing extendeth not to thee,
<sup>3</sup>But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delite is in them. <sup>4</sup>The sorowes of them, that offer to an other god, shall be multiplied: their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make mention of their names with my lips. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt mainteine my lot. <sup>6</sup>The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage. <sup>7</sup>I wil prayse the Lord, who hath giuen me counsell: my reines also teach me in the nightes. <sup>8</sup>I haue set the Lord alwayes before me: for hee is at my right hand: therefore I shall not slide. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope. <sup>10</sup>For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy one to see corruption. <sup>11</sup>Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is the fulnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

17The prayer of Dauid. Heare the right, O Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfaigned. <sup>2</sup>Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes beholde equitie. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast prooued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend. <sup>4</sup>Concerning the workes of men, by the wordes of thy lips I kept mee from the paths of the cruell man. <sup>5</sup>Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feete doe not slide. <sup>6</sup>I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my wordes. <sup>7</sup>Shewe thy marueilous mercies, thou that art the Sauour of them that trust in thee, from such as resist thy right hand. <sup>8</sup>Keepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadowe of thy wings, <sup>9</sup>From the wicked that oppresse mee, from mine enemies, which compasse me round about for my soule. <sup>10</sup>They are inclosed in their owne fat, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth. <sup>11</sup>They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground: <sup>12</sup>Like as a lyon that is greedy of pray, and as it were a lyons whelp lurking in secret places. <sup>13</sup>Vp Lord, disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked with thy sworde, <sup>14</sup>From men by thine hand, O Lord, from men of the world, who haue their portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their children haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children. <sup>15</sup>But I will beholde thy face in righteousnes, and when I awake, I shalbe satisfied with thine image.

18To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake unto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord delivered him for the hande of all this enemies, and form the and of saul) and sayd, I will loue thee dearely, O Lord my strength. <sup>2</sup>The Lord is my rocke, and my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the horne also of my saluation, and my refuge. <sup>3</sup>I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be praysed: so shall I be safe from mine enemies. <sup>4</sup>The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednes made me afraide. <sup>5</sup>The sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me. <sup>6</sup>But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye did come before him, euen into his eares. <sup>7</sup>Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines moued and shooke, because he was angrie. <sup>8</sup>Smoke went out at his nostrels, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat. <sup>9</sup>He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and darkenes was vnder his feete. <sup>10</sup>And he rode vpon Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde. <sup>11</sup>He made darkenes his secrete place, and his paulion round about him, euen darkenesse of waters, and cloudes of the ayre. <sup>12</sup>At the brightnes of his presence his clouds passed, haylestones and coles of fire. <sup>13</sup>The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue his voyce, haylestones and coales of fire. <sup>14</sup>Then hee sent out his arrowes and scatted them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them. <sup>15</sup>And the chanelles of waters were seene, and the foundations of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrels. <sup>16</sup>He hath sent downe from aboue and taken mee: hee hath drawen mee out of many waters. <sup>17</sup>He hath deliuered mee from my strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me. <sup>18</sup>They preuented me in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay. <sup>19</sup>Hee brought mee forth also into a large place: hee deliuered mee because hee faouored me. <sup>20</sup>The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnes: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompensed me: <sup>21</sup>Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God. <sup>22</sup>For all his Lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his commandements from mee. <sup>23</sup>I was vpriight also with him, and haue kept me from my wickednes. <sup>24</sup>Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnesse, and according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight. <sup>25</sup>With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpriight man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpriight. <sup>26</sup>With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shewe thy selfe froward. <sup>27</sup>Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proude lookes. <sup>28</sup>Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God wil lighten my darkenes. <sup>29</sup>For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall. <sup>30</sup>The way of God is vncorrupt: the worde of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him. <sup>31</sup>For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God? <sup>32</sup>God gird-

eth me with strength, and maketh my way vpright. <sup>33</sup>He maketh my feete like hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places. <sup>34</sup>He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of brasse is broken with mine armes. <sup>35</sup>Thou hast also giuen me the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy louing kindenes hath caused me to increase. <sup>36</sup>Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder mee, and mine heeles haue not slid. <sup>37</sup>I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them. <sup>38</sup>I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete. <sup>39</sup>For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me. <sup>40</sup>And thou hast giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me. <sup>41</sup>They cryed but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but hee answered them not. <sup>42</sup>Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did treade them flat as the clay in the streetes. <sup>43</sup>Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not knowen, shall serue me. <sup>44</sup>As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shall be in subiection to me. <sup>45</sup>Strangers shall shrink away, and feare in their priuie chambers. <sup>46</sup>Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted. <sup>47</sup>It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me. <sup>48</sup>O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set mee vp from them, that rose against me: thou hast deliuered mee from the cruell man. <sup>49</sup>Therefore I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the nations, and wil sing vnto thy Name. <sup>50</sup>Great deliuerances giueth hee vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anoynted, euen to Dauid, and to his seede for euer.

19To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. The heauens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth ye worke of his hands. <sup>2</sup>Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge. <sup>3</sup>There is no speach nor language, where their voyce is not heard. <sup>4</sup>Their line is gone forth through all the earth, and their words into the endes of the world: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the sunne. <sup>5</sup>Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his chamber, and reioyceth like a mightie man to runne his race. <sup>6</sup>His going out is from the ende of the heauen, and his compasse is vnto the endes of ye same, and none is hid from the heate thereof. <sup>7</sup>The Lawe of the Lord is perfite, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisdom vnto the simple. <sup>8</sup>The statutes of the Lord are right and reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes. <sup>9</sup>The feare of the Lord is cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are truth: they are righteous altogether, <sup>10</sup>And more to be desired then golde, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then honie and the honie combe. <sup>11</sup>Moreouer by them is thy seruant made circumspect, and in keeping of them there is great reward. <sup>12</sup>Who can vnderstand his faultes? clense me from secret fautes. <sup>13</sup>Keepe thy seruant also from presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer me: so shall I be vpright, and made cleane from much wickednes. <sup>14</sup>Let the wordes of my mouth, and the meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

20To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. The Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the name of ye God of Iakob defend thee: <sup>2</sup>Send thee helpe from the Sanctuarie, and strengthen thee out of Zion. <sup>3</sup>Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes. Selah: <sup>4</sup>And graunt thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose: <sup>5</sup>That we may reioyce in thy saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions. <sup>6</sup>Now know I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will heare him from his Sanctuarie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand. <sup>7</sup>Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the Name of ye Lord our God. <sup>8</sup>They are brought downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stand vpright. <sup>9</sup>Saue Lord: let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

21To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation! <sup>2</sup>Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denyed him the request of his lips. Selah. <sup>3</sup>For thou diddest preuent him with liberall blessings, and didest set a crowne of pure gold vpon his head. <sup>4</sup>He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer. <sup>5</sup>His glory is great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou laid vpon him. <sup>6</sup>For thou hast set him as blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance. <sup>7</sup>Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercie of the most High, he shall not slide. <sup>8</sup>Thine hand shall finde out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall finde out them that hate thee. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them. <sup>10</sup>Their fruite shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men. <sup>11</sup>For they intended euill against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not preuaile. <sup>12</sup>Therefore shalt thou put them aparte, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make readie against their faces. <sup>13</sup>Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and prayse thy power.

22To him that excelleth upon Aiieth Hassshahar. A Psalme of Dauid. My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so farre from mine health, and from the wordes of my roaring? <sup>2</sup>O my God, I crie by day, but thou hearest not, and by night, but haue no audience. <sup>3</sup>But thou art holy, and doest inhabite the prayes of Israel. <sup>4</sup>Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didest deliuer them. <sup>5</sup>They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded. <sup>6</sup>But I am a worme, and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people. <sup>7</sup>All they that see me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe and nod the head, saying, <sup>8</sup>He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he loueth him. <sup>9</sup>But thou didest draw me out of ye wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts. <sup>10</sup>I was cast vpon thee, euen from ye wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly. <sup>11</sup>Be not farre from me, because trouble is neere: for there is none to helpe me. <sup>12</sup>Many yong bulles haue compassed me: mightie bulles of Bashan haue closed me about. <sup>13</sup>They gape vpon me with their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lyon. <sup>14</sup>I am like water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the middes of my bowels. <sup>15</sup>My strength is dryed vp like a potsheard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought me into the dust of death. <sup>16</sup>For dogges haue compassed me, and the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they perced mine hands and my feete. <sup>17</sup>I may tell all my bones: yet they beholde, and looke vpon me. <sup>18</sup>They part my garments among them, and cast lottes vpon my vesture. <sup>19</sup>But be thou not farre off, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me. <sup>20</sup>Deliuer my soule from the sword: my desolate soule from the power of the dogge. <sup>21</sup>Saue me from the lyons mouth, and answeere me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes. <sup>22</sup>I wil declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying, <sup>23</sup>Prayse the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iaakob, and feare ye him, all the seede of Israel. <sup>24</sup>For he hath not despised nor abhorred ye affliction of the poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard. <sup>25</sup>My prayse shalbe of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes will I perfourme before them that feare him. <sup>26</sup>The poore shall eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall prayse him: your heart shall liue for euer. <sup>27</sup>All the endes of the worlde shall remember themselues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kinreds of the nations shall worship before thee. <sup>28</sup>For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations. <sup>29</sup>All they that be fat in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that go downe into the dust, shall bowe before him, euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule. <sup>30</sup>Their seede shall serue him: it shalbe counted vnto the Lord for a generation. <sup>31</sup>They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnesse vnto a people that shall be borne, because he hath done it.

23A Psalm of David. The Lord is my shepheard, I shall not want. <sup>2</sup>He maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters. <sup>3</sup>He restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the paths of righteousnesse for his Names sake. <sup>4</sup>Yea, though I should walke through the valley of the shadowe of death, I will feare no euill: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staffe, they comfort me. <sup>5</sup>Thou doest prepare a table before me in the sight of mine aduersaries: thou doest anoynt mine head with oyle, and my cuppe runneth ouer. <sup>6</sup>Doubtlesse kindnesse and mercie shall follow me all the dayes of my life, and I shall remaine a long season in the house of the Lord.

24A Psalm of David. The earth is the Lordes, and all that therein is: the worlde and they that dwell therein. <sup>2</sup>For he hath founded it vpon the seas: and established it vpon the floods. <sup>3</sup>Who shall ascende into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stand in his holy place? <sup>4</sup>Euen he that hath innocent handes, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his minde vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully. <sup>5</sup>He shall receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousnesse from the God of his saluation. <sup>6</sup>This is the generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iaakob. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Lift vp your heads ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euerlasting doores, and the King of glory shall come in. <sup>8</sup>Who is this King of glorie? the Lord, strong and mightie, euen the Lord mightie in battell. <sup>9</sup>Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and lift vp your selues, ye euerlasting doores, and the King of glorie shall come in. <sup>10</sup>Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hostes, he is the King of glorie. Selah.

25A Psalm of David. Unto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule. <sup>2</sup>My God, I trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer mee. <sup>3</sup>So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause. <sup>4</sup>Shew me thy waies, O Lord, and teache me thy paths. <sup>5</sup>Leade me foorth in thy trueth, and teache me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day. <sup>6</sup>Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue beene for euer. <sup>7</sup>Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kinde-nesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord. <sup>8</sup>Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teache sinners in the way. <sup>9</sup>Them that be meeke, will hee guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way. <sup>10</sup>All the pathes of the Lord are mercie and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies. <sup>11</sup>For thy Names sake, O Lord, be merciful vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great. <sup>12</sup>What man is he that feareth the Lord? him wil he teache the way that hee shall chuse. <sup>13</sup>His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seede shall inherite the land. <sup>14</sup>The secrete of the Lord is reueiled to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding. <sup>15</sup>Mine eyes are euer towarde the Lord: for he will bring my feete out of the net. <sup>16</sup>Turne thy face vnto mee, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore. <sup>17</sup>The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: drawe me out of my troubles. <sup>18</sup>Looke vpon mine affliction and my trauel, and forgiue all my sinnes. <sup>19</sup>Beholde mine enemies, for they are manie, and they hate me with cruell hatred. <sup>20</sup>Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee. <sup>21</sup>Let mine vprightness and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee. <sup>22</sup>Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

26A Psalme of David. Judge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocency: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide. <sup>2</sup>Proue me, O Lord, and trie mee: examine my reines, and mine heart. <sup>3</sup>For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth. <sup>4</sup>I haue not hanted with vaine persons, neither kept companie with the dissemblers. <sup>5</sup>I haue hated the assemblie of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked. <sup>6</sup>I will wash mine handes in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar, <sup>7</sup>That I may declare with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and set foorth all thy wonderous woorkes. <sup>8</sup>O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth. <sup>9</sup>Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloodie men: <sup>10</sup>In whose handes is wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes. <sup>11</sup>But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me. <sup>12</sup>My foote standeth in vprightness: I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

27A Psalme of David. The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shall I be afraide? <sup>2</sup>When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon mee to eate vp my flesh; they stumbled and fell. <sup>3</sup>Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraide: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in this. <sup>4</sup>One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple. <sup>5</sup>For in the time of trouble hee shall hide mee in his Tabernacle: in the secrete place of his pauillion shall he hide me, and set me vp vpon a rocke. <sup>6</sup>And nowe shall hee lift vp mine head about mine enemies rounde about mee: therefore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I wil sing and praise the Lord. <sup>7</sup>Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I crie: haue mercie also vpon mee and heare mee. <sup>8</sup>When thou saidest, Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face. <sup>9</sup>Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruat away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake mee, O God of my saluation. <sup>10</sup>Though my father and my mother shoulde forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp. <sup>11</sup>Teache mee thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies. <sup>12</sup>Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly. <sup>13</sup>I should haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnes of the Lord in the land of the liuing. <sup>14</sup>Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

28A Psalme of David. Unto thee, O Lord, doe I crie: O my strength, be not deafe toward mee, lest, if thou answere me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit. <sup>2</sup>Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I holde vp mine handes towarde thine holy Oracle. <sup>3</sup>Drawe mee not away with the wicked, and with the woorkers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts. <sup>4</sup>Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense them after the woorkes of their handes: render them their reward. <sup>5</sup>For they regarde not the woorkes of the Lord, nor the operation of his handes: therefore breake them downe, and builde them not vp. <sup>6</sup>Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions. <sup>7</sup>The Lord is my strength and my shilde: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him. <sup>8</sup>The Lord is their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed. <sup>9</sup>Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

29A Psalme of David. Give vnto the Lord, ye sonnes of the mightie: giue vnto the Lord glorie and strength. <sup>2</sup>Giue vnto the Lord glorie due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie. <sup>3</sup>The voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glorie maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters. <sup>4</sup>The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious. <sup>5</sup>The voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon. <sup>6</sup>He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and Shirion like a yong vnicorne. <sup>7</sup>The voice of the Lord deuideth the flames of sire. <sup>8</sup>The voice of the Lord maketh the wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of Kadesh to tremble. <sup>9</sup>The voice of the Lord maketh the hundes to calue, and discovereth the forests: therefore in his Temple doth euery man speake of his glory. <sup>10</sup>The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer. <sup>11</sup>The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

30A Psalme or song of the dedication of the house of David. I will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted mee, and hast not made my foe to reioyce ouer me. <sup>2</sup>O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me. <sup>3</sup>O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiuied me from them that goe downe into the pit. <sup>4</sup>Sing praises vnto the Lord, ye his Saintes, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holinesse. <sup>5</sup>For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning. <sup>6</sup>And in my prosperitie I sayde, I shall neuer be moued. <sup>7</sup>For thou Lord of thy goodnes hadest made my mountaine to stande strong: but thou didest hide thy face, and I was troubled. <sup>8</sup>Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and praied to my Lord. <sup>9</sup>What profite is there in my blood, when I go downe to the pit? shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shall it declare thy trueth? <sup>10</sup>Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper. <sup>11</sup>Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded mee with gladnesse. <sup>12</sup>Therefore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

which cruelly, proudly and spitefully speake against the righteous. <sup>19</sup>Howe great is thy goodnesse, which thou hast layde vp for them, that feare thee! and done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men! <sup>20</sup>Thou doest hide them priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues. <sup>21</sup>Blessed be the Lord: for hee hath shewed his marueilous kindenesse toward me in a strong citie. <sup>22</sup>Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voyce of my prayer, when I cryed vnto thee. <sup>23</sup>Loue ye the Lord all his Saintes: for the Lord preserueth the faithfull, and rewardeth abundantly the proud doer. <sup>24</sup>All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and he shall establish your heart.

32A Psalme of David to give instruction. Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiuen, and whose sinne is couered. <sup>2</sup>Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirite there is no guile. <sup>3</sup>When I helde my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day, <sup>4</sup>(For thine hand is heauie vpon me, day and night: and my moysture is turned into ye drought of summer. Selah) <sup>5</sup>Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Therefore shall euery one, that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a time, when thou mayest be founde: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come neere him. <sup>7</sup>Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou compassed me about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah. <sup>8</sup>I will instruct thee, and teache thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye. <sup>9</sup>Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridle, least they come neere thee. <sup>10</sup>Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compasse him. <sup>11</sup>Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpriight in heart.

and bringeth to nought the deuices of the people. <sup>11</sup>The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages. <sup>12</sup>Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Lord: euen the people that he hath chosen for his inheritance. <sup>13</sup>The Lord looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men. <sup>14</sup>From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth. <sup>15</sup>He facioneth their hearts euey one, and vnderstandeth all their workes. <sup>16</sup>The King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength. <sup>17</sup>A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength. <sup>18</sup>Beholde, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercie, <sup>19</sup>To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine. <sup>20</sup>Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shielde. <sup>21</sup>Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name. <sup>22</sup>Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

34A Psalm of Dauid, when he changed his behaiour before Abimelech, who droue him away, and he departed. I will alway giue thankes vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually. <sup>2</sup>My soule shall glory in the Lord: the humble shall heare it, and be glad. <sup>3</sup>Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together. <sup>4</sup>I sought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my feare. <sup>5</sup>They shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying, <sup>6</sup>This poore man cryed, and the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles. <sup>7</sup>The Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them. <sup>8</sup>Taste ye and see, howe gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him. <sup>9</sup>Feare the Lord, ye his Saintes: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him. <sup>10</sup>The Lyons doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seeke the Lord, shall want nothing that is good. <sup>11</sup>Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teache you the feare of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>What man is he, that desireth life, and loueth long dayes for to see good? <sup>13</sup>Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips, that they speake no guile. <sup>14</sup>Eschewe euill and doe good: seeke peace and follow after it. <sup>15</sup>The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crie. <sup>16</sup>But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth. <sup>17</sup>The righteous crie, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles. <sup>18</sup>The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a contrue heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in Spirite. <sup>19</sup>Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all. <sup>20</sup>He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken. <sup>21</sup>But malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish. <sup>22</sup>The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none, that trust in him, shall perish.

35A Psalm of Dauid. Pleade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me. <sup>2</sup>Lay hand vpon the shielde and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe. <sup>3</sup>Bring out also the speare and stop the way against them, that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation. <sup>4</sup>Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt. <sup>5</sup>Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them. <sup>6</sup>Let their way be darke and slipperie: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them. <sup>7</sup>For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule. <sup>8</sup>Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, and let his net, that he hath laid priuilie, take him: let him fall into the same destruction. <sup>9</sup>Then my soule shalbe ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation. <sup>10</sup>All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is too strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him! <sup>11</sup>Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knewe not. <sup>12</sup>They rewarded me euill for good, to haue spoyled my soule. <sup>13</sup>Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and my praier was turned vpon my bosome. <sup>14</sup>I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother. <sup>15</sup>But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered them selues together: the abiects assembled themselues against me, and knewe not: they tare me and ceased not, <sup>16</sup>With the false skoffers at bankets, gnashing their teeth against me. <sup>17</sup>Lord, how long wilt thou beholde this? deliuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions. <sup>18</sup>So will I giue thee thankes in a great Congregation: I will praise thee among much people. <sup>19</sup>Let not them that are mine enemies, vniustly reioyce ouer mee, neyther let them winke with the eye, that hate mee without a cause. <sup>20</sup>For they speake not as friendes: but they imagine deceitfull woordes against the quiet of the lande. <sup>21</sup>And they gaped on mee with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, our eye hath seene. <sup>22</sup>Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord. <sup>23</sup>Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord. <sup>24</sup>Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteousnesse, and let them not reioyce ouer mee. <sup>25</sup>Let them not say in their hearts, O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, We haue deuoured him. <sup>26</sup>Let them bee confounded, and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselues against me. <sup>27</sup>But let them be ioyful and glad, that loue my righteousnesse: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the prosperitie of his seruant. <sup>28</sup>And my tongue shall vtter thy righteousnesse, and thy praise euery day.

36To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord. Wickedness sayeth to the wicked man, euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes. <sup>2</sup>For hee flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is foud worthy to be hated. <sup>3</sup>The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: hee hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good. <sup>4</sup>Hee imagineth mischiefe vpon his bed: he setteth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill. <sup>5</sup>Thy mercy, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulness vnto the cloudes. <sup>6</sup>Thy righteousnesse is like the mightie moutaines: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast. <sup>7</sup>How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings. <sup>8</sup>They shall be satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures. <sup>9</sup>For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light. <sup>10</sup>Extend thy louing kindnes vnto them that knowe thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpriight in heart. <sup>11</sup>Let not ye foote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of ye wicked men moue me. <sup>12</sup>There they are fallen that worke iniquity: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men. <sup>18</sup>The Lord knoweth the dayes of vpriight men, and their inheritance shall bee perpetuall. <sup>19</sup>They shall not be confounded in the perilous time, and in the daies of famine they shall haue ynough. <sup>20</sup>But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the fatte of lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away. <sup>21</sup>The wicked boroweth and payeth not againe. but the righteous is mercifull, and giueth. <sup>22</sup>For such as be blessed of God, shall inherite the lande, and they that be cursed of him, shalbe cut off. <sup>23</sup>The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way. <sup>24</sup>Though he fall, hee shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand. <sup>25</sup>I haue bene yong, and am olde: yet I sawe neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seede begging bread. <sup>26</sup>But hee is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seede enioyeth the blessing. <sup>27</sup>Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer. <sup>28</sup>For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saintes: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off. <sup>29</sup>The righteous men shall inherite the lande, and dwell therein for euer. <sup>30</sup>The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement. <sup>31</sup>For the Lawe of his God is in his heart, and his steppes shall not slide. <sup>32</sup>The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him. <sup>33</sup>But the Lord wil not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is iudged. <sup>34</sup>Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the lande: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see. <sup>35</sup>I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree. <sup>36</sup>Yet he passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be founde. <sup>37</sup>Marke the vpriight man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace. <sup>38</sup>But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, and the ende of the wicked shall bee cut off. <sup>39</sup>But the saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lord: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble. <sup>40</sup>For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

38A Psalme of Dauid for remembrance. O Lord, rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. <sup>2</sup>For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me. <sup>3</sup>There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my sinne. <sup>4</sup>For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weightie burden they are too heauie for me. <sup>5</sup>My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnes. <sup>6</sup>I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe mourning all the day. <sup>7</sup>For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh. <sup>8</sup>I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very grieffe of mine heart. <sup>9</sup>Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee. <sup>10</sup>Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne. <sup>11</sup>My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand a farre off. <sup>12</sup>They also, that seeke after my life, laye snares, and they that go about to do me euil, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually. <sup>13</sup>But I as a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth. <sup>14</sup>Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes. <sup>15</sup>For on thee, O Lord, do I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God. <sup>16</sup>For I said, Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for when my foote slippeth, they extol themselues against me. <sup>17</sup>Surely I am ready to halte, and my sorow is euer before me. <sup>18</sup>When I declare my paine, and am sorry for my sinne, <sup>19</sup>Then mine enemies are aliuie and are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are many. <sup>20</sup>They also, that rewarde euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I follow goodness. <sup>21</sup>Forsake me not, O Lord: be not thou farre from me, my God. <sup>22</sup>Haste thee to helpe mee, O my Lord, my saluation.

39To the excellent musician Ieduthun. I thought, I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth brided, while the wicked is in my sight. <sup>2</sup>I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silece euen from good, and my sorow was more stirred. <sup>3</sup>Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindeled, and I spake with my tongue, saying, <sup>4</sup>Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee knowe howe long I haue to liue. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them. <sup>7</sup>And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee. <sup>8</sup>Deliuier me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish. <sup>9</sup>I should haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because thou didest it. <sup>10</sup>Take thy plague away from mee: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand. <sup>11</sup>When thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a mothe makest his beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah. <sup>12</sup>Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a strager with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers. <sup>13</sup>Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, before I go hence and be not.

40To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. I Waited patiently for the Lord, and he inclined vnto me, and heard my cry. <sup>2</sup>Hee brought mee also out of the horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings. <sup>3</sup>And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lyes. <sup>5</sup>O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse. <sup>6</sup>Sacrifice and offering thou didest not desire: (for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering and sinne offering hast thou not required. <sup>7</sup>Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me, <sup>8</sup>I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Lawe is within mine heart. <sup>9</sup>I haue declared thy righteousnesse in the great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lippes: O Lord, thou knowest. <sup>10</sup>I haue not hidde thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation. <sup>11</sup>Withdraw not thou thy tender mercie from mee, O Lord: let thy mercie and thy trueth alway preserue me. <sup>12</sup>For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in nomber then the heares of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me. <sup>13</sup>Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuier mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me. <sup>14</sup>Let them be confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroye it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt. <sup>15</sup>Let them be destroyed for a rewarde of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha. <sup>16</sup>Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them, that loue thy saluation, say alway, The Lord be prayesd. <sup>17</sup>Though I be poore and needie, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

41To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid. Blessed is he that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuier him in ye time of trouble. <sup>2</sup>The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliuie: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuier him vnto the will of his enemies. <sup>3</sup>The Lord wil strengthen him vpon ye bed of sorow: thou hast turned al his bed in his sicknes. <sup>4</sup>Therefore I saide, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee. <sup>5</sup>Mine enemies speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish? <sup>6</sup>And if hee come to see mee, hee speaketh lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it. <sup>7</sup>All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt. <sup>8</sup>A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shall no more rise. <sup>9</sup>Yea, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon mee, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them. <sup>11</sup>By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemie doth not triumph against me. <sup>12</sup>And as for me, thou vpholdest me in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy face for euer. <sup>13</sup>Blessed be the Lord God of Israel worlde without ende. So be it, euen so be it.

42To him that excelleth. A Psalme to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. As the harte brayeth for the riuers of water, so panteth my soule after thee, O God. <sup>2</sup>My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God? <sup>3</sup>My teares haue bin my meate day and night, while they daily say vnto me, Where is thy God? <sup>4</sup>When I remembred these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the House of God with the voyce of singing, and prayse, as a multitude that keepeth a feast. <sup>5</sup>Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence. <sup>6</sup>My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee, from the land of Iorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar. <sup>7</sup>One deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me. <sup>8</sup>The Lord will graunt his louing kindenesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life. <sup>9</sup>I wil say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? why goe I mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me? <sup>10</sup>My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproch me, saying daily vnto me, Where is thy God? <sup>11</sup>Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe, and my God.

43Judge me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmercifull people: deliuer mee from the deceitfull and wicked man. <sup>2</sup>For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me? <sup>3</sup>Sende thy light and thy trueth: let them leade mee: let them bring mee vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles. <sup>4</sup>Then wil I go vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe wil I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God. <sup>5</sup>Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my present helpe, and my God.

them: but thy right hand, and thine arme and the light of thy countenance, because thou didest fauour them. <sup>4</sup>Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Iaakob. <sup>5</sup>Through thee haue we thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs. <sup>6</sup>For I do not trust in my bowe, neither can my sworde saue me. <sup>7</sup>But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs. <sup>8</sup>Therefore will wee praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah. <sup>9</sup>But now thou art farre off, and putttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies. <sup>10</sup>Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersary, and they, which hate vs, spoile for theselues. <sup>11</sup>Thou giuest vs as sheepe to bee eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations. <sup>12</sup>Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and doest not increase their price. <sup>13</sup>Thou makest vs a reproche to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs. <sup>14</sup>Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people. <sup>15</sup>My confusion is dayly before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me, <sup>16</sup>For the voyce of the slaunderer and rebuker, for the enemie and auenger. <sup>17</sup>All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale wee falsely concerning thy couenant. <sup>18</sup>Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths, <sup>19</sup>Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death. <sup>20</sup>If wee haue forgotten the Name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a strange god, <sup>21</sup>Shall not God searche this out? for hee knoweth the secrets of the heart. <sup>22</sup>Surely for thy sake are we slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter. <sup>23</sup>Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our miserie and our affliction? <sup>25</sup>For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground. <sup>26</sup>Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

45To him that excelleth on Shoshannim a song of love to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. Mine heart will vtter forth a good matter: I wil intreat in my workes of the King: my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer. <sup>2</sup>Thou art fayrer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer. <sup>3</sup>Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to wit, thy worship and thy glory, <sup>4</sup>And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the worde of trueth and of meekenes and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things. <sup>5</sup>Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee. <sup>6</sup>Thy throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousness. <sup>7</sup>Thou louest righteousness, and hatest wickednesse, because God, euen thy God hath anoynted thee with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy fellows. <sup>8</sup>All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou comest out of the yuorie palaces, where they haue made thee glad. <sup>9</sup>Kings daughters were among thine honorable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir. <sup>10</sup>Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house. <sup>11</sup>So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him. <sup>12</sup>And the daughter of Tyrus with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents. <sup>13</sup>The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broyded golde. <sup>14</sup>She shalbe brought vnto the King in raiment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee. <sup>15</sup>With ioy and gladnes shall they be brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace. <sup>16</sup>In steade of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth. <sup>17</sup>I will make thy Name to be remembred through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee world without ende.

46To him that excelleth vpon Alamothe a song committed to the sonnes of Korah. God is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found. <sup>2</sup>Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountaines fall into the middes of the sea. <sup>3</sup>Though the waters thereof rage and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah, <sup>4</sup>Yet there is a Riuer, whose streames shall make glad the citie of God: euen the Sanctuarie of the Tabernacles of the most High. <sup>5</sup>God is in the middes of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very earely. <sup>6</sup>When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were moued, God thundred, and the earth melted. <sup>7</sup>The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Come, and behold the workes of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth. <sup>9</sup>He maketh warres to cease vnto the endes of the world: he breaketh the bowe and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire. <sup>10</sup>Be still and knowe that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I wil be exalted in the earth. <sup>11</sup>The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.

47To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah. All people clap your hands: sing loude vnto God with a ioyfull voyce. <sup>2</sup>For the Lord is high, and terrible: a great King ouer all the earth. <sup>3</sup>He hath subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete. <sup>4</sup>Hee hath chosen our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iaakob whom he loued. Selah. <sup>5</sup>God is gone vp with triumph, euen the Lord, with the sound of the trumpet. <sup>6</sup>Sing prayses to God, sing prayses: sing prayses vnto our King, sing prayses. <sup>7</sup>For God is the King of all the earth: sing prayses euery one that hath vnderstanding, <sup>8</sup>God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne. <sup>9</sup>The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he is greatly to be exalted.

48A song or Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah. Great is the Lord, and greatly to be prayed, in the Citie of our God, euen vpon his holy Mountaine. <sup>2</sup>Mount Zion, lying Northwarde, is faire in situation: it is the ioy of the whole earth, and the Citie of the great King. <sup>3</sup>In the palaces thereof God is knowen for a refuge. <sup>4</sup>For lo, the Kings were gathered, and went together. <sup>5</sup>When they sawe it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe. <sup>6</sup>Feare came there vpon them, and sorowe, as vpon a woman in trauaile. <sup>7</sup>As with an East winde thou breakest the shippes of Tarshish, so were they destroyed. <sup>8</sup>As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the citie of the Lord of hostes, in the Citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah. <sup>9</sup>We waite for thy louing kindnes, O God, in the middes of thy Temple. <sup>10</sup>O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy prayse vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousnes. <sup>11</sup>Let mount Zion reioyce, and the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements. <sup>12</sup>Compass about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towres thereof. <sup>13</sup>Marke well the wall thereof: beholde her towres, that ye may tell your posteritie. <sup>14</sup>For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shall be our guide vnto the death.

49To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah. Heare this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world, <sup>2</sup>As well lowe as hie, both rich and poore. <sup>3</sup>My mouth shall speake of wisdom, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge. <sup>4</sup>I will incline mine eare to a parable, and vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore should I feare in the euil dayes, when iniquitie shall compass me about, as at mine heeles? <sup>6</sup>They trust in their goods, and boast them selues in the multitude of their riches. <sup>7</sup>Yet a man can by no meanes redeeme his brother: he can not giue his raunsome to God, <sup>8</sup>(So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for euer) <sup>9</sup>That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue. <sup>10</sup>For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others. <sup>11</sup>Yet they thinke, their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and call their lands by their names. <sup>12</sup>But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beastes that die. <sup>13</sup>This their way vttereth their foolishnes: yet their posteritie delite in their talke. Selah. <sup>14</sup>Like sheepe they lie in graue: death deuoueth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the morning: for their beautie shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue. <sup>15</sup>But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will receiue me. Selah. <sup>16</sup>Be not thou afrayd when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased. <sup>17</sup>For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descende after him. <sup>18</sup>For while he liued, he reioyced himselfe: and men will prayse thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe. <sup>19</sup>He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not liue for euer. <sup>20</sup>Man is in honour, and vnderstandeth not: he is like to beasts that perish.

50A Psalm of Asaph. The God of Gods, euen the Lord hath spoken and called the earth from the rising vp of the sunne vnto the going downe thereof. <sup>2</sup>Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beautie, hath God shined. <sup>3</sup>Our God shall come and shall not keepe silence: a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mightie tempest shall be moued round about him. <sup>4</sup>Hee shall call the heauen aboue, and the earth to iudge his people. <sup>5</sup>Gather my Saints together vnto me, those that make a couenant with me with sacrifice. <sup>6</sup>And the heauens shall declare his righteousnes: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Heare, O my people, and I wil speake: heare, O Israel, and I wil testifie vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God. <sup>8</sup>I wil not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not bene continually before me. <sup>9</sup>I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy foldes. <sup>10</sup>For all the beastes of the forest are mine, and the beastes on a thousand mountaines. <sup>11</sup>I knowe all the foules on the mountaines: and the wilde beastes of the fiede are mine. <sup>12</sup>If I bee hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is. <sup>13</sup>Will I eate the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goates? <sup>14</sup>Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High, <sup>15</sup>And call vpon me in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me. <sup>16</sup>But vnto the wicked said God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, <sup>17</sup>Seeing thou hatest to bee reformed, and hast cast my wordes behinde thee? <sup>18</sup>For when thou seest a thiefe, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers. <sup>19</sup>Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgest deceit. <sup>20</sup>Thou sittest, and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne. <sup>21</sup>These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and set them in order before thee. <sup>22</sup>Oh cosider this, ye that forget God, least I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you. <sup>23</sup>He that offereth praise, shall glorifie mee: and to him, that disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

51To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came unto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba. Have mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindnes: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities. <sup>2</sup>Wash me throughly from mine iniquitie, and clense me from my sinne. <sup>3</sup>For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me. <sup>4</sup>Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudgest. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, thou louest trueth in the inwarde affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart. <sup>7</sup>Purge me with hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash me, and I shall be whiter then snowe. <sup>8</sup>Make me to heare ioye and gladnes, that the bones, which thou hast broken, may reioyce. <sup>9</sup>Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities. <sup>10</sup>Create in mee a cleane heart, O God, and renue a right spirit within me. <sup>11</sup>Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me. <sup>12</sup>Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free Spirit. <sup>13</sup>Then shall I teache thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shall be conuerted vnto thee. <sup>14</sup>Deliuer me from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousnes. <sup>15</sup>Open thou my lippes, O Lord, and my mouth shall shewe foorth thy praise. <sup>16</sup>For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delitest not in burnt offering. <sup>17</sup>The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. <sup>18</sup>Be fauourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: builde the walles of Ierusalem. <sup>19</sup>Then shalt thou accept ye sacrifices of righteousnes, euen the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calues vpon thine altar.

52To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and saide to him, Dauid is come to the house of Abimelech. Why boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O man of power? the louing kindnesse of God indureth dayly. <sup>2</sup>Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe razor, that cutteth deceitfully. <sup>3</sup>Thou doest loue euill more then good, and lies more then to speake the trueth. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Thou louest all wordes that may destroye, O deceitfull tongue! <sup>5</sup>So shall God destroy thee for euer: he shall take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and roote thee out of ye land of the liuing. Selah. <sup>6</sup>The righteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying, <sup>7</sup>Beholde the man that tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, and put his strength in his malice. <sup>8</sup>But I shall bee like a greene oliue tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercie of God for euer and euer. <sup>9</sup>I will alway praise thee, for that thou hast done this, and I will hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

53To him that excelleth on Mahalath. A Psalm of David to give instruction. The foole hath saide in his heart, There is no God. they haue corrupted and done abominable wickednes: there is none that doeth good. <sup>2</sup>God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God. <sup>3</sup>Euery one is gone backe: they are altogether corrupt: there is none that doth good, no not one. <sup>4</sup>Doe not the workers of iniquitie knowe that they eate vp my people as they eate bread? they call not vpon God. <sup>5</sup>There they were afraide for feare, where no feare was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that besieged thee: thou hast put them to confusion, because God hath cast them off. <sup>6</sup>Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when God turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

54To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of David, to give instruction. When the Ziphims came and said unto Saul, Is not David hid among us? Save mee, O God, by thy Name, and by thy power iudge me. <sup>2</sup>O God, heare my prayer: hearken vnto the wordes of my mouth. <sup>3</sup>For strangers are risen vp against me, and tyrants seeke my soule: they haue not set God before them. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, God is mine helper: the Lord is with them that vpholde my soule. <sup>5</sup>He shall rewarde euill vnto mine enemies: Oh cut them off in thy trueth! <sup>6</sup>Then I will sacrifice freely vnto thee: I wil praise thy Name, O Lord, because it is good. <sup>7</sup>For he hath deliuered me out of al trouble, and mine eye hath seene my desire vpon mine enemies.

55To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of David to give instruction. Heare my prayer, O God, and hide not thy selfe from my supplication. <sup>2</sup>Hearken vnto me, and answere me: I mourne in my prayer, and make a noyse, <sup>3</sup>For the voyce of the enemy, and for the vexation of ye wicked, because they haue brought iniquitie vpon me, and furiously hate me. <sup>4</sup>Mine heart trembleth within mee, and the terrours of death are fallen vpon me. <sup>5</sup>Feare and trembling are come vpon mee, and an horrible feare hath couered me. <sup>6</sup>And I said, Oh that I had wings like a doue: then would I flie away and rest. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I woulde take my flight farre off, and lodge in the wildernes. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Hee would make haste for my deliuerance from the stormie winde and tempest. <sup>9</sup>Destroy, O Lord, and deuide their tongues: for I haue seene crueltie and strife in the citie. <sup>10</sup>Day and night they goe about it vpon the walles thereof: both iniquitie and mischief are in the middes of it. <sup>11</sup>Wickednes is in the middes thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streetes. <sup>12</sup>Surely mine enemy did not defame mee: for I could haue borne it: neither did mine aduersarie exalt himselfe against mee: for I would haue hid me from him. <sup>13</sup>But it was thou, O man, euen my companion, my guide and my familiar: <sup>14</sup>Which delited in consulting together, and went into the House of God as companions. <sup>15</sup>Let death sense vpon them: let them goe downe quicke into the graue: for wickednes is in their dwellings, euen in the middes of them. <sup>16</sup>But I will call vnto God, and the Lord will saue me. <sup>17</sup>Euening and morning, and at noone will I pray, and make a noyse, and he wil heare my voice. <sup>18</sup>He hath deliuered my soule in peace from the battel, that was against me: for many were with me. <sup>19</sup>God shall heare and afflict them, euen hee that reigneth of olde, Selah. because they haue no changes, therefore they feare not God. <sup>20</sup>Hee layed his hande vpon such, as be at peace with him, and he brake his couenant. <sup>21</sup>The wordes of his mouth were softer then butter, yet warre was in his heart: his words were more gentle then oyle, yet they were swordes. <sup>22</sup>Cast thy burden vpon the Lord, and hee shall nourish thee: he wil not suffer the righteous to fall for euer. <sup>23</sup>And thou, O God, shalt bring them downe into the pitte of corruption: the bloudie, and deceitfull men shall not liue halfe their dayes: but I will trust in thee.

56To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David on Michtam, concerning the dumme doue in a farre countrey, when the Philistims tooke him in Gath. Be mercifull vnto me, O God, for man would swallow me vp: he fighteth continually and vexeth me. <sup>2</sup>Mine enemies would dayly swallowe mee vp: for many fight against me, O thou most High. <sup>3</sup>When I was afraid, I trusted in thee. <sup>4</sup>I will reioyce in God, because of his word, I trust in God, and will not feare what flesh can doe vnto me. <sup>5</sup>Mine owne wordes grieue me dayly: all their thoughtes are against me to doe me hurt. <sup>6</sup>They gather together, and keepe them selues close: they marke my steps, because they waite for my soule. <sup>7</sup>They thinke they shall escape by iniquitie: O God, cast these people downe in thine anger. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast counted my wandrings: put my teares into thy bottel: are they not in thy register? <sup>9</sup>When I cry, then mine enemies shall turne backe: this I know, for God is with me. <sup>10</sup>I will reioyce in God because of his worde: in the Lord wil I reioyce because of his worde. <sup>11</sup>In God doe I trust: I will not be afraid what man can doe vnto me. <sup>12</sup>Thy vowes are vpon me, O God: I will render prayes vnto thee. <sup>13</sup>For thou hast deliuered my soule from death, and also my feete from falling, that I may walke before God in the light of the liuing.

57To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalm of David on Michtam. When he fled from Saul in the cave. Have mercie vpon me, O God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadowe of thy wings wil I trust, till these afflictions ouerpasse. <sup>2</sup>I will call vnto the most high God, euen to the God, that performeth his promise toward me. <sup>3</sup>He will send from heauen, and saue me from the reproofe of him that would swallowe me. Selah. God wil send his mercy, and his trueth. <sup>4</sup>My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth are speares and arrowes, and their tongue a sharpe sworde. <sup>5</sup>Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth. <sup>6</sup>They haue layd a net for my steps: my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the mids of it. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Mine heart is prepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue prayse. <sup>8</sup>Awake my tongue, awake viole and harpe: I wil awake early. <sup>9</sup>I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations. <sup>10</sup>For thy mercie is great vnto the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes. <sup>11</sup>Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

58To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. Is it true? O Congregation, speake ye iustly? O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly? <sup>2</sup>Yea, rather ye imagine mischiefe in your heart: your hands execute crueltie vpon the earth. <sup>3</sup>The wicked are strangers from ye wombe: euen from the belly haue they erred, and speake lyes. <sup>4</sup>Their poyson is euen like the poyson of a serpent: like ye deafe adder that stoppeth his eare. <sup>5</sup>Which heareth not the voyce of the inchanter, though he be most expert in charming. <sup>6</sup>Breake their teeth, O God, in their mouthes: breake the iawes of the yong lions, O Lord. <sup>7</sup>Let them melt like the waters, let them passe away: when hee shooteth his arrowes, let them be as broken. <sup>8</sup>Let them consume like a snayle that melteth, and like the vntimely fruite of a woman, that hath not seene the sunne. <sup>9</sup>As raw flesh before your pots feele the fire of thornes: so let him cary them away as with a whirlwinde in his wrath. <sup>10</sup>The righteous shall reioyce when he seeeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feete in the blood of the wicked. <sup>11</sup>And men shall say, Verily there is fruite for the righteous: doutlesse there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

59To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. When Saul sent and they did watch the house to kill him. O my God, deliuer mee from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against me. <sup>2</sup>Deliuer me from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloody men. <sup>3</sup>For loe, they haue layd waite for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against me, not for mine offence, nor for my sinne, O Lord. <sup>4</sup>They runne and prepare themselues without a fault on my part: arise therefore to assist me, and beholde. <sup>5</sup>Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel awake to visit all the heathen, and be not merciful vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah. <sup>6</sup>They goe to and from in the euening: they barke like dogs, and goe about the citie. <sup>7</sup>Behold, they brag in their talke, and swords are in their lips: for, Who, say they, doeth heare? <sup>8</sup>But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen. <sup>9</sup>He is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence. <sup>10</sup>My mercifull God will preuent me: God wil let me see my desire vpon mine enemies. <sup>11</sup>Slay them not, least my people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield, <sup>12</sup>For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be taken in their pride, euen for their periurie and lies, that they speake. <sup>13</sup>Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that they be no more: and let them knowe that God ruleth in Iaakob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah. <sup>14</sup>And in the euening they shall go to and from, and barke like dogs, and go about the citie. <sup>15</sup>They shall runne here and there for meate: and surely they shall not be satisfied, though they tary all night. <sup>16</sup>But I wil sing of thy power, and will prayse thy mercy in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble. <sup>17</sup>Vnto thee, O my Strength, wil I sing: for God is my defence, and my mercifull God.

60To him that excelleth upon Shushan Eduth, or Michtam. A Psalme of David to teach. When he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against Aram Zobah, when Joab returned and slew twelve thousand Edomites in the salt valley. O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast scattered vs, thou hast bene angry, turne againe vnto vs. <sup>2</sup>Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast shewed thy people heauy things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddines. <sup>4</sup>But now thou hast giuen a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy trueth. Selah. <sup>5</sup>That thy beloued may be deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me. <sup>6</sup>God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I will reioyce: I shall deuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth. <sup>7</sup>Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iudah is my lawgiuer. <sup>8</sup>Moab shalbe my wash pot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: Palestina shew thy selfe ioyfull for me. <sup>9</sup>Who will leade me into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom? <sup>10</sup>Wilt not thou, O God, which hadest cast vs off, and didest not go forth, O God, with our armies? <sup>11</sup>Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man. <sup>12</sup>Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

61To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David. Heare my cry, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer. <sup>2</sup>From the endes of the earth will I crye vnto thee: when mine heart is opprest, bring me vpon the rocke that is higher then I. <sup>3</sup>For thou hast bene mine hope, and a strong tower against the enemy. <sup>4</sup>I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah. <sup>5</sup>For thou, O God, hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name. <sup>6</sup>Thou shalt giue the King a long life: his yeeres shalbe as many ages. <sup>7</sup>Hee shall dwell before God for euer: prepare mercie and faithfulness that they may preserve him. <sup>8</sup>So will I alway sing prayse vnto thy Name in performing dayly my vowes.

62To the excellent musician Ieduthun. A Psalm of David. Yet my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him commeth my saluation. <sup>2</sup>Yet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not much be moued. <sup>3</sup>How long wil ye imagine mischief against a man? ye shalbe all slaine: ye shalbe as a bowed wall, or as a wall shaken. <sup>4</sup>Yet they consult to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him. <sup>6</sup>Yet is hee my strength, and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be moued. <sup>7</sup>In God is my saluation and my glory, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust. <sup>8</sup>Trust in him alway, ye people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah. <sup>9</sup>Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie. <sup>10</sup>Trust not in oppression nor in robbrie: be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon. <sup>11</sup>God spake once or twise, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God, <sup>12</sup>And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou rewardest euery one according to his worke.

63A Psalm of David. When he was in the wilderness of Judah. O God, thou art my God, earely will I seeke thee: my soule thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drye land without water. <sup>2</sup>Thus I beholde thee as in the Sanctuarie, when I beholde thy power and thy glorie. <sup>3</sup>For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lippes shall prayse thee. <sup>4</sup>Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy name. <sup>5</sup>My soule shalbe satisfied, as with marrow and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lippes, <sup>6</sup>When I remember thee on my bedde, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches. <sup>7</sup>Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings wil I reioyce. <sup>8</sup>My soule cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me. <sup>9</sup>Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest partes of the earth. <sup>10</sup>They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall be a portion for foxes. <sup>11</sup>But the King shall reioyce in God, and all that swear by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lyes, shall be stopped.

64To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. Heare my voyce, O God, in my prayer: preserve my life from feare of the enemye. <sup>2</sup>Hide me from the conspiracie of the wicked, and from the rage of the workers of iniquitie.

65To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David. O God, praise waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall the vowe be performed. <sup>2</sup>Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall all flesh come. <sup>3</sup>Wicked deedes haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our transgressions. <sup>4</sup>Blessed is he, whom thou chusest and causest to come to thee: he shall dwell in thy courtes, and we shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holy Temple. <sup>5</sup>O God of our saluation, thou wilt answere vs with fearefull signes in thy righteousnes, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the sea. <sup>6</sup>He stablisheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength. <sup>7</sup>He appeaseth the noyse of the seas and the noyse of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people. <sup>8</sup>They also, that dwell in the vttermost parts of the earth, shalbe afraide of thy signes: thou shalt make the East and the West to reioyce. <sup>9</sup>Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very riche: the Riuer of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for so thou appointest it. <sup>10</sup>Thou waterest abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou causest the raine to descende into the valleies thereof: thou makest it soft with showres, and blessest the bud thereof. <sup>11</sup>Thou crownest ye yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steppes droppe fatnesse. <sup>12</sup>They drop vpon the pastures of the wilderness: and the hills shalbe compassed with gladnes. <sup>13</sup>The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleis also shalbe couered with corne: therefore they shoute for ioye, and sing.

66To him that excelleth. A song or Psalm. Reioyce in God, all ye inhabitants of the earth. <sup>2</sup>Sing forth the glory of his name: make his praise glorious. <sup>3</sup>Say vnto God, Howe terrible art thou in thy workes! through the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be in subiection vnto thee. <sup>4</sup>All the worlde shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Come and beholde the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing towarde the sonnes of men. <sup>6</sup>He hath turned the Sea into

drie land: they passe through the riuer on foote: there did we reioyce in him. <sup>7</sup>He ruleth the worlde with his power: his eyes beholde the nations: the rebellious shall not exalt them selues. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Prayse our God, ye people, and make the voyce of his prayse to be heard. <sup>9</sup>Which holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slippe. <sup>10</sup>For thou, O God, hast proued vs, thou hast tryed vs as siluer is tryed. <sup>11</sup>Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and layed a strait chaine vpon our loynes. <sup>12</sup>Thou hast caused men to ryde ouer our heads: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a welthie place. <sup>13</sup>I will go into thine House with burnt offerings, and will pay thee my vowes, <sup>14</sup>Which my lippes haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction. <sup>15</sup>I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullocks and goates. Selah. <sup>16</sup>Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule. <sup>17</sup>I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue. <sup>18</sup>If I regard wickednesse in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me. <sup>19</sup>But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer. <sup>20</sup>Praysed be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercie from me.

67To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song. God be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and cause his face to shine among vs. Selah. <sup>2</sup>That they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy sauing health among all nations. <sup>3</sup>Let the people prayse thee, O God: let all the people prayse thee. <sup>4</sup>Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Let the people prayse thee, O God: let all the people prayse thee. <sup>6</sup>Then shall the earth bring fourth her increase, and God, euen our God shall blesse vs. <sup>7</sup>God shall blesse vs, and all the endes of the earth shall feare him.

68To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of David. God will arise, and his enemies shalbe scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him. <sup>2</sup>As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God. <sup>3</sup>But the righteous shalbe glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioye. <sup>4</sup>Sing vnto God, and sing prayses vnto his name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name Iah, and reioyce before him. <sup>5</sup>He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation. <sup>6</sup>God maketh the solitarie to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in stocks: but the rebellious shall dwell in a dry land. <sup>7</sup>O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest through the wilderness, (Selah) <sup>8</sup>The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the presence of God, euen

the God of Israel. <sup>9</sup>Thou, O God, sendest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou didest refresh it when it was wearie. <sup>10</sup>Thy Congregation dwelled therein: for thou, O God, hast of thy goodnesse prepared it for the poore. <sup>11</sup>The Lord gaue matter to the women to tell of the great armie. <sup>12</sup>Kings of the armies did flee: they did flee, and she that remained in the house, deuided the spoyle. <sup>13</sup>Though ye haue lien among pots, yet shall ye be as the winges of a doue that is couered with siluer, and whose fethers are like yelowe golde. <sup>14</sup>When the Almighty scattered Kings in it, it was white as the snowe in Zalmon. <sup>15</sup>The mountaine of God is like the mountaine of Bashan: it is an high Mountaine, as mount Bashan. <sup>16</sup>Why leape ye, ye high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God deliteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer. <sup>17</sup>The charets of God are twentie thousande thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuarie of Sinai. <sup>18</sup>Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and receiued giftes for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there. <sup>19</sup>Praysed be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which ladeth vs dayly with benefites. Selah. <sup>20</sup>This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the issues of death. <sup>21</sup>Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hearie pate of him that walketh in his sinnes. <sup>22</sup>The Lord hath sayde, I will bring my people againe from Bashan: I will bring them againe from the depths of the Sea: <sup>23</sup>That thy foote may bee dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy dogges in the blood of the enemies, euen in it. <sup>24</sup>They haue seene, O God, thy goings, the goings of my God, and my King, which art in the Sanctuarie. <sup>25</sup>The singers went before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the maides playing with timbrels. <sup>26</sup>Praise yee God in the assemblies, and the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel. <sup>27</sup>There was litle Beniamin with their ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assemblie, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali. <sup>28</sup>Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that, which thou hast wrought in vs, <sup>29</sup>Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and Kings shall bring presents vnto thee. <sup>30</sup>Destroy the company of the spearmen, and multitude of the mightie bulles with the calues of the people, that tread vnder feete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delite in warre. <sup>31</sup>Then shall the princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall hast to stretche her hands vnto God. <sup>32</sup>Sing vnto God, O yee kingdomes of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah) <sup>33</sup>To him that rideth vpon ye most high heauens, which were from the beginning: beholde, he will send out by his voice a mightie sound. <sup>34</sup>Ascribe the power to God: for his maiestie is vpon Israel, and his strength is in the cloudes. <sup>35</sup>O God, thou art terrible out of thine holie places: the God of Israel is hee that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

69 To him that excelleth upon Shoshannim. A Psalm of David. Save mee, O God: for the waters are entred euen to my soule. <sup>2</sup>I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no staie is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me. <sup>3</sup>I am wearie of crying: my throte is drie: mine eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God. <sup>4</sup>They that hate mee without a cause, are moe then the heares of mine heade: they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies falsly, are mightie, so that I restored that which I tooke not. <sup>5</sup>O God, thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my fautes are not hid from thee. <sup>6</sup>Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through mee, O God of Israel. <sup>7</sup>For thy sake haue I suffred reproofe: shame hath couered my face. <sup>8</sup>I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes. <sup>9</sup>For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me. <sup>10</sup>I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe. <sup>11</sup>I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them. <sup>12</sup>They that sate in the gate, spake of mee, and the drunkards sang of me. <sup>13</sup>But Lord, I make my praier vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the trueth of thy saluation. <sup>14</sup>Deliuier mee out of the myre, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters. <sup>15</sup>Let not the water flood drowne mee, neither let the deepe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me. <sup>16</sup>Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnes is good: turne vnto me according to ye multitude of thy tender mercies. <sup>17</sup>And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me. <sup>18</sup>Draw neere vnto my soule and redeeme it: deliuier me because of mine enemies. <sup>19</sup>Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee. <sup>20</sup>Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none. <sup>21</sup>For they gaue me gall in my meate, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke. <sup>22</sup>Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine. <sup>23</sup>Let their eyes be blinded that they see not: and make their loynes alway to tremble. <sup>24</sup>Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them. <sup>25</sup>Let their habitation be voide, and let none dwell in their tents. <sup>26</sup>For they persecute him, whome thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorrowe of them, whome thou hast wounded. <sup>27</sup>Laie iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousness. <sup>28</sup>Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous. <sup>29</sup>When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me. <sup>30</sup>I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thankesgiuing. <sup>31</sup>This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath hornes and hoofes. <sup>32</sup>The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God, shalbe glad, and your heart shall liue. <sup>33</sup>For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners. <sup>34</sup>Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them. <sup>35</sup>For God will saue Zion, and builde the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there and haue it in possession. <sup>36</sup>The seede also of his seruants shall inherit it: and they that loue his name, shall dwel therein.

70 To him excelleth. A Psalm of David to put in remembrance. O God, haste thee to deliuier mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord. <sup>2</sup>Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them bee turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt. <sup>3</sup>Let them be turned backe for a rewarde of their shame, which said, Aha, aha. <sup>4</sup>But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwaies, God be praised. <sup>5</sup>Nowe I am poore and needie: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

71 In thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed. <sup>2</sup>Rescue mee and deliuier me in thy righteousnes: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me. <sup>3</sup>Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou hast giuen commandement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse. <sup>4</sup>Deliuier mee, O my God, out of the hande of the wicked: out of the hande of the euill and cruell man. <sup>5</sup>For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my trust from my youth. <sup>6</sup>Vpon thee haue I beene stayed from the wombe: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shalbe alwaies of thee. <sup>7</sup>I am become as it were a monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust. <sup>8</sup>Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy glory euery day. <sup>9</sup>Cast mee not off in the time of age: forsake me not when my strength faileth. <sup>10</sup>For mine enemies speake of mee, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, <sup>11</sup>Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuier him. <sup>12</sup>Goe not farre from me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me. <sup>13</sup>Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt. <sup>14</sup>But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more. <sup>15</sup>My mouth shall daily rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluation: for I knowe not the number. <sup>16</sup>I will goe forwarde in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousness, euen of thine onely. <sup>17</sup>O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wonderous workes, <sup>18</sup>Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and graie head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them, that shall come. <sup>19</sup>And thy righteousnes, O God, I wil exalt on high: for thou hast done great things:

O God, who is like vnto thee! <sup>20</sup>Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt returne, and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth. <sup>21</sup>Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me. <sup>22</sup>Therefore will I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O Holy one of Israel. <sup>23</sup>My lippes will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule, which thou hast deliuered. <sup>24</sup>My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousnesse daily: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

72A Psalme of Salomon. Give thy iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousnesse to the Kings sonne. <sup>2</sup>Then shall he iudge thy people in righteousnesse, and thy poore with equitie. <sup>3</sup>The mountaines and the hilles shall bring peace to the people by iustice. <sup>4</sup>He shall iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needie, and shall subdue the oppressor. <sup>5</sup>They shall feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generatio to generation. <sup>6</sup>He shall come downe like the rayne vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showres that water the earth. <sup>7</sup>In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shalbe so long as the moone endureth. <sup>8</sup>His dominion shall be also from sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the endes of the land. <sup>9</sup>They that dwell in ye wildernes, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall licke the dust. <sup>10</sup>The Kings of Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the Kings of Sheba and Seba shall bring giftes. <sup>11</sup>Yea, all Kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him. <sup>12</sup>For he shall deliuer the poore when he cryeth: the needie also, and him that hath no helper. <sup>13</sup>He shalbe mercifull to the poore and needie, and shall preserue the soules of the poore. <sup>14</sup>He shall redeeme their soules from deceite and violence, and deare shall their blood be in his sight. <sup>15</sup>Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the golde of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and dayly blesse him. <sup>16</sup>An handfull of corne shall be sown in the earth, euen in the toppe of the mountaines, and the fruite thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth. <sup>17</sup>His name shall be for euer: his name shall indure as long as the sunne: all nations shall blesse him, and be blessed in him. <sup>18</sup>Blessed be the Lord God, euen the God of Israel, which onely doeth wonderous things. <sup>19</sup>And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glorie. So be it, euen so be it. <sup>20</sup>HERE END THE prayers of Dauid, the sonne of Ishai.

73A Psalme committed to Asaph. Yet God is good to Israel: euen, to the pure in heart. <sup>2</sup>As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had well neere slipt. <sup>3</sup>For I feared at the foolish, when I sawe the prosperitie of the wicked. <sup>4</sup>For there are no bandes in their death, but they are lustie and strong. <sup>5</sup>They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men. <sup>6</sup>Therefore pride is as a chayne vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment. <sup>7</sup>Their eyes stande out for fatnesse: they haue more then heart can wish. <sup>8</sup>They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously. <sup>9</sup>They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth. <sup>10</sup>Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them. <sup>11</sup>And they say, Howe doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in the most High? <sup>12</sup>Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches. <sup>13</sup>Certainely I haue clenched mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie. <sup>14</sup>For dayly haue I bene punished, and chastened euery morning. <sup>15</sup>If I say, I will iudge thus, beholde the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed. <sup>16</sup>Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me, <sup>17</sup>Vntill I went into the Sanctuarie of God: then vnderstoode I their ende. <sup>18</sup>Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, and castest them downe into desolation. <sup>19</sup>How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and horribly consumed, <sup>20</sup>As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised. <sup>21</sup>Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines: <sup>22</sup>So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee. <sup>23</sup>Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand. <sup>24</sup>Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory. <sup>25</sup>Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee. <sup>26</sup>My flesh fayleth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer. <sup>27</sup>For loe, they that withdrawe themselues from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee. <sup>28</sup>As for me, it is good for me to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

74A Psalme to give instruction, committed to Asaph. O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture? <sup>2</sup>Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of olde, and on the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt. <sup>3</sup>Lift vp thy strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroy euery enimie that doeth euill to the Sanctuarie. <sup>4</sup>Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, and set vp their banners for signes. <sup>5</sup>He that lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one, that brought a thing to perfection: <sup>6</sup>But nowe they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers. <sup>7</sup>They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, and rased it to the grounde, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name. <sup>8</sup>They saide in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land. <sup>9</sup>We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth howe long. <sup>10</sup>O God, howe long shall the aduersarie reproche thee? shall the enemie blaspheme thy Name for euer? <sup>11</sup>Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? drawe it out of thy bosome, and consume them. <sup>12</sup>Euen God is my King of olde, working saluation in the middes of the earth. <sup>13</sup>Thou didest deuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters. <sup>14</sup>Thou brakest the head of Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meate for the people in wilderness. <sup>15</sup>Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuier: thou dryedst vp mightie riuers. <sup>16</sup>The day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne. <sup>17</sup>Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter. <sup>18</sup>Remember this, that the enemie hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name. <sup>19</sup>Giue not the soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer. <sup>20</sup>Consider thy couenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell. <sup>21</sup>Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needie prayse thy Name. <sup>22</sup>Arise, O God: mainteine thine owne cause: remember thy dayly reproche by the foolish man. <sup>23</sup>Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumult of them, that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

75To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph. We will prayse thee, O God, we will prayse thee, for thy Name is neere: therefore they will declare thy wonderous workes. <sup>2</sup>When I shall take a conuenient time, I will iudge righteously. <sup>3</sup>The earth and all the inhabitantes thereof are dissolued: but I will establish the pillars of it. Selah. <sup>4</sup>I saide vnto the foolish, Be not so foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not vp the horne. <sup>5</sup>Lift not vp your horne on high, neither speake with a stiffe necke. <sup>6</sup>For to come to preferment is neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South, <sup>7</sup>But God is the iudge: he maketh lowe and he maketh hie. <sup>8</sup>For in the hand of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and he powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dregges thereof. <sup>9</sup>But I will declare for euer, and sing prayses vnto the God of Iaakob. <sup>10</sup>All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the righteous shalbe exalted.

76To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph. God is knowen in Iudah: his Name is great in Israel. <sup>2</sup>For in Shalem is his Tabernacle, and his dwelling in Zion. <sup>3</sup>There brake he the arrowes of the bowe, the shielde and the sword and the battell. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Thou art more bright and puissant, then the mountaines of pray. <sup>5</sup>The stout hearted are spoyled: they haue slept their sleepe, and all the men of strength haue not found their hands. <sup>6</sup>At thy rebuke, O God of Iaakob, both the chariot and horse are cast a sleepe. <sup>7</sup>Thou, euen thou art to be feared: and who shall stand in thy sight, when thou art angrie! <sup>8</sup>Thou didest cause thy iudgement to bee heard from heauen: therefore the earth feared and was still, <sup>9</sup>When thou, O God, arose to iudgement, to helpe all the meeke of the earth. Selah. <sup>10</sup>Surely the rage of man shall turne to thy praise: the remnant of the rage shalt thou restrayne. <sup>11</sup>Vowe and performe vnto the Lord your God, all ye that be rounde about him: let them bring presents vnto him that ought to be feared. <sup>12</sup>He shall cut off the spirit of princes: he is terrible to the Kings of the earth.

77For the excellent musician Ieduthun. A Psalme committed to Asaph. My voyce came to God, when I cryed: my voyce came to God, and he heard me. <sup>2</sup>In the day of my trouble I sought ye Lord: my sore ranne and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort. <sup>3</sup>I did thinke vpon God, and was troubled: I praied, and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Thou keepest mine eyes waking: I was astonied and could not speake. <sup>5</sup>Then I considered the daies of olde, and the yeeres of ancient time. <sup>6</sup>I called to remembrance my song in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently. <sup>7</sup>Will the Lord absent him selfe for euer? and will he shewe no more fauour? <sup>8</sup>Is his mercie cleane gone for euer? doeth his promise faile for euermore? <sup>9</sup>Hath God forgotten to be mercifull? hath he shut vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah. <sup>10</sup>And I sayde, This is my death: yet I remembred the yeeres of the right hand of the most High. <sup>11</sup>I remembred the workes of the Lord: certainly I remembred thy wonders of olde. <sup>12</sup>I did also meditate all thy woorkes, and did deuse of thine actes, saying, <sup>13</sup>Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuarie: who is so great a God as our God! <sup>14</sup>Thou art ye God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people. <sup>15</sup>Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, euen the sonnes of Iaakob and Ioseph. Selah. <sup>16</sup>The waters sawe thee, O God: the waters sawe thee, and were afraide: yea, the depths trembled. <sup>17</sup>The cloudes powred out water: the heauens gaue a sounde: yea, thine arrowes went abroade. <sup>18</sup>The voyce of thy thunder was rounde about: the lightnings lightened the worlde: the earth trembled and shooke. <sup>19</sup>Thy way is in the Sea, and thy paths in the great waters, and thy footsteps are not knowen. <sup>20</sup>Thou diddest leade thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

78A Psalme to give instruction committed to Asaph. Heare my doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto the wordes of my mouth. <sup>2</sup>I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of olde. <sup>3</sup>Which we haue heard and knowen, and our fathers haue tolde vs. <sup>4</sup>Wee will not hide them from their children but to the generation to come we wil shewe the praises of the Lord his power also,

and his wonderful woorkes that he hath done: <sup>5</sup>How he established a testimonie in Iaakob, and ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they shoulde teache their children: <sup>6</sup>That the posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children: <sup>7</sup>That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the woorkes of God but keepe his commandements: <sup>8</sup>And not to bee as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirite was not faithfull vnto God. <sup>9</sup>The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell. <sup>10</sup>They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Lawe, <sup>11</sup>And forgate his Actes, and his wonderfull woorkes that he had shewed them. <sup>12</sup>Hee did marueilous things in the sight of their fathers in the lande of Egypt: euen in the felde of Zoan. <sup>13</sup>He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape. <sup>14</sup>In the day time also hee led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire. <sup>15</sup>He claue the rockes in the wildernes, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths. <sup>16</sup>He brought floods also out of the stonie rocke; so that hee made the waters to descend like the riuers. <sup>17</sup>Yet they sinned stil against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wildernes, <sup>18</sup>And tempted God in their heartes in requiring meate for their lust. <sup>19</sup>They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wildernes? <sup>20</sup>Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people? <sup>21</sup>Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, <sup>22</sup>Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe. <sup>23</sup>Yet he had commanded the clouds aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, <sup>24</sup>And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen. <sup>25</sup>Man did eate the bread of Angels: hee sent them meate ynough. <sup>26</sup>He caused the Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the Southwinde. <sup>27</sup>Hee rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea. <sup>28</sup>And hee made it fall in the middes of their campe euen round about their habitations. <sup>29</sup>So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire. <sup>30</sup>They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, <sup>31</sup>When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel. <sup>32</sup>For all this, they sinned stil, and beleued not his wonderous woorkes. <sup>33</sup>Therefore their daies did hee consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily. <sup>34</sup>And when hee slewe them, they sought him and they returned, and sought God earely. <sup>35</sup>And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer. <sup>36</sup>But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their

tongue. <sup>37</sup>For their heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant. <sup>38</sup>Yet he being merciful forgave their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath. <sup>39</sup>For he remembered that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe. <sup>40</sup>How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes? and grieue him in the desert? <sup>41</sup>Yea, they returned, and tempted God, and limited the Holie one of Israel. <sup>42</sup>They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemye, <sup>43</sup>Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the felde of Zoan, <sup>44</sup>And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke. <sup>45</sup>Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them. <sup>46</sup>He gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grassehopper. <sup>47</sup>He destroyed their vines with haile, and their wilde figge trees with the hailestone. <sup>48</sup>He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderboltes. <sup>49</sup>Hee cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill Angels. <sup>50</sup>He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, <sup>51</sup>And smote al the firstborne in Egypt, euen the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham. <sup>52</sup>But hee made his people to goe out like sheepe, and led them in the wildernes like a flocke. <sup>53</sup>Yea, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies. <sup>54</sup>And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased. <sup>55</sup>He cast out the heathe also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles. <sup>56</sup>Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies, <sup>57</sup>But turned backe and delt falsely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bowe. <sup>58</sup>And they prouoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images. <sup>59</sup>God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel, <sup>60</sup>So that hee forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men, <sup>61</sup>And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beautie into the enemies hand. <sup>62</sup>And hee gaue vp his people to the sworde, and was angrie with his inheritance. <sup>63</sup>The fire deuoured their chosen men, and their maides were not praised. <sup>64</sup>Their Priestes fell by the sworde, and their widowes lamented not. <sup>65</sup>But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his wine crieth out, <sup>66</sup>And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame. <sup>67</sup>Yet he refused the tabernacle of Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim: <sup>68</sup>But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued. <sup>69</sup>And he built his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he established for euer. <sup>70</sup>He chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the shepfields. <sup>71</sup>Euen from behinde the ewes with yong brought he him to feede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel. <sup>72</sup>So he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

79A Psalme committed to Asaph. O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones. <sup>2</sup>The dead bodies of thy seruats haue they giuen to be meat vnto foules of ye heauen: and the flesh of thy Saintes vnto the beastes of the earth. <sup>3</sup>Their blood haue they shed like waters rounde about Ierusalem, and there was none to burie them. <sup>4</sup>Wee are a reproche to our neighbours, euen a scorne and derision vnto them that are round about vs. <sup>5</sup>Lord, howe long wilt thou be angrie, for euer? shall thy gelousie burne like fire? <sup>6</sup>Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that haue not knowen thee, and vpon the kingdoms that haue not called vpon thy Name. <sup>7</sup>For they haue deuoured Iakob and made his dwelling place desolate. <sup>8</sup>Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie. <sup>9</sup>Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glorie of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let him be knowen among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed. <sup>11</sup>Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie arme preserue the children of death, <sup>12</sup>And render to our neighbours seuen folde into their bosome their reproche, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord. <sup>13</sup>So wee thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy praise.

80To him that excelleth on Shoshannim Eduth. A Psalme committed to Asaph. Heare, O thou Shepheard of Israel, thou that leadest Ioseph like sheepe: shewe thy brightnes, thou that sittest betweene the Cherubims. <sup>2</sup>Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs. <sup>3</sup>Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine that we may be saued. <sup>4</sup>O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angrie against the prayer of thy people? <sup>5</sup>Thou hast fedde them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselues. <sup>7</sup>Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shalbe saued. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it. <sup>9</sup>Thou madest rume for it, and didest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land. <sup>10</sup>The mountaines were couered with the shade of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars. <sup>11</sup>Shee stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the Riuer. <sup>12</sup>Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her? <sup>13</sup>The wilde bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the field haue eaten it vp. <sup>14</sup>Returne we beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and beholde and visite this vine, <sup>15</sup>And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the young vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe. <sup>16</sup>It is burnt with fire and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance. <sup>17</sup>Let thine hande be vpon the man of thy right hande, and vpon the sonne of man, whome thou madest strong for thine owne selfe. <sup>18</sup>So will not we goe backe from thee: reuiue thou vs, and we shall call vpon thy Name. <sup>19</sup>Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hostes: cause thy face to shine and we shalbe saued.

81To him that excelleth upon Gittith. A Psalme committed to Asaph. Sing ioyfully vnto God our strength: sing loude vnto the God of Iakob. <sup>2</sup>Take the song and bring forth the timbrel, the pleasant harpe with the viole. <sup>3</sup>Blowe the trumpet in the newe moone, euen in the time appointed, at our feast day. <sup>4</sup>For this is a statute for Israel, and a Law of the God of Iakob. <sup>5</sup>Hee set this in Ioseph for a testimonie, when hee came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language, that I vnderstoode not. <sup>6</sup>I haue withdrawen his shoulder from the burden, and his handes haue left the pots. <sup>7</sup>Thou calledst in affliction and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I prooued thee at the waters of Meribah. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Heare, O my people, and I wil protest vnto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken vnto me, <sup>9</sup>Let there bee no strange god in thee, neither worship thou any strange god. <sup>10</sup>For I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide and I will fill it. <sup>11</sup>But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me. <sup>12</sup>So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnesse of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counsels. <sup>13</sup>Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my wayes. <sup>14</sup>I would soone haue humbled their enemies, and turned mine hand against their aduersaries. <sup>15</sup>The haters of the Lord should haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time should haue endured for euer. <sup>16</sup>And God would haue fedde them with the fatte of wheat, and with honie out of the rocke would I haue sufficed thee.

the foundations of the earth be mooued. <sup>6</sup>I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High. <sup>7</sup>But ye shall die as a man, and yee princes, shall fall like others. <sup>8</sup>O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

83A song, or Psalme committed to Asaph. Keep not thou silence, O God: bee not still, and cease not, O God. <sup>2</sup>For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, haue lifted vp the head. <sup>3</sup>They haue taken craftie counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones. <sup>4</sup>They haue said, Come and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance. <sup>5</sup>For they haue consulted together in heart, and haue made a league against thee: <sup>6</sup>The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims: <sup>7</sup>Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitants of Tyrus: <sup>8</sup>Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Selah. <sup>9</sup>Doe thou to them as vnto the Midianites: as to Sisera and as to Iabin at the riuer of Kishon. <sup>10</sup>They perished at En-dor, and were dung for the earth. <sup>11</sup>Make them, euen their princes like Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmuna. <sup>12</sup>Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God. <sup>13</sup>O my God, make them like vnto a wheele, and as the stubble before the winde. <sup>14</sup>As the fire burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire: <sup>15</sup>So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraide with thy storme. <sup>16</sup>Fill their faces with shame, that they may seeke thy Name, O Lord. <sup>17</sup>Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, <sup>18</sup>That they may knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most High ouer all the earth.

84To him that excelleth upon Gittith. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. O Lord of hostes, howe amiable are thy Tabernacles! <sup>2</sup>My soule longeth, yea, and fainteth for the courtes of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God. <sup>3</sup>Yea, the sparrowe hath found her an house, and the swallow a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euen by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God. <sup>4</sup>Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praise thee. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes. <sup>6</sup>They going through the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles. <sup>7</sup>They goe from strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion. <sup>8</sup>O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iaaakob. Selah. <sup>9</sup>Beholde, O God, our shielde, and looke vpon the face of thine Anointed. <sup>10</sup>For a day in thy courtes is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the House of my God, then to dwell in the Tabernacles of wickednesse. <sup>11</sup>For the Lord

God is the sunne and shielde vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly. <sup>12</sup>O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

85To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. Lord, thou hast bene fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iaaakob. <sup>2</sup>Thou hast forgiuen the iniquitie of thy people, and couered all their sinnes. Selah. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast withdrawen all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the fiercenes of thy wrath. <sup>4</sup>Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger toward vs. <sup>5</sup>Wilt thou be angry with vs for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another? <sup>6</sup>Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee? <sup>7</sup>Shew vs thy mercie, O Lord, and graunt vs thy saluation. <sup>8</sup>I will hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saintes, that they turne not againe to follie. <sup>9</sup>Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land. <sup>10</sup>Mercie and trueth shall meete: righteousnes and peace shall kisse one another. <sup>11</sup>Trueth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnes shall looke downe from heauen. <sup>12</sup>Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase. <sup>13</sup>Righteousnesse shall go before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

86A prayer of David. Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needy. <sup>2</sup>Preserue thou my soule, for I am mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee. <sup>3</sup>Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I crie vpon thee continually. <sup>4</sup>Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule. <sup>5</sup>For thou, Lord, art good and mercifull, and of great kindenes vnto all them, that call vpon thee. <sup>6</sup>Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and hearken to the voyce of my supplication. <sup>7</sup>In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me. <sup>8</sup>Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can doe like thy workes. <sup>9</sup>All nations, whome thou hast made, shall come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name. <sup>10</sup>For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone. <sup>11</sup>Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name. <sup>12</sup>I wil prayse thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I wil glorifie thy Name for euer. <sup>13</sup>For great is thy mercie toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue. <sup>14</sup>O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them. <sup>15</sup>But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger and great in kindenes and trueth. <sup>16</sup>Turne vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the sonne of thine handmayd. <sup>17</sup>Shew a token of thy goodnes towarde me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

87A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah. God layde his foundations among the holy mountaines. <sup>2</sup>The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboute all the habitations of Iaakob. <sup>3</sup>Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God. Selah. <sup>4</sup>I will make mention of Rahab and Babel among them that knowe me: beholde Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, There is he borne. <sup>5</sup>And of Zion it shall be sayde, Many are borne in her: and he, euen the most High shall stablish her. <sup>6</sup>The Lord shall count, when hee writeth the people, He was borne there. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Aswell the singers as the players on instruments shall prayse thee: all my springs are in thee.

88A song or Psalme of Heman the Ezrahite to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth upon Malath Leannoth. O Lord God of my saluation, I cry day and night before thee. <sup>2</sup>Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry. <sup>3</sup>For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue. <sup>4</sup>I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength: <sup>5</sup>Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whome thou remembreth no more, and they are cut off from thine hand. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast layde me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, and in the deepe. <sup>7</sup>Thine indignation lyeth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy waues. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me, and made mee to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get foorth. <sup>9</sup>Mine eye is sorowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call dayly vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee. <sup>10</sup>Wilt thou shewe a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and prayse thee? Selah. <sup>11</sup>Shall thy louing kindenes be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulness in destruction? <sup>12</sup>Shall thy wonderous workes be knownen in the darke? and thy righteousnes in the land of obliuion? <sup>13</sup>But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and early shall my prayer come before thee. <sup>14</sup>Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me? <sup>15</sup>I am afflicted and at the point of death: from my youth I suffer thy terrours, doubting of my life. <sup>16</sup>Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off. <sup>17</sup>They came round about me dayly like water, and compassed me together. <sup>18</sup>My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance hid themselues.

89A Psalme to give instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite. I will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation. <sup>2</sup>For I said, Mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou stablish in ye very heauens. <sup>3</sup>I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant, <sup>4</sup>Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah. <sup>5</sup>O Lord, euen the heauens shall prayse thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the Congregation of the Saints. <sup>6</sup>For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods? <sup>7</sup>God is very terrible in the assemblie of the Saints, and to be reuerenced aboute all, that are about him. <sup>8</sup>O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee? <sup>9</sup>Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them. <sup>10</sup>Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme. <sup>11</sup>The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast layde the foundation of the world, and all that therein is. <sup>12</sup>Thou hast created the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name. <sup>13</sup>Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand. <sup>14</sup>Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercy and trueth goe before thy face. <sup>15</sup>Blessed is the people, that can reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy countenance, O Lord. <sup>16</sup>They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnes shall they exalt them selues. <sup>17</sup>For thou art the glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted. <sup>18</sup>For our shield apperteineth to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel. <sup>19</sup>Thou spakest then in a vision vnto thine Holy one, and saydest, I haue layde helpe vpon one that is mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people. <sup>20</sup>I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anoynted him. <sup>21</sup>Therefore mine hande shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him. <sup>22</sup>The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him. <sup>23</sup>But I will destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him. <sup>24</sup>My trueth also and my mercie shall be with him, and in my Name shall his horne be exalted. <sup>25</sup>I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the floods. <sup>26</sup>He shall cry vnto mee, Thou art my Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation. <sup>27</sup>Also I wil make him my first borne, higher then the Kings of the earth. <sup>28</sup>My mercie will I keepe for him for euermore, and my couenant shall stande fast with him. <sup>29</sup>His seede also will I make to endure for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen. <sup>30</sup>But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements: <sup>31</sup>If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements: <sup>32</sup>Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes. <sup>33</sup>Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth. <sup>34</sup>My couenant wil I not breake, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips. <sup>35</sup>I haue sworne once by mine holines, that I will not fayle Dauid, saying, <sup>36</sup>His seede shall endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me. <sup>37</sup>He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, and as a faythfull witnes in the heauen. Selah. <sup>38</sup>But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angry with thine Anoynted. <sup>39</sup>Thou hast broken the couenant of thy seruant, and profaned his crowne, casting it on the ground. <sup>40</sup>Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layd his fortresses in ruine. <sup>41</sup>All that goe by the way, spoyle him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours. <sup>42</sup>Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce. <sup>43</sup>Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battell. <sup>44</sup>Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground. <sup>45</sup>The dayes of his youth hast thou shortned, and couered him with shame. Selah. <sup>46</sup>Lord, howe long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire? <sup>47</sup>Remember of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men? <sup>48</sup>What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hande of the graue? Selah. <sup>49</sup>Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth? <sup>50</sup>Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mightie people. <sup>51</sup>For thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the footsteps of thine Anointed. <sup>52</sup>Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

90A prayer of Moses, the man of God. Lord, thou hast bene our habitation from generation to generation. <sup>2</sup>Before the mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God. <sup>3</sup>Thou turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam. <sup>4</sup>For a thousande yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night. <sup>5</sup>Thou hast overflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse: <sup>6</sup>In the morning it florisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth. <sup>7</sup>For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance. <sup>9</sup>For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue spent our yeeres as a thought. <sup>10</sup>The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away. <sup>11</sup>Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger. <sup>12</sup>Teach vs so to nember our dayes, that we may apply our heartes vnto wisdome. <sup>13</sup>Returne (O Lord, howe long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants. <sup>14</sup>Fill vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes. <sup>15</sup>Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill. <sup>16</sup>Let thy worke bee seene towarde thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children. <sup>17</sup>And let the beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our handes.

91Who so dwelleth in the secrete of the most High, shall abide in the shadowe of the Almighty. <sup>2</sup>I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust. <sup>3</sup>Surely he will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence. <sup>4</sup>Hee will couer thee vnder his winges, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his trueth shall be thy shielde and buckler. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt not be afraide of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flyeth by day: <sup>6</sup>Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day. <sup>7</sup>A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee. <sup>8</sup>Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou beholde and see the reward of the wicked. <sup>9</sup>For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge. <sup>10</sup>There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle. <sup>11</sup>For hee shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes. <sup>12</sup>They shall beare thee in their handes, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone. <sup>13</sup>Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the yong lyon and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete. <sup>14</sup>Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath knowen my Name. <sup>15</sup>He shall call vpon me, and I wil heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him. <sup>16</sup>With long life wil I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

92A Psalme or song for the Sabbath day. It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High, <sup>2</sup>To declare thy louing kindenesse in the morning, and thy trueth in the night, <sup>3</sup>Vpon an instrument of tenne strings, and vpon the viole with the song vpon the harpe. <sup>4</sup>For thou, Lord, hast made mee glad by thy workes, and I wil reioyce in the workes of thine handes. <sup>5</sup>O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughtes are very deepe. <sup>6</sup>An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this, <sup>7</sup>(When the wicked growe as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish) that they shall be destroyed for euer. <sup>8</sup>But thou, O Lord, art most High for euermore. <sup>9</sup>For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed. <sup>10</sup>But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, and I shalbe anoynted with fresh oyle. <sup>11</sup>Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me. <sup>12</sup>The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a Cedar in Lebanon. <sup>13</sup>Such as bee planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courtes of our God. <sup>14</sup>They shall still bring forth fruite in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing, <sup>15</sup>To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

99The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth betweene the Cherubims, let the earth be moued. <sup>2</sup>The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people. <sup>3</sup>They shall prayse thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy) <sup>4</sup>And the Kings power, that loueth iudgement: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iakob. <sup>5</sup>Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his footestoole: for he is holy. <sup>6</sup>Moses and Aaron were among his Priests, and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them. <sup>7</sup>Hee spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Lawe that he gaue them. <sup>8</sup>Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didst take vengeance for their inuentions. <sup>9</sup>Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

100A Psalme of Praise. Sing ye loude vnto the Lord, all the earth. <sup>2</sup>Serue the Lord with gladnes: come before him with ioyfulness. <sup>3</sup>Knowe ye that euen the Lord is God: hee hath made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture. <sup>4</sup>Enter into his gates with prayse, and into his courts with reioycing: prayse him and blesse his Name. <sup>5</sup>For the Lord is good: his mercy is euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

101A Psalme of David. I will sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing. <sup>2</sup>I will doe wisely in the perfite way, till thou comest to me: I will walke in the vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house. <sup>3</sup>I wil set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me. <sup>4</sup>A froward heart shall depart from me: I will knowe none euill. <sup>5</sup>Him that priuily slandereth his neighbour, wil I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and hie heart, I cannot suffer. <sup>6</sup>Mine eyes shalbe vnto the faithfull of the lande, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, he shall serue me. <sup>7</sup>There shall no deceitful person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lyes, shall not remaine in my sight. <sup>8</sup>Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

102A prayer of the afflicted, when he shall be in distresse, and pour forth his meditation before the Lord. O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my crye come vnto thee. <sup>2</sup>Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me. <sup>3</sup>For my dayes are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herthe. <sup>4</sup>Mine heart is smitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread. <sup>5</sup>For the voyce of my groning my bones doe cleaue to my skinne. <sup>6</sup>I am like a pelicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts. <sup>7</sup>I watch and am as a sparowe alone vpon the house top. <sup>8</sup>Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage against me, haue sworne against me. <sup>9</sup>Surely I haue eaten asshes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, <sup>10</sup>Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe. <sup>11</sup>My dayes are like a shadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse. <sup>12</sup>But thou, O Lord, doest remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation. <sup>13</sup>Thou wilt arise and haue mercy vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the appointed time is come. <sup>14</sup>For thy seruants delite in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof. <sup>15</sup>Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the Kings of the earth thy glory, <sup>16</sup>When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare in his glory, <sup>17</sup>And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer. <sup>18</sup>This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people, which shalbe created, shall prayse the Lord. <sup>19</sup>For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen did the Lord beholde the earth, <sup>20</sup>That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death: <sup>21</sup>That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his prayse in Ierusalem, <sup>22</sup>When the people shalbe gathered together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord. <sup>23</sup>He abated my strength in the way, and shortened my dayes. <sup>24</sup>And I sayd, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation. <sup>25</sup>Thou hast aforetime layde the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands. <sup>26</sup>They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed. <sup>27</sup>But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not fayle. <sup>28</sup>The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand fast in thy sight.

103A Psalme of David. My soule, prayse thou the Lord, and all that is within me, prayse his holy Name. <sup>2</sup>My soule, prayse thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites. <sup>3</sup>Which forgiueth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities. <sup>4</sup>Which redeemeth thy life from the graue, and crowneth thee with mercy and compassions. <sup>5</sup>Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renued like the eagles. <sup>6</sup>The Lord executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed. <sup>7</sup>He made his wayes knowen vnto Moses, and his workes vnto the children of Israel. <sup>8</sup>The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slowe to anger and of great kindnesse. <sup>9</sup>He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer. <sup>10</sup>He hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities. <sup>11</sup>For as high as the heauen is aboue ye earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him. <sup>12</sup>As farre as the East is from the West: so farre hath he remooued our sinnes from vs. <sup>13</sup>As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him. <sup>14</sup>For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust. <sup>15</sup>The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flowre of the felde, so flourisheth he. <sup>16</sup>For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall knowe it no more. <sup>17</sup>But the louing kindnesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his righteousnes vpon childrens children, <sup>18</sup>Vnto them that keepe his couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to doe them. <sup>19</sup>The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his Kingdome ruleth ouer all. <sup>20</sup>Prayse the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voyce of his worde. <sup>21</sup>Prayse the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure. <sup>22</sup>Prayse the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, prayse thou the Lord.

hast set them a bounde, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth. <sup>10</sup>He sendeth the springs into the vallis, which runne betweene the mountaines. <sup>11</sup>They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the felde, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst. <sup>12</sup>By these springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches. <sup>13</sup>He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes. <sup>14</sup>He causeth grasse to growe for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth, <sup>15</sup>And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart. <sup>16</sup>The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, <sup>17</sup>That ye birdes may make their nestes there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees. <sup>18</sup>The high mountaines are for the goates: the rockes are a refuge for the conies. <sup>19</sup>He appoynted the moone for certaine seasons: the sunne knoweth his going downe. <sup>20</sup>Thou makest darknesse, and it is night, wherein all the beastes of the forest creepe forth. <sup>21</sup>The lions roare after their praye, and seeke their meate at God. <sup>22</sup>When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couche in their dennes. <sup>23</sup>Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening. <sup>24</sup>O Lord, howe manifolde are thy workes! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. <sup>25</sup>So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beastes and great. <sup>26</sup>There goe the shippes, yea, that Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein. <sup>27</sup>All these waite vpon thee, that thou maiest giue them foode in due season. <sup>28</sup>Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things. <sup>29</sup>But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they dye and returne to their dust. <sup>30</sup>Again if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth. <sup>31</sup>Glory be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes. <sup>32</sup>He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke. <sup>33</sup>I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will prayse my God, while I liue. <sup>34</sup>Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord. <sup>35</sup>Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, prayse thou the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

his iudgements are through all the earth. <sup>8</sup>He hath alway remembred his couenant and promise, that he made to a thousand generations, <sup>9</sup>Euen that which he made with Abraham, and his othe vnto Izhak: <sup>10</sup>And since hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a lawe, and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, <sup>11</sup>Saying, Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance. <sup>12</sup>Albeit they were fewe in nomber, yea, very fewe, and strangers in the land, <sup>13</sup>And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people, <sup>14</sup>Yet suffered he no man to doe them wrong, but reprooued Kings for their sakes, saying, <sup>15</sup>Touche not mine anointed, and doe my Prophets no harme. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer, he called a famine vpon ye land, and vtterly brake the staffe of bread. <sup>17</sup>But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was solde for a slaue. <sup>18</sup>They helde his feete in the stockes, and he was laide in yrons, <sup>19</sup>Vntill his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tryed him. <sup>20</sup>The King sent and loosed him: euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him. <sup>21</sup>He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, <sup>22</sup>That he shoulde binde his princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisdom. <sup>23</sup>Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham. <sup>24</sup>And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours. <sup>25</sup>He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants. <sup>26</sup>Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen. <sup>27</sup>They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham. <sup>28</sup>He sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not disobedient vnto his commission. <sup>29</sup>He turned their waters into blood, and slewe their fish. <sup>30</sup>Their land brought forth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers. <sup>31</sup>He spake, and there came swarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters. <sup>32</sup>He gaue them haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land. <sup>33</sup>He smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes. <sup>34</sup>He spake, and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable, <sup>35</sup>And did eate vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruite of their ground. <sup>36</sup>He smote also all the first borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength. <sup>37</sup>He brought them forth also with siluer and golde, and there was none feeble among their tribes. <sup>38</sup>Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them. <sup>39</sup>He spred a cloude to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night. <sup>40</sup>They asked, and he brought quailles, and he filled them with the bread of heauen. <sup>41</sup>He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the drye places like a riuier. <sup>42</sup>For he remembred his holy promise to Abraham his seruant, <sup>43</sup>And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse, <sup>44</sup>And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession, <sup>45</sup>That they might keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Praise ye the Lord.

were their ruine. <sup>37</sup>Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, <sup>38</sup>And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offred vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande was defiled with blood. <sup>39</sup>Thus were they steined with their owne woorkes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions. <sup>40</sup>Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance. <sup>41</sup>And hee gaue them into the hande of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lordes ouer them. <sup>42</sup>Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand. <sup>43</sup>Many a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie. <sup>44</sup>Yet hee sawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crie. <sup>45</sup>And he remembred his couenant towarde them and repented according to the multitude of his mercies, <sup>46</sup>And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that lead them captiues. <sup>47</sup>Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise. <sup>48</sup>Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise yee the Lord.

sendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their graues. <sup>21</sup>Let them therefore cofesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderful woorkes before the sonnes of men, <sup>22</sup>And let them offer sacrifices of praise, and declare his woorkes with reioycing. <sup>23</sup>They that goe downe to the sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, <sup>24</sup>They see the woorkes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe. <sup>25</sup>For he commaundeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof. <sup>26</sup>They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to ye deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble. <sup>27</sup>They are tossed to and from, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunning is gone. <sup>28</sup>Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse. <sup>29</sup>He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still. <sup>30</sup>When they are quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be. <sup>31</sup>Let them therfore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull woorkes before the sonnes of men. <sup>32</sup>And let them exalt him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders. <sup>33</sup>He turneth the floodes into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drinesse, <sup>34</sup>And a fruitfull land into barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein. <sup>35</sup>Againe hee turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the drie lande into water springs. <sup>36</sup>And there he placeth the hungrie, and they builde a citie to dwell in, <sup>37</sup>And sowe the fieldes, and plant vineyardes, which bring forth fruitfull increase. <sup>38</sup>For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattell. <sup>39</sup>Againe men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppression, euill and sorowe. <sup>40</sup>He powreth contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way. <sup>41</sup>Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe. <sup>42</sup>The righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stoppe her mouth. <sup>43</sup>Who is wise that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

who will bring me vnto Edom? <sup>11</sup>Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and diddest not goe fourth, O God, with our armies? <sup>12</sup>Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man. <sup>13</sup>Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall treade downe our enemies.

109To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. Holde not thy tongue, O God of my praise. <sup>2</sup>For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceite are opened vpon me: they haue spoken to me with a lying tongue. <sup>3</sup>They compassed me about also with words of hatred, and fought against me without a cause. <sup>4</sup>For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to praier. <sup>5</sup>And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship. <sup>6</sup>Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand. <sup>7</sup>Whe he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his praier be turned into sinne. <sup>8</sup>Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his charge. <sup>9</sup>Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widowe. <sup>10</sup>Let his children be vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed. <sup>11</sup>Let the extortioner catch al that he hath, and let the strangers spoile his labour. <sup>12</sup>Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: neither let there be any to shewe mercie vpon his fatherlesse children. <sup>13</sup>Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name be put out. <sup>14</sup>Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away. <sup>15</sup>But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memorial from ye earth. <sup>16</sup>Because he remembered not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowfull hearted to slay him. <sup>17</sup>As he loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him. <sup>18</sup>As he clothed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones. <sup>19</sup>Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alway girded. <sup>20</sup>Let this be the rewarde of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule. <sup>21</sup>But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good) <sup>22</sup>Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me. <sup>23</sup>I depart like the shadowe that declineth, and am shaken off as the grasshopper. <sup>24</sup>My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnes. <sup>25</sup>I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads. <sup>26</sup>Helpe me, O Lord my God: saue me according to thy mercie. <sup>27</sup>And they shall know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it. <sup>28</sup>Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce. <sup>29</sup>Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion, as with a cloke. <sup>30</sup>I will giue thankes vnto

the Lord greatly with my mouth and praise him among ye multitude. <sup>31</sup>For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that woulde condemne his soule.

111Praise ye the Lord. I will prayse the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust. <sup>2</sup>The workes of the Lord are great, and ought to be sought out of al them that loue them. <sup>3</sup>His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer. <sup>4</sup>He hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion. <sup>5</sup>He hath giuen a portion vnto them that feare him: he wil euer be mindfull of his couenant. <sup>6</sup>He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen. <sup>7</sup>The workes of his handes are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true. <sup>8</sup>They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equitie. <sup>9</sup>He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commanded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name. <sup>10</sup>The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

115Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie and for thy truethes sake. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore shall the heathen say, Where is nowe their God? <sup>3</sup>But our God is in heauen: he doeth what so euer he will. <sup>4</sup>Their idoles are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands. <sup>5</sup>They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and see not. <sup>6</sup>They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not. <sup>7</sup>They haue handes and touche not: they haue feete and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throte. <sup>8</sup>They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them. <sup>9</sup>O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shielde. <sup>10</sup>O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shielde. <sup>11</sup>Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield. <sup>12</sup>The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he will blesse, he will blesse the house of Israel, he will blesse the house of Aaron. <sup>13</sup>He will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great. <sup>14</sup>The Lord will increase his graces towarde you, euen toward you and toward your children. <sup>15</sup>Ye are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth. <sup>16</sup>The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lordes: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men. <sup>17</sup>The dead prayse not the Lord, neither any that goe downe into the place of silence. <sup>18</sup>But we will prayse the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

116I love the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce and my prayers. <sup>2</sup>For he hath inclined his eare vnto me, whe I did call vpon him in my dayes. <sup>3</sup>When the snares of death copassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: when I founde trouble and sorowe. <sup>4</sup>Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion. <sup>6</sup>The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me. <sup>7</sup>Returne vnto thy rest, O my soule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee, <sup>8</sup>Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling. <sup>9</sup>I shall walke before the Lord in the lande of the liuing. <sup>10</sup>I beleued, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled. <sup>11</sup>I said in my feare, All men are lyers. <sup>12</sup>What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me? <sup>13</sup>I will take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen nowe in the presence of all his people. <sup>15</sup>Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saintes. <sup>16</sup>Beholde, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broken my bondes. <sup>17</sup>I will offer to thee a sacrifice of prayse, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord. <sup>18</sup>I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen nowe in the presence of all his people, <sup>19</sup>In the courtes of ye Lords house, euen in the middes of thee, O Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

117All nations, praise ye the Lord: all ye people, praise him. <sup>2</sup>For his louing kindnes is great toward vs, and the trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Prayse yee the Lord.

my deliuerance. <sup>15</sup>The voice of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly. <sup>16</sup>The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly. <sup>17</sup>I shall not die, but liue, and declare the woorkes of the Lord. <sup>18</sup>The Lord hath chastened me sore, but he hath not deliuered me to death. <sup>19</sup>Open ye vnto me the gates of righteousnes, that I may goe into them, and praise the Lord. <sup>20</sup>This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it. <sup>21</sup>I will praise thee: for thou hast heard mee, and hast beene my deliuerance. <sup>22</sup>The stone, which the builders refused, is the head of the corner. <sup>23</sup>This was the Lordes doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes. <sup>24</sup>This is the day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it. <sup>25</sup>O Lord, I praie thee, saue now: O Lord, I praie thee nowe giue prosperitie. <sup>26</sup>Blessed be he, that commeth in the Name of the Lord: wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar. <sup>28</sup>Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee. <sup>29</sup>Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

timonies are my delite, and my counsellors. <sup>25</sup>DALETH. My soule cleaueth to the dust: quicken me according to thy worde. <sup>26</sup>I haue declared my waies, and thou heardest me: teache me thy statutes. <sup>27</sup>Make me to vnderstand ye way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wondrous woorkes. <sup>28</sup>My soule melteth for heauinesse: raise mee vp according vnto thy worde. <sup>29</sup>Take from mee the way of lying, and graunt me graciously thy Lawe. <sup>30</sup>I haue chosen the way of trueth, and thy iudgements haue I laied before me. <sup>31</sup>I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not. <sup>32</sup>I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart. <sup>33</sup>HE. Teach mee, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the ende. <sup>34</sup>Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I wil keepe it with my whole heart. <sup>35</sup>Direct mee in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite. <sup>36</sup>Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to couetousnesse. <sup>37</sup>Turne away mine eies from regarding vanitie, and quicken me in thy way. <sup>38</sup>Stablish thy promise to thy seruaunt, because he feareth thee. <sup>39</sup>Take away my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good. <sup>40</sup>Beholde, I desire thy commandements: quicken me in thy righteousnesse, <sup>41</sup>VAV. And let thy louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise. <sup>42</sup>So shall I make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy woorde. <sup>43</sup>And take not the woorde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements. <sup>44</sup>So shall I alway keepe thy Lawe for euer and euer. <sup>45</sup>And I will walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts. <sup>46</sup>I will speake also of thy testimonies before Kings, and will not be ashamed. <sup>47</sup>And my delite shalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued. <sup>48</sup>Mine handes also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes. <sup>49</sup>ZAIN. Remember the promise made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused me to trust. <sup>50</sup>It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me. <sup>51</sup>The proude haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Lawe. <sup>52</sup>I remembered thy iudgements of olde, O Lord, and haue bene comforted. <sup>53</sup>Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Lawe. <sup>54</sup>Thy statutes haue beene my songes in the house of my pilgrimage. <sup>55</sup>I haue remembered thy Name, O Lord, in the night, and haue kept thy Lawe. <sup>56</sup>This I had because I kept thy precepts. <sup>57</sup>CHETH. O Lord, that art my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes. <sup>58</sup>I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto me according to thy promise. <sup>59</sup>I haue considered my waies, and turned my feete into thy testimonies. <sup>60</sup>I made haste and delaied not to keepe thy commandements. <sup>61</sup>The bandes of the wicked haue robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Lawe. <sup>62</sup>At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements. <sup>63</sup>I am companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts. <sup>64</sup>The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercie: teache me thy statutes. <sup>65</sup>TETH. O Lord, thou hast delt graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy worde. <sup>66</sup>Teach me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleued thy commandements. <sup>67</sup>Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but nowe I keepe thy worde. <sup>68</sup>Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes. <sup>69</sup>The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I wil keepe thy precepts with my whole heart. <sup>70</sup>Their heart is fatte as grease: but my delite is in thy Lawe. <sup>71</sup>It is good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes. <sup>72</sup>The Lawe of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of golde and siluer. <sup>73</sup>IOD. Thine hands haue made me and fashioned me: giue mee vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandements. <sup>74</sup>So they that feare thee, seeing mee shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy worde. <sup>75</sup>I knowe, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted me iustly. <sup>76</sup>I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me according to thy promise vnto thy seruant. <sup>77</sup>Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may liue: for thy Lawe is my delite. <sup>78</sup>Let the proude be ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly and falsely with me: but I meditate in thy precepts. <sup>79</sup>Let such as feare thee turne vnto me, and they that knowe thy testimonies. <sup>80</sup>Let mine heart bee vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed. <sup>81</sup>CAPH. My soule fainteth for thy saluation: yet I waite for thy worde. <sup>82</sup>Mine eyes faile for thy promise, saying, when wilt thou comfort me? <sup>83</sup>For I am like a bottell in the smoke: yet doe I not forget thy statutes. <sup>84</sup>Howe many are the dayes of thy seruant? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me? <sup>85</sup>The proude haue digged pittes for mee, which is not after thy Lawe. <sup>86</sup>All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: helpe me. <sup>87</sup>They had almost consumed me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts. <sup>88</sup>Quicken me according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimony of thy mouth. <sup>89</sup>LAMED. O Lord, thy worde endureth for euer in heauen. <sup>90</sup>Thy trueth is from generation to generation: thou hast layed the foundation of the earth, and it abideth. <sup>91</sup>They continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants. <sup>92</sup>Except thy Lawe had bene my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction. <sup>93</sup>I wil neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me. <sup>94</sup>I am thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts. <sup>95</sup>The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies. <sup>96</sup>I haue seene an ende of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large. <sup>97</sup>MEM. Oh howe loue I thy Lawe! it is my meditation continually. <sup>98</sup>By thy commandements thou hast made mee wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with mee. <sup>99</sup>I haue had more vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation. <sup>100</sup>I vnderstoode more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts. <sup>101</sup>I haue refrained my feete from euery euil way, that I might keepe thy word. <sup>102</sup>I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for thou didest teach me. <sup>103</sup>Howe sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth! yea, more then hony vnto my mouth. <sup>104</sup>By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood. <sup>105</sup>NUN. Thy worde is a lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path. <sup>106</sup>I haue sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements. <sup>107</sup>I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word. <sup>108</sup>O Lord, I beseeche thee accept the free offerings of my mouth, and teach mee thy iudgements. <sup>109</sup>My soule is continually in mine hande: yet doe I not forget thy Lawe. <sup>110</sup>The wicked haue layed a snare for mee: but I swarued not from thy precepts. <sup>111</sup>Thy testimonies haue I taken as an heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart. <sup>112</sup>I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the ende. <sup>113</sup>SAMECH. I hate vaine inuentions: but thy Lawe doe I loue. <sup>114</sup>Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy worde. <sup>115</sup>Away from mee, yee wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God. <sup>116</sup>Stablish me according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope. <sup>117</sup>Stay thou mee, and I shall be safe, and I will delite continually in thy statutes. <sup>118</sup>Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their deceit is vaine. <sup>119</sup>Thou hast taken away all ye wicked of the earth like drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies. <sup>120</sup>My flesh trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraide of thy iudgements. <sup>121</sup>AIN. I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressours. <sup>122</sup>Answer for thy seruant in that, which is good, and let not the proude oppresse me. <sup>123</sup>Mine eyes haue failed in waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promise. <sup>124</sup>Deale with thy seruant according to thy mercie, and teache me thy statutes. <sup>125</sup>I am thy seruant: graunt mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies. <sup>126</sup>It is time for thee Lord to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Lawe. <sup>127</sup>Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue golde, yea, aboue most fine golde. <sup>128</sup>Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false wayes. <sup>129</sup>PE. Thy testimonies are wonderfull: therefore doeth my soule keepe them. <sup>130</sup>The entrance into thy wordes sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple. <sup>131</sup>I opened my mouth and panted, because I loued thy commandements. <sup>132</sup>Looke vpon mee and bee mercifull vnto me, as thou vnest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name. <sup>133</sup>Direct my steppes in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me. <sup>134</sup>Deliuere mee from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts. <sup>135</sup>Shew the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teache me thy statutes. <sup>136</sup>Mine eyes gush out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Lawe. <sup>137</sup>TSADDI. Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements. <sup>138</sup>Thou hast commanded iustice by thy testimonies and trueth especially. <sup>139</sup>My zeale hath euen consumed mee, because mine enemies haue forgotten thy wordes. <sup>140</sup>Thy word is proued most pure, and thy seruant loueth it. <sup>141</sup>I am small and despised: yet do I not forget thy precepts. <sup>142</sup>Thy righteousnesse is an euerlasting righteousnes, and thy Lawe is trueth. <sup>143</sup>Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: yet are thy commandements my delite. <sup>144</sup>The righteousnes of thy testimonies is euerlasting: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall liue. <sup>145</sup>KOPH. I haue cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes. <sup>146</sup>I called vpon thee: saue mee, and I will keepe thy testimonies. <sup>147</sup>I preuented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word. <sup>148</sup>Mine eyes preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word. <sup>149</sup>Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindenesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy iudgement. <sup>150</sup>They drawe neere, that follow after malice, and are farre from thy Lawe. <sup>151</sup>Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy commandements are true. <sup>152</sup>I haue knowen long since by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer. <sup>153</sup>RESH. Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer mee: for I haue not forgotten thy Lawe. <sup>154</sup>Pleade my cause, and deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy word. <sup>155</sup>Saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes. <sup>156</sup>Great are thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy iudgements. <sup>157</sup>My persecutours and mine oppressours are many: yet doe I not swarue from thy testimonies. <sup>158</sup>I saw the transgressours and was grieued, because they kept not thy worde. <sup>159</sup>Consider, O Lord, how I loue thy precepts: quicken mee according to thy louing kindenesse. <sup>160</sup>The beginning of thy worde is trueth, and all the iudgements of thy righteousnesse endure for euer. <sup>161</sup>SCHIN. Princes haue persecuted mee without cause, but mine heart stood in awe of thy wordes. <sup>162</sup>I reioyce at thy worde, as one that findeth a great spoyle. <sup>163</sup>I hate falshood and abhorre it, but thy Lawe doe I loue. <sup>164</sup>Seuen times a day doe I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements. <sup>165</sup>They that loue thy Law, shall haue great prosperitie, and they shall haue none hurt. <sup>166</sup>Lord, I haue trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements. <sup>167</sup>My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly. <sup>168</sup>I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: for all my wayes are before thee. <sup>169</sup>TAV. Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, and giue me vnderstanding, according vnto thy worde. <sup>170</sup>Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer me according to thy promise. <sup>171</sup>My lippes shall speake praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes. <sup>172</sup>My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous. <sup>173</sup>Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts. <sup>174</sup>I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Lawe is my delite. <sup>175</sup>Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy iudgements shall helpe me. <sup>176</sup>I haue gone astraye like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

120A song of degrees. I called vnto the Lord in my trouble, and hee heard me. <sup>2</sup>Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lippes, and from a deceitfull tongue. <sup>3</sup>What doeth thy deceitfull tongue bring vnto thee? or what doeth it auaille thee? <sup>4</sup>It is as the sharpe arrowes of a mightie man, and as the coales of iuniper. <sup>5</sup>Woe is to me that I remaine in Meschech, and dwell in the tentes of Kedar. <sup>6</sup>My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace. <sup>7</sup>I seeke peace, and when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

121A song of degrees. I will lift mine eyes vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come. <sup>2</sup>Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hath made the heauen and the earth. <sup>3</sup>He wil not suffer thy foote to slippe: for he that keepeth thee, will not slumber. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, he that keepeth Israel, wil neither slumber nor sleepe. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand. <sup>6</sup>The sunne shall not smite thee by day, nor the moone by night. <sup>7</sup>The Lord shall preserue thee from all euil: he shall keepe thy soule. <sup>8</sup>The Lord shall preserue thy going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

122A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. I rejoiced, when they sayd to me, We wil go into the house of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Our feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is compact together in it selfe: <sup>4</sup>Whereunto the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord go vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to prayse the Name of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of Daud. <sup>6</sup>Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee. <sup>7</sup>Peace be within thy walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces. <sup>8</sup>For my brethren and neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie. <sup>9</sup>Because of the House of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

123A song of degrees. I lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens. <sup>2</sup>Behold, as the eyes of seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a mayden vnto the hand of her mistres: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God vntil he haue mercie vpon vs. <sup>3</sup>Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue suffered too much contempt. <sup>4</sup>Our soule is filled too full of ye mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnes of the proude.

124A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. If the Lord had not bene on our side, (may Israel now say) <sup>2</sup>If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs, <sup>3</sup>They had then swallowed vs vp quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs. <sup>4</sup>Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule: <sup>5</sup>Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule. <sup>6</sup>Praysed be the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a praye vnto their teeth. <sup>7</sup>Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the snare of the foulers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered. <sup>8</sup>Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

125A song of degrees. They that trust in the Lord, shalbe as mount Zion, which can not be remooued, but remaineth for euer. <sup>2</sup>As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth and for euer. <sup>3</sup>For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, least the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednes. <sup>4</sup>Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts. <sup>5</sup>But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

126A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. When ye Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame. <sup>2</sup>Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioye: then sayd they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them. <sup>3</sup>The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce. <sup>4</sup>O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South. <sup>5</sup>They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy. <sup>6</sup>They went weeping and caried precious seede: but they shall returne with ioye and bring their sheaues.

127A song of degrees, or Psalme of Salomon. Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine. <sup>2</sup>It is in vaine for you to rise earely, and to lie downe late, and eate the bread of sorow: but he wil surely giue rest to his beloued. <sup>3</sup>Beholde, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruite of the wombe his rewarde. <sup>4</sup>As are the arrowes in the hand of ye strong man: so are the children of youth. <sup>5</sup>Blessed is the man, that hath his quiuer full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

128A song of degrees. Blessed is euery one that feareth the Lord and walketh in his wayes. <sup>2</sup>When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee. <sup>3</sup>Thy wife shalbe as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the oliue plantes round about thy table. <sup>4</sup>Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord. <sup>5</sup>The Lord out of Zion shall blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life. <sup>6</sup>Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

129A song of degrees. They haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may Israel nowe say) <sup>2</sup>They haue often times afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me. <sup>3</sup>The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes. <sup>4</sup>But the righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked. <sup>5</sup>They that hate Zion, shalbe all ashamed and turned backward. <sup>6</sup>They shalbe as the grasse on the house tops, which withereth afore it cometh forth. <sup>7</sup>Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the glainer his lap: <sup>8</sup>Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

130A song of degrees. Out of the deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord. <sup>2</sup>Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers. <sup>3</sup>If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? <sup>4</sup>But mercie is with thee, that thou mayest be feared. <sup>5</sup>I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde. <sup>6</sup>My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning. <sup>7</sup>Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great redemption. <sup>8</sup>And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

131A song of degrees or Psalme of David. Lord, mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me. <sup>2</sup>Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is wained. <sup>3</sup>Let Israel waite on the Lord from hencefoorth and for euer.

132A song of degrees. Lord, remember Daudid with all his affliction. <sup>2</sup>Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying, <sup>3</sup>I will not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed, <sup>4</sup>Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber, <sup>5</sup>Vntill I finde out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iaakob. <sup>6</sup>Lo, we heard of it in Ephrathah, and found it in the fieldes of the forest. <sup>7</sup>We will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstoole. <sup>8</sup>Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength. <sup>9</sup>Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce. <sup>10</sup>For thy seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anointed. <sup>11</sup>The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Daudid, and he wil not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruite of thy body will I set vpon thy throne. <sup>12</sup>If thy sonnes keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for euer. <sup>13</sup>For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, <sup>14</sup>This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delite therein. <sup>15</sup>I will surely blesse her vitales, and will satisfie her poore with bread, <sup>16</sup>And will clothe her Priests with saluation, and her Saints shall shoute for ioye. <sup>17</sup>There will I make the horne of Daudid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted. <sup>18</sup>His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

134A song of degrees. Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stande in the house of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord. <sup>3</sup>The Lord, that hath made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

135Praise ye the Lord. Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him. <sup>2</sup>Ye that stande in the House of the Lord, and in the courtes of the House of our God, <sup>3</sup>Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing. <sup>4</sup>For the Lord hath chosen Iaakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure. <sup>5</sup>For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods. <sup>6</sup>Whatsoever pleased the Lord, that did hee in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths. <sup>7</sup>He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the lightnings with ye raine: he draweth fourth the winde out of his treasures. <sup>8</sup>He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast. <sup>9</sup>He hath sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants. <sup>10</sup>He smote many nations, and slew mightie Kings: <sup>11</sup>As Sihon King of the Amorites, and Og King of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan: <sup>12</sup>And gaue their lande for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people. <sup>13</sup>Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation. <sup>14</sup>For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants. <sup>15</sup>The idoles of the heathen are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens handes. <sup>16</sup>They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes and see not. <sup>17</sup>They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth. <sup>18</sup>They that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them. <sup>19</sup>Praise the Lord, ye house of Israel: praise the Lord, ye house of Aaron. <sup>20</sup>Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Praised bee the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>4</sup>Which onely doeth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>5</sup>Which by his wisdome made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>6</sup>Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>7</sup>Which made great lightes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>8</sup>As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>9</sup>The moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>10</sup>Which smote Egypt with their first borne, (for his mercie endureth for euer) <sup>11</sup>And brought out Israel from among them (for his mercie endureth for euer) <sup>12</sup>With a mightie hande and stretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>13</sup>Which deuided the red Sea in two partes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>14</sup>And made Israel to passe through the mids of it: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>15</sup>And ouerthrewe Pharaoh and his hoste in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>16</sup>Which led his people through the wildernes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>17</sup>Which smote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>18</sup>And slewe mightie Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>19</sup>As Sihon King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>20</sup>And Og the King of Bashan: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>21</sup>And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>22</sup>Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>23</sup>Which remembred vs in our base estate: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>24</sup>And hath rescued vs from our oppressours: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>25</sup>Which giueth foode to all flesh: for his mercie endureth for euer. <sup>26</sup>Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

137By the riuers of Babel we sate, and there wee wept, when we remembred Zion. <sup>2</sup>Wee hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the middes thereof. <sup>3</sup>Then they that ledde vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when wee had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion. <sup>4</sup>Howe shall we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land? <sup>5</sup>If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play. <sup>6</sup>If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the rooffe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefe ioy. <sup>7</sup>Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which saide, Rase it, rase it to the foundation thereof. <sup>8</sup>O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs. <sup>9</sup>Blessed shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

138A Psalme of David. I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee. <sup>2</sup>I will worship toward thine holy Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindenesse and for thy trueth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word. <sup>3</sup>When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast increased strength in my soule. <sup>4</sup>All the Kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth. <sup>5</sup>And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great. <sup>6</sup>For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude he knoweth afarre off. <sup>7</sup>Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me. <sup>8</sup>The Lord will performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not the workes of thine handes.

139To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. O Lord, thou hast tried me and knowen me. <sup>2</sup>Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afarre off. <sup>3</sup>Thou compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes. <sup>4</sup>For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord. <sup>5</sup>Thou holdest mee strait behind and before, and layest thine hand vpon me. <sup>6</sup>Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for mee: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it. <sup>7</sup>Whither shall I goe from thy Spirite? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? <sup>8</sup>If I ascende into heauen, thou art there: if I lye downe in hell, thou art there. <sup>9</sup>Let mee take the winges of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea: <sup>10</sup>Yet thither shall thine hand leade me, and thy right hand holde me. <sup>11</sup>If I say, Yet the darkenes shall hide me, euen the night shalbe light about me. <sup>12</sup>Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenes and light are both alike. <sup>13</sup>For thou hast possessed my reines: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe. <sup>14</sup>I will praise thee, for I am fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well. <sup>15</sup>My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and facioned beneath in the earth. <sup>16</sup>Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were facioned, when there was none of them before. <sup>17</sup>Howe deare therefore are thy thoughtes vnto me, O God! how great is ye summe of them! <sup>18</sup>If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I wake, I am still with thee. <sup>19</sup>Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from mee: <sup>20</sup>Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine. <sup>21</sup>Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee? <sup>22</sup>I hate them with an vnfaigned hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies. <sup>23</sup>Try mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: prooue me and know my thoughtes, <sup>24</sup>And consider if there be any way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the way for euer.

140To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. Deliuere me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the cruel man: <sup>2</sup>Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually. <sup>3</sup>They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poyson is vnder their lips. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Keepe mee, O Lord, from the handes of the wicked: preserue mee from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steppes to slide. <sup>5</sup>The proude haue layde a snare for me, and spread a nette with cordes in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Therefore I saide vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers. <sup>7</sup>O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou hast couered mine head in the day of battel. <sup>8</sup>Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: performe not his wicked thought, least they be proude. Selah. <sup>9</sup>As for the chiefe of them, that compassed me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them. <sup>10</sup>Let coles fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they rise not. <sup>11</sup>For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction. <sup>12</sup>I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore. <sup>13</sup>Surely the righteous shall prayse thy Name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

141A Psalme of David. O Lord, I call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee. <sup>2</sup>Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice. <sup>3</sup>Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips. <sup>4</sup>Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their delicates. <sup>5</sup>Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: and let him reprove me, and it shalbe a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen pray in their miseries. <sup>6</sup>When their iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweete. <sup>7</sup>Our bones lye scattered at the graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth. <sup>8</sup>But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute. <sup>9</sup>Keepe me from the snare, which they haue layde for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie. <sup>10</sup>Let the wicked fall into his nettes together, whiles I escape.

142A Psalme of David, to give instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the cave. I cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord. <sup>2</sup>I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence. <sup>3</sup>Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily layde a snare for me. <sup>4</sup>I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would knowe me: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule. <sup>5</sup>Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and sayde, thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing. <sup>6</sup>Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought very lowe:

deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me. <sup>7</sup>Bring my soule out of prison, that I may prayse thy Name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

143A Psalme of David. Hear my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answeere me in thy trueth and in thy righteousnes. <sup>2</sup>(And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none that liueth, be iustified) <sup>3</sup>For the enemie hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath layde me in the darkenes, as they that haue bene dead long agoe: <sup>4</sup>And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine heart within me was amased. <sup>5</sup>Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands. <sup>6</sup>I stretch forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit fayleth: hide not thy face from me, els I shall be like vnto them that go downe into the pit. <sup>8</sup>Let me heare thy louing kindenes in the morning, for in thee is my trust: shewe mee the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee. <sup>9</sup>Deliuere me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee. <sup>10</sup>Teach me to doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade me vnto the land of righteousnes. <sup>11</sup>Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousnesse bring my soule out of trouble. <sup>12</sup>And for thy mercy slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy seruant.

144A Psalme of David. Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battell. <sup>2</sup>He is my goodnes and my fortresse, my towre and my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me. <sup>3</sup>Lord, what is man that thou regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him! <sup>4</sup>Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow, that vanisheth. <sup>5</sup>Bow thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke. <sup>6</sup>Cast forth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them. <sup>7</sup>Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers, <sup>8</sup>Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood. <sup>9</sup>I wil sing a new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings. <sup>10</sup>It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto Kings, and rescueth Dauid his seruant from the hurtfull sworde. <sup>11</sup>Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood: <sup>12</sup>That our sonnes may be as the plantes growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace: <sup>13</sup>That our corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousand in our streetes: <sup>14</sup>That our oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes. <sup>15</sup>Blessed are the people, that be so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

145A Psalme of David of Praise. O my God and King, I will extold thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer. <sup>2</sup>I will blesse thee dayly, and prayse thy Name for euer and euer. <sup>3</sup>Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be prayseed, and his greatnes is incomprehensible. <sup>4</sup>Generation shall praise thy works vnto generation, and declare thy power. <sup>5</sup>I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes, <sup>6</sup>And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnes. <sup>7</sup>They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousnesse. <sup>8</sup>The Lord is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great mercie. <sup>9</sup>The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes. <sup>10</sup>All thy workes prayse thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee. <sup>11</sup>They shewe the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power, <sup>12</sup>To cause his power to be knowen to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome. <sup>13</sup>Thy kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages. <sup>14</sup>The Lord vpholdeth all that fall, and lifteth vp all that are ready to fall. <sup>15</sup>The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season. <sup>16</sup>Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure. <sup>17</sup>The Lord is righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes. <sup>18</sup>The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in trueth. <sup>19</sup>He wil fulfill the desire of them that feare him: he also wil heare their cry, and wil saue them. <sup>20</sup>The Lord preserueth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked. <sup>21</sup>My mouth shall speake the prayse of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

146Praise ye the Lord. Praise thou the Lord, O my soule. <sup>2</sup>I will prayse the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I wil sing vnto my God. <sup>3</sup>Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him. <sup>4</sup>His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughtes perish. <sup>5</sup>Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God. <sup>6</sup>Which made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer: <sup>7</sup>Which executeth iustice for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord loseth the prisoners. <sup>8</sup>The Lord giueth sight to the blinde: the Lord rayseth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous. <sup>9</sup>The Lord keepeth the strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked. <sup>10</sup>The Lord shall reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Prayse ye the Lord.

147 Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely. <sup>2</sup>The Lord doth builde vp Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel. <sup>3</sup>He healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores. <sup>4</sup>He counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names. <sup>5</sup>Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite. <sup>6</sup>The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the ground. <sup>7</sup>Sing vnto the Lord with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God, <sup>8</sup>Which couereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaines: <sup>9</sup>Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that crie. <sup>10</sup>He hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man. <sup>11</sup>But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attende vpon his mercie. <sup>12</sup>Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: prayse thy God, O Zion. <sup>13</sup>For he hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee. <sup>14</sup>He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the floure of wheate. <sup>15</sup>He sendeth foorth his commandement vpon earth, and his worde runneth very swiftly. <sup>16</sup>He giueth snowe like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes. <sup>17</sup>He casteth foorth his yce like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof? <sup>18</sup>He sendeth his worde and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blowe, and the waters flowe. <sup>19</sup>He sheweth his word vnto Iacob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel. <sup>20</sup>He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they knowen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

148 Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: prayse ye him in the high places. <sup>2</sup>Prayse ye him, all ye his Angels: praise him, all his armie. <sup>3</sup>Prayse ye him, sunne and moone: prayse ye him all bright starres. <sup>4</sup>Prayse ye him, heauens of heauens, and waters, that be aboute the heauens. <sup>5</sup>Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created. <sup>6</sup>And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe. <sup>7</sup>Prayse ye the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all depths: <sup>8</sup>Fire and hayle, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his worde: <sup>9</sup>Mountaines and all hils, fruitfull trees and all ceders: <sup>10</sup>Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and fethered foules: <sup>11</sup>Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde: <sup>12</sup>Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children: <sup>13</sup>Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his prayse aboute the earth and the heauens. <sup>14</sup>For he hath exalted the horne of his people, which is a prayse for all his Saintes, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto

him. Prayse ye the Lord.

150 Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye God in his Sanctuarie: prayse ye him in the firmament of his power. <sup>2</sup>Prayse ye him in his mightie Actes: prayse ye him according to his excellent greatnesse. <sup>3</sup>Prayse ye him in the sounde of the trumpet: prayse yee him vpon the viole and the harpe. <sup>4</sup>Prayse ye him with timbrell and flute: prayse ye him with virginales and organs. <sup>5</sup>Prayse ye him with sounding cymbales: prayse ye him with high sounding cymbales. <sup>6</sup>Let euery thing that hath breath prayse the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

Proverbs

1The Parables of Salomon the sonne of Daud King of Israel, <sup>2</sup>To knowe wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand ye wordes of knowledge, <sup>3</sup>To receiue instruction to do wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie, <sup>4</sup>To giue vnto the simple, sharpenesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion. <sup>5</sup>A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attayne vnto wise counsels, <sup>6</sup>To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of ye wise, and their darke sayings. <sup>7</sup>The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction. <sup>8</sup>My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching. <sup>9</sup>For they shalbe a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke. <sup>10</sup>My sonne, if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not. <sup>11</sup>If they say, Come with vs, we will lay waite for blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause: <sup>12</sup>We wil swallow them vp alieue like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit: <sup>13</sup>We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle: <sup>14</sup>Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one purse: <sup>15</sup>My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their path. <sup>16</sup>For their feete runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood. <sup>17</sup>Certainely as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing: <sup>18</sup>So they lay waite for blood and lie priuily for their liues. <sup>19</sup>Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: he would take away the life of the owners thereof. <sup>20</sup>Wisdom cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the streetes. <sup>21</sup>She calleth in the hye streete, among the prease in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying, <sup>22</sup>O ye foolish, howe long will ye loue foolishnes? and the scornefull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge? <sup>23</sup>(Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes) <sup>24</sup>Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none woulde regarde. <sup>25</sup>But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction. <sup>26</sup>I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke, when your feare commeth. <sup>27</sup>Whe your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirle wind: whe affliction and anguish shall come vpon you, <sup>28</sup>Then shall they call

vpon me, but I will not answer: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not finde me, <sup>29</sup>Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord. <sup>30</sup>They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction. <sup>31</sup>Therefore shall they eate of ye fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises. <sup>32</sup>For ease slaieth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them. <sup>33</sup>But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

2My sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and hide my commandements within thee, <sup>2</sup>And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, and encline thine heart to vnderstanding, <sup>3</sup>(For if thou callest after knowledge, and cryest for vnderstanding: <sup>4</sup>If thou seekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for treasures, <sup>5</sup>Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the knowledge of God. <sup>6</sup>For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding. <sup>7</sup>He preserueth the state of the righteous: he is a shielde to them that walke vprightly, <sup>8</sup>That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preserueth the way of his Saintes) <sup>9</sup>Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path. <sup>10</sup>When wisdom entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy soule, <sup>11</sup>Then shall counsell preserue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee, <sup>12</sup>And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that speaketh froward things, <sup>13</sup>And from them that leaue the wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darkenes: <sup>14</sup>Which reioyce in doing euill, and delite in the frowardnesse of the wicked, <sup>15</sup>Whose wayes are crooked and they are lewde in their paths. <sup>16</sup>And it shall deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes. <sup>17</sup>Which forsaketh the guide of her youth, and forgetteth the couenant of her God. <sup>18</sup>Surely her house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto the dead. <sup>19</sup>All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life. <sup>20</sup>Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous. <sup>21</sup>For the iust shall dwell in the land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it. <sup>22</sup>But the wicked shalbe cut off from ye earth, and the transgressours shalbe rooted out of it.

honor vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell: <sup>10</sup>Least the stranger should be silled with thy strength, and thy labours bee in the house of a stranger, <sup>11</sup>And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy bodie) <sup>12</sup>And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction! <sup>13</sup>And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught mee, nor enclined mine eare to them that instructed me! <sup>14</sup>I was almost brought into all euil in ye mids of the Congregation and assemblie. <sup>15</sup>Drinke the water of thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well. <sup>16</sup>Let thy fountaines flow foorth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes. <sup>17</sup>But let them bee thine, euen thine onely, and not the strangers with thee. <sup>18</sup>Let thy fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth. <sup>19</sup>Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually. <sup>20</sup>For why shouldest thou delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger? <sup>21</sup>For the waies of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes. <sup>22</sup>His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne. <sup>23</sup>Hee shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great follie.

brethren. <sup>20</sup>My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction. <sup>21</sup>Binde them alway vpon thine heart, and tye them about thy necke. <sup>22</sup>It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee. <sup>23</sup>For the commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life, <sup>24</sup>To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from ye flatterie of ye tongue of a strange woman. <sup>25</sup>Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eye lids. <sup>26</sup>For because of the whorish woman a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman wil hunt for the precious life of a man. <sup>27</sup>Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt? <sup>28</sup>Or can a man go vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt? <sup>29</sup>So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her. <sup>30</sup>Men do not despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his soule, because he is hungry. <sup>31</sup>But if he be founde, he shall restore seuen folde, or he shall giue all the substance of his house. <sup>32</sup>But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule. <sup>33</sup>He shall finde a wounde and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away. <sup>34</sup>For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance. <sup>35</sup>He cannot beare the sight of any raunsome: neither will he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

at home: he is gone a iourney farre off. <sup>20</sup>He hath taken with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed. <sup>21</sup>Thus with her great craft she caused him to yelde, and with her flattering lips she entised him. <sup>22</sup>And he followed her straight wayes, as an oxe that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stockes for correction, <sup>23</sup>Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that he is in danger. <sup>24</sup>Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth. <sup>25</sup>Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths. <sup>26</sup>For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the strong men are all slaine by her. <sup>27</sup>Her house is the way vnto ye graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

8Doth not wisdom crie? and vnderstanding vtter her voyce? <sup>2</sup>She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths. <sup>3</sup>She cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entrie of the doores, <sup>4</sup>O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voyce to the children of men. <sup>5</sup>O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart. <sup>6</sup>Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes, shall teache things that be right. <sup>7</sup>For my mouth shall speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednesse. <sup>8</sup>All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardnesse in them. <sup>9</sup>They are all plaine to him that will vnderstande, and streight to them that woulde finde knowledge. <sup>10</sup>Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde. <sup>11</sup>For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her. <sup>12</sup>I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find fourth knowledge and counsels. <sup>13</sup>The feare of the Lord is to hate euill as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I doe hate. <sup>14</sup>I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength. <sup>15</sup>By me, Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice. <sup>16</sup>By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth. <sup>17</sup>I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me earely, shall finde me. <sup>18</sup>Riches and honour are with me: euen durable riches and righteousnesse. <sup>19</sup>My fruite is better then golde, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer. <sup>20</sup>I cause to walke in the way of righteousnes, and in the middes of the paths of iudgement, <sup>21</sup>That I may cause them that loue me, to inherit substance, and I will fill their treasures. <sup>22</sup>The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his workes of olde. <sup>23</sup>I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning and before the earth. <sup>24</sup>When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water. <sup>25</sup>Before the mountaines were setled: and before the hilles, was I begotten. <sup>26</sup>He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde. <sup>27</sup>When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compasse vpon the deepe. <sup>28</sup>When he established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe, <sup>29</sup>When he gaue his decree to the Sea, that the waters shoulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the foundations of the earth, <sup>30</sup>Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was dayly his delight reioycing alway before him, <sup>31</sup>And tooke my solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delite is with the children of men. <sup>32</sup>Therefore nowe hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes. <sup>33</sup>Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: <sup>34</sup>blessed is the man that heareth mee, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores. <sup>35</sup>For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord. <sup>36</sup>But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

gathereth in sommer, is the sonne of wisdom: but he that sleepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion. <sup>6</sup>Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked. <sup>7</sup>The memoriall of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rotte. <sup>8</sup>The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talke shalbe beaten. <sup>9</sup>He that walketh vprightly, walketh boldely: but he that peruerteth his wayes, shalbe knowen. <sup>10</sup>He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he yet is foolish in talke, shalbe beaten. <sup>11</sup>The mouth of a righteous man is a welspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked. <sup>12</sup>Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses. <sup>13</sup>In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisdom is founde, and a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom. <sup>14</sup>Wise men lay vp knowledge: but ye mouth of the foole is a present destruction. <sup>15</sup>The riche mans goodes are his strong citie: but the feare of the needie is their pouertie. <sup>16</sup>The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne. <sup>17</sup>He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way. <sup>18</sup>He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slaunder, is a foole. <sup>19</sup>In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refrayneth his lippes, is wise. <sup>20</sup>The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is litle worth. <sup>21</sup>The lippes of the righteous doe feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom. <sup>22</sup>The blessing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde no sorowes with it. <sup>23</sup>It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man. <sup>24</sup>That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God wil graunt the desire of the righteous. <sup>25</sup>As the whirlwinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation. <sup>26</sup>As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthful to them that send him. <sup>27</sup>The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked shalbe diminished. <sup>28</sup>The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish. <sup>29</sup>The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie. <sup>30</sup>The righteous shall neuer be remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land. <sup>31</sup>The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out. <sup>32</sup>The lips of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes. <sup>6</sup>The righteousnesse of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednes. <sup>7</sup>When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish. <sup>8</sup>The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his steade. <sup>9</sup>An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge. <sup>10</sup>In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioye. <sup>11</sup>By the blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked. <sup>12</sup>He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence. <sup>13</sup>Hee that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth a secret: but hee that is of a faithfull heart concealeth a matter. <sup>14</sup>Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellors are, there is health. <sup>15</sup>Hee shall be sore vexed, that is suretie for a stranger, and he that hateth suretiship, is sure. <sup>16</sup>A gracious woman atteineth honour, and the strong men attein riches. <sup>17</sup>Hee that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his own flesh, is cruel. <sup>18</sup>The wicked worketh a deceitful worke: but hee that soweth righteousnes, shall receiue a sure rewarde. <sup>19</sup>As righteousnes leadeth to life: so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death. <sup>20</sup>They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delite. <sup>21</sup>Though hande ioyne in hande, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape. <sup>22</sup>As a iewell of golde in a swines snoute: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion. <sup>23</sup>The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation. <sup>24</sup>There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but hee that spareth more then is right, surely commeth to pouertie. <sup>25</sup>The liberrall person shall haue plentie: and he that watereth, shall also haue raine. <sup>26</sup>He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shalbe vpon the head of him that selleth corne. <sup>27</sup>He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him. <sup>28</sup>He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a leafe. <sup>29</sup>He that troubleth his owne house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole shalbe seruant to the wise in heart. <sup>30</sup>The fruite of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, the righteous shalbe recompensed in the earth: howe much more the wicked and the sinner?

<sup>5</sup>The thoughtes of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull. <sup>6</sup>The talking of the wicked is to lye in waite for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliuer them. <sup>7</sup>God ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand. <sup>8</sup>A man shall be commended for his wisdome: but the froward of heart shalbe despised. <sup>9</sup>He that is despised, and is his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe and lacketh bread. <sup>10</sup>A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruel. <sup>11</sup>He that tilleth his lande, shalbe satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding. <sup>12</sup>The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth fruite. <sup>13</sup>The euill man is snared by the wickednesse of his lips, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie. <sup>14</sup>A man shalbe satiate with good things by the fruite of his mouth, and the recompence of a mans hands shall God giue vnto him. <sup>15</sup>The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsell, is wise. <sup>16</sup>A foole in a day shall be known by his anger: but he that couereth shame, is wise. <sup>17</sup>He that speaketh trueth, will shewe righteousness: but a false witnes vsseth deceite. <sup>18</sup>There is that speaketh wordes like the prickings of a sworde: but the tongue of wise men is health. <sup>19</sup>The lip of trueth shall be stable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently. <sup>20</sup>Deceite is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counsellors of peace shall be ioye. <sup>21</sup>There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euill. <sup>22</sup>The lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truely are his delite. <sup>23</sup>A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fooles publisheth foolishnes. <sup>24</sup>The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shalbe vnder tribute. <sup>25</sup>Heauines in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good worde reioyceth it. <sup>26</sup>The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked will deceiue them. <sup>27</sup>The deceitfull man rosteth not, that hee tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious. <sup>28</sup>Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path way there is no death.

teous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out. <sup>10</sup>Onely by pride doeth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisdome. <sup>11</sup>The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them. <sup>12</sup>The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, it is as a tree of life. <sup>13</sup>He that despiseth the worde, hee shall be destroyed: but hee that feareth the commandement he shalbe rewarded. <sup>14</sup>The instruction of a wise man is as the welspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death. <sup>15</sup>Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated. <sup>16</sup>Euery wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly. <sup>17</sup>A wicked messenger falleth into euill: but a faithfull ambasadour is preseruacion. <sup>18</sup>Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but hee that regardeth correction, shalbe honoured. <sup>19</sup>A desire accomplished deliteth ye soule: but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euill. <sup>20</sup>He that walketh with the wise, shalbe wise: but a companion of fooles shalbe afflicted. <sup>21</sup>Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good. <sup>22</sup>The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the riches of the sinner is layde vp for the iust. <sup>23</sup>Much foode is in the felde of the poore: but the felde is destroyed without discretion. <sup>24</sup>He that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that loueth him, chasteneth him betime. <sup>25</sup>The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

rageth, and is carelesse. <sup>17</sup>He that is hastie to anger, committeth follie, and a busie body is hated. <sup>18</sup>The foolish do inherite follie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge. <sup>19</sup>The euill shall bowe before the good, and the wicked at the gates of the righteous. <sup>20</sup>The poore is hated euen of his own neighbour: but the friendes of the rich are many. <sup>21</sup>The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is blessed. <sup>22</sup>Doe not they erre that imagine euill? but to them that thinke on good things, shalbe mercie and trueth. <sup>23</sup>In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth onely want. <sup>24</sup>The crowne of the wise is their riches, and the follie of fooles is foolishnes. <sup>25</sup>A faithfull witnes deliuereth soules: but a deceiuer speaketh lyes. <sup>26</sup>In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope. <sup>27</sup>The feare of the Lord is as a welspring of life, to auoyde the snares of death. <sup>28</sup>In the multitude of the people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the Prince. <sup>29</sup>He that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisdom: but he that is of an hastie minde, exalteth follie. <sup>30</sup>A sounde heart is the life of the flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones. <sup>31</sup>He that oppresseth the poore, reprooueth him that made him: but hee honoureth him, that hath mercie on the poore. <sup>32</sup>The wicked shall be cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death. <sup>33</sup>Wisdom resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen in the mids of fooles. <sup>34</sup>Iustice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people. <sup>35</sup>The pleasure of a King is in a wise seruant: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast. <sup>16</sup>Better is a litle with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure, and trouble therewith. <sup>17</sup>Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled oxe and hatred therewith. <sup>18</sup>An angrie man stirreth vp strife: but hee that is slowe to wrath, appeaseth strife. <sup>19</sup>The way of a slouthfull man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine. <sup>20</sup>A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother. <sup>21</sup>Foolishnes is ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walketh vp rightly. <sup>22</sup>Without counsel thoughts come to nought: but in the multitude of counsellors there is stedfastnesse. <sup>23</sup>A ioy commeth to a man by the answere of his mouth: and how good is a word in due season? <sup>24</sup>The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoyde from hell beneath. <sup>25</sup>The Lord will destroye the house of the proude men: but hee will stablish the borders of the widowe. <sup>26</sup>The thoughts of ye wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure haue pleasant wordes. <sup>27</sup>He that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth giftes, shall liue. <sup>28</sup>The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euil thinges. <sup>29</sup>The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous. <sup>30</sup>The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat. <sup>31</sup>The eare that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise. <sup>32</sup>Hee that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding. <sup>33</sup>The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour, goeth humilitie.

fie it. <sup>15</sup>In the light of the Kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloude of the latter raine. <sup>16</sup>Howe much better is it to get wisdom then golde? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer. <sup>17</sup>The pathe of the righteous is to decline from euil, and hee keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way. <sup>18</sup>Pride goeth before destruction, and an high minde before the fall. <sup>19</sup>Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to deuide the spoyle with the proude. <sup>20</sup>He that is wise in his busines, shall finde good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed. <sup>21</sup>The wise in heart shall bee called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lippes shall increase doctrine. <sup>22</sup>Vnderstanding is welspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of fooles is folly. <sup>23</sup>The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lippes. <sup>24</sup>Faire wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, and health to the bones. <sup>25</sup>There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death. <sup>26</sup>The person that traueileth, traueileth for himselfe: for his mouth craueth it of him. <sup>27</sup>A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lippes is like burning fire. <sup>28</sup>A frowarde person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes. <sup>29</sup>A wicked man deceiueh his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good. <sup>30</sup>He shutteth his eyes to deuise wickednes: he moueth his lippes, and bringeth euil to passe. <sup>31</sup>Age is a crowne of glory, when it is founde in the way of righteousness. <sup>32</sup>He that is slowe vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and hee that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie. <sup>33</sup>The lot is cast into the lap: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

17 Better is a dry morsell, if peace be with it, then an house full of sacrifices with strife. <sup>2</sup>A discrete seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewde sonne, and hee shall deuide the heritage among the brethren. <sup>3</sup>As is the fining pot for siluer, and the fornace for golde, so the Lord trieth the heartes. <sup>4</sup>The wicked giueth heed to false lippes, and a lyer hearkeneth to the naughtie tongue. <sup>5</sup>Hee that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him, that made him: and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be vnpunished. <sup>6</sup>Childres children are the crowne of the elders: and the glory of ye children are their fathers. <sup>7</sup>Hie talke becometh not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince. <sup>8</sup>A rewarde is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whithersoer it turneth. <sup>9</sup>Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but hee that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince. <sup>10</sup>A reproofe entereth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole. <sup>11</sup>A sedicious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruel messenger shall be sent against him. <sup>12</sup>It is better for a man to meete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his follie. <sup>13</sup>He that rewardeth euil for good, euil shall not depart from his house. <sup>14</sup>The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore or the contention be medled with, leaue off. <sup>15</sup>He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord. <sup>16</sup>Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath none heart? <sup>17</sup>A friende loueth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie. <sup>18</sup>A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the hande, and becommeth suretie for his neighbour. <sup>19</sup>He loueth transgression, that loueth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction. <sup>20</sup>The froward heart findeth no good: and he that hath a naughtie tongue, shall fall into euill. <sup>21</sup>He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy. <sup>22</sup>A ioyfull heart causeth good health: but a sorowfull minde dryeth the bones. <sup>23</sup>A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to wrest the wayes of iudgement. <sup>24</sup>Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world. <sup>25</sup>A foolish sonne is a grieffe vnto his father, and a heauines to her that bare him. <sup>26</sup>Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that ye princes should smite such for equitie. <sup>27</sup>Hee that hath knowledge, spareth his wordes, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit. <sup>28</sup>Euen a foole (when he holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and hee that stoppeth his lips, prudent.

their contentions are like the barre of a palace. <sup>20</sup>With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled. <sup>21</sup>Death and life are in the power of ye tongue, and they that loue it, shall eate the fruite thereof. <sup>22</sup>He that findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and receiueth fauour of the Lord. <sup>23</sup>The poore speaketh with prayers: but the rich answereth roughly. <sup>24</sup>A man that hath friends, ought to shew him selfe friendly: for a friend is neerer then a brother.

childe. <sup>27</sup>My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from ye words of knowledge. <sup>28</sup>A wicked witnes mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of ye wicked swalloweth vp iniquitie. <sup>29</sup>But iudgements are prepared for the scorner, and stripes for the backe of the fooler.

21The Kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the riuers of waters: he turneth it whithersoever it pleaseth him. <sup>2</sup>Every way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts. <sup>3</sup>To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice. <sup>4</sup>A hautie looke, and a proude heart, which is the light of the wicked, is sinne. <sup>5</sup>The thoughtes of the diligent doe surely bring abundance: but whosoever is hastie, commeth surely to pouertie. <sup>6</sup>The gathering of treasures by a deceitfull tongue is vanitie tossed to and from of them that seeke death. <sup>7</sup>The robbie of the wicked shall destroy them: for they haue refused to execute iudgement. <sup>8</sup>The way of some is peruerted and strange: but of the pure man, his worke is right. <sup>9</sup>It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house. <sup>10</sup>The soule of the wicked wisheth euill: and his neighbour hath no fauour in his eyes. <sup>11</sup>When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth the wise, he wil receiue knowledge. <sup>12</sup>The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euill. <sup>13</sup>He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also cry and not be heard. <sup>14</sup>A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bosome great wrath. <sup>15</sup>It is ioye to the iust to doe iudgement: but destruction shalbe to the workers of iniquitie. <sup>16</sup>A man that wandreth out of the way of wisdom, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead. <sup>17</sup>Hee that loueth pastime, shalbe a poore man: and he that loueth wine and oyle, shall not be riche. <sup>18</sup>The wicked shalbe a ransome for the iust, and the transgressour for the righteous. <sup>19</sup>It is better to dwell in the wilderness, then with a contentious and angry woman. <sup>20</sup>In the house of the wise is a pleasant treasure and oyle: but a foolish man deuoureth it. <sup>21</sup>He that followeth after righteousness and mercy, shall finde life, righteousness, and glory. <sup>22</sup>A wise man goeth vp into the citie of the mightie, and casteth downe the strength of the confidence thereof. <sup>23</sup>He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions. <sup>24</sup>Proude, hautie and scornefull is his name that worketh in his arrogancie wrath. <sup>25</sup>The desire of the slouthfull slayeth him: for his hands refuse to worke. <sup>26</sup>He coueteth euermore greedily, but the righteous giueth and spareth not. <sup>27</sup>The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked minde? <sup>28</sup>A false witnes shall perish: but hee that heareth, speaketh continually. <sup>29</sup>A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he will direct his way. <sup>30</sup>There is no wisdom, neither vnderstanding, nor counsell against the Lord. <sup>31</sup>The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but saluation is of the Lord.

22A good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue siluer and aboue golde. <sup>2</sup>The rich and poore meete together: the Lord is the maker of them all. <sup>3</sup>A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth him-

selfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished. <sup>4</sup>The rewarde of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life. <sup>5</sup>Thornes and snares are in the way of the frowarde: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them. <sup>6</sup>Teache a childe in the trade of his way, and when he is olde, he shall not depart from it. <sup>7</sup>The rich ruleth the poore, and the borrower is seruant to the man that lendeth. <sup>8</sup>He that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the rodde of his anger shall faile. <sup>9</sup>He that hath a good eye, he shalbe blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore. <sup>10</sup>Cast out the scorner, and strife shall go out: so contention and reproche shall cease. <sup>11</sup>Hee that loueth purenesse of heart for the grace of his lippes, the King shalbe his friend. <sup>12</sup>The eyes of the Lord preserue knowledge: but hee ouerthroweth the wordes of the transgressour. <sup>13</sup>The slouthfull man saith, A lyon is without, I shall be slaine in the streete. <sup>14</sup>The mouth of strage women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angry, shall fall therein. <sup>15</sup>Foolishnesse is bounde in the heart of a childe: but the rodde of correction shall driue it away from him. <sup>16</sup>Hee that oppresseth the poore to increase him selfe, and giueth vnto the riche, shall surely come to pouertie. <sup>17</sup>Incline thine eare, and heare the wordes of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge. <sup>18</sup>For it shalbe pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy bellie, and if they be directed together in thy lippes. <sup>19</sup>That thy confidence may be in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede. <sup>20</sup>Haue not I written vnto thee three times in counsels and knowledge, <sup>21</sup>That I might shewe thee the assurance of the wordes of trueth to answeere the wordes of trueth to them that sende to thee? <sup>22</sup>Robbe not the poore, because hee is poore, neither oppresse the afflicted in iudgement. <sup>23</sup>For the Lord will defende their cause, and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them. <sup>24</sup>Make no friendship with an angrie man, neither goe with the furious man, <sup>25</sup>Least thou learne his wayes, and receiue destruction to thy soule. <sup>26</sup>Be not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts. <sup>27</sup>If thou hast nothing to paye, why causest thou that he should take thy bed from vnder thee? <sup>28</sup>Thou shalt not remooue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made. <sup>29</sup>Thou seest that a diligent man in his businesse standeth before Kings, and standeth not before the base sort.

and drinke: but his heart is not with thee. <sup>8</sup>Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweete wordes. <sup>9</sup>Speake not in the eares of a foole: for hee will despise the wisdom of thy wordes. <sup>10</sup>Remouue not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fieldes of the fatherlesse. <sup>11</sup>For he that redeemeth them, is mightie: he will defend their cause against thee. <sup>12</sup>Apply thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the wordes of knowledge. <sup>13</sup>Withhold not correction from the childe: if thou smite him with the rodde, he shall not die. <sup>14</sup>Thou shalt smite him with the rodde, and shalt deliuer his soule from hell. <sup>15</sup>My sonne, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also. <sup>16</sup>And my reynes shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things. <sup>17</sup>Let not thine heart bee enuious against sinners: but let it bee in the feare of the Lord continually. <sup>18</sup>For surely there is an ende, and thy hope shall not be cut off. <sup>19</sup>O thou my sonne, heare, and bee wise, and guide thine heart in the way. <sup>20</sup>Keepe not company with drunkards, nor with gluttons. <sup>21</sup>For the drunkard and the glutton shall bee poore, and the sleeper shalbe clothed with ragges. <sup>22</sup>Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is olde. <sup>23</sup>Bye the truth, but sell it not: likewise wisdom, and instruction, and vnderstanding. <sup>24</sup>The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and hee that begetteth a wise childe, shall haue ioy of him. <sup>25</sup>Thy father and thy mother shall be glad, and she that bare thee shall reioyce. <sup>26</sup>My sonne, giue mee thine heart, and let thine eyes delite in my wayes. <sup>27</sup>For a whore is as a deepe ditche, and a strange woman is as a narrowe pitte. <sup>28</sup>Also she lyeth in wait as for a praye, and she increaseth the transgressors among men. <sup>29</sup>To whome is woe? to whome is sorowe? to whom is strife? to whom is murmuring? to whom are woundes without cause? and to whome is the rednesse of the eyes? <sup>30</sup>Euen to them that tarie long at the wine, to them that goe, and seeke mixt wine. <sup>31</sup>Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly. <sup>32</sup>In the ende thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice. <sup>33</sup>Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things. <sup>34</sup>And thou shalt bee as one that sleepeth in the middes of the sea, and as hee that sleepeth in the toppe of the maste. <sup>35</sup>They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten mee, but I knew not, when I awoke: therefore will I seeke it yet still.

tude of them that can giue counsell, is health. <sup>7</sup>Wisdom is hie to a foole: therefore he can not open his mouth in the gate. <sup>8</sup>Hee that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an autour of wickednes. <sup>9</sup>The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men. <sup>10</sup>If thou bee faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small. <sup>11</sup>Deliuer them that are drawen to death: wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine? <sup>12</sup>If thou say, Beholde, we knew not of it: he that pondereth the heartes, doeth not hee vnderstand it? and hee that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not? will not he also recompense euery man according to his workes? <sup>13</sup>My sonne, eate hony, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is sweete vnto thy mouth. <sup>14</sup>So shall the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, and there shall be an ende, and thine hope shall not be cut off. <sup>15</sup>Laye no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place. <sup>16</sup>For a iust man falleth seuen times, and riseth againe: but the wicked fall into mischief. <sup>17</sup>Bee thou not glad when thine enemie falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when hee stumbleth, <sup>18</sup>Least the Lord see it, and it displease him, and he turne his wrath from him. <sup>19</sup>Fret not thy selfe because of the malicious, neither be enuious at the wicked. <sup>20</sup>For there shall bee none ende of plagues to the euill man: the light of the wicked shall bee put out. <sup>21</sup>My sonne feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are sedicious. <sup>22</sup>For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them both? 23ALSO THESE THINGS PERTEINE TO THE WISE, It is not good to haue respect of any person in iudgement. <sup>24</sup>He that saith to the wicked, Thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him. <sup>25</sup>But to them that rebuke him, shall be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodnesse. <sup>26</sup>They shall kisse the lippes of him that answereth vpright wordes. <sup>27</sup>Prepare thy worke without, and make readie thy things in the field, and after, builde thine house. <sup>28</sup>Be not a witnes against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lippes? <sup>29</sup>Say not, I wil doe to him, as he hath done to mee, I will recompence euery man according to his worke. <sup>30</sup>I passed by the field of the slouthfull, and by the vineyarde of the man destitute of vnderstanding. <sup>31</sup>And lo, it was al growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had couered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken downe. <sup>32</sup>Then I behelde, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and receiued instruction. <sup>33</sup>Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, a litle folding of the handes to sleepe. <sup>34</sup>So thy pouertie commeth as one that traueileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

earth in deepenes, and the Kings heart can no man search out. <sup>4</sup>Take the drosse from the siluer, and there shall proceede a vessell for the finer. <sup>5</sup>Take away the wicked from the King, and his throne shall be stablished in righteousnes. <sup>6</sup>Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men. <sup>7</sup>For it is better, that it be saide vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to be put lower in the presece of the prince whom thine eyes haue seene. <sup>8</sup>Goe not foorth hastily to strife, least thou know not what to doe in the ende thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame. <sup>9</sup>Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another, <sup>10</sup>Least he that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not cease. <sup>11</sup>A word spoken in his place, is like apples of golde with pictures of siluer. <sup>12</sup>He that reprooueth the wise, and the obedient eare, is as a golden earering and an ornament of fine golde. <sup>13</sup>As the colde of the snowe in the time of haruest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters. <sup>14</sup>A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like cloudes and winde without raine. <sup>15</sup>A Prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones. <sup>16</sup>If thou haue found hony, eate that is sufficient for thee, least thou be ouerfull, and vomit it. <sup>17</sup>Withdrawe thy foote from thy neighbours house, least he be weary of thee, and hate thee. <sup>18</sup>A man that beareth false witnes against his neighbour, is like an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrowe. <sup>19</sup>Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth and a sliding foote. <sup>20</sup>Hee that taketh away the garment in the colde season, is like vineger powred vpon nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauy heart. <sup>21</sup>If hee that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke. <sup>22</sup>For thou shalt lay coles vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee. <sup>23</sup>As the Northwinde driueth away the raine, so doeth an angry countenance the slandering tongue. <sup>24</sup>It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house. <sup>25</sup>As are the colde waters to a weary soule, so is good newes from a farre countrey. <sup>26</sup>A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring. <sup>27</sup>It is not good to eate much hony: so to search their owne glory is not glory. <sup>28</sup>A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a citie which is broken downe and without walles.

foole, is as he that cutteth off the feete, and drinketh iniquitie. <sup>7</sup>As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a fooles mouth. <sup>8</sup>As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is he that giueth glory to a foole. <sup>9</sup>As a thorne standing vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles. <sup>10</sup>The excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors. <sup>11</sup>As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, so a foole turneth to his foolishnes. <sup>12</sup>Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceite? more hope is of a foole then of him. <sup>13</sup>The slouthfull man sayth, A lyon is in the way: a lyon is in the streetes. <sup>14</sup>As the doore turneth vpon his hinges, so doeth the slouthfull man vpon his bed. <sup>15</sup>The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it griueth him to put it againe to his mouth. <sup>16</sup>The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceite, then seuen men that can render a reason. <sup>17</sup>He that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares. <sup>18</sup>As he that faineth himselfe mad, casteth fire brands, arrowes, and mortall things, <sup>19</sup>So dealeth the deceitfull man with his friend and sayth, Am not I in sport? <sup>20</sup>Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a tale-bearer strife ceaseth. <sup>21</sup>As ye cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife. <sup>22</sup>The wordes of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly. <sup>23</sup>As siluer drosse ouerlayde vpon a potsheard, so are burning lips, and an euill heart. <sup>24</sup>He that hateth, will counterfaite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceite. <sup>25</sup>Though he speake fauourably, beleue him not: for there are seuen abominations in his heart. <sup>26</sup>Hatred may be couered by deceite: but the malice thereof shall be discouered in the congregation. <sup>27</sup>He that diggeth a pit shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him. <sup>28</sup>A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

be wise, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that reprocheth me. <sup>12</sup>A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished. <sup>13</sup>Take his garment that is surety for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger. <sup>14</sup>He that prayseth his friend with a loude voyce, rising earely in the morning, it shall be counted to him as a curse. <sup>15</sup>A continual dropping in the day of raine, and a contentious woman are alike. <sup>16</sup>He that hideth her, hideth the winde, and she is as ye oyle in his right hand, that vttereth it selfe. <sup>17</sup>Yron sharpeneth yron, so doeth man sharpen the face of his friend. <sup>18</sup>He that keepeth the fig tree, shall eate the fruite thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shall come to honour. <sup>19</sup>As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man. <sup>20</sup>The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satisfied. <sup>21</sup>As is the fining pot for siluer and the fornace for golde, so is euery man according to his dignitie. <sup>22</sup>Though thou shouldest bray a foole in a mortar among wheate brayed with a pestell, yet will not his foolishnes depart from him. <sup>23</sup>Be diligent to know ye state of thy flocke, and take heede to the hearde. <sup>24</sup>For riches remaine not alway, nor the crowne from generation to generation. <sup>25</sup>The hey discouereth it selfe, and the grasse appeareth, and the herbes of the mountaines are gathered. <sup>26</sup>The lambes are for thy clothing, and the goates are the price of the field. <sup>27</sup>And let the milke of the goates be sufficient for thy foode, for the foode of thy familie, and for the sustenance of thy maydes.

28The wicked flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bolde as a lyon. <sup>2</sup>For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long. <sup>3</sup>A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no foode. <sup>4</sup>They that forsake the Law, prayse the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselues against them. <sup>5</sup>Wicked men vnderstand not iudgemnt: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things. <sup>6</sup>Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then hee that peruerteth his wayes, though he be riche. <sup>7</sup>He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father. <sup>8</sup>He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore. <sup>9</sup>He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shalbe abominable. <sup>10</sup>He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things. <sup>11</sup>The riche man is wise in his owne conceite: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie him. <sup>12</sup>When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried. <sup>13</sup>He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy. <sup>14</sup>Blessed is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill. <sup>15</sup>As a roaring lyon, and an hungry beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people. <sup>16</sup>A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but hee that hateth couetousnes, shall prolong his dayes. <sup>17</sup>A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not stay him. <sup>18</sup>He that walketh vprightly, shalbe saued: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall. <sup>19</sup>He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouertie. <sup>20</sup>A faythfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to be riche, shall not be innocent. <sup>21</sup>To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread. <sup>22</sup>A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shall come vpon him. <sup>23</sup>He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at length, then he that flattereth with his tongue. <sup>24</sup>Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and sayth, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth. <sup>25</sup>He that is of a proude heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be fatte. <sup>26</sup>Hee that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered. <sup>27</sup>He that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses. <sup>28</sup>When the wicked rise vp, men hide them selues: but when they perish, ye righteous increase.

29A man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed and can not be cured. <sup>2</sup>When the righteous are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh. <sup>3</sup>A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance. <sup>4</sup>A King by iudgement mainteineth ye cuntry: but a man receiuing giftes, destroyeth it. <sup>5</sup>A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps. <sup>6</sup>In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce. <sup>7</sup>The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge. <sup>8</sup>Scornefull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath. <sup>9</sup>If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest. <sup>10</sup>Bloodie men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule. <sup>11</sup>A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward. <sup>12</sup>Of a prince that hearkeneth to lyes, all his seruants are wicked. <sup>13</sup>The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes. <sup>14</sup>A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shalbe established for euer. <sup>15</sup>The rodde and correction giue wisdom: but a childe set a libertie, maketh his mother ashamed. <sup>16</sup>When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but ye righteous shall see their fall. <sup>17</sup>Correct thy sonne and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy

soule. <sup>18</sup>Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Lawe, is blessed. <sup>19</sup>A seruant will not be chastised with words: though he vnderstand, yet he will not answere. <sup>20</sup>Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him. <sup>21</sup>He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen as his sone. <sup>22</sup>An angrie man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression. <sup>23</sup>The pride of a man shall bring him lowe: but the humble in spirit shall enioy glory. <sup>24</sup>He that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, and declareth it not. <sup>25</sup>The feare of man bringeth a snare: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shalbe exalted. <sup>26</sup>Many doe seeke the face of the ruler: but euery mans iudgement commeth from the Lord. <sup>27</sup>A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpriight in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

30THE WORDS OF AGUR THE SONNE OF JAKEH. The prophecie which ye man spake vnto Ithiel, euen to Ithiel, and Vcal. <sup>2</sup>Surely I am more foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me. <sup>3</sup>For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things. <sup>4</sup>Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the winde in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the endes of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell? <sup>5</sup>Euery worde of God is pure: he is a shield to those, that trust in him. <sup>6</sup>Put nothing vnto his wordes, least he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar. <sup>7</sup>Two things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I die. <sup>8</sup>Remouue farre from me vanitie and lyes: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede me with foode conuenient for me, <sup>9</sup>Least I be full, and denie thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or least I be poore and steale, and take the Name of my God in vaine. <sup>10</sup>Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest he curse thee, when thou hast offended. <sup>11</sup>There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother. <sup>12</sup>There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceite, and yet are not washed from their filthinesse. <sup>13</sup>There is a generation, whose eies are hautie, and their eye liddes are lifted vp. <sup>14</sup>There is a generation, whose teeth are as swordes, and their chawes as kniues to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men. <sup>15</sup>The horse leache hath two daughters which crye, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is ynough. <sup>16</sup>The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water, and the fire that sayeth not, It is ynough. <sup>17</sup>The eye that mocketh his father and despiseth the instruction of his mother, let ye rauens of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles eate it. <sup>18</sup>There be three thinges hid from me: yea, foure that I knowe not, <sup>19</sup>The way of an eagle in the aire, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, ye way of a ship in ye middes of the sea, and the way of a man with a maide. <sup>20</sup>Such is ye way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and wipeth her mouth, and sayth, I haue not committed iniquitie. <sup>21</sup>For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe: <sup>22</sup>For a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate, <sup>23</sup>For the hatefull woman, when she is married, and for a handmaid that is heire to her mistres. <sup>24</sup>These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise and full of wisdom: <sup>25</sup>The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in sommer: <sup>26</sup>The conies a people not mightie, yet make their houses in the rocke: <sup>27</sup>The grasshopper hath no King, yet goe they forth all by bandes: <sup>28</sup>The spider taketh holde with her handes, and is in Kings palaces. <sup>29</sup>There be three thinges that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going, <sup>30</sup>A lyon which is strong among beastes, and turneth not at the sight of any: <sup>31</sup>A lusty grayhound, and a goate, and a King against whom there is no rising vp. <sup>32</sup>If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth. <sup>33</sup>When one churneth milke, he bringeth foorth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forceth wrath, bringeth foorth strife.

31THE WORDS OF KING LEMUEL: The prophecie which his mother taught him. <sup>2</sup>What my sonne! and what ye sonne of my wombe! and what, O some of my desires! <sup>3</sup>Giue not thy strength vnto women, nor thy wayes, which is to destroy Kings. <sup>4</sup>It is not for Kings, O Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drink wine nor for princes strog drinke, <sup>5</sup>Lest he drinke and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction. <sup>6</sup>Giue ye strong drinke vnto him that is readie to perish, and wine vnto them that haue grieffe of heart. <sup>7</sup>Let him drinke, that he may forget his pouertie, and remember his miserie no more. <sup>8</sup>Open thy mouth for the domme in the cause of all the children of destruction. <sup>9</sup>Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted, and the poore. <sup>10</sup>Who shall finde a vertuous woman? for her price is farre aboute the pearles. <sup>11</sup>The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no neede of spoyle. <sup>12</sup>She will doe him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life. <sup>13</sup>She seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her handes. <sup>14</sup>She is like the shippes of marchants: shee bringeth her foode from afarre. <sup>15</sup>And she riseth, whiles it is yet night: and giueth the portion to her houshold, and the ordinarie to her maides. <sup>16</sup>She considereth a field, and getteth it: and with the fruite of her handes she planteth a vineyarde. <sup>17</sup>She girdeth her loynes with strength, and strengtheneth her armes. <sup>18</sup>She feeleth that her marchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night. <sup>19</sup>She putteth her handes to the wherue, and her handes handle the spindle. <sup>20</sup>She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth foorth her hands to the needie. <sup>21</sup>She feareth not the snowe for her familie: for all her familie is clothed with skarlet. <sup>22</sup>She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple is her garment. <sup>23</sup>Her husband is knowen in the gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land. <sup>24</sup>She maketh sheetes, and selleth them, and giueth girdels vnto the marchant. <sup>25</sup>Strength and honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce. <sup>26</sup>She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the lawe of grace is in her tongue. <sup>27</sup>She ouerseeth the wayes of her housholde, and eateth not the bread of ydlenes. <sup>28</sup>Her children rise vp, and call her blessed: her husband also shall prayse her, saying, <sup>29</sup>Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all. <sup>30</sup>Fauour is deceitfull, and beautie is vanitie: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praysed. <sup>31</sup>Giue her of the fruite of her hands, and let her owne workes prayse her in the gates.

Ecclesiastes

1The wordes of the Preacher, the sonne of Daud King in Ierusalem. 2Vanitie of vanities, sayth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie. 3What remaineth vnto man in all his trauaile, which he suffereth vnder ye sunne? 4One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for euer. 5The sunne riseth, and ye sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place, where he riseth. 6The winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth towarde the North: the winde goeth rounde about, and returneth by his circuites. 7All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers goe vnto ye place, whence they returne, and goe. 8All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing. 9What is it that hath bene? that that shalbe: and what is it that hath bene done? that which shalbe done: and there is no newe thing vnder the sunne. 10Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe? it hath bene already in the olde time that was before vs. 11There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after. 12I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem: 13And I haue giuen mine heart to search and finde out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauaile hath GOD giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby) 14I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit. 15That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, cannot be nombred. 16I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge. 17And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdom and knowledge, madnes and foolishnes: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit. 18For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorowe.

2I said in mine heart, Goe to nowe, I will proue thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and beholde, this also is vanitie. 2I saide of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest? 3I sought in mine heart to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enioy vnder the sunne: the whole number of the dayes of their life. 4I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards. 5I haue made me gardens and orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite. 6I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that growe with trees. 7I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeuies and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem. 8I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, and the delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues. 9And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me. 10And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in al my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauaile. 11Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne. 12And I turned to beholde wisdom, and madnes and follie: (for who is the man that will come after the King in things, which men nowe haue done?) 13Then I saw that there is profite in wisdom, more then in follie: as the light is more excellent then darkenes. 14For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darknes: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all. 15Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to ye foole. Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I sayd in mine heart, that this also is vanitie. 16For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And howe dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole? 17Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grieuous vnto me: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit. 18I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shalbe after me. 19And who

knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie. <sup>20</sup>Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne. <sup>21</sup>For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisdom, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall he giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great grieve. <sup>22</sup>For what hath man of all his trauaile and grieve of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne? <sup>23</sup>For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauaile grieve: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie. <sup>24</sup>There is no profit to man: but that he eate, and drinke, and delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God. <sup>25</sup>For who could eate, and who could haste to outward things more then I? <sup>26</sup>Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

euery worke. <sup>18</sup>I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselues as beastes. <sup>19</sup>For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellency of man aboue ye beast: for all is vanitie. <sup>20</sup>All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust. <sup>21</sup>Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth? <sup>22</sup>Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man shoulde reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shalbe after him?

<sup>4</sup>So I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and beholde the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and lo, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore I prayed the dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet alie. <sup>3</sup>And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet bin: for he hath not seene the euill workes which are wrought vnder the sunne. <sup>4</sup>Also I beheld all trauaile, and all perfection of workes that this is ye enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit. <sup>5</sup>The foole foldeth his hands, and eateth vp his owne flesh. <sup>6</sup>Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfult with labour and vexation of spirit. <sup>7</sup>Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne. <sup>8</sup>There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doeth he thinke, For whome doe I trauaile and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile. <sup>9</sup>Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour. <sup>10</sup>For if they fal, the one wil lift vp his fellow: but wo vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp. <sup>11</sup>Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate? <sup>12</sup>And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefolde coard is not easily broken. <sup>13</sup>Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde and foolish King, which will no more be admonished. <sup>14</sup>For out of the prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore. <sup>15</sup>I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place. <sup>16</sup>There is none ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit. <sup>17</sup>Take heede to thy foote when thou entrest into the House of God, and be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of foolles: for they knowe not that they doe euil.

5 Be not rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe. 2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes. 3 When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast vowed. 4 It is better that thou shouldest not vowe, then that thou shouldest vow and not pay it. 5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to sinne: neither say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God bee angry by thy voyce, and destroy the worke of thine hands? 6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many wordes: but feare thou God. 7 If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for hee that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they. 8 And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King also consisteth by the field that is tilled. 9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loueth riches, shalbe without the fruite thereof: this also is vanitie. 10 When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes? 11 The sleepe of him that traueileth, is sweete, whether he eate litle or much: but the sacietie of the riche will not suffer him to sleepe. 12 There is an euill sickenes that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches reserued to the owners thereof for their euill. 13 And these riches perish by euill trauel, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing. 14 As hee came forth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath caused to passe by his hand. 15 And this also is an euill sickenes that in all pointes as he came, so shall he goe, and what profit hath he that he hath traueiled for the winde? 16 Also all his dayes hee eateth in darkenes with much grieffe, and in his sorowe and anger. 17 Beholde then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he traueileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion. 18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God. 19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

6 There is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men: 2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sicknesse. 3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruite is better then he. 4 For he commeth into vanitie and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall be couered with darkenesse. 5 Also he hath not seene ye sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other. 6 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twice tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place? 7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled. 8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing? 9 The sight of ye eye is better then to walke in ye lustes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit. 10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is nowe named: and it is knowen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is stronger then he.

7 Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaieth it man? 2 For who knoweth what is good for man in the life and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadowe? For who can shewe vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne? 3 A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne. 4 It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart. 5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better. 6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth. 7 Better it is to heare ye rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles. 8 For like ye noyse of the thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie. 9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man mad: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart. 10 The ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the pacient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit. 11 Be not thou of an hastie spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles. 12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing. 13 Wisedome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne. 14 For man shall rest in the shadowe of wisdomedome, and in the shadowe of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdomedome giueth life to the possessers thereof. 15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked? 16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man shoulde finde nothing after him. 17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice. 18 Be not thou iust ouermuch, neither make

<sup>19</sup>Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolish:
 wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time? <sup>20</sup>It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all. <sup>21</sup>Wisedome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in ye citie.
<sup>22</sup>Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not. <sup>23</sup>Giue not thine heart also to all ye wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee. <sup>24</sup>For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others. <sup>25</sup>All this haue I prooued by wisdom: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me. <sup>26</sup>It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it? <sup>27</sup>I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wisdom, and reason, and to knowe
 the wickednesse of follie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse, <sup>28</sup>And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes and snares, and her handes, as bands:
 he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her. <sup>29</sup>Beholde, sayth the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde
 the count: <sup>30</sup>And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not:
 I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde. <sup>31</sup>Onely loe, this haue I founde, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought
 many inuentions.

8Who is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shalbe changed.
<sup>2</sup>I aduertise thee to take heede to ye mouth of the King, and to the worde of the othe of God. <sup>3</sup>Haste not to goe forth of his sight: stand not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatsoever pleaseth him. <sup>4</sup>Where the word of ye King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou? <sup>5</sup>He that keepeth the commandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time and iudgement. <sup>6</sup>For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him. <sup>7</sup>For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tell him when it shalbe? <sup>8</sup>Man is not lorde ouer
 the spirit to retaine the spirite: neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessers thereof. <sup>9</sup>All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt. <sup>10</sup>And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie. <sup>11</sup>Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill. <sup>12</sup>Though a sinner doe euill an hun-dreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shalbe well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him. <sup>13</sup>But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God. <sup>14</sup>There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie. <sup>15</sup>And I prayed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne. <sup>16</sup>When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdom, and to behold the busines that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, <sup>17</sup>Then I behelde the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out ye worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

9I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth eyther loue or hatred of all that is before them. <sup>2</sup>All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not:
 as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe. <sup>3</sup>This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sommes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their heartes whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead. <sup>4</sup>Surely whosoever is ioyned to all ye liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon. <sup>5</sup>For the liuing knowe that they shall dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten. <sup>6</sup>Also their loue, and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne. <sup>7</sup>Goe, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God nowe accepteth thy workes. <sup>8</sup>At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head. <sup>9</sup>Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou labourest vnder the sunne. <sup>10</sup>All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuen-tion, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whither thou goest. <sup>11</sup>I returned, and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance commeth to them all. <sup>12</sup>For neither doth man knowe his time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly. <sup>13</sup>I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me. <sup>14</sup>A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded fortes against it. <sup>15</sup>And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the citie by his wisdom: but none remembred this poore man. <sup>16</sup>Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard. <sup>17</sup>The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles. <sup>18</sup>Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

to all. <sup>20</sup>Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

11Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many daies thou shalt finde it. <sup>2</sup>Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shalbe vpon ye earth. <sup>3</sup>If the clouds be full, they wil powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shalbe. <sup>4</sup>He that obserueth ye winde, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape. <sup>5</sup>As thou knowest not which is ye way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all. <sup>6</sup>In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shalbe a like good. <sup>7</sup>Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne. <sup>8</sup>Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet hee shall remember the daies of darkenesse, because they are manie, all that commeth is vanitie. <sup>9</sup>Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God wil bring thee to iudgement. <sup>10</sup>Therefore take away grieffe out of thine heart, and cause euil to depart from thy flesh: for childehood and youth are vanitie.

pared many parables. <sup>10</sup>The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vpright writing, euen the wordes of trueth. <sup>11</sup>The wordes of the wise are like goads, and like nailes fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one pastour. <sup>12</sup>And of other things beside these, my sone, take thou heede: for there is none ende in making many bookes, and much reading is a wearines of the flesh. <sup>13</sup>Let vs heare the end of all: feare God and keepe his commandements: for this is the whole duetie of man. <sup>14</sup>For God will bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

Song of Solomon

1An excellent song which was Salomons. 2Let him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine. 3Because of the sauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment poured out: therefore the virgins loue thee. 4Drawe me: we will runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his chabers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous do loue thee. 5I am blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tentes of Kedar, and as the curtaines of Salomon. 6Regard ye me not because I am blacke: for the sunne hath looked vpon mee. The sonnes of my mother were angry against mee: they made me the keeper of ye vines: but I kept not mine owne vine. 7Shewe me, O thou, whome my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flockes of thy companions? 8If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee fourth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepherds. 9I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the charets of Pharaoh. 10Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines. 11We will make thee borders of golde with studdes of siluer. 12Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof. 13My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my breasts. 14My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi. 15My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues. 16My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is greene: 17The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

2I am the rose of the felde, and the lillie of the valleys. 2Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters. 3Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruite was sweete vnto my mouth. 4Hee brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me. 5Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue. 6His left hande is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth imbrace me. 7I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the felde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please. 8It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, hee commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles. 9My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: loe, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing him selfe through the grates. 10My welbeloued spake and said vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way. 11For beholde, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away. 12The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land. 13The figtree hath brought fourth her yong figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away. 14My doue, that art in the holes of ye rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewe mee thy sight, let mee heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely. 15Take vs the foxes, the little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes. 16My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: hee feedeth among the lilies, 17Vntil the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

3In my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not. 2I will rise therefore nowe, and goe about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, and wil seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not. 3The watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: to whome I said, Haue you seene him, whome my soule loueth? 4When I had past a litle from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me. 5I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the felde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please. 6Who is shee that commeth vp out of the wildernes like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the marchant? 7Beholde his bed, which is Salomons: threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel. 8They all handle the sworde, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night. <sup>9</sup>King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon. <sup>10</sup>Hee made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem. <sup>11</sup>Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, and behold the King Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in ye day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

dewe, and my lockes with the droppes of the night. <sup>3</sup>I haue put off my coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, howe shall I defile them? <sup>4</sup>My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him. <sup>5</sup>I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handels of the barre. <sup>6</sup>I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I coulde not finde him: I called him, but hee answered mee not. <sup>7</sup>The watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: they smote me and wounded me: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from me. <sup>8</sup>I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue. <sup>9</sup>O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another loue, that thou doest so charge vs? <sup>10</sup>My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand. <sup>11</sup>His head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen. <sup>12</sup>His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels. <sup>13</sup>His cheekes are as a bedde of spices, and as sweete flowres, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe. <sup>14</sup>His hands as rings of gold set with the chrysolite, his belly like white yuorie couered with saphirs. <sup>15</sup>His legges are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars. <sup>16</sup>His mouth is as sweete thinges, and hee is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my loue, O daughters of Ierusalem. <sup>17</sup>O the fairest among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

<sup>6</sup>My welbeloued is gone downe into his garden to the beds of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies. <sup>2</sup>I am my welbeloued, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies. <sup>3</sup>Thou art beautifull, my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Ierusalem, terrible as an army with baners. <sup>4</sup>Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: thine heare is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead. <sup>5</sup>Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them. <sup>6</sup>Thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate. <sup>7</sup>There are threescore Queenes and fourescore concubines and of the damsels without nober. <sup>8</sup>But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praised her. <sup>9</sup>Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning, fayre as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners! <sup>10</sup>I went downe to the garden of nuttes, to see the fruites of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished. <sup>11</sup>I knewe nothing, my soule set me as the charets of my noble people. <sup>12</sup>Returne, returne, O Shulamite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

7Howe beautifull are thy goings with shooes, O princes daughter! the ioynts of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hande of a cunning workeman. <sup>2</sup>Thy nauel is as a round cuppe that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with lilies. <sup>3</sup>Thy two breastes are as two young roes that are twinnes. <sup>4</sup>Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like the fishe pooles in Heshbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus. <sup>5</sup>Thine head vpon thee is as skarlet, and the bush of thine head like purple: the King is tyed in the rafters. <sup>6</sup>Howe faire art thou, and howe pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasures! <sup>7</sup>This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy brestes like clusters. <sup>8</sup>I saide, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take holde of her boughes: thy breastes shall nowe be like the clusters of the vine: and the sauour of thy nose like apples, <sup>9</sup>And the roufe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, and causeth the lippes of the ancient to speake. <sup>10</sup>I am my welbeloueds, and his desire is toward mee. <sup>11</sup>Come, my welbeloued, let vs go foorth into the felde: let vs remaine in the villages. <sup>12</sup>Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs see if the vine florish, whether it hath budded the small grape, or whether the pomegranates florish: there will I giue thee my loue. <sup>13</sup>The mandrakes haue giuen a smell, and in our gates are all sweete things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

8Oh that thou werest as my brother that sucked the brestes of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kisse thee, then they should not despise thee. <sup>2</sup>I will leade thee and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teache me: and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and newe wine of the pomegranate. <sup>3</sup>His left hand shalbe vnder mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me. <sup>4</sup>I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you stir not vp, nor waken my loue, vntil she please. <sup>5</sup>(Who is this that commeth vp out of the wilderness, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I raysed thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceiued thee: there she coceiued that bare thee. <sup>6</sup>Set mee as a seale on thine heart, and as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruel as the graue: the coles thereof are fierie coles, and a vehement flame. <sup>7</sup>Much water can not quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: If a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it. <sup>8</sup>Wee haue a litle sister, and she hath no breastes: what shall we do for our sister when she shalbe spoken for? <sup>9</sup>If shee be a wall, we will builde vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, we wil keepe her in with bordes of cedar. <sup>10</sup>I am a wall, and my breasts are as towres: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace. <sup>11</sup>Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue the vineyarde vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for ye fruite thereof a thousand pieces of siluer. <sup>12</sup>But my vineyarde which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon appertaineth a thousand pieces of siluer, and two hundreth to them that keepe the fruite thereof. <sup>13</sup>O thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it. <sup>14</sup>O my welbeloued, flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong harte vpon ye mountaines of spices.

Isaiah

1A vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he sawe concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the dayes of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah. 2Heare, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath sayde, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me. 3The oxe knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib: but Israel hath not knowen: my people hath not vnderstand. 4Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backwarde. 5Wherefore shoulde ye be smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie. 6From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle. 7Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers deuoure your lande in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrowe of strangers. 8And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyarde, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie. 9Except the Lord of hostes had reserued vnto vs, euen a small remnant: we should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorah. 10Heare the worde of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah. 11What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, sayth the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goates. 12When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts? 13Bring no more oblations, in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I can not suffer your newe moones, nor Sabbaths, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies. 14My soule hateth your newe moones and your appointed feastes: they are a burden vnto me: I am weary to beare them. 15And when you shall stretch out your hands, I wil hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make many prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood. 16Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill. 17Learne to doe well:

seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse and defend the widowe. 18Come now, and let vs reason together, sayth the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimson, they shalbe made white as snowe: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as wooll. 19If ye consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land. 20But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. 21Howe is the faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murtherers. 22Thy siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water. 23Thy Princes are rebellious and companions of theeues: euery one loueth giftes, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them. 24Therefore sayth the Lord God of hostes, the mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies. 25Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it be pure, and take away all thy tinne. 26And I will restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, and a faithfull citie. 27Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice. 28And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners shalbe together: and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed. 29For they shalbe confounded for the okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shall be ashamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen. 30For ye shalbe as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water. 31And the strong shall be as towe, and the maker thereof, as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

2The worde that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem. 2It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and all nations shall flowe vnto it. 3And many people shall go, and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iacob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Lawe shall go forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem, 4And he shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into siethes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more. <sup>5</sup>O house of Iaakob, come ye, and let vs walke in the Lawe of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, and abound with strange children. <sup>7</sup>Their land also was full of siluer and golde, and there was none ende of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charets were infinite. <sup>8</sup>Their land also was full of idols: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, which their owne fingers haue made. <sup>9</sup>And a man bowed himselfe, and a man humbled himselfe: therefore spare them not. <sup>10</sup>Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie. <sup>11</sup>The hie looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in that day. <sup>12</sup>For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shalbe made lowe. <sup>13</sup>Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan, <sup>14</sup>And vpon all the hie mountaines, and vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp, <sup>15</sup>And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall, <sup>16</sup>And vpon all the shippes of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures. <sup>17</sup>And the hautinesse of men shalbe brought low, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day. <sup>18</sup>And the idoles will he vtterly destroy. <sup>19</sup>Then they shall goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth. <sup>20</sup>At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) to the mowles and to the backes, <sup>21</sup>To goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth. <sup>22</sup>Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

3For lo, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay and the strength: euen all the staye of bread, and all the stay of water, <sup>2</sup>The strong man, and the man of warre, the iudge and the prophet, the prudent and the aged, <sup>3</sup>The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man. <sup>4</sup>And I will appoint children to bee their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them. <sup>5</sup>The people shalbe oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable. <sup>6</sup>When euery one shall take holde of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt bee our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand. <sup>7</sup>In that day hee shall sweare, saying, I cannot bee an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people. <sup>8</sup>Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory. <sup>9</sup>The triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes as Sodom, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euil vnto themselues. <sup>10</sup>Say ye, Surely it shalbe well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes. <sup>11</sup>Woe be to the wicked, it shalbe euill with him: for the reward of his handes shalbe giuen him. <sup>12</sup>Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths. <sup>13</sup>The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people. <sup>14</sup>The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyarde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses. <sup>15</sup>What haue ye to do, that ye beate my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hoasts? <sup>16</sup>The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and mising as they goe, and making a tinkeling with their feete, <sup>17</sup>Therefore shall the Lord make the heades of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secrete partes. <sup>18</sup>In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tyres, <sup>19</sup>The sweete balles, and the brasselets, and the bonnets, <sup>20</sup>The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the head bandes, and the tablets, and the earrings, <sup>21</sup>The rings and the mufflers, <sup>22</sup>The costly apparell and the vailles, and the wimples, and the crissing pinnes, <sup>23</sup>And the glasses and the fine linen, and the hoodes, and the launes. <sup>24</sup>And in steade of sweete sauour, there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in steade of dressing of the heare, baldnesse, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in steade of beautie. <sup>25</sup>Thy men shall fall by the sworde, and thy strength in the battell. <sup>26</sup>Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

4And in that day shall seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we wil weare our owne garments: onely let vs bee called by thy name, and take away our reproche. <sup>2</sup>In that day shall the budde of the Lord bee beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel. <sup>3</sup>Then hee that shalbe left in Zion, and hee that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shalbe called holy, and euery one shalbe written among the liuing in Ierusalem, <sup>4</sup>When the Lord shall wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, and purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the middes thereof by the spirite of iudgement, and by the spirit of burning. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glory shall be a defence. <sup>6</sup>And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme and for the raine.

tified in iustice. <sup>17</sup>Then shall the lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat. <sup>18</sup>Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes: <sup>19</sup>Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may knowe it. <sup>20</sup>Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre. <sup>21</sup>Woe vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight. <sup>22</sup>Wo vnto them that are mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke: <sup>23</sup>Which iustifie the wicked for a rewarde, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him. <sup>24</sup>Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is cosumed of the flame: so their roote shalbe as rottenesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel. <sup>25</sup>Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee hath stretched out his hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkases were torne in the middes of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hande was stretched out still. <sup>26</sup>And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations a farre, and wil hisse vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speede. <sup>27</sup>None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken: <sup>28</sup>Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hoofes shall be thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlwinde. <sup>29</sup>His roaring shalbe like a lyon, and he shall roare like lyons whelpes: they shall roare, and lay holde of the praye: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it. <sup>30</sup>And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, beholde darkenesse, and sorowe, and the light shalbe darkened in their skie.

<sup>6</sup>In the yeere of the death of King Vziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower partes thereof filled the Temple. <sup>2</sup>The Seraphims stode vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his face, and with twaine hee couered his feete, and with twaine he did flie. <sup>3</sup>And one cryed to another, and sayde, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory. <sup>4</sup>And the lintles of the doore cheekes moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke. <sup>5</sup>Then I sayd, Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes. <sup>6</sup>Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the altar with the tongs: <sup>7</sup>And he touched my mouth, and sayd, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall be taken away, and thy sinne shalbe purged. <sup>8</sup>Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send me. <sup>9</sup>And he sayd, Goe, and say vnto this people, Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainely see, and not perceiue. <sup>10</sup>Make the heart of this people fatte, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them. <sup>11</sup>Then sayd I, Lord, howe long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, <sup>12</sup>And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land. <sup>13</sup>But yet in it shalbe a tenth, and shall returne, and shalbe eaten vp as an elme or an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

<sup>7</sup>And in the dayes of Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vziah king of Iudah, Rezin the King of Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it. <sup>2</sup>And it was tolde the house of Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde. <sup>3</sup>Then sayde the Lord vnto Isaiah, Goe fourth nowe to meete Ahaz (thou and Sheariashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field, <sup>4</sup>And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailles of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne: <sup>5</sup>Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying, <sup>6</sup>Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a King in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of Tabeal. <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be. <sup>8</sup>For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and threescore yeere, Ephraim shalbe destroyed from being a people. <sup>9</sup>And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shall not be established. <sup>10</sup>And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying, <sup>11</sup>Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath or in the height aboue. <sup>12</sup>But Ahaz sayd, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Then he sayd, Heare you nowe, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieue men, that ye will also grieue my God? <sup>14</sup>Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name Immanu-el. <sup>15</sup>Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good. <sup>16</sup>For afore the childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of both her Kings. <sup>17</sup>The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of Asshur. <sup>18</sup>And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the lande of Asshur, <sup>19</sup>And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thorny places, and vpon all bushy places. <sup>20</sup>In that day shall the Lord shaue with a razor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, the head and the heare of the feete, and it shall consume the beard. <sup>21</sup>And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe. <sup>22</sup>And for the abundance of milke, that they shall giue, hee shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land. <sup>23</sup>And at the same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shalbe at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shalbe for the briers and for the thornes. <sup>24</sup>With arrowes and with bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes. <sup>25</sup>But on all the mountaines, which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shalbe for the sending out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

<sup>8</sup>Moreover, the Lord sayd vnto me, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a mans penne, Make speede to the spoyle: haste to the praye. <sup>2</sup>Then I tooke vnto me faithfull witnesses to recorde, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah. <sup>3</sup>After, I came vnto the Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to me, Call his name, Mahershalalhash-baz. <sup>4</sup>For before the childe shall haue knowledge to crye, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the King of Asshur. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying, <sup>6</sup>Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah, <sup>7</sup>Nowe therefore, beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their banks, <sup>8</sup>And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanu-el. <sup>9</sup>Gather together on heapes, O ye people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces. <sup>10</sup>Take coun-

sell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs. <sup>11</sup>For the Lord spake thus to me in taking of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, <sup>12</sup>Say ye not, A confederacie to all them, to whome this people sayth a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor be afrayd of them. <sup>13</sup>Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, <sup>14</sup>And he shalbe as a Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>15</sup>And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall and shalbe broken and shalbe snared and shalbe taken. <sup>16</sup>Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples. <sup>17</sup>Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I wil looke for him. <sup>18</sup>Beholde, I and the children whome the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion. <sup>19</sup>And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, Should not a people enquire at their God? from the liuing to the dead? <sup>20</sup>To the Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde: it is because there is no light in them. <sup>21</sup>Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and from in it: and when he shalbe hungry, he shall euen freat himselfe, and curse his King and his gods, and shall looke vpward. <sup>22</sup>And when he shall looke to the earth, beholde trouble, and darkenes, vexation and anguish, and he is driuen to darkenes.

9Yet the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction that it had when at the first hee touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when he was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galile of the Gentiles. <sup>2</sup>The people that walked in darkenes haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadowe of death, vpon them hath the light shined. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioye: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioye in haruest, and as men reioyce when they deuide a spoyle. <sup>4</sup>For the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian. <sup>5</sup>Surely euery battell of the warriour is with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire. <sup>6</sup>For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his name Wonderfull, Counsellor, The mightie God, The euerlasting Father, The prince of peace, <sup>7</sup>The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from hencefoorth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this. <sup>8</sup>The Lord hath sent a worde into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel. <sup>9</sup>And all the people shall knowe, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart, <sup>10</sup>The bricke are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into ceders. <sup>11</sup>Neuerthesse the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and ioyned his enemies together. <sup>12</sup>Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. <sup>13</sup>For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes. <sup>14</sup>Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branche and rush in one day. <sup>15</sup>The ancient and the honorable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile. <sup>16</sup>For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured. <sup>17</sup>Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh follie: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out stil. <sup>18</sup>For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars and the thornes and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke. <sup>19</sup>By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of ye fire: no man shall spare his brother. <sup>20</sup>And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungrie: and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate ye flesh of his owne arme. <sup>21</sup>Manasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

10Woe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grieuous things, <sup>2</sup>To keepe backe ye poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse. <sup>3</sup>What will ye doe nowe in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your glorie? <sup>4</sup>Without me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slayne: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. <sup>5</sup>O Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation. <sup>6</sup>I will sende him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to treade them vnder feete like the mire in the streete. <sup>7</sup>But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations. <sup>8</sup>For he sayeth, Are not my princes altogether Kings? <sup>9</sup>Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus? <sup>10</sup>Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria: <sup>11</sup>Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof? <sup>12</sup>But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruite of the proude heart of the King of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes, <sup>13</sup>Because he said, By ye power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man. <sup>14</sup>And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper. <sup>15</sup>Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod shoulde lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood. <sup>16</sup>Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send among his fat men, leannes, and vnder his glorie he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire. <sup>17</sup>And the light of Israel shalbe as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briers in one day: <sup>18</sup>And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fieldes both soule and flesh: and he shalbe as ye fainting of a standard bearer. <sup>19</sup>And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tell them. <sup>20</sup>And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon ye Lord, ye Holy one of Israel in trueth. <sup>21</sup>The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God. <sup>22</sup>For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnesse. <sup>23</sup>For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen determined, in the middes of all the land. <sup>24</sup>Therefore thus saith ye Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of Egypt: <sup>25</sup>But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction. <sup>26</sup>And ye Lord of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt. <sup>27</sup>And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed because of the anoynting. <sup>28</sup>He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour. <sup>29</sup>They

haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraide: Gibeah of Saul is fled away. <sup>30</sup>Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth. <sup>31</sup>Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together. <sup>32</sup>Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand towarde the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem. <sup>33</sup>Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the hie shalbe humbled. <sup>34</sup>And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

11But there shall come a rodde forth of the stocke of Ishai, and a grasse shall growe out of his rootes. <sup>2</sup>And the Spirite of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirite of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirite of counsell and strength, the Spirite of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord, <sup>3</sup>And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eies, neither reprove by ye hearing of his eares. <sup>4</sup>But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reprove for the meeke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked. <sup>5</sup>And iustice shall be ye girdle of his loynes, and faithfulness the girdle of his reines. <sup>6</sup>The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shall leade them. <sup>7</sup>And the kow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lie together: and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke. <sup>8</sup>And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole. <sup>9</sup>Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holines: for the earth shalbe full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea. <sup>10</sup>And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious. <sup>11</sup>And in the same day shall the Lord stretche out his hand againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea. <sup>12</sup>And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the worlde. <sup>13</sup>The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shalbe cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah vexe Ephraim: <sup>14</sup>But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience. <sup>15</sup>The Lord also shall vtterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie winde shall lift vp his hand ouer the riuier, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes. <sup>16</sup>And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

12And thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will prayse thee: though thou wast angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, God is my saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for ye Lord God is my strength and song: he also is become my saluation. <sup>3</sup>Therefore with ioy shall ye drawe waters out of the welles of saluation. <sup>4</sup>And ye shall say in that day, Prayse the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted. <sup>5</sup>Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the worlde. <sup>6</sup>Cry out, and shoute, O inhabitant of Zion: for great is ye holy one of Israel in the middes of thee.

and flee eche one to his owne lande. <sup>15</sup>Euery one that is founde, shall be striken through: and whosoouer ioyneth himselfe, shall fal by the sworde. <sup>16</sup>Their children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wiues rauished. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regarde siluer, nor be desirous of golde. <sup>18</sup>With bowes also shall they destroy ye children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eies shall not spare the children. <sup>19</sup>And Babel the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shall be as the destruction of God in Sodom and Gomorah. <sup>20</sup>It shall not bee inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepherdes make their foldes there. <sup>21</sup>But Ziim shall lodge there, and their houses shall be ful of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwel there, and the Satyrs shall dance there. <sup>22</sup>And Iim shall crie in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is readie to come, and the daies thereof shall not be prolonged.

14For the Lord wil haue compassion of Iaakob, and wil yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne lande: and the stranger shall ioyne him selfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob. <sup>2</sup>And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruants and handmaids: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours. <sup>3</sup>And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bodage, wherein thou didest serue, <sup>4</sup>Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, Howe hath the oppressor ceased? and the gold thirsty Babel rested? <sup>5</sup>The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers: <sup>6</sup>Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let. <sup>7</sup>The whole worlde is at rest and is quiet: they sing for ioye. <sup>8</sup>Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs. <sup>9</sup>Hel beneath is mooued for thee to meete thee at thy comming, raising vp the deade for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kinges of the nations. <sup>10</sup>All they shall crie, and saie vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs? <sup>11</sup>Thy pompe is brought downe to ye graue, and the sounde of thy violes: the worme is spred vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee. <sup>12</sup>How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cutte downe to the grounde, which didest cast lottes vpon the nations? <sup>13</sup>Yet thou saidest in thine heart, I will ascende into heauen, and exalt my throne

about beside the starres of God: I will sitte also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North. <sup>14</sup>I wil ascend aboute ye height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most high. <sup>15</sup>But thou shalt bee brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit. <sup>16</sup>They that see thee, shall looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes? <sup>17</sup>He made the worlde as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners. <sup>18</sup>All the Kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glorie, euery one in his owne house. <sup>19</sup>But thou art cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorowe with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete. <sup>20</sup>Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne lande, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renoumed for euer. <sup>21</sup>Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fil the face of the world with enemies. <sup>22</sup>For I wil rise vp against them (sayth the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephew, sayth the Lord: <sup>23</sup>And I wil make it a possession to ye hedgehogge, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>24</sup>The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand: <sup>25</sup>That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I treade him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder. <sup>26</sup>This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hande stretched out ouer all the nations, <sup>27</sup>Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hande is stretched out, and who shall turne it away? <sup>28</sup>In the yeere that King Ahaz died, was this burden. <sup>29</sup>Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beat thee, is broken for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit therof shalbe a firy flying serpent. <sup>30</sup>For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needie shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant. <sup>31</sup>Howle, O gate, crie, O citie: thou whole lande of Palestina art dissolved, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shalbe alone, at his time appointed. <sup>32</sup>What shall then one answere the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

15The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silece in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night. <sup>2</sup>He shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heades shalbe baldnesse, and euery beard shauen. <sup>3</sup>In their streetes shall they bee gilded with sackcloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping. <sup>4</sup>And Heshbon shall crie, and Elealeh: their voyce shall bee heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriers of Moab shall showt: the soule of euery one shall lament in him selfe. <sup>5</sup>Mine heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, an heiffer of three yere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crie of destruction. <sup>6</sup>For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe. <sup>7</sup>Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes. <sup>8</sup>For the crie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elim, <sup>9</sup>Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lyons vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

16Send yee a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion. <sup>2</sup>For it shall be as a birde that flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the foordes of Arnon. <sup>3</sup>Gather a counsel, execute iudgement: make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled. <sup>4</sup>Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall ende: the destroyer shalbe consumed, and the oppressour shall cease out of the land. <sup>5</sup>And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, and hee shall sit vpon it in steadfastnesse, in the tabernacle of Daud, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hasting iustice. <sup>6</sup>We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so. <sup>7</sup>Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for the foundations of Kirhareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shalbe striken. <sup>8</sup>For ye vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof: they are come vnto Iaazer: they wandred in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretched out them selues, and went ouer the sea. <sup>9</sup>Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer fruits, and vpon thy haruest a showting is fallen. <sup>10</sup>And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifulle field: and in the vineyardes shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore, my bowels shall sounde like an harpe

for Moab, and mine inwarde partes for Ker-haresh. <sup>12</sup>And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his hie places, then shall hee come to his temple to praie, but he shall not preuaile. <sup>13</sup>This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time. <sup>14</sup>And nowe the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeres, as the yeeres of a hireling, and the glorie of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shalbe very small and feeble.

17The burden of Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape. <sup>2</sup>The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flockes: for they shall lye there, and none shall make them afraide. <sup>3</sup>The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glory of the children of Israel, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>4</sup>And in that day the glorie of Iaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shalbe made leane. <sup>5</sup>And it shalbe as when the haruest man gathereth the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim. <sup>6</sup>Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an oliue tree, two or three beries are in the top of the vpmost boughes, and foure or fiue in the hie branches of the fruite thereof, sayeth the Lord God of Israel. <sup>7</sup>At that day shall a man looke to his maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel. <sup>8</sup>And hee shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall he looke to those thinges, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images. <sup>9</sup>In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation. <sup>10</sup>Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plantes, and shalt graffe strange vine branches: <sup>11</sup>In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to florish: but the haruest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shalbe desperate sorrowe. <sup>12</sup>Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters. <sup>13</sup>The people shall make a sounde like the noise of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlwinde. <sup>14</sup>And loe, in the euening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

Sea, euen in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying, Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by litle and litle, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoyled. <sup>3</sup>Al ye the inhabitants of ye world and dwellers in the earth, shall see when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall heare. <sup>4</sup>For so the Lord saide vnto me, I will rest and beholde in my tabernacle, as the heate drying vp the rayne, and as a cloude of dewe in the heate of haruest. <sup>5</sup>For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes: <sup>6</sup>They shall be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beastes of the earth: for the foule shall sommer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it. <sup>7</sup>At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

19The burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her. <sup>2</sup>And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome. <sup>3</sup>And the spirite of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the southsayers. <sup>4</sup>And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of the cruell Lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, sayth the Lord God of hostes. <sup>5</sup>Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuers shall be dried vp, and wasted. <sup>6</sup>And the riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe. <sup>7</sup>The grasse in the riuier, and at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuier, shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more. <sup>8</sup>The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuier, shall lament, and they that spread their nettes vpon the waters, shall be weakened. <sup>9</sup>Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nettes. <sup>10</sup>For their nettes shalbe broken, and all they, that make pondes, shalbe heauie in heart. <sup>11</sup>Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counselors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings? <sup>12</sup>Where are nowe thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt? <sup>13</sup>The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the corners of the tribes thereof. <sup>14</sup>The Lord hath mingled among them the spirite of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite. <sup>15</sup>Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the tayle, ye branch nor the rush. <sup>16</sup>In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraide and feare because of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it. <sup>17</sup>And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraid thereat, because of ye counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it. <sup>18</sup>In that day shall fiue cities in the lande of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, and shall sweare by the Lord of hostes. one shall be called the cite of destruction. <sup>19</sup>In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And it shall be for a signe and for a witnes vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliuer them. <sup>21</sup>And the Lord shall be knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them. <sup>22</sup>So ye Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto ye Lord, and he shall be intreated of them and shall heale them. <sup>23</sup>In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur. <sup>24</sup>In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land. <sup>25</sup>For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

20In the yeere that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon King of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it, <sup>2</sup>At the same time spake the Lord by ye hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loose the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote. <sup>3</sup>And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia, <sup>4</sup>So shall the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt. <sup>5</sup>And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory. <sup>6</sup>Then shall the inhabitant of this yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither we fledde for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Asshur, and howe shall we be deliuered?

21The burden of the desert Sea. As the whirlwindes in the South vse to passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land. <sup>2</sup>A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease. <sup>3</sup>Therefore are my loynes filled with sorow: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauallyeth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amased when I sawe it. <sup>4</sup>Mine heart failed: fearefulness troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me. <sup>5</sup>Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: arise, ye princes, anoynt the shilde. <sup>6</sup>For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth. <sup>7</sup>And he sawe a charet with two horsemen: a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camel: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede. <sup>8</sup>And he cryed, A lyon: my lorde, I stand continually vpon ye watche towre in the day time, and I am set in my watche euery night: <sup>9</sup>And beholde, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground. <sup>10</sup>O my threshing, and the corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you. <sup>11</sup>The burden of Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in ye night? Watchman, what was in the night? <sup>12</sup>The watchman saide, The morning commeth, and also the night. If yee will aske, enquire: returne and come. <sup>13</sup>The burden against Arabia. In the forest of Arabia shall yee tarie all night, euen in the waies of Dedanim. <sup>14</sup>O inhabitants of the lande of Tema, bring foorth water to meete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread. <sup>15</sup>For they flee from the drawen swords, euen from the drawen sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grieuousnesse of warre. <sup>16</sup>For thus hath the Lord sayd vnto me, Yet a yeere according to the yeeres of an hireling, and all the glorie of Kedar shall faile. <sup>17</sup>And the residue of the number of ye strong archers of the sonnes of Kedar shall be fewe: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a crying vnto the mountaines. <sup>6</sup>And Elam bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield. <sup>7</sup>And thy chiefe valleis were full of charrets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate. <sup>8</sup>And hee discovered the couering of Iudah: and thou didest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest. <sup>9</sup>And ye haue seene the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole. <sup>10</sup>And yee nombred the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall, <sup>11</sup>And haue also made a ditche betweene the two walles, for the waters of the olde poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde. <sup>12</sup>And in that day did the Lord God of hosts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes and girding with sackcloth. <sup>13</sup>And beholde, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morowe we shall die. <sup>14</sup>And it was declared in ye eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, til ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes. <sup>15</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, Goe, get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, <sup>16</sup>What haste thou to doe here? and whome hast thou here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitation for him selfe in a rocke? <sup>17</sup>Beholde, the Lord wil carie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee. <sup>18</sup>He wil surely rolle and turne thee like a bal in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charrets of thy glory shalbe the shame of thy lordes house. <sup>19</sup>And I wil driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee. <sup>20</sup>And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, <sup>21</sup>And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hande, and hee shalbe a father of the inhabitats of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah. <sup>22</sup>And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open. <sup>23</sup>And I will fasten him as a naile in a sure place, and hee shall be for the throne of glorie to his fathers house. <sup>24</sup>And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie all small vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musike. <sup>25</sup>In that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes, shall the naile, that is fastned in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden, that was vpon it, shall bee cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

23The burden of Tyrus. Howle, yee shippes of Tarshish: for it is destroyed, so that there is none house: none shall come from the lande of Chittim: it is reueiled vnto them.

<sup>2</sup>Be still, yee that dwell in the yles: the marchantes of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee. <sup>3</sup>The seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the haruest of the riuier was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations. <sup>4</sup>Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not trauailed, nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins. <sup>5</sup>When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be sorie, concerning the rumour of Tyrus. <sup>6</sup>Goe you ouer to Tarshish: howle, yee that dwell in the yles. <sup>7</sup>Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient daies: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a sojourner. <sup>8</sup>Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that crowneth men) whose marchantes are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the worlde? <sup>9</sup>The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth. <sup>10</sup>Passe through thy lande like a flood to the daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength. <sup>11</sup>He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroy the power thereof. <sup>12</sup>And he saide, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: O virgin daughter of Zidon: rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest. <sup>13</sup>Behold the lande of the Caldeans: this was no people: Asshur founded it by the inhabitantes of the wilderness: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof and hee brought it to ruine. <sup>14</sup>Howle yee shippes of Tarshish, for your strength is destroyed. <sup>15</sup>And in that day shall Tyrus bee forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one King) at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus sing as an harlot. <sup>16</sup>Take an harpe and go about the citie: (thou harlot thou hast beene forgotten) make sweete melodie, sing moe songes that thou maiest be remembered. <sup>17</sup>And at the ende of seuentie yeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world. <sup>18</sup>Yet her occupying and her wages shall bee holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be laied vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shalbe for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

the inhabitantes thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant. <sup>6</sup>Therefore hath the curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitantes thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are burned vp, and fewe men are left. <sup>7</sup>The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merie heart, doe mourne. <sup>8</sup>The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioye of the harpe ceaseth. <sup>9</sup>They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it. <sup>10</sup>The citie of vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in. <sup>11</sup>There is a crying for wine in the streetes: al ioy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away. <sup>12</sup>In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction. <sup>13</sup>Surely thus shall it bee in the middes of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended. <sup>14</sup>They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea. <sup>15</sup>Wherefore praise yee the Lord in the valleis, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea. <sup>16</sup>From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard praises, euen glory to the iust, and I sayd, My leanesse, my leanesse, woe is mee: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grievously offended. <sup>17</sup>Feare, and the pitte, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth. <sup>18</sup>And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake. <sup>19</sup>The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is mooued exceedingly. <sup>20</sup>The earth shall reele to and from like a drunken man, and shall be remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more. <sup>21</sup>And in that day shall the Lord visite the hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the Kinges of the world that are vpon the earth. <sup>22</sup>And they shall be gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many daies shall they be visited. <sup>23</sup>Then the moone shall be abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shalbe before his ancient men.

25O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will prayse thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable trueth. <sup>2</sup>For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built. <sup>3</sup>Therefore shall the mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee. <sup>4</sup>For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blaste of the mightie is like a storme against the wall. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heate in a drie place: he wil bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heate in the shadowe of a cloude. <sup>6</sup>And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat thinges, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat thinges full of marow, of wines fined and purified. <sup>7</sup>And he will destroy in this mountaine the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations. <sup>8</sup>He wil destroy death for euer: and the Lord God wil wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>9</sup>And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation. <sup>10</sup>For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is thressed in Madmenah. <sup>11</sup>And he shall stretche out his hande in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his handes shall he bring downe their pride. <sup>12</sup>The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay lowe, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

26In that day shall this song be sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes. <sup>2</sup>Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in. <sup>3</sup>By an assured purpose wilt thou preserue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee. <sup>4</sup>Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore. <sup>5</sup>For hee will bring downe them that dwell on hie: the hie citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground wil he cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust. <sup>6</sup>The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the poore, and the steppes of the needie. <sup>7</sup>The way of the iust is righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust. <sup>8</sup>Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgemets: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee. <sup>9</sup>With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousnesse. <sup>10</sup>Let mercie bee shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnesse will he do wickedly, and will not beholde the maiestie of the Lord. <sup>11</sup>O Lord, they will not beholde thine hie hande: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them. <sup>12</sup>Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs. <sup>13</sup>O Lord our God, other lords beside thee, haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name. <sup>14</sup>The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie. <sup>15</sup>Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth. <sup>16</sup>Lord, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them. <sup>17</sup>Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord. <sup>18</sup>We haue coceiued, we haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall. <sup>19</sup>Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwel in dust: for thy dewe is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead. <sup>20</sup>Come, my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer. <sup>21</sup>For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

27In that day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea. <sup>2</sup>In that daye sing of the vineyarde of redde wine. <sup>3</sup>I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day. <sup>4</sup>Anger is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battel? I would go through them, I would burne them together. <sup>5</sup>Or will he feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with me? <sup>6</sup>Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall florish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruite. <sup>7</sup>Hath hee smitten him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him? <sup>8</sup>In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contende with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde. <sup>9</sup>By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: whe he shall make all the stonnes of the altars, as chalke stonnes broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp. <sup>10</sup>Yet the defenced citie shalbe desolate, and the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof. <sup>11</sup>When the boughes of it are drie, they shalbe broken: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstading: therefore hee that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them. <sup>12</sup>And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel. <sup>13</sup>In that day also shall the great trumpet be blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the lande of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

28Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are ouercome with wine. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily. <sup>3</sup>They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim. <sup>4</sup>For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as the hastie fruite afore sommer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it. <sup>5</sup>In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people: <sup>6</sup>And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate. <sup>7</sup>But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astraye through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement. <sup>8</sup>For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane. <sup>9</sup>Whome shall he teache knowledge? and whome shall he make to vnderstand the thinges that hee heareth? them that are weyned from the milke, and drawn from the breastes. <sup>10</sup>For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle. <sup>11</sup>For with a stammering tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people. <sup>12</sup>Vnto whome hee saide, This is the rest: giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare. <sup>13</sup>Therefore shall the worde of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle and there a litle, that they may goe, and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye scornfull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem. <sup>15</sup>Because ye haue said, We haue made a couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid, <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will laye in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. Hee that beleueeth, shall not make haste. <sup>17</sup>Iudgement also will I laye to the rule, and righteousnesse to the balance, and the haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe the secret place. <sup>18</sup>And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne

ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it. <sup>19</sup>When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shalbe onely feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing. <sup>20</sup>For the bed is streight that it can not suffice, and the couering narowe that one can not wrappe himselfe. <sup>21</sup>For the Lord shall stand as in mount Perazim: hee shall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strage worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte. <sup>22</sup>Nowe therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth. <sup>23</sup>Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach. <sup>24</sup>Doeth the plowe man plowe all the day, to sowe? doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground? <sup>25</sup>When he hath made it plaine, wil he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place? <sup>26</sup>For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him. <sup>27</sup>For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but ye fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod. <sup>28</sup>Bread corne when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof. <sup>29</sup>This also commeth from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in workes.

29Ah altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere: let them kill lambs. <sup>2</sup>But I wil bring the altar into distresse, and there shalbe heauines and sorowe, and it shall be vnto me like an altar. <sup>3</sup>And I wil besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee. <sup>4</sup>So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speach shalbe as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirite of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust. <sup>5</sup>Moreouer, the multitude of thy strangers shalbe like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly. <sup>6</sup>Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire. <sup>7</sup>And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and lay siege vnto it. <sup>8</sup>And it shalbe like as an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion. <sup>9</sup>Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke. <sup>10</sup>For the Lord hath couered you with a spirite of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered. <sup>11</sup>And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can not: for it is sealed. <sup>12</sup>And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I can not reade. <sup>13</sup>Therefore the Lord sayd, Because this people come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, <sup>14</sup>Therefore behold, I wil againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid. <sup>15</sup>Wo vnto them that seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenes, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs? <sup>16</sup>Your turning of deuises shall it not be esteemed as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that facioned it, He had none vnderstanding? <sup>17</sup>Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall be turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a forest? <sup>18</sup>And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse. <sup>19</sup>The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel. <sup>20</sup>For the cruel man shall cease, and the scornfull shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off: <sup>21</sup>Which made a man to sinne in ye worde, and tooke him in a snare: which reprobued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause. <sup>22</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale. <sup>23</sup>But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel. <sup>24</sup>Then they that erred in spirit, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

30Wo to the rebellious children, sayth the Lord, that take counsell, but not of me, and couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne: <sup>2</sup>Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen them selues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt. <sup>3</sup>But the strength of Pharaoh shalbe your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion. <sup>4</sup>For his princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came vnto

Hanes. <sup>5</sup>They shalbe all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche. <sup>6</sup>The burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bouches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite. <sup>7</sup>For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto her, Their strength is to sit still. <sup>8</sup>Now go, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the last day for euer and euer: <sup>9</sup>That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the law of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie errors. <sup>11</sup>Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs. <sup>12</sup>Therefore thus saith the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this worde, and trust in violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon, <sup>13</sup>Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment. <sup>14</sup>And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit. <sup>15</sup>For thus sayd the Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnes shall ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not. <sup>16</sup>For ye haue sayd, No, but we wil flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter. <sup>17</sup>A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship maste vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill. <sup>18</sup>Yet therefore will the Lord waite, that he may haue mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that hee may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him. <sup>19</sup>Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he wil certainly haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy crye: when he heareth thee, he wil answere thee. <sup>20</sup>And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine. <sup>21</sup>And thine eares shall heare a worde behind thee, saying, This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left. <sup>22</sup>And ye shall pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence. <sup>23</sup>Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures. <sup>24</sup>The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shoouel and with the fanne. <sup>25</sup>And vpon euery hie mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall. <sup>26</sup>Moreouer, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the sunne, and the light of the sunne shalbe seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound. <sup>27</sup>Beholde, the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire. <sup>28</sup>And his spirit is as a riuier that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it deuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people. <sup>29</sup>But there shall be a song vnto you as in the night, when solemne feast is kept: and gladnes of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel. <sup>30</sup>And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones. <sup>31</sup>For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod. <sup>32</sup>And in euery place that ye staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it. <sup>33</sup>For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuier of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

31Woe vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor seeke vnto the Lord. <sup>2</sup>But he yet is wisest: therefore he wil bring euill, and not turne backe his worde, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie. <sup>3</sup>Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh and not spirite: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile. <sup>4</sup>For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lyon or lyons whelpes roareth vpon his praye, against whom if a multitude of shepherds be called, hee will not be afraide at their voyce, neither will humble him selfe at their noise: so shall the Lord of hostes come downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof. <sup>5</sup>As birds that flie, so shall the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it. <sup>6</sup>O

ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are sunken deepe in rebellion. <sup>7</sup>For in that day euey man shall cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your handes haue made you, euen a sinne. <sup>8</sup>Then shall Asshur fall by the sworde, not of man, neither shall the sworde of man deuoure him, and hee shall flee from the sworde, and his yong men shall faint. <sup>9</sup>And he shall go for feare to his towre, and his princes shall be afraide of the standart, sayeth the Lord, whose fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ierusalem.

32Behold, a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule in iudgement. <sup>2</sup>And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in a weary land. <sup>3</sup>The eyes of the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken. <sup>4</sup>And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shalbe ready to speake distinctly. <sup>5</sup>A nigard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle riche. <sup>6</sup>But the nigarde will speake of nigardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile. <sup>7</sup>For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuiseth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake against the poore in iudgement. <sup>8</sup>But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie. <sup>9</sup>Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye carelesse daughters: hearken to my wordes. <sup>10</sup>Yee women, that are carelesse, shall be in feare aboute a yeere in dayes: for the vintage shall faile, and the gatherings shall come no more. <sup>11</sup>Yee women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O yee carelesse women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde sackcloth vpon the loynes. <sup>12</sup>Men shall lament for the teates, euen for the pleasant fieldes, and for the fruitfull vine. <sup>13</sup>Vpon the lande of my people shall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioye in the citie of reioysing, <sup>14</sup>Because the palace shalbe forsaken, and the noise of the citie shalbe left: the towre and fortresse shalbe dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, <sup>15</sup>Vntill the Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruitfull felde, and the plenteous felde be counted as a forest. <sup>16</sup>And iudgement shall dwel in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull felde. <sup>17</sup>And the worke of iustice shall bee peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer. <sup>18</sup>And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places. <sup>19</sup>When it haileth, it shall fall on the forest, and the citie shall be set in the lowe place. <sup>20</sup>Blessed are ye that sowe vpon all waters, and driue thither the feete of the oxe and the asse.

33Woe to thee that spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoyled: when thou shalt make an ende of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee. <sup>2</sup>O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which waste their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble. <sup>3</sup>At the noise of the tumult, the people fled: at thine exalting the nations were scattered. <sup>4</sup>And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillers: and he shall go against him like the leaping of grasshoppers. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice. <sup>6</sup>And there shall be stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shalbe his treasure. <sup>7</sup>Behold, their messengers shall cry without, and ye ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly. <sup>8</sup>The pathes are waste: the wayfar- ing man ceaseth: hee hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man. <sup>9</sup>The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: Sharon is like a wildernes, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel. <sup>10</sup>Now will I arise, saith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe. <sup>11</sup>Ye shall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you. <sup>12</sup>And the people shall be as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire. <sup>13</sup>Heare, yee that are farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power. <sup>14</sup>The sinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwel with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings? <sup>15</sup>Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his handes from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill. <sup>16</sup>He shall dwell on hie: his defence shall be the munitions of rockes: bread shalbe giuen him, and his waters shalbe sure. <sup>17</sup>Thine eyes shall see the King in his glory: they shall beholde the lande farre off. <sup>18</sup>Thine heart shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is hee that counted the towres? <sup>19</sup>Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speache, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstande. <sup>20</sup>Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be remooued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof be broken. <sup>21</sup>For surely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs, as a place of floods and broade riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby. <sup>22</sup>For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our lawe giuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs. <sup>23</sup>Thy cordes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their maste, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the praye be deuided for a great spoile: yea, the lame shall take away the pray. <sup>24</sup>And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

34Come neere, ye nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and al that proceedeth thereof. <sup>2</sup>For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter. <sup>3</sup>And their slaine shalbe cast out, and their stincke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood. <sup>4</sup>And all the hoste of heauen shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shall be folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree. <sup>5</sup>For my sword shalbe drunken in the heauen: beholde, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement. <sup>6</sup>The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat and with the blood of the lambes and the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom. <sup>7</sup>And the vnicorne shall come downe with them and the heiffers with the bulles, and their lande shalbe drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnesse. <sup>8</sup>For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yeere of recompence for the iudgement of Zion. <sup>9</sup>And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitche, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch. <sup>10</sup>It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall goe vp euermore: it shall be desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe through it for euer. <sup>11</sup>But the pelicane and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauens shall dwel in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of vanitie, and the stones of emptinesse. <sup>12</sup>The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shalbe none, and all the princes thereof shalbe as nothing. <sup>13</sup>And it shall bring fourth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shall be an habitation for dragons, and a court for ostriches. <sup>14</sup>There shall meete also Ziim and Iim, and the Satyre shall cry to his fellow, and the shriceowle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling. <sup>15</sup>There shall the owle make her nest, and laye, and hatche, and gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the vultures also bee gathered, euery one with her make. <sup>16</sup>Seeke in the booke of the Lord, and reade: none of these shall fayle, none shall want her make: for his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them. <sup>17</sup>And he hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath deuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

waste ground shalbe glad and florish as the rose. <sup>2</sup>It shall florish abundantly and shall greatly reioyce also and ioye: the glory of Lebanon shalbe giuen vnto it: the beautie of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God. <sup>3</sup>Strengthen the weake handes, and comfort the feeble knees. <sup>4</sup>Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: beholde, your God commeth with vengeance: euen God with a recompense, he will come and saue you. <sup>5</sup>Then shall the eyes of the blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened. <sup>6</sup>Then shall ye lame man leape as an hart, and the dumme mans tongue shall sing: for in the wildernes shall waters breake out, and riuers in ye desert. <sup>7</sup>And the dry ground shalbe as a poole, and the thirstie (as springs of water in the habitation of dragons: where they lay) shall be a place for reedes and rushes. <sup>8</sup>And there shalbe a path and a way, and the way shalbe called holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for he shalbe with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre. <sup>9</sup>There shall be no lyon, nor noysome beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke. <sup>10</sup>Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shall bee vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioye and gladnesse, and sorow and mourning shall flee away.

36Nowe in the fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Asshur came vp against al the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them. <sup>2</sup>And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stood by ye conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers fielde. <sup>3</sup>Then came fourth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceler, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder. <sup>4</sup>And Rabshakeh sayde vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus sayth the great King, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest? <sup>5</sup>I say, Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me? <sup>6</sup>Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him. <sup>7</sup>But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar? <sup>8</sup>Nowe therefore giue hostages to my lorde the King of Asshur, and I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them. <sup>9</sup>For howe canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lordes seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen? <sup>10</sup>And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord sayd vnto me, Goe vp against this land and destroy it. <sup>11</sup>Then sayd Eliakim and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall. <sup>12</sup>Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne pisse with you? <sup>13</sup>So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and sayd, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur. <sup>14</sup>Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you. <sup>15</sup>Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshur. <sup>16</sup>Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus sayth the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne fig tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well, <sup>17</sup>Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate, and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, <sup>18</sup>Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur? <sup>19</sup>Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand? <sup>20</sup>Who is hee among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their cuntry out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand? <sup>21</sup>Then they kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not. <sup>22</sup>Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

37And when the King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and came into the House of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>And he sent Eliakim the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackcloth vnto Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz. <sup>3</sup>And they sayd vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring foorth. <sup>4</sup>If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left. <sup>5</sup>So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. <sup>6</sup>And Isaiah sayde vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afrayd of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noyse, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land. <sup>8</sup>So Rabshakeh returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish. <sup>9</sup>He heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying, <sup>10</sup>Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered? <sup>12</sup>Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezech, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar? <sup>13</sup>Where is the King of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah? <sup>14</sup>So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying, <sup>16</sup>O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth. <sup>17</sup>Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God. <sup>18</sup>Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, and their cuntry, <sup>19</sup>And haue cast their gods in ye fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them. <sup>20</sup>Nowe therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Asshur, <sup>22</sup>This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against him, the virgine, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: the daughter of Ierusalem, hath shaken her head at thee. <sup>23</sup>Whome hast thou railed on and blasphemed? and against whome hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the holy one of Israel. <sup>24</sup>By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heightes of his top and to the forest of his fruitfull places. <sup>25</sup>I haue digged and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in. <sup>26</sup>Hast thou not heard howe I haue of olde time made it, and haue formed it long ago? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and layde on ruinous heapes, as cities defended?

38About that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and sayd vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt dye, and not liue. <sup>2</sup>Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, <sup>3</sup>And saide, I beseeche thee, Lord, remember nowe howe I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfite heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore. <sup>4</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord to Isaiiah, saying, <sup>5</sup>Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yeeres. <sup>6</sup>And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the King of Asshur, and this citie: for I will defende this citie. <sup>7</sup>And this signe shalt thou haue of ye Lord, that ye Lord will do this thing that he hath spoken, <sup>8</sup>Beholde, I will bring againe the shadowe of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by tenne degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe. <sup>9</sup>The writing of Hezekiah

King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sicknesse. <sup>10</sup>I saide in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am deprivied of the residue of my yeeres. <sup>11</sup>I said, I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world. <sup>12</sup>Mine habitation is departed, and is remoued from me, like a shepherds tent: I haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day to night, thou wilt make an ende of me. <sup>13</sup>I rekoned to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me. <sup>14</sup>Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eies were lift vp on high: O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me. <sup>15</sup>What shall I say? for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke weakely all my yeeres in the bitterness of my soule. <sup>16</sup>O Lord, to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirite shalbe knowen, that thou causedst me to sleepe and hast giuen life to me. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, for felicitie I had bitter grieffe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sinnes behinde thy backe. <sup>18</sup>For the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth. <sup>19</sup>But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the children shall declare thy trueth. <sup>20</sup>The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the House of the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Then said Isaiiah, Take a lump of drye figs and lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer. <sup>22</sup>Also Hezekiah had said, What is ye signe, that I shall goe vp into the House of the Lord?

39At the same time, Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered. <sup>2</sup>And Hezekiah was glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was founde in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not. <sup>3</sup>Then came Isaiiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel. <sup>4</sup>Then saide he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them. <sup>5</sup>And Isaiiah saide to Hezekiah, Heare the worde of the Lord of hostes, <sup>6</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layed vp in store vntill this day, shall be caried to Babel: nothing shall be left, sayeth the Lord. <sup>7</sup>And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel. <sup>8</sup>Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he saide, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

40Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, will your God say. <sup>2</sup>Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and crye vnto her, that her warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand double for all her sinnes. <sup>3</sup>A voyce cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God. <sup>4</sup>Euery valley shall be exalted, and euery mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shalbe streight, and the rough places plaine. <sup>5</sup>And the glory of the Lord shalbe reueiled, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>6</sup>A voyce saide, Crie. And he saide, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof is as the floure of the fiede. <sup>7</sup>The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the Spirite of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse. <sup>8</sup>The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the worde of our God shall stand for euer. <sup>9</sup>O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraide: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Beholde your God. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, the Lord God will come with power, and his arme shall rule for him: beholde, his rewarde is with him, and his worke before him, <sup>11</sup>He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with young. <sup>12</sup>Who hath measured the waters in his fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed ye mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a balance? <sup>13</sup>Who hath instructed ye Spirit of the Lord? or was his counseler or taught him? <sup>14</sup>Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding? <sup>15</sup>Beholde, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: beholde, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust. <sup>16</sup>And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beastes thereof sufficient for a burnt offering. <sup>17</sup>All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie. <sup>18</sup>To whom then wil ye liken God? or what similitude will ye set vp vnto him? <sup>19</sup>The workeman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldsmith maketh siluer plates. <sup>20</sup>Doeth not the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation? he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shall not be moued. <sup>21</sup>Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard it? hath it not bene tolde you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstand it by the foundation of the earth? <sup>22</sup>He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers, hee stretcheth out ye heauens, as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in. <sup>23</sup>He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, <sup>24</sup>As though they were not plated, as though they were not sowed, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlwinde will take them away as stubble. <sup>25</sup>To whom nowe will ye liken me, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one? <sup>26</sup>Lift vp your eyes on hie, and beholde who hath created these things, and bringeth out their armies by nomber, and calleth them all by names? by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth. <sup>27</sup>Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God? <sup>28</sup>Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the endes of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his vnderstanding. <sup>29</sup>But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power. <sup>30</sup>Euen the yong men shall faint, and be wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall. <sup>31</sup>But they that waite vpon the Lord, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

41Keep silence before mee, O ylands, and let the people renew their strength: let the come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement. <sup>2</sup>Who raised vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaued the nations before him, and subdued the Kings? he gaued them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bowe. <sup>3</sup>He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete. <sup>4</sup>Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the first, and with the last I am ye same. <sup>5</sup>The yles sawe it, and did feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drew neere, and came. <sup>6</sup>Euery man helped his neighbour, and saide to his brother, Be strong. <sup>7</sup>So the workeman comforted the founder, and he that smote with ye hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, and he fastened it with nayles that it shoulde not be moued. <sup>8</sup>But thou, Israel, art my seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend. <sup>9</sup>For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and saide vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away. <sup>10</sup>Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraide, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, all they that prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, and they that striue with thee, shall perish. <sup>12</sup>Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought. <sup>13</sup>For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I wil helpe thee. <sup>14</sup>Feare not, thou worme, Iaakob, and ye men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, sayth the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel. <sup>15</sup>Behold, I wil make thee a roller, and a newe threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountaines, and bring them to pouder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe. <sup>16</sup>Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shall carie them away, and the whirlewinde shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy one of Israel. <sup>17</sup>When the poore and the needy seeke water, and there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them) <sup>18</sup>I will open riuers in the toppes of the hils, and fountaines in the middes of the valleis: I will make the wilderness as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water. <sup>19</sup>I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah tree, and the mirre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together. <sup>20</sup>Therefore let them see and knowe, and let them consider and vnderstande together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel hath created it. <sup>21</sup>Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith ye King of Iaakob. <sup>22</sup>Let them bring forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that wee may consider them, and knowe the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come. <sup>23</sup>Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, doe good or doe euill, that we may declare it, and beholde it together. <sup>24</sup>Beholde, ye are of no value, and your making is of naught: man hath chosen an abomination by them. <sup>25</sup>I haue raised vp from the North, and he shall come: from the East sunne shall he cal vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, and as the pottor treadeth myre vnder the foote. <sup>26</sup>Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may knowe? or before time, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your wordes. <sup>27</sup>I am the first, that saith to Zion, Beholde, beholde them: and I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings. <sup>28</sup>But when I behelde, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellor, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a worde. <sup>29</sup>Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

<sup>2</sup>He shall not crie, nor lift vp, nor cause his voice to be heard in the streete. <sup>3</sup>A bruised reede shall hee not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in trueth. <sup>4</sup>He shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue set iudgement in the earth: and the yles shall waite for his lawe. <sup>5</sup>Thus sayeth God the Lord (he that created the heuens and spred them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein) <sup>6</sup>I the Lord haue called thee in righteousnesse, and will hold thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles, <sup>7</sup>That thou maist open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sitte in darkenesse, out of the prison house. <sup>8</sup>I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory wil I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images. <sup>9</sup>Beholde, the former things are come to passe, and newe things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them. <sup>10</sup>Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, and his praise from the ende of the earth: yee that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof. <sup>11</sup>Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shoute from the toppe of the mountaines. <sup>12</sup>Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands. <sup>13</sup>The Lord shall go forth as a gyant: he shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shout and crie, and shall preuaile against his enemies. <sup>14</sup>I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: nowe will I crie like a trauailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once. <sup>15</sup>I will make waste mountaines, and hilles, and drie vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles. <sup>16</sup>And I will bring the blinde by a way, that they knewe not, and lead them by paths that they haue not knowen: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them. <sup>17</sup>They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods. <sup>18</sup>Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regarde, that ye may see. <sup>19</sup>Who is blinde but my seruauit? or deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blind as the perfit, and blinde as the Lordes seruant? <sup>20</sup>Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not? <sup>21</sup>The Lord is willing for his righteousnesse sake that he may magnifie the Lawe, and exalt it. <sup>22</sup>But this people is robbed and spoiled, and shalbe all snared in dungeons, and they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, Restore. <sup>23</sup>Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for afterwardes? <sup>24</sup>Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not ye Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they woulde not walke in his waies, neither be obedient vnto his Lawe. <sup>25</sup>Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and he knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

43But nowe thus sayeth the Lord, that created thee, O Iaakob: and hee that formed thee, O Israel, Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine. <sup>2</sup>When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kinde vpon thee. <sup>3</sup>For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee. <sup>4</sup>Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue man for thee, and people for thy sake. <sup>5</sup>Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West. <sup>6</sup>I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth. <sup>7</sup>Euery one shall be called by my Name: for I created him for my glorie, formed him and made him. <sup>8</sup>I will bring forth the blinde people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares. <sup>9</sup>Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this and shewe vs former things? let them bring forth their witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them heare, and say, It is truth. <sup>10</sup>You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore yee shall knowe and beleue me and yee shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. <sup>11</sup>I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauour. <sup>12</sup>I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, sayeth the Lord, that I am God. <sup>13</sup>Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it? <sup>14</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Chaldeans crie in the shippes. <sup>15</sup>I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King. <sup>16</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord which maketh a way in the Sea, and a path in the mighty waters. <sup>17</sup>When hee bringeth out the charet and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towe. <sup>18</sup>Remember yee not the former things, neither regard the things of olde. <sup>19</sup>Behold, I do a new thing: now shall it come fourth: shall you not knowe it? I wil euen make a way in the desert, and floods in the wilderness. <sup>20</sup>The wilde beastes shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderness to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect. <sup>21</sup>This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shewe fourth my praise. <sup>22</sup>And thou hast not called vpon mee, O Iaakob, but thou hast wearied me, O Israel. <sup>23</sup>Thou hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offrings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense. <sup>24</sup>Thou boughtest mee no sweete sauour with money, neither hast thou made mee drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made mee to serue with thy sinnes, and wearied mee with thine iniquities. <sup>25</sup>I, euen I am he that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes. <sup>26</sup>Put me in remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maist be iustified. <sup>27</sup>Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me. <sup>28</sup>Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuarie, and haue made Iaakob a curse, and Israel a reproche.

44Yet nowe heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen. <sup>2</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruaunt, and thou righteous, whome I haue chosen. <sup>3</sup>For I will powre water vpon the thirstie, and floods vpon the drie ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy bud-des. <sup>4</sup>And they shall grow as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters. <sup>5</sup>One shall say, I am the Lordes: another shalbe called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel. <sup>6</sup>Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hostes, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God. <sup>7</sup>And who is like me, that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before me, since I appointed the ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shewe vnto them. <sup>8</sup>Feare ye not, neither be afraide: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not. <sup>9</sup>All they that make an image, are vanitie, and their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shalbe confounded. <sup>10</sup>Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing? <sup>11</sup>Beholde, all that are of the fellowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together. <sup>12</sup>The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

<sup>13</sup>The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreyeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in an house. <sup>14</sup>He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it. <sup>15</sup>And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it. <sup>16</sup>He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and sayth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire. <sup>17</sup>And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and sayeth, Deliuer me: for thou art my god. <sup>18</sup>They haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their heartes, that they cannot vnderstand. <sup>19</sup>And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree? <sup>20</sup>He feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lye in my right hand? <sup>21</sup>Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not. <sup>22</sup>I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee. <sup>23</sup>Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, ye lower partes of the earth: brast forth into prayses, ye mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob and will be glorified in Israel. <sup>24</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord thy redeemer and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spred out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe. <sup>25</sup>I destroy the tokens of ye southsayers, and make them that conieecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backwarde, and make their knowledge foolishnesse. <sup>26</sup>He confirmeth the worde of his seruant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall be built vp, and I will repayre the decayed places thereof. <sup>27</sup>He saith to the deepe, Be drye and I will drye vp thy floods. <sup>28</sup>He saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely layed.

45 Thus sayeth the Lord vnto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of Kings and open the

doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut: <sup>2</sup>I will goe before thee and make the crooked streight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres. <sup>3</sup>And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou maist know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel. <sup>4</sup>For Iaakob my seruants sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name and name thee, though thou hast not knowen me. <sup>5</sup>I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee though thou hast not knowen me, <sup>6</sup>That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other. <sup>7</sup>I forme the light and create darkenes: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things. <sup>8</sup>Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe righteousnesse: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue created him. <sup>9</sup>Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, It hath none hands? <sup>10</sup>Woe vnto him that sayeth to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought foorth? <sup>11</sup>Thus saith the Lord, the holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine hands: commande you me. <sup>12</sup>I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie. <sup>13</sup>I haue raised him vp in righteousnesse, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for price nor rewarde, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>14</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides. <sup>15</sup>Verely thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauour of Israel. <sup>16</sup>All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images. <sup>17</sup>But Israel shall be saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded worlde without ende. <sup>18</sup>For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other. <sup>19</sup>I haue not spoken in secrete, neither in a place of darkenes in the earth: I saide not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you me: I the Lord doe speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things. <sup>20</sup>Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them. <sup>21</sup>Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauour: there is none beside me. <sup>22</sup>Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued: all the endes of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there is none other. <sup>23</sup>I haue sworne by my selfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery knee shall bowe vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me. <sup>24</sup>Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that prouoke him, shall be ashamed. <sup>25</sup>The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

46Bel is bowed downe: Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden. <sup>2</sup>They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they coulde not rid them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie. <sup>3</sup>Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth. <sup>4</sup>Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare heares: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will cary you and I will deliuer you. <sup>5</sup>To whom will ye make me like or make me equall, or copare me, that I should be like him? <sup>6</sup>They draw gold out of the bagge and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe, and worship it. <sup>7</sup>They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation. <sup>8</sup>Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, O you transgressors. <sup>9</sup>Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me, <sup>10</sup>Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoever I will. <sup>11</sup>I call a birde from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it. <sup>12</sup>Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from iustice. <sup>13</sup>I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I wil giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

47Come downe and sit in the dust: O virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate. <sup>2</sup>Take the mill stones, and grinde meale: loose thy lockes: make bare the feete: vncouer the legge, and passe through the floods. <sup>3</sup>Thy filthinesse shall be discouered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a man. <sup>4</sup>Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel. <sup>5</sup>Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse, O daughter of the Chaldeas: for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes. <sup>6</sup>I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine had: thou diddest shew them no mercy, but thou didest lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient. <sup>7</sup>And thou saidest, I shall be a ladie for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy mind to these things, neither diddest thou remember ye latter end therof. <sup>8</sup>Therefore nowe heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, Shee sayeth in her heart, I am and none els: I shall not sit as a widowe, neither shall knowe the losse of children. <sup>9</sup>But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowhoo: they shall come vpon thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters. <sup>10</sup>For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast sayd, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast saide in thine heart, I am, and none els. <sup>11</sup>Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shall fal vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware. <sup>12</sup>Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy southsaiers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou maist haue profit, or if so be thou maist haue strength. <sup>13</sup>Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticatours stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coles to warme at, nor light to sit by. <sup>15</sup>Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

48Hear yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousnesse. <sup>2</sup>For they are called of the holy citie, and staie themselues vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hostes. <sup>3</sup>I haue declared ye former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe. <sup>4</sup>Because I knewe, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brasse, <sup>5</sup>Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast heard, behold all this, and wil not yee declare it? I haue shewed thee newe things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not. <sup>7</sup>They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shouldest say, Beholde, I knewe them. <sup>8</sup>Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the wombe. <sup>9</sup>For my Names sake will I defer my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, that I cut thee not off. <sup>10</sup>Behold, I haue fined thee, but not as siluer: I haue chosen thee in the fornace of affliction. <sup>11</sup>For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake wil I doe it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I wil not giue my glory vnto another. <sup>12</sup>Heare me, O Iakob and Israel, my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last. <sup>13</sup>Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heaues: when I cal them, they stand vp together. <sup>14</sup>All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these thinges? The Lord hath loued him: he wil doe his will in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans. <sup>15</sup>I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper. <sup>16</sup>Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath sent me. <sup>17</sup>Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profite, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe. <sup>18</sup>Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandments! then had thy prosperitie bene as the floude, and thy righteousnesse as the waues of the sea. <sup>19</sup>Thy seede also had bene as the sande, and the fruite of thy body like the grauell thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me. <sup>20</sup>Goe yee out of Babel: flee yee from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel and declare this: shewe it foorth to the ende of the earth: say yee, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iakob. <sup>21</sup>And they were not thirstie: hee led them through the wilderness: hee caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out. <sup>22</sup>There is no peace, sayeth the Lord, vnto the wicked.

49 Hear yee me, O yles, and hearken, yee people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers bellie. <sup>2</sup>And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sworde: vnder the shadowe of his hande hath he hid mee, and made me a chosen shafte, and hid me in his quiuer, <sup>3</sup>And sayd vnto me, Thou art my seruant, Israel, for I will be glorious in thee. <sup>4</sup>And I said, I haue labored in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my woorke with my God. <sup>5</sup>And now

sayeth the Lord, that formed me from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I bee glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength) <sup>6</sup>And hee sayde, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest bee my saluation vnto the ende of the worlde. <sup>7</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kinges shall see, and arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithfull: and ye Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee. <sup>8</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, and wil giue thee for a couenant of ye people, that thou maiest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages: <sup>9</sup>That thou maiest say to the prisoners, Goe foorth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Shewe your selues: they shall feede in the waies, and their pastures shall bee in all the toppes of the hilles. <sup>10</sup>They shall not be hungrie, neither shall they be thirstie, neither shall the heat smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them. <sup>11</sup>And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted. <sup>12</sup>Beholde, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim. <sup>13</sup>Reioyce, O heauens: and bee ioyfull, O earth: brast foorth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted. <sup>14</sup>But Zion saide, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me. <sup>15</sup>Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet wil I not forget thee. <sup>16</sup>Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy walles are euer in my sight. <sup>17</sup>Thy builders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee. <sup>18</sup>Lift vp thine eies round about and behold: all these gather themselues together and come to thee: as I liue, sayeth the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and girde thy selfe with them like a bride. <sup>19</sup>For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away. <sup>20</sup>The children of thy barennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for mee: giue place to me that I may dwell. <sup>21</sup>Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and from? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these? <sup>22</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will lift vp mine hande to the Gentiles and set vp my stadart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be caried vpon their shoulders. <sup>23</sup>And Kings shalbe thy nourcing fathers, and Queenes shalbe thy nources: they shall worship thee with their faces towarde the earth, and licke vp the dust of thy feete: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me. <sup>24</sup>Shall the pray be taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered? <sup>25</sup>But thus sayeth the Lord, euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I wil contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, <sup>26</sup>And will feede them that spoile thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne bloode, as with sweete wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy sauour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

50 Thus sayeth the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whome I haue cast off? or who is the creditour to whome I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are yee solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Beholde, at my rebuke I drie vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst. <sup>3</sup>I clothe the heauens with darkenesse, and make a sacke their couering. <sup>4</sup>The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I shoulde knowe to minister a woord in time to him that is weary: he will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned. <sup>5</sup>The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe. <sup>6</sup>I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting. <sup>7</sup>For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shall not be ashamed. <sup>8</sup>Hee is neere that iustifieth mee: who will contend with me? Let vs stande together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me. <sup>9</sup>Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shall eate them vp. <sup>10</sup>Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: hee that walketh in darkenesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and staye vpon his God. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, all you kinde a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lye downe in sorowe.

<sup>2</sup>Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him. <sup>3</sup>Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shalbe founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing. <sup>4</sup>Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a Law shall proceede from me, and I will bring foorth my iudgement for the light of the people. <sup>5</sup>My righteousness is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme. <sup>6</sup>Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not bee abolished. <sup>7</sup>Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproche of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes. <sup>8</sup>For the mothe shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wool: but my righteousness shall be for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation. <sup>9</sup>Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as in the olde time in the generations of the worlde. Art not thou the same, that hath cutte Rahab, and wounded the dragon? <sup>10</sup>Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer? <sup>11</sup>Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy, and gladnesse: and sorow and mourning shall flee away. <sup>12</sup>I, euen I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse? <sup>13</sup>And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spred out the heauens, and layde the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is readie to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour? <sup>14</sup>The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pitte, nor that his bread should faile. <sup>15</sup>And I am the Lord thy God that deuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes is his Name. <sup>16</sup>And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people. <sup>17</sup>Awake, awake, and stande vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hande of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out. <sup>18</sup>There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whome she hath brought foorth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp. <sup>19</sup>These two things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sworde: by whome shall I comfort thee? <sup>20</sup>Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a nette, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God. <sup>21</sup>Therefore heare nowe this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine. <sup>22</sup>Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hande the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more. <sup>23</sup>But I will put it into their hande that spoile thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bowe downe, that wee may goe ouer, and thou hast layde thy bodie as the grounde, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

52Aries, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on thy garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for hencefoorth there shall no more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane. <sup>2</sup>Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion. <sup>3</sup>For thus sayeth the Lord, Yee were solde for naught: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe afore time into Egypt to sojourne there, and Asshur oppressed them without cause. <sup>5</sup>Nowe therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for naught, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is blasphemed? <sup>6</sup>Therefore my people shall know my Name: therefore they shall know in that day, that I am he that doe speake: beholde, it is I. <sup>7</sup>How beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth peace? that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth? <sup>8</sup>The voyce of thy watchmen shalbe heard: they shall lift vp their voyce, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion. <sup>9</sup>O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, bee glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the endes of the earth shall see the saluation of our God. <sup>11</sup>Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence and touche no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: be ye cleane, that beare the vessels of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>For ye shall not goe out with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will goe before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, my seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very hie. <sup>14</sup>As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) <sup>15</sup>so shall hee sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their mouthes at him: for that which had not bene tolde them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstande.

53Who will beleuee our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lord reueiled? <sup>2</sup>But hee shall growe vp before him as a branche, and as a roote out of a dry grounde: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that wee should desire him. <sup>3</sup>He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes and hath experience of infirmitie: we hidde as it were our faces from him: he was despised and we esteemed him not. <sup>4</sup>Surely hee hath borne our infirmitie, and caried our sorowes: yet wee did iudge him, as plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled. <sup>5</sup>But hee was wounded for our transgressions, hee was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed. <sup>6</sup>All we like sheepe haue gone astraye: wee haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layed vpon him the iniquitie of vs all. <sup>7</sup>Hee was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: hee is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth. <sup>8</sup>Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgement: and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the lande of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued. <sup>9</sup>And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, though hee had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceite in his mouth. <sup>10</sup>Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subiect to infirmitie: when hee shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seede and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand. <sup>11</sup>Hee shall see of the trauaile of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities. <sup>12</sup>Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall deuide the spoyle with the strong, because hee hath powred out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressors, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

54Reioyce, O barren that diddest not beare: breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that diddest not trauaile with childe: for the desolate hath moe children then the married wife, sayeth the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtains of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cords and make fast thy stakes. <sup>3</sup>For thou shalt increase on the right hande and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities. <sup>4</sup>Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not bee put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widdowhoode any more. <sup>5</sup>For hee that made thee, is thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the Holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world. <sup>6</sup>For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a yong wife when thou wast refused, sayth thy God. <sup>7</sup>For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee. <sup>8</sup>For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a litle season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, sayth the Lord thy redeemer. <sup>9</sup>For this is vnto me as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee. <sup>10</sup>For the mountaines shall remoue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee. <sup>11</sup>O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, beholde, I wil lay thy stones with the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs, <sup>12</sup>And I will make thy windowes of emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones. <sup>13</sup>And all thy children shalbe taught of the Lord, and much peace shalbe to thy children. <sup>14</sup>In righteousnes shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee. <sup>15</sup>Beholde, theemie shall gather himselfe, but without me: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall. <sup>16</sup>Beholde, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy. <sup>17</sup>But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnesse is of me, sayth the Lord.

55Ho, euery one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no siluer, come, bye and eate: come, I say, bye wine and milke without siluer and without money. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in fatnes. <sup>3</sup>Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the sure mercies of Dauid. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, I gaue him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for hee hath glorified thee. <sup>6</sup>Seeke ye the Lord while he may be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere. <sup>7</sup>Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for hee is very ready to forgiue. <sup>8</sup>For my thoughtes are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayth the Lord. <sup>9</sup>For as ye heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughtes aboute your thoughts. <sup>10</sup>Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth, <sup>11</sup>So shall my worde be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it. <sup>12</sup>Therefore ye shall go out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountaines and the hilles shall breake forth before you into ioye, and all the trees of the felde shall clap their hands. <sup>13</sup>For thornes there shall grow firre trees: for nettles shall growe the myrrhe tree, and it shalbe to the Lord for a name, and for an euerlasting signe that shall not be taken away.

56Thus saith the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousnes to be reueiled. <sup>2</sup>Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: hee that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill. <sup>3</sup>And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a drye tree. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my couenant, <sup>5</sup>Euen vnto them wil I giue in mine House and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out. <sup>6</sup>Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant, <sup>7</sup>Them wil I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shall be called an house of prayer for all people. <sup>8</sup>The Lord God sayth, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet wil I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them. <sup>9</sup>All ye beastes of the felde, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forest. <sup>10</sup>Their watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe and delite in sleeping. <sup>11</sup>And these griedy dogs can neuer haue ynough: and these shepherds cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose. <sup>12</sup>Come, I wil bring wine, and we wil fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morowe shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away from the euill to come. <sup>2</sup>Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him. <sup>3</sup>But you witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer and of the whore. <sup>4</sup>On whome haue ye iested? vpon whome haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seede? <sup>5</sup>Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks? <sup>6</sup>Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delite in these? <sup>7</sup>Thou hast made thy bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice. <sup>8</sup>Behinde the doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it. <sup>9</sup>Thou wentest to the Kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine oyntments and sende thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell. <sup>10</sup>Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneys, yet saydest thou not, There is no hope: thou hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved. <sup>11</sup>And whome diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast lyed vnto me, and hast not remembred me, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me. <sup>12</sup>I will declare thy righteousnes and thy workes, and they shall not profite thee. <sup>13</sup>When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherite the lande, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine. <sup>14</sup>And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people. <sup>15</sup>For thus sayth he that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirite to reuiue the spirite of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart. <sup>16</sup>For I will not contende for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, for the spirite should fayle before me: and I haue made the breath. <sup>17</sup>For his wicked couetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart. <sup>18</sup>I haue seene his wayes, and wil heale him: I wil leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him. <sup>19</sup>I create the fruite of the lips, to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere, sayth the Lord: for I will heale him. <sup>20</sup>But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt. <sup>21</sup>There is no peace, sayth my God, to the wicked.

58Crye aloud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes. <sup>2</sup>Yet they seeke me dayly, and will knowe my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they wil drawe neere vnto God, saying, <sup>3</sup>Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke your will, and require all your dettes. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboue. <sup>5</sup>Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bull rush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord? <sup>6</sup>Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery yoke? <sup>7</sup>Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh? <sup>8</sup>Then shall thy light breake foorth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy righteousnes shall goe before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shall embrace thee. <sup>9</sup>Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answeere: thou shalt cry and hee shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting foorth of the finger, and wicked speaking: <sup>10</sup>If thou powre out thy soule to the hungrie, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenes, and thy darkenes shalbe as the noone day. <sup>11</sup>And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watred garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not. <sup>12</sup>And they shalbe of thee, that shall builde the olde waste places: thou shalt rayse vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach and the restorer of the pathes to dwell in. <sup>13</sup>If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, <sup>14</sup>Then shalt thou delite in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of ye Lord hath spoken it.

with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie. <sup>4</sup>No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and bring forth iniquitie. <sup>5</sup>They hatch cockatrice egges, and weaue the spiders webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent. <sup>6</sup>Their webbes shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their handes. <sup>7</sup>Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths. <sup>8</sup>The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not knowe peace. <sup>9</sup>Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we waite for light, but loe, it is darkenesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darkenesse. <sup>10</sup>Wee grope for the wall like the blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men. <sup>11</sup>We roare all like beares, and mourne like dooues: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs. <sup>12</sup>For our trespasses are many before thee, and our sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we knowe our iniquities. <sup>13</sup>In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false matters. <sup>14</sup>Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter. <sup>15</sup>Yea, trueth faileth, and hee that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe a praye: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement. <sup>16</sup>And when he sawe that there was no man, hee wondered that none woulde offer him selfe. Therefore his arme did saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it. <sup>17</sup>For he put on righteousnes, as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke. <sup>18</sup>As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repaire the ylands. <sup>19</sup>So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away. <sup>20</sup>And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquitie in Iacob, saith the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord. My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lord, from hencefoorth euen for euer.

60 Arise, O Ierusalem: be bright, for thy light is come, and the glorie of the Lord is risen vpon thee. <sup>2</sup>For beholde, darkenesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee. <sup>3</sup>And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp. <sup>4</sup>Lift vp thine eyes round about, and beholde: all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side. <sup>5</sup>Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee. <sup>6</sup>The multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shewe fourth the prayes of the Lord. <sup>7</sup>All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to bee accepted vpon mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glorie. <sup>8</sup>Who are these that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes? <sup>9</sup>Surely the yles shall waite for mee, and the shippes of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer, and their golde with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee. <sup>10</sup>And the sonnes of strangers shall builde vp thy walles, and their Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thy gates shalbe open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shutte, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought. <sup>12</sup>For the nation and the kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed. <sup>13</sup>The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my feete. <sup>14</sup>The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the Holy one of Israel. <sup>15</sup>Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated: so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glorie, and a ioye from generation to generation. <sup>16</sup>Thou shalt also sucke ye milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breastes of Kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Sauour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iacob. <sup>17</sup>For brasse will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stonnes yron. I will also make thy gouernement peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse. <sup>18</sup>Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates. <sup>19</sup>Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glorie. <sup>20</sup>Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorowe shalbe ended. <sup>21</sup>Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the grasse of my planting shalbe the worke of mine handes, that I may be glorified. <sup>22</sup>A litle one shall become as a thousande, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord wil hasten it in due time.

61The Spirit of the Lord God is vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anoynted mee: hee hath sent mee to preache good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the broken hearted, to preach libertie to the captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison, <sup>2</sup>To preache the acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne, <sup>3</sup>To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for ashes, the oyle of ioye for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called trees of righteousnesse, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. <sup>4</sup>And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many generations. <sup>5</sup>And the strangers shall stande and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines. <sup>6</sup>But ye shall be named the Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God, Ye shall eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie. <sup>7</sup>For your shame you shall receiue double, and for confusion they shall reioyce in their portion: for in their lande they shall possesse the double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them. <sup>8</sup>For I the Lord loue iudgement and hate robbrie for burnt offering, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them. <sup>9</sup>And their seede shall be knowen among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed. <sup>10</sup>I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed mee with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousnes: hee hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tirth herselfe with her iewels. <sup>11</sup>For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousnesse to grow and praise before all the heathen.

62For Zions sake I will not holde my tongue, and for Ieruselems sake I wil not rest, vntil the righteousnes thereof breake forth as the light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe. <sup>2</sup>And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnesse, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name. <sup>3</sup>Thou shalt also be a crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God. <sup>4</sup>It shall no more be sayd vnto thee, Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah: for the Lord deliteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband. <sup>5</sup>For as a yong man marieth a virgine, so shall thy sonnes marry thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee. <sup>6</sup>I haue set watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: ye that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence, <sup>7</sup>And giue him no rest, till hee repaire and vntill hee set vp Ierusalem the prayse of the worlde. <sup>8</sup>The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I wil no more giue thy corne to be meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured. <sup>9</sup>But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and prayse the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courtes of my Sanctuarie. <sup>10</sup>Go through, go through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones and set vp a standart for the people. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the endes of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauour commeth: beholde, his wages is with him, and his worke is before him. <sup>12</sup>And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A citie sought out and not forsaken.

63Who is this that commeth from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparel and walketh in his great strength: I speake in righteousnesse, and am mightie to saue. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in ye wine presse? <sup>3</sup>I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment. <sup>4</sup>For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redeemed is come. <sup>5</sup>And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me. <sup>6</sup>Therefore I wil tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and wil bring downe their strength to the earth. <sup>7</sup>I wil remember the mercies of the Lord and the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies. <sup>8</sup>For he saide, Surely they are my people, children that wil not lie: so he was their Sauour. <sup>9</sup>In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually. <sup>10</sup>But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy and he fought against them. <sup>11</sup>Then he remembered the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with the shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him? <sup>12</sup>He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name. <sup>13</sup>Hee led them through the deepe, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble, <sup>14</sup>As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirite of the Lord gaued them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name. <sup>15</sup>Looke downe from heauen, and beholde from the dwelling place of thine holines, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from me. <sup>16</sup>Doutles thou art our Father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel knowe vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer. <sup>17</sup>O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance. <sup>18</sup>The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it, but a litle while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie. <sup>19</sup>We haue bene as they, ouer whome thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

is a wilderness, and Ierusalem a desert. <sup>11</sup>The House of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, where our fathers prayed thee, is burnt vp with fire and all our pleasant things are wasted. <sup>12</sup>Wilt thou holde thy selfe still at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

65I haue bene sought of them that asked not: I was found of them that sought me not: I sayd, Beholde me, beholde me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name. <sup>2</sup>I haue spred out mine handes all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne imaginations: <sup>3</sup>A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon bricke. <sup>4</sup>Which remaine among the graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eate swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels. <sup>5</sup>Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath and a fire that burneth all the day. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, it is written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome. <sup>7</sup>Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shalbe together (sayth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome. <sup>8</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one sayth, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole. <sup>9</sup>But I will bring a seede out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherit my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherit it, and my seruants shall dwell there. <sup>10</sup>And Sharon shalbe a sheepefolde, and the valley of Achor shalbe a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me. <sup>11</sup>But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number. <sup>12</sup>Therefore wil I number you to the sword, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I spake, and ye heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not. <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shall eate, and ye shalbe hungrie: beholde, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioye of heart, and ye shall crye for sorow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde. <sup>15</sup>And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you and call his seruants by another name. <sup>16</sup>He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall swear by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselues from mine eyes. <sup>17</sup>For lo, I will create newe heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde. <sup>18</sup>But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for beholde, I will create Ierusalem, as a reioycing and her people as a ioye, <sup>19</sup>And I wil reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioye in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying. <sup>20</sup>There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath not filled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundreth yeeres old, shall dye as a yong man: but the sinner being an hundreth yeeres olde shall be accursed. <sup>21</sup>And they shall build houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruite of them. <sup>22</sup>They shall not build, and another inhabite: they shall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall inioye in olde age the worke of their handes. <sup>23</sup>They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them. <sup>24</sup>Yea, before they call, I will answeere, and whiles they speake, I will heare. <sup>25</sup>The wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord.

66 Thus saith the Lord, The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is that house that ye will builde vnto me? and where is that place of my rest? <sup>2</sup>For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things haue bene, sayth the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him, that is poore, and of a contrite spirite and trembleth at my wordes. <sup>3</sup>He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he slewe a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule deliteth in their abominations. <sup>4</sup>Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none woulde answeere: I spake and they woulde not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not. <sup>5</sup>Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his worde, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed. <sup>6</sup>A voyce soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully. <sup>7</sup>Before she trauailed, she brought forth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe. <sup>8</sup>Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall ye earth be brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children. <sup>9</sup>Shall I cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be baren, saith thy God? <sup>10</sup>Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, and be gladde with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her, <sup>11</sup>That ye may sucke and be satisfied with the brestes of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delited with ye brightnes of her glorie. <sup>12</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glorie of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees. <sup>13</sup>As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem. <sup>14</sup>And when ye see this, your hearts shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be knowen among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies. <sup>15</sup>For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlwinde, that he may recompence his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire. <sup>16</sup>For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sworde all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many. <sup>17</sup>They that sanctifie themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shall be consumed together, sayeth the Lord. <sup>18</sup>For I will visite their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glorie. <sup>19</sup>And I will set a signe among them, and will send those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Tarshish, Pul, and Lud, and to them that drawe the bowe, to Tubal and Tauan, yles afarre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glorie, and they shall declare my glorie among the Gentiles. <sup>20</sup>And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon horses, and in charets, and in horse litters, and vpon mules, and swift beastes, to Ierusalem mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel, offer in a cleane vessel in the House of the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And I will take of them for Priestes, and for Leuites, saith the Lord. <sup>22</sup>For as the newe heauens, and the newe earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seede and your name continue. <sup>23</sup>And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord. <sup>24</sup>And they shall goe forth, and looke vpon the carkases of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their worme shall not dye, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring vnto all flesh.

Jeremiah

1The wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of Hilkihah one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the lande of Benjamin. 2To whom the worde of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne: 3And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift moneth. 4Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 5Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations. 6Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe. 7But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speake. 8Be not afraide of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord. 9Then the Lord stretched out his hand and touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth. 10Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroye and throwe downe, to builde, and to plant. 11After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a rod of an almonde tree. 12Then saide the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my worde to performe it. 13Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I saide, I see a seething pot looking out of the North. 14Then saide the Lord vnto me, Out of the North shall a plague be spred vpon all the inhabitants of the land. 15For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all the cities of Iudah. 16And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne handes. 17Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commaund thee: be not afraide of their faces, lest I destroy thee before them. 18For I, beholde, I

this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole lande, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof and against the people of the lande. 19For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayth the Lord.

2Moreover, the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 2Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, I remember thee, with the kindenes of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes in a lande that was not sowed. 3Israel was as a thing halowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they that eat it, shall offend: euil shall come vpon them, saith the Lord. 4Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iacob, and all the families of the house of Israel. 5Thus sayeth the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in mee, that they are gone farre from mee, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become vaine? 6For they saide not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the lande of Egypt? that led vs through the wilderness, through a desert, and waste land, through a drie land, and by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt? 7And I brought you into a plentiful countrey, to eat the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when yee entred, yee defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination. 8The priests said not, Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the Lawe, knewe me not: the pastours also offended against me, and the Prophets prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profite. 9Wherefore I wil yet plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will pleade with your childrens children. 10For goe ye to the yles of Chittim, and beholde, and sende vnto Kedar. and take diligent heede, and see whether there be such things. 11Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue chaged their glorie, for that which doeth not profite. 12O yee heauens, be astonied at this: bee afraid and vtterly confounded, sayeth the Lord. 13For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken mee the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pittes, euen broken pittes, that can holde no water. 14Is Israel a seru-

aunt, or is hee borne in the house? why then is he spoiled? <sup>15</sup>The lions roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without an inhabitant. <sup>16</sup>Also the children of Noph and Tahapanes haue broken thine head. <sup>17</sup>Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way? <sup>18</sup>And what hast thou now to do in the way of Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of the Riuer? <sup>19</sup>Thine owne wickednes shall correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprooue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, sayeth the Lord God of hostes. <sup>20</sup>For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bondes, and thou saidest, I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon al hie hilles, and vnder all greene trees. <sup>21</sup>Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whose plants were all natural: howe then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine? <sup>22</sup>Though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>23</sup>Howe canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim? beholde thy waies in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his waies. <sup>24</sup>And as a wilde asse, vsed to the wilderness, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but wil finde her in her moneth. <sup>25</sup>Keepe thou thy feete from barenes, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saidest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow. <sup>26</sup>As the theefe is ashamed, when he is foud, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes and their Priests, and their Prophets, <sup>27</sup>Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their back vnto me, and not their face: but in ye time of their trouble they wil say, Arise, and help vs. <sup>28</sup>But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah. <sup>29</sup>Wherefore wil ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled against me, sayeth the Lord. <sup>30</sup>I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne sworde hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon. <sup>31</sup>O generation, take heede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israel? or a lande of darkenesse? Wherefore sayeth my people then, We are lordes, we will come no more vnto thee? <sup>32</sup>Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, daies without number. <sup>33</sup>Why doest thou prepare thy way, to seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy waies are wickednesse. <sup>34</sup>Also in thy wings is founde the bloud of the soules of ye poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places. <sup>35</sup>Yet thou saiest, Because I am gilty, surely his wrath shall turne from mee: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned. <sup>36</sup>Why runnest thou about so much to change thy waies? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Asshur. <sup>37</sup>For thou shalt goe fourth from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

3They say, If a man put away his wife, and she goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe vnto her? shall not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many louers: yet turne againe to mee, sayeth the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and beholde, where thou hast not plaid the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waies, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the lande with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice. <sup>3</sup>Therefore the showres haue beene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou haddest a whores forehead: thou wouldest not bee ashamed. <sup>4</sup>Diddest thou not stil crie vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth? <sup>5</sup>Wil he keepe his anger for euer? will he reserue it to the ende? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more. <sup>6</sup>The Lord saide also vnto me, in the daies of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there plaid the harlot. <sup>7</sup>And I sayde, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah sawe. <sup>8</sup>When I sawe, howe that by all occasions rebellious Israel had plaid the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraied, but shee went also, and plaid the harlot. <sup>9</sup>So that for the lightnesse of her whoredome shee hath euen defiled the lande: for shee hath committed fornication with stones and stockes. <sup>10</sup>Neuerthesse for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with her whole heart, but fainedly, sayth the Lord. <sup>11</sup>And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah. <sup>12</sup>Goe and crie these woordes towarde the North and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayeth the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayeth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger. <sup>13</sup>But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy waies to the straunge gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee woulde not obey my voyce, sayeth the Lord. <sup>14</sup>O yee disobedient children, turne againe, sayeth the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and wil bring you to Zion, <sup>15</sup>And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer, when yee be increased and multiplied in the land, in those daies, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, for that shalbe no more done. <sup>17</sup>At that time they shall cal Ierusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thence fourth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart. <sup>18</sup>In those daies ye house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the North, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers. <sup>19</sup>But I sayde, Howe did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and saide, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me? <sup>20</sup>But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue yee rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord. <sup>21</sup>A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God. <sup>22</sup>O yee disobedient children, returne and I wil heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God. <sup>23</sup>Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel. <sup>24</sup>For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth their sheepe and their bullocks, their sonnes and their daughters. <sup>25</sup>Wee lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

<sup>4</sup>O Israel, if thou returne, returne vnto me, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue. <sup>2</sup>And thou shalt sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him. <sup>3</sup>For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem, <sup>4</sup>Breake vp your fallowe ground, and sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come fourth like fire, and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions. <sup>5</sup>Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the lande: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities. <sup>6</sup>Set vp the standart in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction. <sup>7</sup>The lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore girde you with sackcloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs. <sup>9</sup>And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priestes shall be astonished, and the Prophets shall wonder. <sup>10</sup>Then saide I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sworde perceth vnto the heart. <sup>11</sup>At that time shall it bee saide to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry winde in the hie places of the wildernes commeth towarde ye daughter of my people, but neither to fanne nor to clense. <sup>12</sup>A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those places, and nowe will I also giue sentence vpon them. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, he shall come vp as the cloudes, and his charets shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Woe vnto vs, for wee are destroyed. <sup>14</sup>O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou maiest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughtes remaine within thee? <sup>15</sup>For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim. <sup>16</sup>Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and crie out against the cities of Iudah. <sup>17</sup>They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the field, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall perce vnto thine heart. <sup>19</sup>My bely, my bely, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sounde of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell. <sup>20</sup>Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole lande is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment. <sup>21</sup>Howe long shall I see the standert, and heare the sounde of the trumpet? <sup>22</sup>For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge. <sup>23</sup>I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and voide: and to the heauens, and they had no light. <sup>24</sup>I behelde the mountaines: and loe, they trembled and all the hilles shooke. <sup>25</sup>I behelde, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed. <sup>26</sup>I behelde, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath. <sup>27</sup>For thus hath the Lord saide, The whole lande shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full ende. <sup>28</sup>Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it. <sup>29</sup>The whole citie shall flee, for the noyse of the horsemen and bowemen: they shall goe into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein. <sup>30</sup>And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clothest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life. <sup>31</sup>For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman traouailing, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her handes: woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

<sup>5</sup>Run to and from by the streetes of Ierusalem, and beholde now, and knowe, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I will spare it. <sup>2</sup>For though they say, The Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsely. <sup>3</sup>O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the trueth? thou hast striken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne. <sup>4</sup>Therefore I saide, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God. <sup>5</sup>I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes. <sup>6</sup>Wherefore a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased. <sup>7</sup>Howe should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled them selues by companies in the harlots houses. <sup>8</sup>They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man neyed after his neighbours wife. <sup>9</sup>Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? <sup>10</sup>Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full ende: take away their batilments, for they are not the Lords. <sup>11</sup>For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against me, saith the Lord. <sup>12</sup>They haue denied the Lord, and saide, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sworde nor famine. <sup>13</sup>And the Prophetes shall be as winde, and the worde is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, beholde, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them. <sup>15</sup>Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say. <sup>16</sup>Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong. <sup>17</sup>And they shall eate thine haruest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullocks: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sworde thy fenced cities, wherein thou didest trust. <sup>18</sup>Neuerthelesse at those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will not make a full ende of you. <sup>19</sup>And when ye shall say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours. <sup>20</sup>Declare this in the house of Iacob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, <sup>21</sup>Heare nowe this, O foolish people, and without vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not. <sup>22</sup>Feare ye not me, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afraide at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it? <sup>23</sup>But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone. <sup>24</sup>For they say not in their heart, Let vs nowe feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the haruest. <sup>25</sup>Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you. <sup>26</sup>For among my people are founde wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit, to catch men. <sup>27</sup>As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceite: thereby they are become great and waxen riche. <sup>28</sup>They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore. <sup>29</sup>Shall I not visite for these things, sayth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? <sup>30</sup>An horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land. <sup>31</sup>The Prophets prophesie lies, and ye Priests receiue giftes in their handes, and my people delite therein. What will ye then doe in the ende thereof?

of it. <sup>7</sup>As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me with sorowe and strokes. <sup>8</sup>Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hande as the grape gatherer into the baskets. <sup>10</sup>Vnto whome shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? beholde, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: beholde, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no delite in it. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of daies. <sup>12</sup>And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hande vpon the inhabitants of the land, sayeth the Lord. <sup>13</sup>For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely. <sup>14</sup>They haue healed also ye hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. <sup>15</sup>Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither coulde they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, sayth the Lord. <sup>16</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, Stande in the waies and beholde, and aske for the olde way, which is the good way and walke therein, and yee shall finde rest for your soules: but they saide, We will not walke therein. <sup>17</sup>Also I set watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heede. <sup>18</sup>Heare therefore, yee Gentiles, and thou Congregation knowe, what is among them. <sup>19</sup>Heare, O earth, beholde, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my Lawe, but cast it off. <sup>20</sup>To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre country? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me. <sup>21</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I will laie stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friende shall perish. <sup>22</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, a people commeth from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth. <sup>23</sup>With bowe and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion. <sup>24</sup>We haue heard their fame, and our handes waxe feeble sorowe is come vpon vs, as the sorowe of a woman in trauaile. <sup>25</sup>Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side. <sup>26</sup>O daughter of my people, girde thee with sackcloth, and wallowe thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs. <sup>27</sup>I haue set thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou maiest knowe and trie their waies. <sup>28</sup>They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are brasse, and yron, they all are destroyers. <sup>29</sup>The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away. <sup>30</sup>They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

7 The wordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Stand in the gate of the Lordes house and crie this worde there, and say, Heare the wordes of the Lord, all yee of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Amend your waies and your woorkes, and I will let you dwell in this place. <sup>4</sup>Trust not in lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>For if you amende and redresse your waies and your woorkes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour, <sup>6</sup>And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction, <sup>7</sup>Then will I let you dwell in this place in the lande that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, you trust in lying wordes, that can not profite. <sup>9</sup>Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and swear falsely and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whome yee knowe not? <sup>10</sup>And come and stande before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and saye, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations? <sup>11</sup>Is this House become a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Beholde, euen I see it, sayeth the Lord. <sup>12</sup>But go ye nowe vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel. <sup>13</sup>Therefore nowe because yee haue done all these woorkes, sayeth the Lord, (and I rose vp earely and spake vnto you: but when I spake, yee would not heare me, neither when I called, would yee answere). <sup>14</sup>Therefore will I do vnto this House, wherupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo. <sup>15</sup>And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim. <sup>16</sup>Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or praier for them neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee. <sup>17</sup>Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem? <sup>18</sup>The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women kneade the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offrings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger. <sup>19</sup>Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayeth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces? <sup>20</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not bee quenched. <sup>21</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh. <sup>22</sup>For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices. <sup>23</sup>But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shall be my people: and walke yee in all the ways which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you. <sup>24</sup>But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbenesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward. <sup>25</sup>Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the lande of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you al my seruants the Prophets, rising vp earely euery day, and sending them. <sup>26</sup>Yet would they not heare me nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worse then their fathers. <sup>27</sup>Therefore shalt thou speake al these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answer thee. <sup>28</sup>But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth. <sup>29</sup>Cut off thine heare, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath. <sup>30</sup>For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it. <sup>31</sup>And they haue built the hie place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart. <sup>32</sup>Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth til there be no place. <sup>33</sup>And ye carkeises of this people shall be meat for the foules of the heauen and for the bestes of the earth, and none shall fraie them away. <sup>34</sup>Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrom and the voice of the bride: for the lande shall be desolate.

and the bones of the Priests and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues. <sup>2</sup>And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the host of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, and whome they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung vpon the earth. <sup>3</sup>And death shall bee desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>4</sup>Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayeth the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe? <sup>5</sup>Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to deceit, and would not returne. <sup>6</sup>I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell. <sup>7</sup>Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Howe doe yee say, Wee are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainly in vaine made hee it, the penne of the scribes is in vaine. <sup>9</sup>The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken. loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them? <sup>10</sup>Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fieldes to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely. <sup>11</sup>For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete woordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. <sup>12</sup>Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither coulde they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, sayeth the Lord. <sup>13</sup>I wil surely consume them, sayth the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them. <sup>14</sup>Why doe we stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord. <sup>15</sup>We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles. <sup>16</sup>The neying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole lande trembled at the noyse of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and those that dwell therein. <sup>17</sup>For beholde, I will sende serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, sayth the Lord. <sup>18</sup>I would haue comforted my selfe against sorowe, but mine heart is heauie in me. <sup>19</sup>Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? Why haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god? <sup>20</sup>The haruest is past, the sommer is ended, and we are not holpen. <sup>21</sup>I am sore vexed for the hurt of ye daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me. <sup>22</sup>Is there no balme at Gilead? is there no Physition there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered.

9Oh, that mine head were full of water and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slayne of the daughter of my people. <sup>2</sup>Oh, that I had in the wildernes a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels, <sup>3</sup>And they bende their tongues like their bowes for lyes: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen mee, sayth the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceite, and euery friend will deale deceitfully, <sup>5</sup>And euery one wil deceiue his friende, and wil not speake the trueth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paynes to do wickedly. <sup>6</sup>Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, sayth the Lord. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I wil melt them, and trie them: for what should I els do for the daughter of my people? <sup>8</sup>Their tongue is as an arow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart hee layeth waite for him. <sup>9</sup>Shal I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? <sup>10</sup>Vpon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the fayre places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe through them, neyther can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone. <sup>11</sup>And I wil make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I wil make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant. <sup>12</sup>Who is wise, to vnderstande this? and to whome the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wildernes, that none passeth through? <sup>13</sup>And the Lord sayeth, Because they haue forsaken my Lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voice, neither walked thereafter, <sup>14</sup>But haue walked after the stubbernesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them, <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke: <sup>16</sup>I wil scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I will send a sworde after them, til I haue consumed them. <sup>17</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women that they may come, <sup>18</sup>And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares and our eye liddes gush out of water. <sup>19</sup>For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, Howe are we destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out. <sup>20</sup>Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament. <sup>21</sup>For death is come vp into our windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streetes. <sup>22</sup>Speake, thus sayth the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lye, euen as the doung vpon the felde, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them. <sup>23</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neyther the riche man glorie in his riches. <sup>24</sup>But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which shewe mercie, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these things I delite, sayth the Lord. <sup>25</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil visite all them, which are circumcised with the vncircumcised: <sup>26</sup>Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wildernes: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and al the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

10Heare ye the worde of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such. <sup>3</sup>For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the handes of the carpenter) with the axe, <sup>4</sup>And another decketh it with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not. <sup>5</sup>The idoles stande vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go feare them not, for they cannot do euill, neither can they do good. <sup>6</sup>There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy name is great in power. <sup>7</sup>Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in al their kingdomes there is none like thee. <sup>8</sup>But, altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie. <sup>9</sup>Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and golde from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the handes of the founder: the blewe silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men. <sup>10</sup>But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the living God, and an everlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath. <sup>11</sup>(Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens) <sup>12</sup>He hath made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion. <sup>13</sup>Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to rayne, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures. <sup>14</sup>Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein. <sup>15</sup>They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. <sup>16</sup>The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name. <sup>17</sup>Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place. <sup>18</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, at this time I will throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so. <sup>19</sup>Wo is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorow, and I will beare it. <sup>20</sup>My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coardes are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines. <sup>21</sup>For the Pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, the noyse of the brute is come, and a great commotion out of the North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons. <sup>23</sup>O Lord, I knowe, that the way of man is not in himselfe, neyther is it in man to walke and to direct his steps. <sup>24</sup>O Lord, correct mee, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring mee to nothing. <sup>25</sup>Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iacob and deuoured him and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

11 The worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, <sup>3</sup>And say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant, <sup>4</sup>Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from the yron furnace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commande you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God, <sup>5</sup>That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a lande, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth

this day. Then answered I and sayde, So be it, O Lord. <sup>6</sup>Then the Lord saide vnto me, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare yee the words of this couenant, and doe them. <sup>7</sup>For I haue protested vnto your fathers, whe I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce. <sup>8</sup>Neuerthesse they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbernesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did it not. <sup>9</sup>And the Lord sayd vnto me, A conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crye vnto me, I will not heare them. <sup>12</sup>Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto whome they offer incense, but they shall not bee able to helpe them in time of their trouble. <sup>13</sup>For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue yee set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal. <sup>14</sup>Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto mee in their trouble, I will not heare them. <sup>15</sup>What shoulde my beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with manie? and the holy flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest. <sup>16</sup>The Lord called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with noyse and great tumult he hath set fyre vpon it, and the branches of it are broken. <sup>17</sup>For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal. <sup>18</sup>And the Lord hath taught me, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst mee their practises. <sup>19</sup>But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deised thus against me, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the lande of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memory. <sup>20</sup>But O Lord of hostes, that iudget righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause. <sup>21</sup>The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands) <sup>22</sup>Thus therefore sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will visite them: the yong men shall die

by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine, <sup>23</sup>And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

12O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let mee talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse? <sup>2</sup>Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruite: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their reins. <sup>3</sup>But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter. <sup>4</sup>Howe long shall the lande mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beastes are consumed and the birdes, because they sayd, He wil not see our last ende. <sup>5</sup>If thou hast runne with the footemen and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable lande, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iorden? <sup>6</sup>For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, though they speake faire to thee. <sup>7</sup>I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies. <sup>8</sup>Mine heritage is vnto mee, as a lion in the forest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it. <sup>9</sup>Shall mine heritage bee vnto mee, as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all ye beastes of the fielde, come to eate her? <sup>10</sup>Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyarde, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness. <sup>11</sup>They haue layde it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole lande lyeth waste, because no man setteth his minde on it. <sup>12</sup>The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for the sworde of the Lord shall deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other ende of the lande: no flesh shall haue peace. <sup>13</sup>They haue sown wheate, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of your fruites, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord against all mine euill neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their lande, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them. <sup>15</sup>And after that I haue plucked them out, I will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land. <sup>16</sup>And if they will learne the wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the middes of my people. <sup>17</sup>But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, sayeth the Lord.

13Thus sayth the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water. <sup>2</sup>So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes. <sup>3</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, <sup>4</sup>Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke. <sup>5</sup>So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me. <sup>6</sup>And after many dayes, the Lord sayde vnto mee, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there. <sup>7</sup>Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing. <sup>8</sup>Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walke after ye stubbornesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing. <sup>11</sup>For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and prayse, and glory, but they would not heare. <sup>12</sup>Therefore thou shalt saye vnto them this word, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottell shalbe filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that euery bottell shalbe filled with wine? <sup>13</sup>Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priestes and the Prophets and all the inhabitantes of Ierusalem with drunkennesse. <sup>14</sup>And I wil dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, sayeth the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them. <sup>15</sup>Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>16</sup>Giue glory to the Lord your God before he bring darknes, and or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you look for light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkenesse. <sup>17</sup>But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secrete for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue. <sup>18</sup>Say vnto the King and to the Queene, Humble yourselues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads. <sup>19</sup>The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue. <sup>20</sup>Lift vp your eyes and beholde them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull flocke? <sup>21</sup>What wilt thou saye, when hee shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaile? <sup>22</sup>And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discovered and thy heeles made bare. <sup>23</sup>Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euill. <sup>24</sup>Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde. <sup>25</sup>This is thy portion, and ye part of thy measures from me, sayth the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lyes. <sup>26</sup>Therefore I haue also discovered thy skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare. <sup>27</sup>I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neiings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hils in the fieldes, and thine abominations. Wo vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not bee made cleane? when shall it once be?

not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart. <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed. <sup>16</sup>And the people to whome these prophets doe prophecie, shalbe cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to bury them, both they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague. <sup>18</sup>For if I go into the field, behold the slaine with the sworde: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring into a land that they know not. <sup>19</sup>Hast thou vtterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble. <sup>20</sup>We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee. <sup>21</sup>Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs. <sup>22</sup>Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

<sup>15</sup>Then sayde the Lord vnto me, Though Moses and Samuel stooode before mee, yet mine affection coulde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart. <sup>2</sup>And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sworde, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie. <sup>3</sup>And I wil appoint ouer them foure Kindes, sayth the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the dogs to teare in pecies, and the soules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy. <sup>4</sup>I will scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem. <sup>5</sup>Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shall go to pray for thy peace? <sup>6</sup>Thou hast forsaken me, sayth the Lord, and gone backward: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting. <sup>7</sup>And I wil scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth I haue wasted, and destroyed

my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes. <sup>8</sup>Their widdowes are increased by mee about the sande of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fal vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily. <sup>9</sup>Shee that hath borne seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, sayth the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Wo is mee, my mother, that thou hast borne mee, a contentious man, and a man that striueth with the whole earth I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euery one doeth curse me. <sup>11</sup>The Lord sayd, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction. <sup>12</sup>Shall the yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North? <sup>13</sup>Thy substance and thy treasures wil I giue to be spoyled without gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders. <sup>14</sup>And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you. <sup>15</sup>O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke. <sup>16</sup>Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did eate them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hostes. <sup>17</sup>I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation. <sup>18</sup>Why is mine heauines continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me as a lyar, and as waters that faile? <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then wil I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my worde: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them. <sup>20</sup>And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee and to deliuer thee, saith ye Lord. <sup>21</sup>And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

sumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall be meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth. <sup>5</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for the: for I haue taken my peace, from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion. <sup>6</sup>Both the great, and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them nor cut themselues, nor make themselues balde for them. <sup>7</sup>They shall not stretch out the hands for the in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother. <sup>8</sup>Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke. <sup>9</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of myrth, and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride. <sup>10</sup>And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, and they shall say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God? <sup>11</sup>Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, sayth the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law, <sup>12</sup>(And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euery one after the stubbernesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me) <sup>13</sup>Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a lande that ye knowe not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace. <sup>14</sup>Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, <sup>15</sup>But the Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the lande of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I wil bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers. <sup>16</sup>Behold, sayth the Lord, I wil send out many fishers, and they shall fish them, and after, will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes. <sup>17</sup>For mine eyes are vpon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes. <sup>18</sup>And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my lande, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie carions and their abominations. <sup>19</sup>O Lord, thou art my force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited lies, and vanitie, wherein was no profite. <sup>20</sup>Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods? <sup>21</sup>Beholde, therefore I will this once teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

17The sinne of Iudah is written with a pen of yron, and with the poynt of a diamonde, and grauen vpon the table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your altars. <sup>2</sup>They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the hilles. <sup>3</sup>O my mountaine in the felde, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sinne of thy high places throughout all thy borders. <sup>4</sup>And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord. <sup>6</sup>For he shall be like the heath in the wilderness, and shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited. <sup>7</sup>Blessed be the man, that trusteth in ye Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. <sup>8</sup>For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and shall not feele when the heate commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neyther shall cease from yeelding fruit. <sup>9</sup>The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can knowe it? <sup>10</sup>I the Lord search the heart, and try ye reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes. <sup>11</sup>As the partryche gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his ende shall bee a foole. <sup>12</sup>As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuarie. <sup>13</sup>O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shalbe written in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters. <sup>14</sup>Heale me, O Lord, and I shall bee whole: saue me, and I shall bee saued: for thou art my prayse. <sup>15</sup>Behold, they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come nowe. <sup>16</sup>But I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee. <sup>17</sup>Be not terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie. <sup>18</sup>Let them bee confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraide, but let not me be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction. <sup>19</sup>Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe and stande in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all ye gates of Ierusalem, <sup>20</sup>And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and al Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates. <sup>21</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem. <sup>22</sup>Neither cary fourth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers. <sup>23</sup>But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction. <sup>24</sup>Neuerthesse if ye will heare me, sayth the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie ye Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein, <sup>25</sup>Then shall the Kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer. <sup>26</sup>And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offrings, and sacrifices, and meate offrings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of prayse into the house of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

18The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Arise, and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shewe thee my words. <sup>3</sup>Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheelles. <sup>4</sup>And the vessell that he made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potter. so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it. <sup>5</sup>Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>6</sup>O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, sayth the Lord? beholde, as the clay is in the potters hande, so are you in mine hande, O house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>I will speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to destroy it. <sup>8</sup>But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them. <sup>9</sup>And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to builde it and to plant it. <sup>10</sup>But if it do euill in my sight and heare not my voyce, I will repent of ye good that I thought to do for them. <sup>11</sup>Speake thou nowe therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith ye Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good. <sup>12</sup>But they sayde desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart. <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily. <sup>14</sup>Will a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the fiede? or shall the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken? <sup>15</sup>Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the auncient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden, <sup>16</sup>To make their land desolate and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wage his head, <sup>17</sup>I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemy: I will shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction. <sup>18</sup>Then sayde they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuce against Ieremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his words. <sup>19</sup>Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me. <sup>20</sup>Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for the, and to turne away thy wrath from them. <sup>21</sup>Therefore, deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sword in the battell. <sup>22</sup>Let the crye bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete. <sup>23</sup>Yet Lord thou knowest al their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

<sup>19</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests, <sup>2</sup>And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shall tell thee, <sup>3</sup>And shalt say, Heare yee the worde of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitantes of Ierusalem, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle. <sup>4</sup>Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neyther they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents, <sup>5</sup>And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde) <sup>6</sup>Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that this place

shall no more be called Topheth, nor ye valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter. <sup>7</sup>And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meate for ye foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the fiede. <sup>8</sup>And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and hisse because of all ye plagues thereof. <sup>9</sup>And I will feede the with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friende in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait. <sup>10</sup>Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that go with thee, <sup>11</sup>And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith ye Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth till there be no place to bury. <sup>12</sup>Thus will I doe vnto this place, sayth the Lord, and to the inhabitantes thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth. <sup>13</sup>For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, because of al the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods. <sup>14</sup>Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophecie, and he stood in the court of the Lordes house, and sayde to all the people, <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

<sup>20</sup>When Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things, <sup>2</sup>Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stockes that were in the hie gate of Benjamin which was by the House of the Lord. <sup>3</sup>And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-missabib. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy self, and to al thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sworde. <sup>5</sup>Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and al the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hande of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel. <sup>6</sup>And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to

Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buryed there, thou and all thy friendes, to whome thou hast prophecied lies. <sup>7</sup>O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me. <sup>8</sup>For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derision daily. <sup>9</sup>Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his worde was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay. <sup>10</sup>For I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery side. Declare, said they, and wee wil declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him. <sup>11</sup>But the Lord is with me like a mightie gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten. <sup>12</sup>But, O Lord of hostes, that tryest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause. <sup>13</sup>Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hande of the wicked. <sup>14</sup>Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed. <sup>15</sup>Cursed be the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him. <sup>16</sup>And let that man be as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the showting at noone tide, <sup>17</sup>Because he hath not slaine me, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wobe a perpetual conception. <sup>18</sup>How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorowe, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

21The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying, <sup>2</sup>Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs. <sup>3</sup>Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah, <sup>4</sup>Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the middes of this citie. <sup>5</sup>And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mighty arme, eue in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation. <sup>6</sup>And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man, and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence. <sup>7</sup>And after this, sayeth

the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the hande of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, and into the hande of their enemies, and into the hande of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion. <sup>8</sup>And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death. <sup>9</sup>He that abideth in this citie, shall dye by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a pray. <sup>10</sup>For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill and not for good, saith the Lord: it shalbe giuen into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire. <sup>11</sup>And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the worde of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>O house of Daud, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hande of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of your workes. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations? <sup>14</sup>But I will visite you according to the fruite of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kinde a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure rounde about it.

22Thus said the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing, <sup>2</sup>And say, Heare the worde of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Daud, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates. <sup>3</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Execute ye iudgement and righteousnes, and deliuer the oppressed from the hande of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widowe: doe no violence, nor sheade innocent blood in this place. <sup>4</sup>For if ye do this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Daud enter in by the gates of this House, and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people. <sup>5</sup>But if ye will not heare these wordes, I swear by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this House shalbe waste. <sup>6</sup>For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I wil make thee a wildernes and as cities not inhabited, <sup>7</sup>And I will prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire. <sup>8</sup>And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie? <sup>9</sup>Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them. <sup>10</sup>Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his natiue countrey. <sup>11</sup>For thus saith ye Lord, As touching Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, <sup>12</sup>But he shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this lande no more. <sup>13</sup>Wo vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke. <sup>14</sup>He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make him selfe large windowes, and feeling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion. <sup>15</sup>Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice? <sup>16</sup>When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knewe me, saith the Lord? <sup>17</sup>But thine eyes and thine heart are but only for thy couetousnesse, and for to sheade innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this. <sup>18</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie. <sup>19</sup>He shalbe buried, as an asse is buried, euen drawen and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem. <sup>20</sup>Goe vp to Lebanon, and cry: showte in Bashan and crye by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed. <sup>21</sup>I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidest, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce. <sup>22</sup>The wind shall feede all thy pastors, and thy louers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of al thy wickednesse. <sup>23</sup>Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, howe beautiful shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorowe of a woman in trauaile? <sup>24</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence. <sup>25</sup>And I will giue thee into the hande of them that seeke thy life, and into the hande of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hande of the Caldeans. <sup>26</sup>And I will cause them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die. <sup>27</sup>But to the lande, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither. <sup>28</sup>Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caryed away, hee and his seede, and cast out into a lande that they knowe not? <sup>29</sup>O earth, earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord. <sup>30</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

23Woe be vnto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastors that feede my people, Yee haue scattered my flock and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your works, saith the Lord. <sup>3</sup>And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreyes, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall growe and encrease. <sup>4</sup>And I will set vp shepherdes ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraide, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Behold, The dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branche, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth. <sup>6</sup>In his dayes Iudah shalbe saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name wherby they shall call him, The Lord our righteousnesse. <sup>7</sup>Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypt, <sup>8</sup>But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey and from all countreyes where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne lande. <sup>9</sup>Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whome wine hath ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holie wordes. <sup>10</sup>For the lande is full of adulterers, and because of othes the lande mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right. <sup>11</sup>For both the prophet and the Priest doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine House, saith the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darknesse: they shalbe driuen forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord. <sup>13</sup>And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre. <sup>14</sup>I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah. <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophets, Beholde, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the lande. <sup>16</sup>Thus sayth ye Lord of hosts, Heare not the wordes of the prophets that prophecie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. <sup>17</sup>They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath sayde, Ye shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbernesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you. <sup>18</sup>For who hath stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his worde and heard it? <sup>19</sup>Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwinde shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked. <sup>20</sup>The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstande it plainly. <sup>21</sup>I haue not sent these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne; I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied. <sup>22</sup>But if they had stande in my counsell, and had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions. <sup>23</sup>Am I a God at hande, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off? <sup>24</sup>Can any hide him selfe in secrete places, that I shall not see him, sayth the Lord? Do not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord? <sup>25</sup>I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed. <sup>26</sup>Howe long? Doe the prophets delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart? <sup>27</sup>Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neyghbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal? <sup>28</sup>The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and hee that hath my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, sayth the Lord? <sup>29</sup>Is not my word euen like a fire, sayeth the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone? <sup>30</sup>Therefore beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steale my word euerie one from his neighbour. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweete tongues, and say, He saith. <sup>32</sup>Beholde, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flat-teries, and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord. <sup>33</sup>And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, saith the Lord. <sup>34</sup>And the prophet, or the Priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euerie such one, and his house. <sup>35</sup>Thus shall yee say euery one to his neighbour, and euerie one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken? <sup>36</sup>And the burden of the Lord shall yee mention no more: for euery mans worde shall bee his burden: for ye haue peruerted the words of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God. <sup>37</sup>Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken? <sup>38</sup>And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because yee say this word, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord, <sup>39</sup>Therefore beholde, I, euen I will vtterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, <sup>40</sup>And will bring an euerlasting reproche vpon you, and a perpetual shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

24The Lord shewed me, and beholde, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caryed away captiue Ieconiah ye sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel. <sup>2</sup>One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had verie naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill. <sup>3</sup>Then saide the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: ye good figges verie good, and the naughtie verie naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill. <sup>4</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>5</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I knowe them that are caryed away captiue of Iudah to bee good, whome I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans. <sup>6</sup>For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this lande, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out, <sup>7</sup>And I will giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God: for they shall returne vnto mee with their whole heart. <sup>8</sup>And as the naughtie figges which can not bee eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this lande, and them that dwell in the lande of Egypt: <sup>9</sup>I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them. <sup>10</sup>And I will sende the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

25The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel: <sup>2</sup>The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, <sup>3</sup>From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto mee, and I haue spoken vnto you rising earely and speaking, but ye woulde not heare. <sup>4</sup>And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruantes the

Prophets, rising early and sending them, but yee would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey. <sup>5</sup>They sayde, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the lande that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer. <sup>6</sup>And go not after other gods to serue them and to worshippe them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you. <sup>7</sup>Neuerthelesse ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked mee to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes, <sup>9</sup>Beholde, I will send and take to mee all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this lande, and against the inhabitantes thereof, and against all these nations rounde about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation. <sup>10</sup>Moreouer I will take from them the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride, the noise of the milstones, and the light of the candle. <sup>11</sup>And this whole land shalbe desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the King of Babel seuentie yeeres. <sup>12</sup>And when the seuentie yeres are accomplished, I will visite the King of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation, <sup>13</sup>And I will bring vpon that lande all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophecied against all nations. <sup>14</sup>For many nations, and great Kings shall euen serue themselues of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne handes. <sup>15</sup>For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me, Take the cuppe of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whome I sende thee, to drinke it. <sup>16</sup>And they shall drinke, and be moued and be mad, because of the sworde that I will sende among them. <sup>17</sup>Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me: <sup>18</sup>Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day: <sup>19</sup>Pharaoh also, King of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people: <sup>20</sup>And all sortes of people, and all the Kings of the lande of Vz: and all the Kings of the lande of the Philistims, and Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod: <sup>21</sup>Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites, <sup>22</sup>And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the Kings of the Yles, that are beyonde the Sea, <sup>23</sup>And Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners, <sup>24</sup>And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the desert, <sup>25</sup>And all the Kings of Zimri, and all the Kings of Elam, and all the Kings of the Medes, <sup>26</sup>And all the Kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the worlde, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Sheshach shall drinke after them. <sup>27</sup>Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and bee drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I will sende among you. <sup>28</sup>But if they refuse to take the cuppe at thine hande to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Ye shall certainly drinke. <sup>29</sup>For loe, I beginne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and shoulde you goe free? Ye shall not goe quite: for I will call for a sword vpon al the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>30</sup>Therefore prophecie thou against them al these words, and say vnto them, The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and crie aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth. <sup>31</sup>The sounde shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked, to the sworde, saith the Lord. <sup>32</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe foorth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwinde shalbe raised vp from the coastes of the earth, <sup>33</sup>And the slaine of the Lord shall be at that day, from one ende of the earth, euen vnto the other ende of the earth: they shall not bee mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shalbe as the dongue vpon the ground. <sup>34</sup>Howle, ye shepherdes, and crie, and wallowe your selues in the ashes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and ye shall fall like precious vessels. <sup>35</sup>And the flight shall faile from the shepherdes, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke. <sup>36</sup>A voyce of the crye of the shepherdes, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shalbe heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture. <sup>37</sup>And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord. <sup>38</sup>He hath forsaken his couert, as the lyon: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressor, and because of ye wrath of his indignatio.

26In the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Sande in the court of the Lordes House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worshippe in the Lords House, all the wordes that I commaund thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a worde backe, <sup>3</sup>If so be they will hearken, and turne euery man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes. <sup>4</sup>And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you, <sup>5</sup>And to heare ye wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp earely, and sending them, and will not obey them, <sup>6</sup>Then will I make this House like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth. <sup>7</sup>So the Priestes, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Nowe when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priestes, and the prophets, and all the people tooke him, and saide, Thou shalt die the death. <sup>9</sup>Why hast thou prophecied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This House shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the Kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the new gate of the Lords House. <sup>11</sup>Then spake the Priestes, and the prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthie to die: for he hath prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares. <sup>12</sup>Then spake Ieremiah vnto all the princes, and to al the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophecie against this house and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard. <sup>13</sup>Therefore nowe amende your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you. <sup>14</sup>As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right. <sup>15</sup>But knowe ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these words in your eares. <sup>16</sup>Then saide the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes, and to the prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God. <sup>17</sup>Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the lande, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying, <sup>18</sup>Michah the Morashite prophecied in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to al the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a felde, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the House shalbe as the hie places of the forest. <sup>19</sup>Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare ye Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules. <sup>20</sup>And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lord, one Vriiah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this lande, according to all the wordes of Ieremiah. <sup>21</sup>Nowe when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Vriiah heard it, he was afraide and fled, and went into Egypt. <sup>22</sup>Then Iehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt. <sup>23</sup>And they fet Vriiah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people. <sup>24</sup>But the hande of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they shoulde not giue him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

27In the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke, <sup>3</sup>And send them to the King of Edom, and to the King of Moab, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hande of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah ye king of Iudah, <sup>4</sup>And commande them to saye vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters, <sup>5</sup>I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me. <sup>6</sup>But nowe I haue giuen all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beastes of the felde haue I also giuen him to serue him. <sup>7</sup>And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his lande come also: then many nations and great Kinges shall serue themselues of him. <sup>8</sup>And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sworde, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands. <sup>9</sup>Therefore heare not your prophets nor your southsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel. <sup>10</sup>For they prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your lande, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish. <sup>11</sup>But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those wil I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwel therein. <sup>12</sup>I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue. <sup>13</sup>Why will ye dye, thou, and thy people by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel? <sup>14</sup>Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you. <sup>15</sup>For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophecie vnto you. <sup>16</sup>Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your prophets that prophecie vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the house of the Lord shall nowe shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophecie a lie vnto you. <sup>17</sup>Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore shoulde this citie be desolate? <sup>18</sup>But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel. <sup>19</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie, <sup>20</sup>Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when he caryed away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem. <sup>21</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, <sup>22</sup>They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntil the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

28And that same yeere in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to mee in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said, <sup>2</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel. <sup>3</sup>Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caryed them into Babel. <sup>4</sup>And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caryed away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel. <sup>5</sup>Then the Prophet Ieremiah saide vnto the Prophet Hananiah in the presence of ye Priestes, and in the presence of all the people that stode in the House of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Euen the Prophet Ieremiah sayde, So bee it: the Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lordes House, and al that is caryed captiue, from Babel, into this place. <sup>7</sup>But heare thou now this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people. <sup>8</sup>The Prophets that haue beene before mee and before thee in time past, prophecied against many countreyes, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence. <sup>9</sup>And the Prophet which propheciethe of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowen that the Lord hath truely sent him. <sup>10</sup>Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it. <sup>11</sup>And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of al nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way. <sup>12</sup>Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, <sup>13</sup>Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron. <sup>14</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the field also. <sup>15</sup>Then sayd the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare nowe Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye. <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will cast thee from of the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord. <sup>17</sup>So Hananiah the Prophet died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

29Now these are the wordes of the booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priestes, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzar had caryed away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel: <sup>2</sup>(After that Ieconiah the King, and the Queene, and the eunuches, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem) <sup>3</sup>By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiyah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying, <sup>4</sup>Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue caused to be caryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel: <sup>5</sup>Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them. <sup>6</sup>Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may bee increased there, and not diminished. <sup>7</sup>And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace. <sup>8</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, and your southsayers that bee among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame. <sup>9</sup>For they prophecie you a lie in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord. <sup>10</sup>But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place. <sup>11</sup>For I knowe the thoughtes, that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughtes of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope. <sup>12</sup>Then shall you crie vnto mee, and ye shall go and pray vnto me, and I will heare you, <sup>13</sup>And ye shall seeke mee and finde mee, because ye shall seeke mee with all your heart. <sup>14</sup>And I wil be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue. <sup>15</sup>Because ye haue sayd, The Lord hath raised vs vp Prophets in Babel, <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Daud, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie: <sup>17</sup>Euen thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will sende vpon them the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that cannot bee eaten, they are so naughtie. <sup>18</sup>And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproche among all the nations whither I haue cast them, <sup>19</sup>Because they haue not hearde my words, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruantes the Prophetes, rising vp earely, and sending them, but yee woulde not heare, saith the Lord. <sup>20</sup>Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel. <sup>21</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophecie lyes vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes. <sup>22</sup>And al they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt in the fire, <sup>23</sup>Because they haue committed vilenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying words in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, and testifie it, saith the Lord. <sup>24</sup>Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying, <sup>25</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying, <sup>26</sup>The Lord hath made thee Priest for Iehoiada the Priest, that yee should bee officers in the House of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes. <sup>27</sup>Nowe therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecietieth vnto you? <sup>28</sup>For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: buyld houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and

eate the fruites of them. <sup>29</sup>And Zephaniah the Priest red this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet. <sup>30</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>31</sup>Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lye, <sup>32</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: hee shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, sayth the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

30The worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke. <sup>3</sup>For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the lande, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it. <sup>4</sup>Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah. <sup>5</sup>For thus saith the Lord, wee haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace. <sup>6</sup>Demand now and beholde, if man trauayle with childe? wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenesse? <sup>7</sup>Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it. <sup>8</sup>For in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues of him. <sup>9</sup>But they shall serue the Lord their God, and Daud their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them. <sup>10</sup>Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lord, neither be afrayde, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre cuntry, and thy seede from the lande of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie and none shall make him afraide. <sup>11</sup>For I am with thee, sayth the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off. <sup>12</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous. <sup>13</sup>There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor help for thee. <sup>14</sup>All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastisement for ye multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased. <sup>15</sup>Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee. <sup>16</sup>Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shalbe spoyled, and all they that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed. <sup>17</sup>For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after. <sup>18</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tentes, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the cite shalbe builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof. <sup>19</sup>And out of them shall proceede thankesgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they shall not bee fewe: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished. <sup>20</sup>Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shall be established before me: and I will visite all that vexed them. <sup>21</sup>And their noble ruler shall be of themselues, and their gouernour shall proceede from the middes of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto mee, saith the Lord? <sup>22</sup>And ye shall be my people, and I will bee your God. <sup>23</sup>Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlwinde that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked. <sup>24</sup>The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

31At the same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sworde, founde grace in the wildernes: he walked before Israel to cause him to rest. <sup>3</sup>The Lord hath appeared vnto me of old, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawn thee. <sup>4</sup>Againe I will builde thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt stil be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shall make them common. <sup>6</sup>For the dayes shall come that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zion to the Lord our God. <sup>7</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, and shoute for ioye among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered also: a great companie shall returne hither. <sup>9</sup>They shall come weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will lead them by the riuers of water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne. <sup>10</sup>Heare the worde of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, Hee that scattered Israel, wil gather him and wil keepe him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke. <sup>11</sup>For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hande of him, that was stronger then he. <sup>12</sup>Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euen for the wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullocks: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow. <sup>13</sup>Then shall ye virgine reioyce in the dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioy, and wil comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes. <sup>14</sup>And I wil replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnesse, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weeping. Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not. <sup>16</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy: <sup>17</sup>And there is hope in thine ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders. <sup>18</sup>I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God. <sup>19</sup>Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth. <sup>20</sup>Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I still remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities. <sup>22</sup>How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compass a man. <sup>23</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine. <sup>24</sup>And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke. <sup>25</sup>For I haue saciate the wearie soule, and I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule. <sup>26</sup>Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my sleepe was sweete vnto me. <sup>27</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the seede of man and with the seede of beast. <sup>28</sup>And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so wil I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith ye Lord. <sup>29</sup>In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge. <sup>30</sup>But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, <sup>32</sup>Not according to ye couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord. <sup>33</sup>But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawe in their inward partes, and write it in their hearts, and wil be their God, and they shalbe my people. <sup>34</sup>And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more. <sup>35</sup>Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes. <sup>36</sup>If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer. <sup>37</sup>Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or the fundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then wil I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord. <sup>38</sup>Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner. <sup>39</sup>And the line of the measure shall go forth in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath. <sup>40</sup>And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shalbe holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

32The worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar. <sup>2</sup>For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: And Ieremiah the Prophet was shutte vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house. <sup>3</sup>For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the handes of the King of Babel, and he shall take it? <sup>4</sup>And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shall not escape out of the hande of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the handes of the King of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beholde his face, <sup>5</sup>And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntil I visit him, saith ye Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper. <sup>6</sup>And Ieremiah said,

The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>7</sup>Beholde, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncler, shall come vnto thee and say, Bye vnto thee my felde, that is in Anathoth: for the title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee to bye it. <sup>8</sup>So Hanameel, mine vncler sonne, came to mee in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord. <sup>9</sup>And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncler sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen shekels, and tenne pecies of siluer. <sup>10</sup>And I writ it in the booke and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances. <sup>11</sup>So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open, <sup>12</sup>And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncler sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before al the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison. <sup>13</sup>And I charged Baruch before them, saying, <sup>14</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessell, that they may continue a long time. <sup>15</sup>For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fieldes, and vineyardes shall be possessed againe in this land. <sup>16</sup>Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, <sup>17</sup>Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee. <sup>18</sup>Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompenseth the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great and mightie, whose Name is ye Lord of hostes, <sup>19</sup>Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of ye sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes) <sup>20</sup>Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day, <sup>21</sup>And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour, <sup>22</sup>And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and hony, <sup>23</sup>And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commaundedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them. <sup>24</sup>Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is

giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it. <sup>25</sup>And thou hast sayd vnto me, O Lord God, Bye vnto thee the felde for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans. <sup>26</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>27</sup>Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me? <sup>28</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, and he shall take it. <sup>29</sup>And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rouses they haue offred incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger. <sup>30</sup>For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord. <sup>31</sup>Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight, <sup>32</sup>Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>33</sup>And they haue turned vnto me the backe and not the face: though I taught them rising vp earely, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine, <sup>34</sup>But they set their abominations in ye house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it, <sup>35</sup>And they built the hie places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne. <sup>36</sup>And nowe therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, <sup>37</sup>Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely. <sup>38</sup>And they shall be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>39</sup>And I wil giue them one heart and one way that they may feare me for euer for ye wealth of them, and of their children after them. <sup>40</sup>And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me. <sup>41</sup>Yea, I wil delite in them to do them good, and I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule. <sup>42</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them. <sup>43</sup>And the fields shalbe possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans. <sup>44</sup>Men shall buy fields for siluer, and make writings and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

33Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of prison) saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name. <sup>3</sup>Call vnto me, and I will answeere thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mounts, and by the sword, <sup>5</sup>They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednes. <sup>6</sup>Behold, I will giue it health and amendment: for I wil cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth. <sup>7</sup>And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first. <sup>8</sup>And I wil clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me. <sup>9</sup>And it shalbe to me a name, a ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all ye good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare and tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie. <sup>10</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Againe there shalbe heard in this place (which ye say shalbe desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast) <sup>11</sup>The voyce of ioy and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, Prayse the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercy endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of prayse in the House of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, sayth the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flockes. <sup>13</sup>In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, sayth the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah. <sup>15</sup>In those dayes and at that time, wil I cause the branch of righteousnesse to growe vp vnto Daudid, and he shall execute iudgement, and righteousnes in the land. <sup>16</sup>In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousnesse. <sup>17</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Daudid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel. <sup>18</sup>Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meat offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually. <sup>19</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>20</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season, <sup>21</sup>Then may my couenant be broken with Daudid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers. <sup>22</sup>As the army of heauen can not be nombred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so wil I multiplie the seede of Daudid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me. <sup>23</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying, <sup>24</sup>Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them. <sup>25</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, <sup>26</sup>Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Daudid my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

34The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cites thereof) saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, and tell him, Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire, <sup>3</sup>And thou shall not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the King of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babel. <sup>4</sup>Yet heare the worde of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus sayth the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not dye by the sword, <sup>5</sup>But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh lorde: for I haue pronounced the worde, sayth the Lord.

of Babels hoste, which are gone vp from you. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, I will commande, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

35The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, <sup>2</sup>Go vnto the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke. <sup>3</sup>Then tooke I Iazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites, <sup>4</sup>And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboute the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure. <sup>5</sup>And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, and cuppes, and said vnto them, Drinke wine. <sup>6</sup>But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer. <sup>7</sup>Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers. <sup>8</sup>Thus haue wee obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and wee drinke no wine all our dayes, neither wee, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters. <sup>9</sup>Neither builde wee houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor felde, nor seede, <sup>10</sup>But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs. <sup>11</sup>But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we dwel at Ierusalem. <sup>12</sup>Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>13</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord? <sup>14</sup>The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising earely, and speaking, but ye would not obey me. <sup>15</sup>I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes, rising vp earely, and sending, them, saying, Returne nowe euery man from his euill way, and amende your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwel in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey mee. <sup>16</sup>Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoke vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere. <sup>18</sup>And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that hee hath commanded you, <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

36And in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day. <sup>3</sup>It may bee that the House of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes. <sup>4</sup>Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke. <sup>5</sup>And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and can not go into the House of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lordes House vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities. <sup>7</sup>It may be that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people. <sup>8</sup>So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lordes House. <sup>9</sup>And in the fift yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the new gate of the Lordes house, in the hearing of all the people. <sup>11</sup>When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, <sup>12</sup>Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan

the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes. <sup>13</sup>Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people. <sup>14</sup>Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them. <sup>15</sup>And they saide vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience. <sup>16</sup>Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraid both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes. <sup>17</sup>And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth? <sup>18</sup>Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke. <sup>19</sup>Then saide the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be. <sup>20</sup>And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour and tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare. <sup>21</sup>So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stode beside the King. <sup>22</sup>Nowe the King sate in the winter House, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him. <sup>23</sup>And when Iehudi had read three, or foure sides, hee cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntil all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth. <sup>24</sup>Yet they were not afraide, nor rent their garmets, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes. <sup>25</sup>Neuerthesse, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, that he would not burne ye roule: but he would not heare them. <sup>26</sup>But the King commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord hid them. <sup>27</sup>Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying, <sup>28</sup>Take thee againe another roule and write in it all ye former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt, <sup>29</sup>And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the King of Babel shall certainly come and destroye this land, and shall take thence both man and beast? <sup>30</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Hee shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

<sup>31</sup>And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare. <sup>32</sup>Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

37And King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah. <sup>2</sup>But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah. <sup>3</sup>And Zedekiah the King sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs. <sup>4</sup>(Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison. <sup>5</sup>Then Pharaohs hoste was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem) <sup>6</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land. <sup>8</sup>And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart. <sup>10</sup>For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire. <sup>11</sup>When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, <sup>12</sup>Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the land of Benjamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people. <sup>13</sup>And when hee was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fleest to the Caldeans. <sup>14</sup>Then sayde Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes. <sup>15</sup>Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and layde him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the prison. <sup>16</sup>When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, <sup>17</sup>Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiah sayd, Yea: for, sayd

he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel. <sup>18</sup>Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison? <sup>19</sup>Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land? <sup>20</sup>Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lorde the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there. <sup>21</sup>Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill all the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

38Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a praye, and shall liue. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it. <sup>4</sup>Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt. <sup>5</sup>Then Zedekiah the King sayd, Behold, he is in your hands, for ye King can denie you nothing. <sup>6</sup>Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the myre. <sup>7</sup>Now when Ebed-melech ye blacke More one of ye Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the King sate in the gate of Benjamin) <sup>8</sup>And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying, <sup>9</sup>My lorde the King, these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie. <sup>10</sup>Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye. <sup>11</sup>So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the tresurie, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah. <sup>12</sup>And Ebed-melech the blacke More sayde vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coards. And Ieremiah did so. <sup>13</sup>So they drewe vp Ieremiah with coards and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison. <sup>14</sup>Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entrie that is in the House of the Lord, and the King sayd vnto Ieremiah, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me. <sup>15</sup>Then Ieremiah sayd to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me. <sup>16</sup>So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life. <sup>17</sup>Then sayd Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayth the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house. <sup>18</sup>But if thou wilt not go forth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of ye Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands. <sup>19</sup>And Zedekiah the King sayde vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer mee into their hands, and they mocke me. <sup>20</sup>But Ieremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue. <sup>21</sup>But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the worde that the Lord hath shewed me. <sup>22</sup>And beholde, all the women that are left in the King of Iudahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe. <sup>23</sup>So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire. <sup>24</sup>Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die. <sup>25</sup>But if ye princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs nowe, what thou hast sayde vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the King sayd vnto thee, <sup>26</sup>Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there. <sup>27</sup>Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued. <sup>28</sup>So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and they besieged it. <sup>2</sup>And in the eleuent yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken vp. <sup>3</sup>And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sar-sechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel. <sup>4</sup>And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes. <sup>5</sup>But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desart of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. <sup>6</sup>Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudah. <sup>7</sup>Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel. <sup>8</sup>And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem. <sup>9</sup>Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained. <sup>10</sup>But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fieldes at the same time. <sup>11</sup>Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde, saying, <sup>12</sup>Take him, and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as he shall say vnto thee. <sup>13</sup>So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes: <sup>14</sup>Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people. <sup>15</sup>Now the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, <sup>16</sup>Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring my wordes vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee. <sup>17</sup>But I wil deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest. <sup>18</sup>For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shall be for a praye vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, sayth the Lord.

40The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde had let him goe from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel. <sup>2</sup>And the chiefe stewarde tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place. <sup>3</sup>Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you. <sup>4</sup>And nowe beholde, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, tarie still: beholde, all the lande is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe. <sup>5</sup>For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe stewarde gaue him vitales and a rewarde, and let him goe. <sup>6</sup>Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the lande. <sup>7</sup>Nowe when all the captaines of the hoste, which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel, <sup>8</sup>Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanen, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men. <sup>9</sup>And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the lande, and serue the King of Babel, and it shall be well with you. <sup>10</sup>As for me, Beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken. <sup>11</sup>Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, <sup>12</sup>Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and sommer fruites, very much. <sup>13</sup>Moreouer Iohanen the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, <sup>14</sup>And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleued them not. <sup>15</sup>Then Iohanen

the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shoulde be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish? <sup>16</sup>But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

41But in the seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royall, and the princes of the King, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eate bread together in Mizpah. <sup>2</sup>Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slewe him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the lande. <sup>3</sup>Ishmael also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre. <sup>4</sup>Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it, <sup>5</sup>There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beardes shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with offerings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam. <sup>7</sup>And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slewe them, and cast them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him. <sup>8</sup>But tenne men were founde among them, that saide vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the felde, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren. <sup>9</sup>Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slayne because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had made because of Basha King of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine. <sup>10</sup>Then Ishmael caryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites. <sup>11</sup>But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, <sup>12</sup>Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by ye great waters that are in Gibeon. <sup>13</sup>Nowe when all the people whom Ishmael caryed away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad. <sup>14</sup>So all the people, that Ishmael had caryed away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah. <sup>15</sup>But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites. <sup>16</sup>Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon: <sup>17</sup>And they departed and dwelt in Geruth Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, <sup>18</sup>Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael ye sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

42Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came, <sup>2</sup>And saide vnto Ieremiah the Prophete, Heare our prayer, we beseeche thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe beholde) <sup>3</sup>That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may doe. <sup>4</sup>Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto ye Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you. <sup>5</sup>Then they said to Ieremiah, The Lord be a witnessse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things for ye which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs. <sup>6</sup>Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom we sende thee that it may be well with vs, when wee obey the voyce of the Lord our God. <sup>7</sup>And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah. <sup>8</sup>Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all ye people from ye least to the most, <sup>9</sup>And saide vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him, <sup>10</sup>If ye will dwell in this land, then I wil build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you. <sup>11</sup>Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraide: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, <sup>12</sup>And I will graunt you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to dwell in your owne land. <sup>13</sup>But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God, <sup>14</sup>Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sounde

of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell, <sup>15</sup>(And nowe therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there) <sup>16</sup>Then the sworde that ye feared, shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die. <sup>17</sup>And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by ye sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them. <sup>18</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse and a reproche, and ye shall see this place no more. <sup>19</sup>O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day. <sup>20</sup>Surely ye dissembled in your hearts When ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto al that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it. <sup>21</sup>Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you. <sup>22</sup>Nowe therefore, knowe certainly that ye shall die by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

43Nowe when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto ye whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes, <sup>2</sup>Then spake Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiiah, and Iohanah the sonne of Kareah, and all the proude men, saying vnto Ieremiah, Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, <sup>3</sup>But Baruch ye sonne of Neriah prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and cary vs away captiues into Babel. <sup>4</sup>So Iohanah the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the lande of Iudah. <sup>5</sup>But Iohanah the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from al nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwel in ye land of Iudah: <sup>6</sup>Euen men and women, and children, and the Kinges daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, ye sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah. <sup>7</sup>So they came into the lande of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes. <sup>8</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, <sup>9</sup>Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the claie in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tanpanhes in ye sight of the men of Iudah, <sup>10</sup>And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his paulion ouer them. <sup>11</sup>And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appoynted for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword to the sword. <sup>12</sup>And I wil kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and carie them away captiues, and he shall aray himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace. <sup>13</sup>He shall breake also ye images of Beth-shemesh, that is in the lande of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

44The worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the coutry of Pathros, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, <sup>3</sup>Because of their wickednes which they haue comitted, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, who they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers. <sup>4</sup>Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruats the Prophets rising earely, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate. <sup>5</sup>But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods. <sup>6</sup>Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powred foorth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day. <sup>7</sup>Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, childe and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine? <sup>8</sup>In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the woorkes of your hands, burning incense vnto other Gods in the lande of Egypt whither yee be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth. <sup>9</sup>Haue yee forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the Kings of Iudah and the wickednesse of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem? <sup>10</sup>They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you to euill and to destroy all Iudah, <sup>12</sup>And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sworde and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sworde, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche. <sup>13</sup>For I will visite them that dwel in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by ye sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, <sup>14</sup>So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they shoulde returne into the land of Iudah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape. <sup>15</sup>Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods and all the women that stode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the lande of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying, <sup>16</sup>The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, wee will not heare it of thee, <sup>17</sup>But wee will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then had wee plentie of vitailles and were well and felt none euill. <sup>18</sup>But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sworde and by the famine. <sup>19</sup>And when we burnt incense to ye Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands? <sup>20</sup>Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answeere, saying, <sup>21</sup>Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kinges, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it? <sup>22</sup>So that the Lord could no longer forbear, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day. <sup>23</sup>Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Lawe, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day. <sup>24</sup>Moreouer Ieremiah saide vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt. <sup>25</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hande, saying, We will performe our voves that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your voves and doe the things that yee haue vowed. <sup>26</sup>Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwel in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, sayeth the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the lande of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth. <sup>27</sup>Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shalbe consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be vtterly destroyed. <sup>28</sup>Yet a small number that escape the sworde, shall returne out of the lande of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stad, mine or theirs. <sup>29</sup>And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, whe I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill. <sup>30</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

Lord. <sup>6</sup>The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the North by the riuer Perath. <sup>7</sup>Who is this, that commeth vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers? <sup>8</sup>Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he sayth, I wil goe vp, and will couer the earth: I wil destroy the citie with them that dwell therein. <sup>9</sup>Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come foorth, the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe. <sup>10</sup>For this is the day of ye Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shall be saciate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the North countrey by the Riuer Perath. <sup>11</sup>Goe vp vnto Gilead, and take balme, O virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health. <sup>12</sup>The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crie hath filled the lande: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together. <sup>13</sup>The woorde that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, howe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel should come and smite the lande of Egypt. <sup>14</sup>Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sworde shall deuoure rounde about thee. <sup>15</sup>Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them. <sup>16</sup>Hee made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they saide, Arise, let vs goe againe to our owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the sworde of the violent. <sup>17</sup>They did cry there, Pharaoh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath passed the time appointed. <sup>18</sup>As I liue, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, surely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the sea: so shall it come. <sup>19</sup>O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant. <sup>20</sup>Egypt is like a faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth. <sup>21</sup>Also her hired men are in the middes of her like fat calves: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation. <sup>22</sup>The voyce thereof shall goe foorth like a serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood. <sup>23</sup>They shall cut downe her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are moe then ye grasshoppers, and are innumerable. <sup>24</sup>The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shall be deliuered into the handes of the people of the North. <sup>25</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the common people of No and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their Kings, euen Pharaoh, and al them that trust in him, <sup>26</sup>And I will deliuer them into the handes of those, that

seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the handes of his seruants, and afterwarde she shall dwell as in the olde time, saith the Lord. <sup>27</sup>But feare not thou, O my seruant Iaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid. <sup>28</sup>Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

47The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote Azzah. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, waters rise vp out of the North, and shalbe as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflowe the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle, <sup>3</sup>At the noise and stamping of ye hoofes of his strong horses, at the noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheelles: ye fathers shall not looke backe to their children, for feeblenes of handes, <sup>4</sup>Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of Caphtor. <sup>5</sup>Baldenes is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. Howe long wilt thou thy selfe? <sup>6</sup>O thou sword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still. <sup>7</sup>Howe can it cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

48Concerning Moab, thus saith ye Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraide. <sup>2</sup>Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, O Madmen, and the sworde shall pursue thee. <sup>3</sup>A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction. <sup>4</sup>Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their crie to be heard. <sup>5</sup>For at the going vp of Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction, <sup>6</sup>Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wilderness. <sup>7</sup>For because thou hast trusted in thy workes and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priestes and his princes together. <sup>8</sup>And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shalbe destroyed as the Lord hath spoken. <sup>9</sup>Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwell therein. <sup>10</sup>Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood. <sup>11</sup>Moab hath bene at rest from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not bene powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him and his sent is not changed. <sup>12</sup>Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carie him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels. <sup>13</sup>And Moab shalbe ashamed of Chemosh as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence. <sup>14</sup>Howe thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre? <sup>15</sup>Moab is destroyed, and his cities burnt vp, and his chose yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith ye King, whose name is ye Lord of hostes. <sup>16</sup>The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast. <sup>17</sup>All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, Howe is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod! <sup>18</sup>Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holdes. <sup>19</sup>Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done? <sup>20</sup>Moab is cofounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste, <sup>21</sup>And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, <sup>22</sup>And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, <sup>23</sup>And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, <sup>24</sup>And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of ye land of Moab farre or neere. <sup>25</sup>The horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord. <sup>26</sup>Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall wallowe in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision. <sup>27</sup>For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued. <sup>28</sup>O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth. <sup>29</sup>We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proude) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautesse of his heart. <sup>30</sup>I know his wrath, saith ye Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulatio, for they do not right. <sup>31</sup>Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kirheres. <sup>32</sup>O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: ye destroyer is fallen vpon thy somer fruites, and vpon thy vintage, <sup>33</sup>And ioye, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull felde, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse: none shall treade with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting. <sup>34</sup>From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse from Zoar vnto Horonaim, ye heiffer of three yere old shall go lowing: for ye waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted. <sup>35</sup>Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offered in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods. <sup>36</sup>Therefore mine heart shall sounde for Moab like a shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Kerheres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished. <sup>37</sup>For euery head shalbe balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth. <sup>38</sup>And mourning shall be vpon all the house toppes of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, sayeth the Lord. <sup>39</sup>They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed? howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him. <sup>40</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, he shall flee as an eagle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab. <sup>41</sup>The cities are taken, and the strong holdes are wonne, and ye mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shalbe as ye heart of a woman in trauaile. <sup>42</sup>And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord. <sup>43</sup>Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord. <sup>44</sup>He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, sayeth the Lord. <sup>45</sup>They that fled, stoode vnder the shadowe of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children. <sup>46</sup>Wo be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie. <sup>47</sup>Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, sayeth the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

49Unto the children of Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their king possessed God? and his people dwelt in his cities? <sup>2</sup>Therefore beholde the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, sayeth the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: girde you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and from by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie; and his Priestes, and his princes likewise. <sup>4</sup>Wherefore gloriest thou in the valles? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me? <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I will bring a feare vpon thee, sayth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scattered euery man right foorth, and none shall gather him that fleeth. <sup>6</sup>And afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon. <sup>7</sup>To Edom thus sayeth the Lord of hostes: Is wisdome no more in Teman? is counsel perished from their children? is their wisdome vanished? <sup>8</sup>Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan ( they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation. <sup>9</sup>If the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue ynough. <sup>10</sup>For I haue discovered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, <sup>11</sup>Leaue thy fathers children, and I will preserue them alieue, and let thy widowes trust in me. <sup>12</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it. <sup>13</sup>For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayeth the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations. <sup>14</sup>I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battell. <sup>15</sup>For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men. <sup>16</sup>Thy feare, and ye pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and keepest the height of ye hil: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hie as the eagle, I wil bring thee downe from thece, sayth the Lord. <sup>17</sup>Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, <sup>18</sup>As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saieth the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stande before me? <sup>20</sup>Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them. <sup>21</sup>The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red Sea. <sup>22</sup>Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the Egle, and spreade his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edome be as the heart of a woman in trauaile. <sup>23</sup>Vnto Damascus he sayeth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearefull sea that can not rest. <sup>24</sup>Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile. <sup>25</sup>How is the glorious citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy? <sup>26</sup>Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>27</sup>And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall cosume the palaces of Benhadad. <sup>28</sup>Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babel shall smite, thus sayeth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East. <sup>29</sup>Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side. <sup>30</sup>Flee, get you farre off ( they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you. <sup>31</sup>Arise, and get you vp vnto the welthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwel alone. <sup>32</sup>And their camels shall be a bootie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I will scatter them into all windes, and to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from al the sides thereof, sayeth the Lord. <sup>33</sup>And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it. <sup>34</sup>The woordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying, <sup>35</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will breake the bowe of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength. <sup>36</sup>And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these windes, and there shall bee no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come. <sup>37</sup>For I will cause Elam to be afraied before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saieth the Lord, and I wil sende the sworde after them till I haue consumed them. <sup>38</sup>And I wil set my throne in Elam, and I wil destroy both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: <sup>39</sup>but in the latter daies I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, sayeth the Lord.

depart, both man and beast. <sup>4</sup>In those daies, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God. <sup>5</sup>They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten. <sup>6</sup>My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their shepherds haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from mountaine to hil, and forgotten their resting place. <sup>7</sup>Al that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies saide, We offende not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers. <sup>8</sup>Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the lande of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates before the flocke. <sup>9</sup>For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie natioes from the North countrey, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby shee shall be taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine. <sup>10</sup>And Caldea shall be a spoyle: all that spoyle her, shall be satisfied, sayth the Lord. <sup>11</sup>Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fatte, as the calues in the grasse, and neied like strong horses, <sup>12</sup>Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall be ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a drie land, and a wildernes. <sup>13</sup>Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and hisse at all her plagues. <sup>14</sup>Put your selues in aray against Babel rounde about: all ye that bende the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for shee hath sinned against the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Crie against her round about: she hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her. <sup>16</sup>Destroy the sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sieth in the time of haruest: because of the sworde of the oppressor they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land. <sup>17</sup>Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lions haue dispersed them: first the King of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchadnezzar King, of Babel hath broken his bones. <sup>18</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visit ye King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur. <sup>19</sup>And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead. <sup>20</sup>In those daies, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be founde: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whome I reserue. <sup>21</sup>Goe vp against the lande of the rebelles, euen against it, and against the inhabitantes of Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee. <sup>22</sup>A crie of battell is in the land, and of great destruction. <sup>23</sup>Howe is the hammer of the whole world destroyed, and broken! howe is Babel become desolate among the nations! <sup>24</sup>I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord. <sup>25</sup>The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in the lande of the Caldeans. <sup>26</sup>Come against her from the vtmost border: open her store houses: treade on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left. <sup>27</sup>Destroy all her bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation. <sup>28</sup>The voyce of them that flee, and escape out of the lande of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple. <sup>29</sup>Call vp the archers against Babel: al ye that bend the bow, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel. <sup>30</sup>Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and al her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, sayeth the Lord. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee. <sup>32</sup>And the proude shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him. <sup>33</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe. <sup>34</sup>But their strong redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the lande, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel. <sup>35</sup>A sworde is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men. <sup>36</sup>A sworde is vpon the soothsaiers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shall be afraide. <sup>37</sup>A sworde is vpon their horses and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall be like women: a sworde is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled. <sup>38</sup>A drought is vpon her waters, and they shall be dried vp: for it is the lande of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles. <sup>39</sup>Therefore the Ziims with the Iims shall dwel there, and the ostriches shall dwel therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation. <sup>40</sup>As God destroyed Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein. <sup>41</sup>Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many Kings shall be raised vp from the coastes of the earth. <sup>42</sup>They shall holde the bowe and the buckeler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel. <sup>43</sup>The King of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorowe as of a woman in trauaile. <sup>44</sup>Beholde, hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like me, and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stande before me? <sup>45</sup>Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the lande of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them. <sup>46</sup>At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the crye is heard among the nations.

51 Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I wil raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying wind, <sup>2</sup>And wil send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shalbe against her on euery side. <sup>3</sup>Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste. <sup>4</sup>Thus the slaine shall fall in the lande of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes. <sup>5</sup>For Israel hath bene no widowe, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their lande was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel. <sup>6</sup>Flee out of the middes of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lordes vengeance he will render vnto her a recompence. <sup>7</sup>Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the Lordes hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage. <sup>8</sup>Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed. <sup>9</sup>We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to ye cloudes. <sup>10</sup>The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God. <sup>11</sup>Make bright the arrowes: gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple. <sup>12</sup>Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath

both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitantes of Babel. <sup>13</sup>O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, euen the ende of thy couetousnes. <sup>14</sup>The Lord of hostes hath sworne by him selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shoute against thee. <sup>15</sup>He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion. <sup>16</sup>Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures. <sup>17</sup>Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein. <sup>18</sup>They are vanitie, and the worke of errorrs: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. <sup>19</sup>The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name. <sup>20</sup>Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee wil I destroy kingdomes, <sup>21</sup>And by thee wil I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein. <sup>22</sup>By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee wil I breake olde and yong, and by thee wil I breake the yong man and the mayde. <sup>23</sup>I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husband man and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes. <sup>24</sup>And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euil, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, sayth the Lord. <sup>25</sup>Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, sayth the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the rockes, and wil make thee a burnt mountaine. <sup>26</sup>They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, sayth the Lord. <sup>27</sup>Set vp a standard in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoynt the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers. <sup>28</sup>Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion. <sup>29</sup>And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuise of the Lord shalbe performed against Babel, to make the lande of Babel waste without an inhabitant. <sup>30</sup>The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remayned in their holdes: their strength hath fayled, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken. <sup>31</sup>A post shall runne to meete the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a side thereof, <sup>32</sup>And that the passages

are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the me of war troubled. <sup>33</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, the daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest shall come. <sup>34</sup>Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an emptie vessel: he swallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out. <sup>35</sup>The spoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitantes of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say. <sup>36</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will maintayne thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springes. <sup>37</sup>And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant. <sup>38</sup>They shall rore together like lions, and yell as the Lyons whelpes. <sup>39</sup>In their heate I will make them feastes, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetual sleepe, and not wake, sayth the Lord. <sup>40</sup>I wil bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rams and goates. <sup>41</sup>How is Sheshach taken! and howe is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations! <sup>42</sup>The sea is come vp vpon Babel: he is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof. <sup>43</sup>Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernes, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth the sonne of man passe thereby. <sup>44</sup>I wil also visite Bel in Babel, and I wil bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall. <sup>45</sup>My people, go out of the middes of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, <sup>46</sup>Least your heart euen faynt, and ye feare the rumour, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other yeere shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler. <sup>47</sup>Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shalbe confounded, and all her slayne shall fall in the middes of her. <sup>48</sup>Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord. <sup>49</sup>As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fal, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall. <sup>50</sup>Ye that haue escaped the sworde, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord a farre of, and let Ierusalem come into your minde. <sup>51</sup>Wee are confounded because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for straungers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes House. <sup>52</sup>Wherefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone. <sup>53</sup>Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on hye, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, sayth the Lord. <sup>54</sup>A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, <sup>55</sup>Because the Lord hath layde Babel waste and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sounde was made by their noyse: <sup>56</sup>Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence. <sup>57</sup>And I will make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes. <sup>58</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her hie gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in ye fire, for they shalbe weary. <sup>59</sup>The worde which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of Neriiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince. <sup>60</sup>So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen al these things, that are written against Babel. <sup>61</sup>And Ieremiah sayd to Sheraiah, Whe thou commest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes, <sup>62</sup>Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer. <sup>63</sup>And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates, <sup>64</sup>And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euil, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be weary. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

52 Zedekiah was one and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah. <sup>2</sup>And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done. <sup>3</sup>Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel. <sup>4</sup>But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and buylt fortes against it round about. <sup>5</sup>So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah. <sup>6</sup>Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in ye citie, so that there was no more bread for ye people of the land. <sup>7</sup>Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes. <sup>8</sup>But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him. <sup>9</sup>Then they tooke the king and caryed him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. <sup>10</sup>And the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes he slew also al ye princes of Iudah in Riblah. <sup>11</sup>Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in pryson till the day of his death. <sup>12</sup>Now in the fift moneth in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of ye King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which stooode before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, <sup>13</sup>And burnt the House of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire. <sup>14</sup>And al the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all ye walles of Ierusalem round about. <sup>15</sup>Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remayned in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude. <sup>16</sup>But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to dresse the vines, and to till the land. <sup>17</sup>Also the pillars of brasse that were in the House of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the house of ye Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel. <sup>18</sup>The pots also and the besomes, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away. <sup>19</sup>And the bowles, and the ashpannes, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlestickes, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, and all that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away, <sup>20</sup>With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in ye house of ye Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without weight. <sup>21</sup>And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eigheteene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was holowe. <sup>22</sup>And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapters round about, all of brasse: the seconde pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these. <sup>23</sup>And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an hundreth round about. <sup>24</sup>And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the seconde Priest, and the three keepers of the doore. <sup>25</sup>Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and seuen men that were in the Kings presence, which were founde in the citie, and Sopher captayne of the hoste who mustered the people of the lande, and three-score men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the citie. <sup>26</sup>Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah. <sup>27</sup>And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the lande of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land. <sup>28</sup>This is the people, whome Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the seuenth yeere, euen three thousande Iewes, and three and twentie. <sup>29</sup>In the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two persons. <sup>30</sup>In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and sixe hundreth. <sup>31</sup>And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach King of Babel, in the first yeere of his reigne, lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, and brought him out of pryson, <sup>32</sup>And spake kindly vnto him, and set his throne about the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, <sup>33</sup>And changed his pryson garmentes, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life. <sup>34</sup>His porcion was a continuall portion giuen him of ye king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

Lamentations

1Howe doeth the cite remaine solitarie that was full of people? she is as a widowe: she that was great among the nations, and princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie. 2She weepeth continually in the night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friendes haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies. 3Iudah is caried away captiue because of affliction, and because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites. 4The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in heauinesse. 5Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemye. 6And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer. 7Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people fell into the hande of the enemye, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mocke at her Sabbaths. 8Ierusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore shee is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward. 9Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemye is proud. 10The enemye hath stretched out his hande vpon al her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom thou diddest commande, that they shoulde not enter into thy Church. 11All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant thinges for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile. 12Haue ye no regarde, all yee that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto mee, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath. 13From aboue hath hee sent fire into my bones, which preuaile against them: he hath spred a

net for my feete, and turned me backe: hee hath made me desolate, and daily in heauinesse. 14The yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp. 15The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah. 16For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemye preuailed. 17Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appoynted the enemies of Iaakob rounde about him: Ierusalem is as a menstruous woman in the middes of them. 18The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorowe: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie. 19I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the cite while they sought their meate to refresh their soules. 20Behold, O Lord, howe I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am ful of heauinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home. 21They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me. 22Let all their wickednes come before thee: do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauy.

mie, and there was kindled in Iacob like a flame of fire, which deuoured rounde about. <sup>4</sup>He hath bent his bowe like anemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe al that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire. <sup>5</sup>The Lord was as anemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: hee hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning. <sup>6</sup>For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbathes to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest. <sup>7</sup>The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giue into the hand of theemie the walles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie. <sup>8</sup>The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a lyne: hee hath not withdrawn his hande from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together. <sup>9</sup>Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord. <sup>10</sup>The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue girded them selues with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground. <sup>11</sup>Mine eyes doe saile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings swoone in the streetes of the citie. <sup>12</sup>They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the citie, and whe they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome. <sup>13</sup>What thing shall I take to witness for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like ye sea: who can heale thee? <sup>14</sup>Thy Prophets haue looked out vayne, and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophesies, and causes of banishment. <sup>15</sup>All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioye of the whole earth? <sup>16</sup>All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnashe the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue founde and seene it. <sup>17</sup>The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thineemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne

of thine aduersaries. <sup>18</sup>Their heart cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuier, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease. <sup>19</sup>Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine handes towarde him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes. <sup>20</sup>Beholde, O Lord, and consider to whome thou hast done thus: shall the women eat their fruite, and children of a spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord? <sup>21</sup>The yong and the olde lie on the ground in the streetes: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sworde: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared. <sup>22</sup>Thou hast called as in a solemne daye my terrours rounde about, so that in the day of the Lordes wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mineemie consumed.

I am the man, that hath seene affliction in the rod of his indignation. <sup>2</sup>He hath ledde mee, and brought me into darkenes, but not to light. <sup>3</sup>Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day. <sup>4</sup>My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe olde, and he hath broken my bones. <sup>5</sup>He hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour. <sup>6</sup>He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer. <sup>7</sup>He hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauy. <sup>8</sup>Also when I cry and showte, hee shutteth out my prayer. <sup>9</sup>He hath stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths. <sup>10</sup>He was vnto me as a beare lying in waite, and as a Lion in secret places. <sup>11</sup>He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate. <sup>12</sup>He hath bent his bow and made me a marke for the arrow. <sup>13</sup>Hee caused the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines. <sup>14</sup>I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day. <sup>15</sup>He hath filled me with bitternes, and made me drunken with wormewood. <sup>16</sup>He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes. <sup>17</sup>Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, <sup>18</sup>And I saide, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord, <sup>19</sup>Remembering mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall. <sup>20</sup>My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me. <sup>21</sup>I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope. <sup>22</sup>It is the Lordes mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not. <sup>23</sup>They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness. <sup>24</sup>The Lord is my portion, sayth my soule: therefore wil I hope in him. <sup>25</sup>The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him. <sup>26</sup>It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his youth. <sup>28</sup>He sitteth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him. <sup>29</sup>He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope. <sup>30</sup>Hee giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches. <sup>31</sup>For the Lord will not forsake for euer. <sup>32</sup>But though he sende affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies. <sup>33</sup>For he doeth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men, <sup>34</sup>In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth, <sup>35</sup>In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most high, <sup>36</sup>In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not. <sup>37</sup>Who is he then that sayth, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not? <sup>38</sup>Out of the mouth of the most high proceedeth not euill and good? <sup>39</sup>Wherefore then is the liuing man sorowfull? man suffreth for his sinne. <sup>40</sup>Let vs search and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord. <sup>41</sup>Let vs lift vp our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens. <sup>42</sup>We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared. <sup>43</sup>Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared. <sup>44</sup>Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through. <sup>45</sup>Thou hast made vs as the ofscouring and refuse in the middes of the people. <sup>46</sup>All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs. <sup>47</sup>Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with desolation and destruction. <sup>48</sup>Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people. <sup>49</sup>Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not, <sup>50</sup>Till the Lord looke downe, and beholde from heauen. <sup>51</sup>Mine eye breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie. <sup>52</sup>Mine enemies chased me sore like a birde, without cause. <sup>53</sup>They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me. <sup>54</sup>Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed. <sup>55</sup>I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon. <sup>56</sup>Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh and from my cry. <sup>57</sup>Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, Feare not. <sup>58</sup>O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, and hast redeemed my life. <sup>59</sup>O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause. <sup>60</sup>Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me. <sup>61</sup>Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me: <sup>62</sup>The lippes also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually. <sup>63</sup>Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their song. <sup>64</sup>Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their handes. <sup>65</sup>Giue them sorow of heart, euen thy curse to them. <sup>66</sup>Persecute with wrath and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

as earthen pitchers, euen the worke of the handes of the potter! <sup>3</sup>Euen the dragons draw out the breastes, and giue sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the ostriches in the wildernesse. <sup>4</sup>The tongue of the sucking childe cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them. <sup>5</sup>They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they that were brought vp in skarlet, embrace the dongue. <sup>6</sup>For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodom, that was destroyed as in a moment, and none pitched campes against her. <sup>7</sup>Her Nazarites were purer then the snowe, and whiter then ye milke: they were more ruddie in bodie, then the redde precious stones; they were like polished saphir. <sup>8</sup>Nowe their visage is blacker then a cole: they can not knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke. <sup>9</sup>They that be slaine with the sword are better, then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken through for the fruites of the felde. <sup>10</sup>The hands of the pitifull women haue sodden their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people. <sup>11</sup>The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof. <sup>12</sup>The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleued that the aduersarie and the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem: <sup>13</sup>For the sinnes of her Prophets, and the iniquities of her Priests, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of her. <sup>14</sup>They haue wandred as blinde men in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments. <sup>15</sup>But they cried vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue sayd among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there. <sup>16</sup>The anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priestes, nor had compassion of the Elders. <sup>17</sup>Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that could not saue vs. <sup>18</sup>They hunt our steppes that we cannot goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come. <sup>19</sup>Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and layed waite for vs in the wildernes. <sup>20</sup>The breath of our nostrils, the Anoynted of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whome we sayde, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued aliuie among the heathen. <sup>21</sup>Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the lande of Vz, the cuppe also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken and vomit. <sup>22</sup>Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he will no more carie thee away into captiuitie, but he will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he wil discouer thy sinnes.

Ezekiel

1It came to passe in the thirtieth yere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I sawe visions of GOD. 2In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Ioiachins captiuitie) 3The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the hande of the Lord was vpon him. 4And I looked, and beholde, a whirlwinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likenesse of amber. 5Also out of the middes therof came the likenesse of foure beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man. 6And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings. 7And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse. 8And the handes of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings. 9They where ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward. 10And the similitude of their faces was as the face of a man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle. 11Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioined one to another, and two couered their bodies. 12And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth. 13The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning. 14And the beastes ranne, and returned like vnto lightning. 15Nowe as I behelde the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces. 16The facion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele. 17Whe they went, they went

vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went. 18They had also rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure. 19And when the beastes went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beastes were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp. 20Whither the spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles. 21When the beastes went, they went, and when they stode, they stode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheeles. 22And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrystall, spred ouer their heads aboue. 23And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which couered the, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies. 24And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speach, as the noyse of an host: and when they stood, they let downe their wings. 25And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stode, and had let downe their wings. 26And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it. 27And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpwarde: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downewarde, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it. 28As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about. 29This was the appearance of the similitude of the glorie of the Lord: and when I sawe it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

2And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feete, and I wil speake vnto thee. 2And the Spirite entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me. 3And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day. <sup>4</sup>For they are impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God. <sup>5</sup>But surely they will not heare, neither in deede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they knowe that there hath bene a Prophet among them. <sup>6</sup>And thou sonne of man, feare them not, neither be afraide of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afrayde at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious. <sup>8</sup>But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eate that I giue thee. <sup>9</sup>And when I looked vp, beholde, an hande was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein. <sup>10</sup>And he spred it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

3Moreover he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel. <sup>2</sup>So I opened my mouth, and he gaue mee this roule to eate. <sup>3</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie. <sup>4</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes. <sup>5</sup>For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel, <sup>6</sup>Not to many people of an vnknown tongue, or of an harde language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should sende thee to them, they would obey thee. <sup>7</sup>But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead harde against their foreheads. <sup>9</sup>I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>10</sup>He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart al my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, <sup>11</sup>And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease. <sup>12</sup>Then the spirite tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noise of a great russhing, saying, Blessed be ye glorie of the Lord out of his place. <sup>13</sup>I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheelles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great russhing. <sup>14</sup>So the spirit

lift me vp, and tooke me away and I went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirite, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me. <sup>15</sup>Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes. <sup>16</sup>And at the ende of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>17</sup>Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me. <sup>18</sup>When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hande. <sup>19</sup>Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule. <sup>20</sup>Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand. <sup>21</sup>Neuerthelesse, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule. <sup>22</sup>And the hande of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and goe into the felde, and I will there talke with thee. <sup>23</sup>So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the felde, beholde, the glorie of the Lord stooode there, as the glorie which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face. <sup>24</sup>Then the Spirit entred into me, which set me vp vpon my feete, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, and shut thy selfe within thine house. <sup>25</sup>But thou, O sonne of man, beholde, they shall put bandes vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them. <sup>26</sup>And I will make thy tongue cleaue to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dume, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>27</sup>But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth off, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquity. <sup>5</sup>For I haue layed vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel. <sup>6</sup>And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thou shalt direct thy face towarde the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it. <sup>8</sup>And beholde, I will lay bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof. <sup>10</sup>And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof. <sup>11</sup>Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt part of an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke. <sup>12</sup>And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dongue that commeth out of man, in their sight. <sup>13</sup>And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them. <sup>14</sup>Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any vncleane flesh in my mouth. <sup>15</sup>Then he said vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes dongue for mans dongue, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer, he said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment. <sup>17</sup>Because that bread and water shall faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

fire come foorth into all the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the middes of the nations and countreyes, that are rounde about her. <sup>6</sup>And she hath changed my iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreis, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations that are rounde about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are rounde about you, <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the middes of thee, euen in the sight of the nations. <sup>9</sup>And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will do any more the like, because of all thine abominations. <sup>10</sup>For in the middes of thee, the fathers shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie. <sup>12</sup>The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they bee consumed in the middes of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will drawe out a sword after them. <sup>13</sup>Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted: and they shall knowe, that I the Lord haue spoke it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them. <sup>14</sup>Moreouer, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by. <sup>15</sup>So thou shalt bee a reproche and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are rounde about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>16</sup>When I shall sende vpon them the euill arrowes of famine, which shalbe for their destruction, and which I will sende to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and wil breake your staffe of bread. <sup>17</sup>So will I send vpon you famine, and euill bestes, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe through thee, and I will bring the sworde vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

and to the valleis, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a sworde vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places: <sup>4</sup>And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles. <sup>5</sup>And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars. <sup>6</sup>In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shalbe laide waste, so that your altars shalbe made waste and desolate, and your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished. <sup>7</sup>And the slaine shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shalbe scatted through the countreyes. <sup>9</sup>And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shalbe displeased in them selues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations. <sup>10</sup>And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not saide in vaine, that I woulde doe this euill vnto them. <sup>11</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence. <sup>12</sup>He that is farre off, shall dye of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall dye by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them. <sup>13</sup>Then ye shall knowe, that I am ye Lord, when their slaine men shalbe among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euerie hie hill in al the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euerie greene tree, and vnder euerie thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweete sauour to all their idoles. <sup>14</sup>So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the lande waste, and desolate from the wildernes vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

<sup>7</sup>Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An ende is come vnto the lande of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the lande. <sup>3</sup>Nowe is the ende come vpon thee, and I wil sende my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will laye vpon thee all thine abominations. <sup>4</sup>Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will laye thy waies vpon thee: and thine abomination shall bee in the middes of thee, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, one euil, euen one euill is come. <sup>6</sup>An ende is come, the end is come, it watched for thee: beholde, it is come. <sup>7</sup>The morning is come vnto thee, that

dwellst in the lande: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the sounding againe of the mountaines. <sup>8</sup>Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfil mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations. <sup>9</sup>Neither shall mine eie spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will laye vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shalbe in the middes of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord that smiteth. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod florisheth: pride hath budded. <sup>11</sup>Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there bee lamentation for them. <sup>12</sup>The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the byer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, mourne: for the wrath is vpon al the multitude thereof. <sup>13</sup>For hee that selleth, shall not returne to that which is solde, although they were yet aliuie: for the vision was vnto al the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doeth any encourage himselve in the punishment of his life. <sup>14</sup>They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof. <sup>15</sup>The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall dye with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him. <sup>16</sup>But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shalbe in the mountaines, like the doues of the valleis: all they shall mourne, euerie one for his iniquitie. <sup>17</sup>All handes shalbe weake, and all knees shall fall away as water. <sup>18</sup>They shall also girde them selues with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shalbe vpon all faces, and baldnes vpon their heads. <sup>19</sup>They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their golde shalbe cast farre off: their siluer and their gold can not deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie. <sup>20</sup>He had also set the beautie of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them. <sup>21</sup>And I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it. <sup>22</sup>My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it. <sup>23</sup>Make a chaine: for the lande is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holie places shalbe defiled. <sup>25</sup>When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it. <sup>26</sup>Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Lawe shall perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient.

<sup>27</sup>The King shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the handes of the people in the land shall be troubled: I wil doe vnto them according to their waies, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

8And in the sixt yere, in the sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me. <sup>2</sup>Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loynes downward, and from his loynes vppward, as the appearance of brightnes, and like vnto amber. <sup>3</sup>And he stretched out the likenes of an had, and tooke me by an hearie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee by a Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entry of ye inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation. <sup>4</sup>And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field. <sup>5</sup>Then saide he vnto mee, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes nowe towarde the North. So I lift vp mine eyes towarde the North, and beholde, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie. <sup>6</sup>He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations. <sup>7</sup>And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall. <sup>8</sup>Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge nowe in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore. <sup>9</sup>And he said vnto mee, Go in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here. <sup>10</sup>So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping thinges and abominable beasts and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about. <sup>11</sup>And there stode before them seuentie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stode Iazaniah, ye sonne of Shaphan, with euerie man his censour in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloude. <sup>12</sup>Then saide hee vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth. <sup>13</sup>Againe he saide also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe. <sup>14</sup>And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde there sate women mourning for Tammuz. <sup>15</sup>Then saide hee vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these. <sup>16</sup>And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and be-holde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porche and the altar were about fife and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces towarde the East, and they worshipped the sunne, towarde the East. <sup>17</sup>The he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out stinke before their noses. <sup>18</sup>Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and though they crie in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

9He cryed also with a loude voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hande to destroy it. <sup>2</sup>And beholde, sixe men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth towarde the North, and euery man a weapon in his hande to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers ynkhorne by his side, and they went in and stode beside the brasen altar. <sup>3</sup>And the glorie of the God of Israel was gone vp from ye Cherub, whereupon he was and stode on the doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side. <sup>4</sup>And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the middes of the citie, euen through the middes of Ierusalem and set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof. <sup>5</sup>And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie. <sup>6</sup>Destroy vtterly the old, and the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whome is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the Ancient men, which were before the house. <sup>7</sup>And he sayde vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courtes with the slaine, then goe foorth: and they went out, and slewe them in the citie. <sup>8</sup>Nowe when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem? <sup>9</sup>Then saide he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the lande is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not. <sup>10</sup>As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heades. <sup>11</sup>And beholde, the man clothed with linen which had the ynkhorne by his side, made report, and saide, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

10And as I looked, beholde, in the firmament that was about the head of the Cherubims there appeared vpon

them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone. <sup>2</sup>And he spake vnto the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter the ouer the cite. And he went in in my sight. <sup>3</sup>Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court. <sup>4</sup>Then the glorie of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stooode ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lordes glorie. <sup>5</sup>And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh. <sup>6</sup>And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene ye Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside ye wheele. <sup>7</sup>And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out. <sup>8</sup>And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hande vnder their wings. <sup>9</sup>And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone. <sup>10</sup>And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele. <sup>11</sup>When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went. <sup>12</sup>And their whole bodie, and their rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles. <sup>13</sup>And the Cherub cryed to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele. <sup>14</sup>And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the thirde the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Egle. <sup>15</sup>And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar. <sup>16</sup>And when ye Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them. <sup>17</sup>When the Cherubims stooode, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted the selues vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them. <sup>18</sup>Then the glorie of the Lord departed from about the doore of the house, and stooode vpon the Cherubims. <sup>19</sup>And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stooode at the entrie of the gate of the Lordes House at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie. <sup>20</sup>This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and

I knewe that they were the Cherubims. <sup>21</sup>Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings. <sup>22</sup>And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was ye selfe same, and they went euery one straight forwarde.

11Moreover, the Spirite lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lordes house, which lyeth Eastward, and beholde, at the entrie of the gate were fiewe and twentie men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people. <sup>2</sup>Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this cite. <sup>3</sup>For they say, It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this cite is the caldron, and wee be the flesh. <sup>4</sup>Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie. <sup>5</sup>And the Spirite of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes. <sup>6</sup>Many haue ye murdered in this cite, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layed in the middes of it, they are the flesh, and this cite is the caldron, but I wil bring you foorth of the mids of it. <sup>8</sup>Ye haue feared the sworde, and I wil bring a sworde vpon you, saith the Lord God. <sup>9</sup>And I will bring you out of the middes thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you. <sup>10</sup>Ye shall fall by the sworde, and I wil iudge you in the border of Israel, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>11</sup>This cite shall not be your caldron, neyther shall ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel. <sup>12</sup>And ye shall knowe that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are round about you. <sup>13</sup>And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah dyed: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and saide, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel? <sup>14</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>15</sup>Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholy are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the lande is giuen vs in possession. <sup>16</sup>Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreis, yet wil I be to them as a litle Sanctuarie in ye countreis where they shall come. <sup>17</sup>Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreis where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you ye land of Israel. <sup>18</sup>And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence. <sup>19</sup>And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a newe spirit within their bowels: and I will take the stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, <sup>20</sup>That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>21</sup>But vpon them, whose heart is towarde their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heades, saith the Lord God. <sup>22</sup>Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie. <sup>23</sup>And the glorie of the Lord went vp from the middes of the citie, and stode vpon the moutaine which is towarde the East side of the citie. <sup>24</sup>Afterwarde the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me. <sup>25</sup>Then I declared vnto them that were led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

12The worde of the Lord also came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>3</sup>Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe foorth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>4</sup>Then shalt thou bring foorth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that go foorth into captiuitie. <sup>5</sup>Dig thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby. <sup>6</sup>In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it foorth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a signe vnto the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as ye stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in ye darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight. <sup>8</sup>And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayde vnto thee, What doest thou? <sup>10</sup>But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them. <sup>11</sup>Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie. <sup>12</sup>And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge through the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eies. <sup>13</sup>My net also will I spread vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall dye there. <sup>14</sup>And I will scatter toward euerie winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will drawe out the sworde after them. <sup>15</sup>And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreis. <sup>16</sup>But I will leaue a litle number of them from the sworde, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord. <sup>17</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, <sup>19</sup>And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnes, and drinke their water with desolation: for the lande shall bee desolate from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein. <sup>20</sup>And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the land shall be desolate, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>22</sup>Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged and all visions faile? <sup>23</sup>Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I wil make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The daies are at hand and the effect of euerie vision. <sup>24</sup>For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there bee any flattering diuination within the house of Israel. <sup>25</sup>For I am the Lord: I wil speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I saye the thing, and will performe it, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>26</sup>Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>27</sup>Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophecietieth of the times that are farre off. <sup>28</sup>Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

13And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto them, that prophecie out of their owne hearts, Heare the worde of the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish Prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing. <sup>4</sup>O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes in the waste places. <sup>5</sup>Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for ye house of Israel, to stand in the battel in the daye of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord sayth it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would cofirme the word of their prophecie. <sup>7</sup>Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? ye say, The Lord sayth it, albeit I haue not spoken. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanytie and haue seene lyes, therefore beholde, I am agaynst you, sayth the Lord God, <sup>9</sup>And mine hande shalbe vpon the Prophets that see vanity, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assemblie of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and yee shall know that I am the Lord God. <sup>10</sup>And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one buylt vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered mortar, <sup>11</sup>Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I wil sende haylestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it. <sup>12</sup>Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it? <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it. <sup>14</sup>So I wil destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fal, and ye shalbe consumed in the middes thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, <sup>16</sup>To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayth the Lord God. <sup>17</sup>Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say, <sup>18</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe pillowes vnder al arme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will yee hunt ye soules of my people, and will yee giue life to the soules that come vnto you? <sup>19</sup>And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that shoulde not dye, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies? <sup>20</sup>Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to do with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie. <sup>21</sup>Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hande, and they shalbe no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>22</sup>Because with your lyes yee haue made the heart of the righteous sadde, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, <sup>23</sup>Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinatios: for I wil deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am ye Lord.

<sup>14</sup>Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and sate before me. <sup>2</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>3</sup>Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them? <sup>4</sup>Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles: <sup>5</sup>That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles. <sup>6</sup>Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations. <sup>7</sup>For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that soourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him for my selfe, <sup>8</sup>And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>9</sup>And if the Prophet be deceiued, when hee hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hande vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel. <sup>10</sup>And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, <sup>11</sup>That the house of Israel may go no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, sayth the Lord God. <sup>12</sup>The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>13</sup>Sonne of man, when ye land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it. <sup>14</sup>Though these three men Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they shoulde deliuer but their owne soules by their righteousnes, saith the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>If I bring noysome beastes into the lande and they spoyle it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beastes, <sup>16</sup>Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shall be waste. <sup>17</sup>Or if I bring a sworde vpon

this land, and say, Sword, go through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, <sup>18</sup>Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselues. <sup>19</sup>Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, <sup>20</sup>And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnes. <sup>21</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, Howe much more when I sende my foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sworde, and famine, and the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it? <sup>22</sup>Yet beholde, therein shalbe left a remnant of them that shalbe caryed away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning al that I haue brought vpon it. <sup>23</sup>And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

15 And thee word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine braunch, which is among the trees of ye forest? <sup>3</sup>Shall wood bee taken thereof to doe any worke? or wil men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon? <sup>4</sup>Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke? <sup>5</sup>Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it bee meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt? <sup>6</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>7</sup>And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them, <sup>8</sup>And when I make the lande waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in ye day that thou wast borne. <sup>6</sup>And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, whe thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I saide vnto thee, Thou shalt liue. <sup>7</sup>I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the fielde, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breastes are facioned, thine heare is growen, where as thou wast naked and bare. <sup>8</sup>Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spred my skirtes ouer thee, and couered thy filthines: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine. <sup>9</sup>Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle. <sup>10</sup>I clothed thee also with broydred worke, and shod thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I couered thee with silke. <sup>11</sup>I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke. <sup>12</sup>And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earings in thine eares, and a beautifull crowne vpon thine head. <sup>13</sup>Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linen, and silke, and broydred worke: thou didest eate fine floure, and honie and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou didest grow vp into a kingdome. <sup>14</sup>And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Nowe thou didest trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him. <sup>16</sup>And thou didest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like thinges shall not come, neither hath any done so. <sup>17</sup>Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and didest commit whoredome with them, <sup>18</sup>And tookest thy broydred garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them. <sup>19</sup>My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, and honie, wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God. <sup>20</sup>Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter? <sup>21</sup>That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them? <sup>22</sup>And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood. <sup>23</sup>And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God) <sup>24</sup>Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.

thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, sayeth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations. <sup>44</sup>Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter. <sup>45</sup>Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite. <sup>46</sup>And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters. <sup>47</sup>Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes. <sup>48</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters. <sup>49</sup>Beholde, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hande of the poore and needie. <sup>50</sup>But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me. <sup>51</sup>Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done. <sup>52</sup>Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters. <sup>53</sup>Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, <sup>54</sup>That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them. <sup>55</sup>And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state. <sup>56</sup>For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, <sup>57</sup>Before thy wickednes was discouered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about her which despise thee on all sides. <sup>58</sup>Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, saith the Lord. <sup>59</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou didest despise the othe, in breaking the couenant. <sup>60</sup>Neuerthelesse, I wil remember my couenant made with thee in ye dayes of thy youth, and I wil confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant. <sup>61</sup>Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, both thy elder and thy yonger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenat. <sup>62</sup>And I wil establish my couenat with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord, <sup>63</sup>That thou mayest remember, and be ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

17And the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, put foorth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel, <sup>3</sup>And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, and long wings, and ful of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar, <sup>4</sup>And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caried it into the land of marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants. <sup>5</sup>Hee tooke also of the seede of the lande, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willowe tree. <sup>6</sup>And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought foorth branches, and shot foorth buds. <sup>7</sup>There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and beholde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spred foorth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation. <sup>8</sup>It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine. <sup>9</sup>Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grewe. <sup>11</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>12</sup>Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, <sup>13</sup>And hath taken one of the Kings seede, and made a couenat with him, and hath taken an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, <sup>14</sup>That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenat, and stand to it. <sup>15</sup>But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenat, and be deliuered? <sup>16</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose couenat made with him, he brake. <sup>17</sup>Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, maine- teine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons. <sup>18</sup>For he hath despised the othe, and broken ye couenat (yet lo, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape. <sup>19</sup>Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenat that he hath broken vpon his owne head. <sup>20</sup>And I wil spread my net vpon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespas that he hath committed against me. <sup>21</sup>And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shalbe scattered towarde all the windes: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>22</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also take off the top of this hie cedar, and wil set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I wil plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great. <sup>23</sup>Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes and beare fruite, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof. <sup>24</sup>And all the trees of the felde shall knowe that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree, that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to florish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

18The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying, <sup>2</sup>What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge? <sup>3</sup>As I liue, sayth the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die. <sup>5</sup>But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right, <sup>6</sup>And hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath lyen with a menstruous woman, <sup>7</sup>Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his dettour: he that hath spoyled none by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, <sup>8</sup>And hath not giuen foorth vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man, <sup>9</sup>And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, sayth the Lord God. <sup>10</sup>If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a sheader of blood, if he do any one of these things, <sup>11</sup>Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife, <sup>12</sup>Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the

idoles, or hath committed abomination, <sup>13</sup>Or hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him. <sup>14</sup>But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like, <sup>15</sup>That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of ye house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife, <sup>16</sup>Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, <sup>17</sup>Neither hath withdrawn his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue. <sup>18</sup>His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dyeth in his iniquitie. <sup>19</sup>Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because ye sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue, <sup>20</sup>The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnes of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon him selfe. <sup>21</sup>But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die. <sup>22</sup>All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue. <sup>23</sup>Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God? or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes? <sup>24</sup>But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his righteousnes that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die. <sup>25</sup>Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall? <sup>26</sup>For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done. <sup>27</sup>Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule alieue. <sup>28</sup>Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die. <sup>29</sup>Yet saith ye house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall? <sup>30</sup>Therefore I will iudge you, O house of

Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction. <sup>31</sup>Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make you a newe heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? <sup>32</sup>For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, sayth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

19Thou also, take vp a lamentation for the princes of Israel, <sup>2</sup>And say, Wherefore lay thy mother as a lyonesse among the lyons? she nourished her yong ones among the lyons whelps, <sup>3</sup>And she brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the praye, and it deuoured men. <sup>4</sup>The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt. <sup>5</sup>Nowe when she sawe, that she had waited and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her whelps, and made him a lyon. <sup>6</sup>Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon, and learned to catch the praye, and he deuoured men. <sup>7</sup>And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring. <sup>8</sup>Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and laide their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit. <sup>9</sup>And they put him in prison and in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel. <sup>10</sup>Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought fourth fruite and branches by the abundant waters, <sup>11</sup>And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches. <sup>12</sup>But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it. <sup>13</sup>And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirstie ground. <sup>14</sup>And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation and shalbe for a lamentation.

20And in the seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me. <sup>2</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>3</sup>Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, sayth the Lord God, when I am asked, I wil not answer you. <sup>4</sup>Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers, <sup>5</sup>And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord

God, In the day when I chose Israel, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God, <sup>6</sup>In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony which is pleasant among all lands, <sup>7</sup>Then sayd I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God. <sup>8</sup>But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the mids of the land of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whome they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt. <sup>10</sup>Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernes. <sup>11</sup>And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them. <sup>12</sup>Moreouer I gaue them also my Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them. <sup>13</sup>But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernes: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wildernes to consume them, <sup>14</sup>But I had respect to my Name, that it shoulde not bee polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out. <sup>15</sup>Yet neuerthelesse, I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wildernes that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all landes, <sup>16</sup>Because they cast away my iudgments, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles. <sup>17</sup>Neuerthelesse, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroye them, neither would I consume them in the wildernes. <sup>18</sup>But I said vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles. <sup>19</sup>I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, <sup>20</sup>And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall bee a signe betweene mee and you, that ye may knowe that I am the Lord your God. <sup>21</sup>Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe, hee shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernes. <sup>22</sup>Neuerthelesse I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them foorth. <sup>23</sup>Yet I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wildernes, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, <sup>24</sup>Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue. <sup>26</sup>And I polluted them in their owne giftes in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth ye wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende, that they might know that I am ye Lord. <sup>27</sup>Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me. <sup>28</sup>For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offred there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings. <sup>29</sup>Then I saide vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day. <sup>30</sup>Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations? <sup>31</sup>For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I wil not answere you when I am asked. <sup>32</sup>Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We wil be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood, and stone. <sup>33</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, <sup>34</sup>And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, <sup>35</sup>And I will bring you into the wildernes of the people, and there wil I pleade with you face to face. <sup>36</sup>Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernes of the lande of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God. <sup>37</sup>And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bond of the couenant. <sup>38</sup>And I wil chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against mee: I will bring them out of the land where they dwel, and they shall not enter into the lande of Israel, and you shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>39</sup>As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes and with your idoles. <sup>40</sup>For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie

mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the lande, serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things. <sup>41</sup>I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before ye heathen. <sup>42</sup>And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to your fathers. <sup>43</sup>And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed. <sup>44</sup>And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God. <sup>45</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>46</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward the South, and prophecie toward the forest of the felde of the South, <sup>47</sup>And say to the forest of the South, Heare the worde of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not bee quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein. <sup>48</sup>And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not bee quenched. <sup>49</sup>Then saide I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Doeth not he speake parables?

21The word of ye Lord came to me againe, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie against the land of Israel. <sup>3</sup>And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I come against thee, and will drawe my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked. <sup>4</sup>Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sworde goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North, <sup>5</sup>That all flesh may knowe that I the Lord haue drawn my sworde out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more. <sup>6</sup>Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reines, and mourne bitterly before them. <sup>7</sup>And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answere, Because of the bruite: for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all handes shall be weake, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: beholde, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God. <sup>8</sup>Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde both sharpe, and fourbished. <sup>10</sup>It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it contemneth the rod of my sonne, as all other trees. <sup>11</sup>And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into ye hand of the slayer. <sup>12</sup>Cry, and houle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sword shall be vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh. <sup>13</sup>For it is a triall, and what shall this be, if the sworde contemne euen the rodde? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God. <sup>14</sup>Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sworde be doubled: let the sworde that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priuie chambers. <sup>15</sup>I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter. <sup>16</sup>Get thee alone: goe to the right hande, or get thy selfe to the left hande, whithersoever thy face turneth. <sup>17</sup>I will also smite mine hands together, and wil cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it. <sup>18</sup>The worde of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying, <sup>19</sup>Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sworde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one lande, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie. <sup>20</sup>Appoint a way, that the sworde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie. <sup>21</sup>And the King of Babel stode at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idoles, and looked in the liuer. <sup>22</sup>At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to laye engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to builde a fortresse. <sup>23</sup>And it shalbe vnto them as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: but hee will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken. <sup>24</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to bee remembred, in discovering your rebellion, that in al your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand. <sup>25</sup>And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende, <sup>26</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I wil exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie. <sup>27</sup>I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntill he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him. <sup>28</sup>And thou, sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn foorth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering: <sup>29</sup>Whiles they see vanitie vnto thee, and prophecied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an ende. <sup>30</sup>Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation. <sup>31</sup>And I wil powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy. <sup>32</sup>Thou shalt bee in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the middes of the lande, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

22Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations? <sup>3</sup>Then say, Thus sayth the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols against her selfe to pollute her selfe. <sup>4</sup>Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys. <sup>5</sup>Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name and sore in affliction. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood. <sup>7</sup>In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widowe. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths. <sup>9</sup>In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in ye middes of thee they comit abomination. <sup>10</sup>In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures. <sup>11</sup>And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter. <sup>12</sup>In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the encrease, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee. <sup>14</sup>Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it. <sup>15</sup>And I wil scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy filthines to cease from thee. <sup>16</sup>And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>17</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and leade in the middes of the fornace:

they are euen the drosse of siluer. <sup>19</sup>Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem. <sup>20</sup>As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and wil put you there and melt you. <sup>21</sup>I wil gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the middes thereof. <sup>22</sup>As siluer is melted in the middes of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the middes thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you. <sup>23</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>24</sup>Sonne of man, say vnto her; Thou art the land, that is vnclane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath. <sup>25</sup>There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof. <sup>26</sup>Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vnclane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them. <sup>27</sup>Her princes in the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening the praye to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre. <sup>28</sup>And her prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken. <sup>29</sup>The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right. <sup>30</sup>And I sought for a man among them, that should make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none. <sup>31</sup>Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, sayth the Lord God.

23The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother. <sup>3</sup>And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginitie. <sup>4</sup>And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah. <sup>5</sup>And Aholah played the harlot when she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours, <sup>6</sup>Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses. <sup>7</sup>Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whome she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles. <sup>8</sup>Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and powred their whoredome vpon her. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whome she doted. <sup>10</sup>These discovered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slewe her with the sworde, and she had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her. <sup>11</sup>And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications. <sup>12</sup>She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers sutes, horsemen ryding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men. <sup>13</sup>Then I sawe that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort, <sup>14</sup>And that she encreased her fornications: for when she sawe men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermelon, <sup>15</sup>And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie) <sup>16</sup>Assoone, I say, as she sawe them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea. <sup>17</sup>Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them. <sup>18</sup>So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister. <sup>19</sup>Yet she encreased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance ye dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt. <sup>20</sup>For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose yssue is like the yssue of horses. <sup>21</sup>Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by ye Egyptians: therefore ye paps of thy youth are thus. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, O Aholibah, thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, <sup>23</sup>To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, Poked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renoumed, riding vpon horses. <sup>24</sup>Euen these shall come against thee with charets, waggons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements. <sup>25</sup>And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire. <sup>26</sup>They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fayre iewels. <sup>27</sup>Thus wil I make thy wickednes to cease from thee and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more. <sup>28</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil deliuer thee into the hand of them, whome thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whome thine heart is departed. <sup>29</sup>And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shalbe discovered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome. <sup>30</sup>I wil doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles. <sup>31</sup>Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore wil I giue her cup into thine hand. <sup>32</sup>Thus saith ye Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much. <sup>33</sup>Thou shalt be filled with drunkennes and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria. <sup>34</sup>Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>35</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome. <sup>36</sup>The Lord sayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations? <sup>37</sup>For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meate. <sup>38</sup>Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths. <sup>39</sup>For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house. <sup>40</sup>And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, <sup>41</sup>And satest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle. <sup>42</sup>And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads. <sup>43</sup>Then I sayd vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end. <sup>44</sup>And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women. <sup>45</sup>And ye righteous men they shall iudge them, after the maner of harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands. <sup>46</sup>Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle, <sup>47</sup>And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swordes: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire. <sup>48</sup>Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse. <sup>49</sup>And they shall laye your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

24 Again in the ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day. <sup>3</sup>Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it. <sup>4</sup>Gather the pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones. <sup>5</sup>Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein, <sup>6</sup>Because the Lord God sayth thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it. <sup>7</sup>For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon on the ground to couer it with dust, <sup>8</sup>That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered. <sup>9</sup>Therefore thus saith ye Lord God, Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ye burning great. <sup>10</sup>Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt. <sup>11</sup>Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skomme of it may be consumed. <sup>12</sup>She hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shall be consumed with fire. <sup>13</sup>Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednes: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee. <sup>14</sup>I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Also the worde of ye Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>16</sup>Sonne of man beholde, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe. <sup>17</sup>Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate not the bread of men. <sup>18</sup>So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded. <sup>19</sup>And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane towarde vs that thou doest so? <sup>20</sup>Then I answered them, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>21</sup>Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sworde. <sup>22</sup>And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men. <sup>23</sup>And your tyre shall be vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another. <sup>24</sup>Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall do: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God. <sup>25</sup>Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, ye ioy of their honor, ye pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters? <sup>26</sup>That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares? <sup>27</sup>In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

25 The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them, <sup>3</sup>And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, <sup>4</sup>Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke. <sup>5</sup>And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>6</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel, <sup>7</sup>Beholde, therefore I will stretche out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, <sup>9</sup>Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant cuntry, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Karia-thaim. <sup>10</sup>I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, <sup>11</sup>And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sworde. <sup>14</sup>And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, sayth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred, <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will stretche out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast. <sup>17</sup>And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

26And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished, <sup>3</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues. <sup>4</sup>And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoile to ye nations. <sup>6</sup>And her daughters which are in the felde, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>7</sup>For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people. <sup>8</sup>He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the felde, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee. <sup>9</sup>He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres. <sup>10</sup>The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe. <sup>11</sup>With the hooues of his horses shall he treade downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sworde, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground. <sup>12</sup>And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water. <sup>13</sup>Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard. <sup>14</sup>I wil lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sounde of thy fall? and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the middes of thee? <sup>16</sup>Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sitte vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee. <sup>17</sup>And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renoumed citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein! <sup>18</sup>Nowe shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure. <sup>19</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like ye cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee, <sup>20</sup>When I shall cast thee downe with them that descende into the pitte, with the people of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe partes of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pitte, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the land of the liuing, <sup>21</sup>I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, sayth the Lord God.

27The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, take vp a lametation for Tyrus, <sup>3</sup>And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the marte of the people for many yles, Thus sayeth the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie. <sup>4</sup>Thy borders are in the middes of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfit beauty. <sup>5</sup>They haue made all thy shippe boardes of firre trees of Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee. <sup>6</sup>Of ye okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy banks of yuorie, brought out of ye yles of Chittim. <sup>7</sup>Fine linen with

broydered woorke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy sayle, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering. <sup>8</sup>The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots. <sup>9</sup>The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy marchandise. <sup>10</sup>They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shilde and helmet in thee: they set fourth thy beautie. <sup>11</sup>The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfitte. <sup>12</sup>They of Tarshish were thy marchantes for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tynne, and leade, which they brought to thy faires. <sup>13</sup>They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchandise. <sup>14</sup>They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules. <sup>15</sup>The men of Dedan were thy marchantes: and the marchandise of many yles were in thine handes: they brought thee for a present hornes, teeth, and peacockes. <sup>16</sup>They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with emeralds, purple, and broydrd worke, and fine linen, and corall, and pearle. <sup>17</sup>They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and balme. <sup>18</sup>They of Damascus were thy marchants in ye multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll. <sup>19</sup>They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and from, occupied in thy faires: yron woorke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise. <sup>20</sup>They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious clothes for the charets. <sup>21</sup>They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy marchants. <sup>22</sup>The marchats of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchantes: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with al precious stones and golde. <sup>23</sup>They of Haram and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy marchants. <sup>24</sup>These were thy marchants in all sortes of things, in raiment of blew silke, and of broydrd woorke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy marchandise. <sup>25</sup>The shippes of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea. <sup>26</sup>Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the middes of the sea. <sup>27</sup>Thy riches and thy faires, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise and al thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine. <sup>28</sup>The suburbes shall shake at the sound of the crie of thy pilotes. <sup>29</sup>And all that handle the ore, the mariners and al the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their shippes, and shall stand vpon the land, <sup>30</sup>And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow theselues in the ashes. <sup>31</sup>They shall plucke off their heare for thee and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart and bitter mourning. <sup>32</sup>And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea! <sup>33</sup>When thy wares went fourth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise. <sup>34</sup>When thou shalt be broken by ye seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fal. <sup>35</sup>All the inhabitantes of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraide and troubled in their countenance. <sup>36</sup>The marchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be any more.

28The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, I am a God, I sit in the seat of God in ye mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and though thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, <sup>3</sup>Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee. <sup>4</sup>With thy wisdom and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures. <sup>5</sup>By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches. <sup>6</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, <sup>7</sup>Behold, therefore I wil bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swordes against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnes. <sup>8</sup>They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea. <sup>9</sup>Wilt thou say then before him, that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the hands of him that slayeth thee. <sup>10</sup>Thou shalt die the death of the vncircumcised by the hands of stragers: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>11</sup>Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>12</sup>Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom and perfitte in beautie. <sup>13</sup>Thou hast ben in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the diamonde, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, emeraude, and the carbuncle and golde: the woorkemanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created. <sup>14</sup>Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the stones of fire. <sup>15</sup>Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee. <sup>16</sup>By the multitude of thy marchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the mids of the stones of fire. <sup>17</sup>Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdome by reason of thy brightnes: I wil cast thee to ye grounde: I will lay thee before Kinges that they may beholde thee. <sup>18</sup>Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy marchandise: therefore wil I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that beholde thee. <sup>19</sup>All they that knowe thee among the people, shalbe astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt thou be any more. <sup>20</sup>Againe, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>21</sup>Somme of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it, <sup>22</sup>And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her. <sup>23</sup>For I wil send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the middes of her: the enemie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>24</sup>And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord God. <sup>25</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shalbe sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwel in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iakob. <sup>26</sup>And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall builde houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon al round about them that despise them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God.

29In the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophecie against him, and against all Egypt. <sup>3</sup>Speake, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath saide, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe. <sup>4</sup>But I will put hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fishe of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales. <sup>5</sup>And I will leaue thee in the wildernes, both thee and al the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fal vpon ye open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giue thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of heauen. <sup>6</sup>And al the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue ben a staffe of reede to the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to stand vpright. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring a sworde vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee, <sup>9</sup>And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am ye Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it, <sup>10</sup>Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Mores. <sup>11</sup>No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres. <sup>12</sup>And I wil make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countries, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and wil disperse them through the countreis. <sup>13</sup>Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the end of fourtie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered, <sup>14</sup>And I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the lande of their habitation, and they shalbe there a small kingdome. <sup>15</sup>It shall be the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more about the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations. <sup>16</sup>And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they knowe, that I am the Lord God. <sup>17</sup>In the seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel caused his armie to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it. <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his armie. <sup>20</sup>I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued against it, because they wrought for me, sayth the Lord God. <sup>21</sup>In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

30The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Wo be vnto this day. <sup>3</sup>For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen. <sup>4</sup>And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe. <sup>5</sup>Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword. <sup>6</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, They also that mainteine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of Seuenh shall they fall by the sword, sayth the Lord God. <sup>7</sup>And they shall be desolate in the middes of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the middes of the cities that are wasted. <sup>8</sup>And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed. <sup>9</sup>In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in shippes, to make the carelesse Mores aftaide, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth. <sup>10</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel. <sup>11</sup>For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine. <sup>12</sup>And I will make the riuers drye, and fell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>13</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt. <sup>14</sup>And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No. <sup>15</sup>And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of No. <sup>16</sup>And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorowe and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes dayly. <sup>17</sup>The yong men of Auen, and of Phibeseth shall fall by the sworde: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie. <sup>18</sup>At Tehaphnehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie. <sup>19</sup>Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>21</sup>Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be boud vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and so make it strong, to hold the sworde. <sup>22</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sworde to fall out of his hande. <sup>23</sup>And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys. <sup>24</sup>And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, and put my sworde in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him. <sup>25</sup>But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sworde into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt. <sup>26</sup>And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among ye countreys, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

31And in the eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse? <sup>3</sup>Beholde, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very hie, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes. <sup>4</sup>The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her litle riuers vnto all the trees of the felde. <sup>5</sup>Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the felde, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out. <sup>6</sup>All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the felde bring foorth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations. <sup>7</sup>Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters. <sup>8</sup>The cedars in the garden of God coulde not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chessenut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie. <sup>9</sup>I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him. <sup>10</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, <sup>11</sup>I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse. <sup>12</sup>And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleis his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him. <sup>13</sup>Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the felde shall be vpon his branches, <sup>14</sup>So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their toppe among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit. <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I couered the deepe for him, and I did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the felde fainted. <sup>16</sup>I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth. <sup>17</sup>They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sworde, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadowe in the middes of the heathen. <sup>18</sup>To whom art thou thus like in glorie and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the middes of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sworde: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

32And in the twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a lyon of the nations and art as a dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers and troubledst the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net. <sup>4</sup>Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I wil cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beastes of the field with thee. <sup>5</sup>And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleis with thine height. <sup>6</sup>I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimst, euen to ye mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee. <sup>7</sup>And when I shall put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light. <sup>8</sup>All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darknesse vpon thy lande, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>9</sup>I will also trouble the heartes of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations and

vpon the countries which thou hast not knowen. <sup>10</sup>Yea, I will make many people amased at thee, and their Kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sworde to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraide at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall. <sup>11</sup>For thus sayth the Lord God, The sworde of the King of Babel shall come vpon thee. <sup>12</sup>By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed. <sup>13</sup>I will destroy also all the beastes thereof from the great watersides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them. <sup>14</sup>Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am ye Lord. <sup>16</sup>This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>17</sup>In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit. <sup>19</sup>Whome doest thou passe in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised. <sup>20</sup>They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the sword: shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude. <sup>21</sup>The most mighty and strong shall speake to him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the sworde. <sup>22</sup>Asshur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde. <sup>23</sup>Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are rounde about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing. <sup>24</sup>There is Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: al they are slaine and fallen by the sword which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit. <sup>25</sup>They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with al his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sworde: though they haue caused their feare in the land of ye liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pitte: they are laide in the middes of them, that be slaine. <sup>26</sup>There is Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude, their graues are round about them: al these vncircumcised were slaine by the sworde, though they caused their

feare to be in ye land of the liuing. <sup>27</sup>And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone down to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laied their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shalbe vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the lande of the liuing. <sup>28</sup>Yea, thou shalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sworde. <sup>29</sup>There is Edom, his Kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laied by them that were slaine by the sworde: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit. <sup>30</sup>There be al the princes of the North, with al the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit. <sup>31</sup>Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saieth the Lord God. <sup>32</sup>For I haue caused my feare to be in the lande of the liuing: and he shall be laid in the mids of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayeth the Lord God.

33Again, the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sworde vpon a lande, if the people of the lande take a man from among them, and make him their watchman, <sup>3</sup>If when hee seeth the sworde come vpon ye land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people, <sup>4</sup>Then hee that heareth the sounde of the trumpet, and will not bee warned, if the sworde come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head. <sup>5</sup>For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and woulde not bee admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueith warning, shall saue his life. <sup>6</sup>But if the watchman see the sworde come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sworde come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hande. <sup>7</sup>So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the woorde at my mouth, and admonish them from me. <sup>8</sup>When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand. <sup>9</sup>Neuerthelesse, If thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, howe should we then liue? <sup>11</sup>Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill waies, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel? <sup>12</sup>Therefore thou sonne of man, saye vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth. <sup>13</sup>When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnes shall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same. <sup>14</sup>Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and right, <sup>15</sup>To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die. <sup>16</sup>None of his sinnes that he hath comitted, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawful, and right, he shall surely liue. <sup>17</sup>Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall. <sup>18</sup>When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby. <sup>19</sup>But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby. <sup>20</sup>Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his waies. <sup>21</sup>Also in the twelfth yere of our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten. <sup>22</sup>Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in ye euening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumme. <sup>23</sup>Againe the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, and saide, <sup>24</sup>Sonne of man, these that dwel in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the lande: but we are many, therefore the lande shall be giuen vs in possession. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes towarde your idoles, and sheade blood: should ye then possesse the land? <sup>26</sup>Ye leane vpon your swordes: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land? <sup>27</sup>Say thus vnto them, Thus saieth the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence. <sup>28</sup>For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the moutaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through. <sup>29</sup>Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue laid ye land desolate and wast, because of al their abominations, that they haue committed. <sup>30</sup>Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord. <sup>31</sup>For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse. <sup>32</sup>And loe, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy woordes, but they doe them not. <sup>33</sup>And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

34And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepherdes of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus saieith the Lord God vnto the shepherds, Wo be vnto the shepherds of Israel, that feede them selues: should not the shepherds feede the flockes? <sup>3</sup>Yee eate the fat, and yee clothe you with the wooll: yee kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe. <sup>4</sup>The weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bounde vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue yee ruled them. <sup>5</sup>And they were scattered without a shepherde: and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of all the beastes of the felde. <sup>6</sup>My sheepe wandred through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through al the earth, and none did seeke or search after them. <sup>7</sup>Therefore ye shepherds, heare the woorde of the Lord. <sup>8</sup>As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the felde, hauing no shepherde, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fedde them selues, and fedde not my sheepe, <sup>9</sup>Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherds. <sup>10</sup>Thus saieith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feede them selues any more: for I wil deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them. <sup>11</sup>For thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out. <sup>12</sup>As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so wil I seeke out my sheepe and wil deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day, <sup>13</sup>And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreis, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey. <sup>14</sup>I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel. <sup>15</sup>I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayth the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driue away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake but I wil destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement. <sup>17</sup>Also you my sheepe, Thus saieith the Lord God, behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates. <sup>18</sup>Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete? <sup>19</sup>And my sheepe eate that which yee haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete. <sup>20</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God vnto them, behold, I, euen I wil iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe. <sup>21</sup>Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht al the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, <sup>22</sup>Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, and I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe. <sup>23</sup>And I wil set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shall feede them, euen my seruant Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shalbe their shepherd. <sup>24</sup>And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shalbe the prince amog them. I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>25</sup>And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euil beastes to cease out of the land: and they shall dwel safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods. <sup>26</sup>And I wil set them, as a blessing, euen roud about my mountaine: and I will cause rayne to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing. <sup>27</sup>And the tree of the felde shall yeeld her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shalbe safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them. <sup>28</sup>And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afrayd. <sup>29</sup>And I will rayse vp for them a plant of renoume, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more. <sup>30</sup>Thus shall they vnderstande, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, sayth the Lord God. <sup>31</sup>And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

ing, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it, <sup>3</sup>And say vnto it, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I wil stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste. <sup>4</sup>I wil lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an ende, <sup>6</sup>Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I wil prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee. <sup>7</sup>Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth. <sup>8</sup>And I will fill his mountaines with his slayne men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slayne with the sword. <sup>9</sup>I wil make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countreys shalbe mine, and we wil possesse them (seeing the Lord was there) <sup>11</sup>Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I wil euen do according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I wil make my selfe knowen among them whe I haue iudged thee. <sup>12</sup>And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lye waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured. <sup>13</sup>Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them. <sup>14</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate. <sup>15</sup>As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

36Also thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, because theemie hath sayde against you, Aha, euen the hie places of the world are ours in possession, <sup>3</sup>Therefore prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lippes and tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people, <sup>4</sup>Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about. <sup>5</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my lande for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despitefull mindes to cast it out for a pray. <sup>6</sup>Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the shame of the heathen, <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame. <sup>8</sup>But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come. <sup>9</sup>For behold, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowed. <sup>10</sup>And I wil multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shalbe inhabited, and the desolate places shalbe builded. <sup>11</sup>And I wil multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall encrease, and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestowe benefites vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth depriue them of men. <sup>13</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, <sup>14</sup>Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, sayth the Lord God, <sup>15</sup>Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fal any more, saith the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>17</sup>Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous. <sup>18</sup>Wherfore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it. <sup>19</sup>And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them. <sup>20</sup>And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they sayd of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land. <sup>21</sup>But I faouored mine holy Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went. <sup>22</sup>Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith ye Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen whither ye went. <sup>23</sup>And I wil sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, sayth the Lord God, when I shalbe sanctified in you before their eyes. <sup>24</sup>For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your owne land. <sup>25</sup>Then wil I powre cleane water vpon you, and ye shalbe cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles wil I clense you. <sup>26</sup>A newe heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit wil I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh. <sup>27</sup>And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and do them. <sup>28</sup>And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shalbe my people, and I will be your God. <sup>29</sup>I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you. <sup>30</sup>For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the felde, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen. <sup>31</sup>Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthie to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations. <sup>32</sup>Be it knowen vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, sayth the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes. <sup>33</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, What time as I shall haue clensed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwel in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe builded. <sup>34</sup>And the desolate land shalbe tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by. <sup>35</sup>For they sayd, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited. <sup>36</sup>Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord builde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and wil do it. <sup>37</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of ye house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke. <sup>38</sup>As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

37The hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caryed me out in ye spirit of ye Lord, and set me downe in ye mids of the field, which was full of bones. <sup>2</sup>And he led me round about by them, and beholde, they were very many in the open felde, and lo, they were very drie. <sup>3</sup>And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest. <sup>4</sup>Againe he sayde vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye dry bones, heare the word of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I wil cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue. <sup>6</sup>And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>7</sup>So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone. <sup>8</sup>And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them. <sup>9</sup>Then sayd he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus sayth the Lord God, Come from the foure windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these slayne, that they may liue. <sup>10</sup>So I prophecied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie. <sup>11</sup>Then he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off. <sup>12</sup>Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the lande of Israel, <sup>13</sup>And yee shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres, <sup>14</sup>And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, sayth the Lord. <sup>15</sup>The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>16</sup>Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions the take another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to al the house of Israel his companions. <sup>17</sup>And thou shalt ioyne the one to another into one tree, and they shalbe as one in thine hand. <sup>18</sup>And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these? <sup>19</sup>Thou shalt answeere them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I wil take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hande of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shalbe one in mine hand. <sup>20</sup>And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight. <sup>21</sup>And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and wil gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land. <sup>22</sup>And I will make them one people in the lande, vpon the mountaines of Israel, and one king shalbe king to them all: and they shalbe no more two peoples, neither bee deided any more henceforth into two kingdomes. <sup>23</sup>Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will clense them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>24</sup>And Dauid my seruant shalbe king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and ob-

serue my statutes, and doe them. <sup>25</sup>And they shall dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruante, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwel therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruante Dauid shall bee their prince for euer. <sup>26</sup>Moreouer, I will make a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I wil place them, and multiply them, and wil set my Sanctuarie among them for euermore. <sup>27</sup>My tabernacle also shalbe with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shalbe my people. <sup>28</sup>Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lord do sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

38And the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face against Gog, and against the lande of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecie against him, <sup>3</sup>And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal. <sup>4</sup>And I wil destroy thee, and put hookes in thy chawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine host both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with al sorts of armour, eue a great multitude with bucklers, and shieldes, all handling swords. <sup>5</sup>They of Paras, of Cush, and Phut with the, euen all they that beare shielde and helmet. <sup>6</sup>Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and al his bands, and much people with thee. <sup>7</sup>Prepare thy selfe, and make thee ready, both thou, and al thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their sauegard. <sup>8</sup>After many dayes thou shalt bee visited: for in the latter yeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt ascende and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bandes, and many people with thee. <sup>10</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at ye same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke euil thoughts. <sup>11</sup>And thou shalt say, I wil goe vp to the land that hath no walled towres: I will goe to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, <sup>12</sup>Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hande vpon the desolate places that are nowe inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the middes of the land. <sup>13</sup>Sheba and Dedan, and the marchantes of Tarshish with all the lions thereof shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to cary away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray? <sup>14</sup>Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and saye vnto Gog, Thus sayeth the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not knowe it? <sup>15</sup>And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie. <sup>16</sup>And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my lande, that the heathen may knowe mee, when I shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes. <sup>17</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, by ye hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeres, that I woulde bring thee vpon them? <sup>18</sup>At the same time also whe Gog shall come against the land of Israel, sayth the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger. <sup>19</sup>For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel, <sup>20</sup>So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the field and al that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and al ye men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground. <sup>21</sup>For I will call for a sworde against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother. <sup>22</sup>And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and hailestones, fire, and brimstone. <sup>23</sup>Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

39Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, ye chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal. <sup>2</sup>And I will destroy thee and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel: <sup>3</sup>And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand. <sup>4</sup>Thou shalt fal vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered foule and beast of the felde to be deuoured. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt fall vpon the open felde: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>6</sup>And I will sende a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the yles, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>7</sup>So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, it is come, and it is done, sayeth the Lord God: and this is the day whereof I haue spoken. <sup>9</sup>And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres. <sup>10</sup>So that they shall bring no wood out of the felde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>11</sup>And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for burial in Israel, euen the valley whereby men go towarde the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog. <sup>12</sup>And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of the, that they may cense the land. <sup>13</sup>Yea, all the people of the lande shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God. <sup>14</sup>And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the lande with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon ye ground, and cense it: they shall search to the ende of seuen moneths. <sup>15</sup>And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog. <sup>16</sup>And also the name of the citie shalbe Hamonah: thus shall they cense the land. <sup>17</sup>And thou sonne of man, thus sayeth the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the felde, Assemble your selues, and come gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood. <sup>18</sup>Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beastes of Bashan. <sup>19</sup>And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you. <sup>20</sup>Thus you shalbe filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with al men of warre, sayth the Lord God. <sup>21</sup>And I wil set my glory among the heathe, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layed vpon them. <sup>22</sup>So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth. <sup>23</sup>And the heathen shall knowe, that ye house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into ye hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword. <sup>24</sup>According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto the, and hid my face from them. <sup>25</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and wil be ielous for mine holy Name, <sup>26</sup>After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, whe they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any. <sup>27</sup>When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations, <sup>28</sup>Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, <sup>29</sup>Neither wil I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

40In the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hande of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither. <sup>2</sup>Into the lande of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South. <sup>3</sup>And he brought me thither, and beholde, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stode at the gate. <sup>4</sup>And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the buylding with one reede, and the height with one reede. <sup>6</sup>Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh towarde the East, and went vp the stayres thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reede broade, and the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broade. <sup>7</sup>And euery chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede. <sup>8</sup>He measured also the porche of the gate within with one reede. <sup>9</sup>Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward. <sup>10</sup>And the chambers of the gate Eastwarde, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side. <sup>11</sup>And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites. <sup>12</sup>The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side and sixe cubites on that side. <sup>13</sup>He measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore. <sup>14</sup>He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes

of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about. <sup>15</sup>And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites. <sup>16</sup>And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went rounde about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees. <sup>17</sup>Then brought he me into the outwarde court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement. <sup>18</sup>And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath. <sup>19</sup>Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubits Eastward and Northward. <sup>20</sup>And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof. <sup>21</sup>And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fие and twentie cubites. <sup>22</sup>And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches therof were before them. <sup>23</sup>And the gate of the inner court stode ouer against the gate towarde the North, and towarde the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites. <sup>24</sup>After that, he brought mee towarde the South, and loe, there was a gate towarde the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures. <sup>25</sup>And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fие and twentie cubites. <sup>26</sup>And there were seuen steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof. <sup>27</sup>And there was a gate in the inner court towarde the South, and he measured from gate to gate towarde the South an hundreth cubites. <sup>28</sup>And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures, <sup>29</sup>And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it was fiftie cubites long and fие and twentie cubites broad. <sup>30</sup>And the arches round about were fие and twenty cubites long, and fие cubites broad. <sup>31</sup>And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes. <sup>32</sup>Againe he brought me into ye inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures. <sup>33</sup>And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fие and twentie cubites broad. <sup>34</sup>And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes. <sup>35</sup>After he brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, <sup>36</sup>The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubits, and the breadth fие and twentie cubites. <sup>37</sup>And the postes thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps. <sup>38</sup>And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering. <sup>39</sup>And in the porch of the gate stode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespas offering. <sup>40</sup>And at the side beyond the steppes, at the entry of the North gate stode two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables. <sup>41</sup>Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice. <sup>42</sup>And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layde the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice. <sup>43</sup>And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering. <sup>44</sup>And without the inner gate were ye chambers of the singers in the inner Court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was towarde the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect towarde the North. <sup>45</sup>And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is towarde the South, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the house. <sup>46</sup>And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among ye sonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him. <sup>47</sup>So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubits broad, eue foure square: likewise the altar that was before ye house. <sup>48</sup>And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fие cubites on this side, and fие cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side. <sup>49</sup>The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and ye breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

six cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle. <sup>2</sup>And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fve cubites on the one side, and fve cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites. <sup>3</sup>Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie six cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites. <sup>4</sup>So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he sayde vnto mee, This is the most holy place. <sup>5</sup>After, he measured the wall of the house, six cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites rounde about the house, on euery side. <sup>6</sup>And the chambers were chamber vpon chaber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house. <sup>7</sup>And it was large and went rounde mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpwarde, rounde about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes. <sup>8</sup>I sawe also the house hie rounde about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of fixe great cubites. <sup>9</sup>The thickenesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fve cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within. <sup>10</sup>And betweene the chambers was the widenes of twentie cubites round about the House on euery side. <sup>11</sup>And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fve cubites round about. <sup>12</sup>Nowe the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fve cubites thick, round about, and ye length ninetie cubites. <sup>13</sup>So he measured the house an hundreth cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long. <sup>14</sup>Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundreth cubites. <sup>15</sup>And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court. <sup>16</sup>The postes and the narowe windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood rounde about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled. <sup>17</sup>And from about the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall rounde about within and without it was sieled according to the measure. <sup>18</sup>And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces. <sup>19</sup>So that the face of a man was towarde the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about. <sup>20</sup>From the grounde vnto about the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple. <sup>21</sup>The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie. <sup>22</sup>The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he sayd vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lord. <sup>23</sup>And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores. <sup>24</sup>And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore. <sup>25</sup>And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palmetrees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without. <sup>26</sup>And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon ye sides of the house, and thicke planks.

42Then brought hee me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North. <sup>2</sup>Before ye length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad. <sup>3</sup>Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes. <sup>4</sup>And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North. <sup>5</sup>Nowe the chambers about were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the middes of the building. <sup>6</sup>For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground. <sup>7</sup>And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long. <sup>8</sup>For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites. <sup>9</sup>And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court. <sup>10</sup>The chambers were in the thickenesse of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building. <sup>11</sup>And the way before them was after ye maner of the chambers, which were toward ye North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their facions, and according to their doores. <sup>12</sup>And according to ye doores of ye chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth. <sup>13</sup>The said he vnto me,

The North chambers and ye South chambers which are before ye separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto ye Lord, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy. <sup>14</sup>When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vter court, but there they shall lay their garmentes wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garmentes, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people. <sup>15</sup>Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is towarde the East, and measured it round about. <sup>16</sup>He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fife hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about. <sup>17</sup>He measured also the Northside, fife hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede rounde about. <sup>18</sup>And he measured the South side fife hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. <sup>19</sup>He turned about also to the West side, and measured fife hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. <sup>20</sup>He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fife hundreth reedes long, and fife hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

43Afterward he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth towarde the East. <sup>2</sup>And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie. <sup>3</sup>And the vision which I saw was like the vision, euen as the vision that I sawe when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I sawe by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face. <sup>4</sup>And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is towarde the East. <sup>5</sup>So the Spirite tooke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house. <sup>6</sup>And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stode a man by me, <sup>7</sup>Which saide vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of their Kings in their high places. <sup>8</sup>Albeit they set their thresholdes by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath. <sup>9</sup>Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer. <sup>10</sup>Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure ye paterne. <sup>11</sup>And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the House, and ye paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them. <sup>12</sup>This is the description of the house, It shalbe vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limites thereof round about shalbe most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house. <sup>13</sup>And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an had breadth, euen the bottome shalbe a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof rounde about shalbe a spanne: and this shalbe the height of the altar. <sup>14</sup>And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shalbe two cubites: and the breadth one cubite, and from the litle piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite. <sup>15</sup>So the altar shalbe foure cubites, and from the altar vpward shalbe foure hornes. <sup>16</sup>And the altar shalbe twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and fouresquare in the foure corners thereof. <sup>17</sup>And ye frame shalbe foureteene cubites log, and foureteene broad in the fouresquare corners thereof, and the border about it shalbe halfe a cubite, and the bottome therof shalbe a cubite about, and the steps thereof shalbe turned towarde ye East. <sup>18</sup>And he said vnto me, Sone of man, thus saith ye Lord God, These are ye ordinances of ye altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon. <sup>19</sup>And thou shalt giue to the Priestes, and to the Leuites, that be of the seede of Zadok, which approach vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering. <sup>20</sup>And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cense it, and reconcile it. <sup>21</sup>Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie. <sup>22</sup>But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cense ye altar, as they did cense it with the bullocke. <sup>23</sup>When thou hast made an ende of censing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish. <sup>24</sup>And thou shalt offer them before ye Lord, and the Priestes shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto ye Lord. <sup>25</sup>Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goate for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish. <sup>26</sup>Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cense it, and consecrate it. <sup>27</sup>And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priestes shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

44Then he brought me towarde the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth towarde the East, and it was shut. 2Then saide the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe shut, and shall not bee opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shalbe shut. 3It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porche of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same. 4Then brought he mee toward the North gate before the House: and when I looked, beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face. 5And the Lord sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning al the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and al the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie, 6And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to ye house of Israel, Thus saith ye Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of al your abominations, 7Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuarie strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to bee in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine house, when yee offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations. 8For yee haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie. 9Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel, 10Neither yet ye Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from thee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie. 11And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them. 12Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine had against the, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity, 13And they shall not come neere vnto me to do ye office of ye Priest vnto me, neyther shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue comitted. 14And I will make them keepers of ye watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein. 15But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stande before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God. 16They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge. 17And whe they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come vpon the while they serue in ye gates of the inner court, and within. 18They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heades, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not girde them selues in the sweating places. 19But when they goe fourth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments. 20They shall not also shaue their heades, nor suffer their lockes to growe long, but rounde their heades. 21Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court. 22Neither shall they take for their wiues a widowe, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest. 23And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vnclane and the cleane. 24And in controuersie they shall stande to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths. 25And they shall come at no dead person to defile theselues, except at their father, or mother, or sone, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they be defiled. 26And when he is censed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes. 27And when he goeth into ye Sanctuarie vnto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuarie, he shall offer his sinne offering, saith ye Lord God. 28And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye giue them no possessio in Israel, for I am their possession. 29They shall eate the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespas offering, and euery dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs. 30And all the first of all the first borne, and euery oblation, euen all of euery sort of your oblations shall be the Priestes. Ye shall also giue vnto the Priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house. 31The Priests shall not eate of any thing, that is dead, or torne, whether it be foule or beast.

tuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shalbe a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie. <sup>5</sup>And in the fiue and twentie thousande of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers. <sup>6</sup>Also ye shall appoynt the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broad, and fiue and twentie thousand log ouer against the oblation of ye holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And a portion shalbe for the prince on ye one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border. <sup>8</sup>In this lande shalbe his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to ye house of Israel, according to their tribes. <sup>9</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgment and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God. <sup>10</sup>Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath. <sup>11</sup>The Ephah and the Bath shalbe equall: a Bath shall conteyne the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer. <sup>12</sup>And the shekel shalbe twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and fiue and twentie shekels and fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh. <sup>13</sup>This is the oblation that ye shall offer, ye sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley. <sup>14</sup>Concerning ye ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of ye Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer) <sup>15</sup>And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of ye fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayth the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>All the people of the lande shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel. <sup>17</sup>And it shalbe ye princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the newe moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel. <sup>18</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense the Sanctuarie. <sup>19</sup>And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court. <sup>20</sup>And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house. <sup>21</sup>In the first moneth in the foureteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and ye shall eate vnleauened bread. <sup>22</sup>And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for him selfe, and for all the people of the lande, a bullocke for a sinne offering. <sup>23</sup>And in the seuen dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offering. <sup>24</sup>And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an Hin of oyle for an Ephah. <sup>25</sup>In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he do the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

46 Thus sayth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shalbe opened. <sup>2</sup>And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stande by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall go foorth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening. <sup>3</sup>Likewise the people of the lande shall worshippe at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones. <sup>4</sup>And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shalbe sixe lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish. <sup>5</sup>And the meat offering shalbe an Ephah for a ram: and the meate offering for the lambs a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. <sup>6</sup>And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ram: they shalbe without blemish. <sup>7</sup>And he shall prepare a meat offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambes according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. <sup>8</sup>And when the prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porche of that gate, and hee shall go foorth by the way thereof. <sup>9</sup>But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feastes, hee that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe foorth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it. <sup>10</sup>And the prince shall be in the middes of them: hee shall go in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together. <sup>11</sup>And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meat offering shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. <sup>12</sup>Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, hee shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate. <sup>13</sup>Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning. <sup>14</sup>And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the thirde part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meate offering shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euery morning, for a continual burnt offering. <sup>16</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, and it shall bee their possession by inheritance. <sup>17</sup>But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall bee his to the yere of libertie: after, it shall returne to ye prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them. <sup>18</sup>Moreouer the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession. <sup>19</sup>After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stode toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them. <sup>20</sup>Then saide he vnto me, This is the place where the Priestes shall see the the trespass offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meat offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, to sanctifie ye people. <sup>21</sup>Then he brought me fourth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court. <sup>22</sup>In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourty cubits long, and thirty broad: these foure corners were of one measure. <sup>23</sup>And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles rounde about. <sup>24</sup>Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

47Afterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and behold, waters yssued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stode toward the East, and the waters ran downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the southside of ye altar. <sup>2</sup>Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on ye right side <sup>3</sup>And when the man that had the line in his hand, went fourth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters:

the waters were to the ancles. <sup>4</sup>Againe he measured a thousande, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: ye waters were to ye loynes. <sup>5</sup>Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer. <sup>6</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer. <sup>7</sup>Nowe when I returned, beholde, at the brinke of the riuer were very many trees on the one side, and on the other. <sup>8</sup>Then saide he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shalbe wholesome. <sup>9</sup>And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wheresoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shalbe a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth. <sup>10</sup>And then the fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eghaim, they shall spread out their nettes: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fishe of the maine sea, exceeding many. <sup>11</sup>But the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pittes. <sup>12</sup>And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all fruitful trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall ye fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of ye Sanctuarie: and the fruite thereof shalbe meat, and the leafe thereof shalbe for medicine. <sup>13</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherite the lande according to the twelue tribes of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions. <sup>14</sup>And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this lande shall fall vnto you for inheritance. <sup>15</sup>And this shall be the border of the lande toward the North side, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah: <sup>16</sup>Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran. <sup>17</sup>And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part. <sup>18</sup>But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the lande of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shalbe the East part. <sup>19</sup>And the Southside shalbe toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman. <sup>20</sup>The West parte also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe

the West part. <sup>21</sup>So shall ye deuide this lande vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel. <sup>22</sup>And you shall deuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel. <sup>23</sup>And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

48Now these are the names of the tribes. From the North side, to the coast towarde Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan. <sup>2</sup>And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher. <sup>3</sup>And by the border of Asher from the East parte euen vnto the West parte a portion for Naphtali. <sup>4</sup>And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh. <sup>5</sup>And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Ephraim. <sup>6</sup>And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben. <sup>7</sup>And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah. <sup>8</sup>And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part shall be the offering which they shall offer of fwe and twentie thousande reedes broade, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the Westside, and the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes of it. <sup>9</sup>The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fwe and twentie thousande long, and of ten thousand the breadth. <sup>10</sup>And for them, euen for the Priestes shalbe this holy oblation, towarde the North fwe and twentie thousande long, and towarde the West, ten thousande broade, and towarde the East ten thousand broad, and towarde the South fwe and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shalbe in the middes thereof. <sup>11</sup>It shalbe for the Priestes that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray. <sup>12</sup>Therefore this oblation of the land that is offred, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites. <sup>13</sup>And ouer against the border of the Priestes the Leuites shall haue fwe and twentie thousande long, and ten thousande broade: all the length shalbe fwe and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousande. <sup>14</sup>And they shall not sel of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first frutes of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And the fwe thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fwe and twentie thousande, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shalbe in the middes thereof. <sup>16</sup>And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fwe hundreth and foure thousand, and the South parte fwe hundreth and foure thousande, and the East parte fwe hundreth and foure thousande, and the West parte fwe hundreth and foure thousande. <sup>17</sup>And the suburbes of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the South two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the East two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the West two hundreth and fiftie. <sup>18</sup>And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastwarde, and ten thousand Westwarde: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease thereof shall be for foode vnto them that serue in the citie. <sup>19</sup>And they that serue in the citie, shalbe of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein. <sup>20</sup>All the oblation shalbe fwe and twentie thousand with fwe and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie. <sup>21</sup>And the residue shalbe for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fwe and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fwe and twentie thousande towarde the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof. <sup>22</sup>Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shall be the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes. <sup>23</sup>And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East parte vnto the West parte Benjamin shalbe a portion. <sup>24</sup>And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion. <sup>25</sup>And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Isshachar a portion. <sup>26</sup>And by the border of Isshachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion. <sup>27</sup>And by the border of Zebulun from the East parte vnto the West part, Gad a portion. <sup>28</sup>And by the border of Gad at the South side, towarde Temath, the border shall be euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the riuier, that runneth into the maine sea. <sup>29</sup>This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God. <sup>30</sup>And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fwe hundreth, and foure thousande measures. <sup>31</sup>And the gates of the citie shalbe after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northwarde, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui. <sup>32</sup>And at the East side fwe hundreth and foure thousande, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beiamin, and one gate of Dan. <sup>33</sup>And at the South side, fwe hundreth and foure thousande measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, and one gate of Zebulun. <sup>34</sup>At the West side, fwe hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali. <sup>35</sup>It was rounde about eighteene thousande measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, The Lord is there.

Daniel

1In the thirde yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it. 2And ye Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand; with parte of the vessels of the house of God, which he caryed into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie. 3And the King spake vnto Ashpenaz the master of his Eunuches, that he shoulde bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the Kings seede, and of the princes: 4Children in whome was no blemish, but well faouored, and instruct in all wisdome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stande in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans. 5And the King appointed them prouision euery day of a portion of the Kings meate, and and of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing them three yeere, that at the ende thereof, they might stande before the King. 6Nowe among these were certeine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. 7Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego. 8But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee woulde not defile him selfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe. 9(Nowe God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches) 10And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King. 11Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12Proue thy seruants, I beseeche thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eate, and water to drinke. 13Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruantes. 14So hee consented to them in this matter, an proued them ten dayes. 15And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fayrer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate. 16Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse. 17As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in al learning and wisdome: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames. 18Nowe when the time was expired, that the King had appoynted to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar. 19And the King communed with them: and among them al was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stode they before the king. 20And in all matters of wisdome, and vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, hee founde them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his realme. 21And Daniel was vnto the first yeere of king Cyrus.

2And in the seconde yeere of the raygne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirite was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him. 2Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stode before the King. 3And the King sayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirite was troubled to knowe the dreame. 4Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shewe the interpretation. 5And the King answered and sayd to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawn in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes. 6But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receyue of me gifts and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it. 7They answered againe, and sayde, Let the King shewe his seruantes the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof. 8Then the King answered, and sayd, I knowe certainly that ye would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me. 9But if ye will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time bee changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if yee can declare me the interpretation thereof. <sup>10</sup>Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lorde that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean. <sup>11</sup>For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh. <sup>12</sup>For this cause the king was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel. <sup>13</sup>And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slayne: and they sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death. <sup>14</sup>Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chiefe stewarde, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel. <sup>15</sup>Yea, he answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings capitaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel. <sup>16</sup>So Daniel went and desired the king that he woulde giue him leasure and that he woulde shewe the king the interpretation thereof. <sup>17</sup>The Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, <sup>18</sup>That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of ye wise men of Babel. <sup>19</sup>Then was the secret reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel prayed the God of heauen. <sup>20</sup>And Daniel answered and sayde, The Name of God be prayed for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his, <sup>21</sup>And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand. <sup>22</sup>Hee discovereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in darkenes, and the light dwelleth with him. <sup>23</sup>I thanke thee and prayse thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen mee wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me nowe the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter. <sup>24</sup>Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeyned to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and sayde thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation. <sup>25</sup>Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and sayd thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation. <sup>26</sup>Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof? <sup>27</sup>Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayd, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southsayers declare vnto the King. <sup>28</sup>But there is a God in heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine heade vpon thy bed, is this. <sup>29</sup>O King, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughts came into thy mind, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reueyleth secretes, telleth thee, what shall come. <sup>30</sup>As for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart. <sup>31</sup>O King, thou sawest, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible. <sup>32</sup>This images head was of fine golde, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, <sup>33</sup>His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay. <sup>34</sup>Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces. <sup>35</sup>Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sommer floures, and the winde caryed them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth. <sup>36</sup>This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof. <sup>37</sup>O King, thou art a king of Kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glorie. <sup>38</sup>And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the felde, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them al: thou art this heade of golde. <sup>39</sup>And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth. <sup>40</sup>And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruisse all. <sup>41</sup>Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, parte of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe deuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth. <sup>42</sup>And as the toes of the feete were parte of yron, and parte of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken. <sup>43</sup>And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron can not bee mixed with clay. <sup>44</sup>And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy al these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer. <sup>45</sup>Where as thou sawest, that the stone was cut of the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure. <sup>46</sup>Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meate offerings, and sweete odours vnto him. <sup>47</sup>Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and said, I know of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret. <sup>48</sup>So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great giftes. Hee made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel. <sup>49</sup>Then Daniel made request to the King, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the gate of the King.

<sup>3</sup>Nebuchad-nezzar the King made an image of gold, whose height was three score cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel. <sup>2</sup>Then Nebuchad-nezzar ye King sent fourth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp. <sup>3</sup>So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp. <sup>4</sup>Then an herald cried aloude, Be it knowen to you, O people, nations, and languages, <sup>5</sup>That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp, <sup>6</sup>And whosoouer falleth not downe and worshipping, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornace. <sup>7</sup>Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp. <sup>8</sup>By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes. <sup>9</sup>For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer. <sup>10</sup>Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, <sup>11</sup>And whosoouer falleth not downe, and worshipping, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fierie fornace. <sup>12</sup>There are certeine Iewes whome thou hast set ouer the charge of ye prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither wil

they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp. <sup>13</sup>Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King. <sup>14</sup>And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp? <sup>15</sup>Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine handes? <sup>16</sup>Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not carefull to answere thee in this matter. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, our God whom we serue, is able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King. <sup>18</sup>But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp. <sup>19</sup>Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat. <sup>20</sup>And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace. <sup>21</sup>So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornace. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, because the Kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought fourth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. <sup>23</sup>And these three men Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace. <sup>24</sup>Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and saide vnto his counsellers, Did not wee cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, O King. <sup>25</sup>And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God. <sup>26</sup>Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the seruants of the hie God goe fourth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came fourth of the middes of the fire. <sup>27</sup>Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heare of their head was burnt, neither was their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them. <sup>28</sup>Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God. <sup>29</sup>Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shalbe drawn in peces, and their houses shall be made iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort. <sup>30</sup>Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel. <sup>31</sup>Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you: <sup>32</sup>I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me. <sup>33</sup>How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

<sup>4</sup>I Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace, <sup>2</sup>Saw a dreame, which made me afraide, and the thoughtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me. <sup>3</sup>Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame. <sup>4</sup>So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the sothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof, <sup>5</sup>Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirite of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying, <sup>6</sup>O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the enchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene and the interpretation thereof. <sup>7</sup>Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I sawe a tree in the middes of the earth and the height thereof was great: <sup>8</sup>A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth. <sup>9</sup>The boughes thereof were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beastes of the felde, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fedde of it. <sup>10</sup>I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, <sup>11</sup>And cried aloude, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches. <sup>12</sup>Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the felde. <sup>13</sup>Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him. <sup>14</sup>The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaunde was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men. <sup>15</sup>This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee. <sup>16</sup>Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and saide, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies. <sup>17</sup>The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world, <sup>18</sup>Whose leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the felde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit, <sup>19</sup>It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth. <sup>20</sup>Where as the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wette with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the felde, till seuen times passe ouer him, <sup>21</sup>This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King, <sup>22</sup>That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the felde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom so euer he will. <sup>23</sup>Where as they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy sinnes by righteousnes, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: lo, let there be an healing of thine errour. <sup>25</sup>All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar. <sup>26</sup>At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel. <sup>27</sup>And the King spake and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie? <sup>28</sup>While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, <sup>29</sup>And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the felde: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will. <sup>30</sup>The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growen as eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws. <sup>31</sup>And at the ende of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I prayed and honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation. <sup>32</sup>And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou? <sup>33</sup>At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me. <sup>34</sup>Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar prayse and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

<sup>5</sup>King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand. <sup>2</sup>And Belshazzar whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein. <sup>3</sup>Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them. <sup>4</sup>They drunke wine and prayed the gods of golde, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone. <sup>5</sup>At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of ye Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote. <sup>6</sup>Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughtes troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome. <sup>8</sup>Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation. <sup>9</sup>Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied. <sup>10</sup>Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the basket house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed. <sup>11</sup>There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father light and vnderstanding and wisdome like the wisdome of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers, <sup>12</sup>Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtles) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whome the King named Belteshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation. <sup>13</sup>Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie? <sup>14</sup>Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdome is found in thee. <sup>15</sup>Now therefore, wisemen and astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing. <sup>16</sup>Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doutes: nowe if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome. <sup>17</sup>Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation. <sup>18</sup>O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour and glory. <sup>19</sup>And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whome he would: whome he would he set vp, and whome he would he put downe. <sup>20</sup>But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him. <sup>21</sup>And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoever he pleaseth. <sup>22</sup>And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, <sup>23</sup>But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast prayed the gods of siluer and golde, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified. <sup>24</sup>Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing. <sup>25</sup>And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL UPHARSIN. <sup>26</sup>This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finished it. <sup>27</sup>TEKEL, thou art wayed in the balance, and art found too light. <sup>28</sup>PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians. <sup>29</sup>Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome. <sup>30</sup>The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine. <sup>31</sup>And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

6It pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundred and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome, <sup>2</sup>And ouer these, three rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage. <sup>3</sup>Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme. <sup>4</sup>Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him. <sup>5</sup>Then sayd these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God. <sup>6</sup>Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer. <sup>7</sup>All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons. <sup>8</sup>Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree. <sup>10</sup>Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and prayed his

God, as he did aforetime. <sup>11</sup>Then these men assembled, and founde Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God. <sup>12</sup>So they came and, spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make a request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. <sup>13</sup>Then answered they, and sayd vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day. <sup>14</sup>When the King heard these wordes, hee was sore displeas'd with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him. <sup>15</sup>Then these men assembled vnto the King, and sayde vnto ye King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, may be altered. <sup>16</sup>Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee. <sup>17</sup>And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel. <sup>18</sup>Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him. <sup>19</sup>Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons. <sup>20</sup>And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and saide to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of ye liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lyons? <sup>21</sup>Then saide Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer. <sup>22</sup>My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for my iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt. <sup>23</sup>Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleued in his God. <sup>24</sup>And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lyons had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the groud of the denne. <sup>25</sup>Afterwarde King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwel in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you. <sup>26</sup>I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remayneth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

<sup>27</sup>Hee rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth, who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the Lyons. <sup>28</sup>So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

7In the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter. <sup>2</sup>Daniel spake and saide, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea: <sup>3</sup>And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another. <sup>4</sup>The first was as a Lyon, and had eagles wings: I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt of, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him. <sup>5</sup>And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a beare and stood vpon the one side: and hee had three ribbes in his mouth betweene his teeth, and they saide thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh. <sup>6</sup>After this I behelde, and loe, there was an other like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was giuen him. <sup>7</sup>After this I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces and stamped the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had ten hornes. <sup>8</sup>As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle horne, before whome there were three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things. <sup>9</sup>I behelde, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the heare of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire. <sup>10</sup>A fierie streame yssued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousandes ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand thousands stode before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened. <sup>11</sup>Then I behelde, because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire. <sup>12</sup>As concerning the other beastes, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season. <sup>13</sup>As I behelde in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him. <sup>14</sup>And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed. <sup>15</sup>I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraide. <sup>16</sup>Therefore I came

vnto one of them that stode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things. <sup>17</sup>These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, <sup>18</sup>And they shall take the kingdome of the Saintes of the most High, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer. <sup>19</sup>After this, I woulde knowe the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feete. <sup>20</sup>Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous thinges, whose looke was more stoute then his fellowes. <sup>21</sup>I beheld, and the same horne made battel against the Saintes, yea, and preuailed against them, <sup>22</sup>Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome. <sup>23</sup>Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces. <sup>24</sup>And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are tenne Kings that shall rise: and an other shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue three Kings, <sup>25</sup>And shall speake wordes against the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shalbe giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times and the deuiding of time. <sup>26</sup>But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende. <sup>27</sup>And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shalbe giue to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all powers shall serue and obey him. <sup>28</sup>Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

8In the thirde yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto mee at the first. <sup>2</sup>And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Vlai. <sup>3</sup>Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stode before the riuer a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was hier then another, and the hiest came vp last. <sup>4</sup>I sawe the ramme pusshing against ye West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beastes might stande before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great. <sup>5</sup>And as I considered, beholde, a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the gronde: and this goate had an horne that appeared betweene his eyes. <sup>6</sup>And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage. <sup>7</sup>And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the gronde, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that coulede deliuer the ramme out of his power. <sup>8</sup>Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure windes of ye heauen. <sup>9</sup>And out of one of them came fourth a litle horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land. <sup>10</sup>Yea, it grewe vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them, <sup>11</sup>And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste from whome the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe. <sup>12</sup>And a time shall be giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper. <sup>13</sup>Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the armie vnder foote? <sup>14</sup>And he answered me, Vnto the euening and the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be censed. <sup>15</sup>Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stode before me like the similitude of a man. <sup>16</sup>And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called, and sayde, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision. <sup>17</sup>So he came where I stood: and when hee came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shalbe the vision. <sup>18</sup>Nowe as he was speaking vnto me, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place. <sup>19</sup>And he sayde, Beholde, I will shewe thee what shalbe in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come. <sup>20</sup>The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians. <sup>21</sup>And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King. <sup>22</sup>And that that is broken, and foure stode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength. <sup>23</sup>And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp. <sup>24</sup>And his power shalbe mightie, but not in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mightie, and the holy people. <sup>25</sup>And through his policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stande vp against the prince of princes, but he shalbe broken downe without hand. <sup>26</sup>And the vision of the euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes. <sup>27</sup>And I Daniel was striken and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings busines, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

9In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the realme of the Caldeans, <sup>2</sup>Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes. <sup>4</sup>And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest couenant and mercy toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements, <sup>5</sup>We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements. <sup>6</sup>For we would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land. <sup>7</sup>O Lord, righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee. <sup>8</sup>O Lord, vnto vs apperteineth open shame, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee. <sup>9</sup>Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him. <sup>10</sup>For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had laide before vs by the ministerie of his seruants the Prophets. <sup>11</sup>Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him. <sup>12</sup>And he hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem. <sup>13</sup>All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth. <sup>14</sup>Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce. <sup>15</sup>And nowe, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly. <sup>16</sup>O Lord, according to all thy righteousnes, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproche to all that are about vs. <sup>17</sup>Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for the Lords sake. <sup>18</sup>O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousnes, but for thy great tender mercies. <sup>19</sup>O Lord, heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people. <sup>20</sup>And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, <sup>21</sup>Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation. <sup>22</sup>And he informed me, and talked with me, and sayd, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding. <sup>23</sup>At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came foorth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision. <sup>24</sup>Seuentie weekes are determined vpon thy people and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the sinnes, and to reconcile the inquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoynt the most Holy. <sup>25</sup>Knowe therefore and vnderstande, that from the going foorth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall be seuen weekes and threescore and two weekes, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a troublous time. <sup>26</sup>And after threescore and two weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall haue nothing,, and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the end thereof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shalbe destroyed by desolations. <sup>27</sup>And he shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the ouerspredding of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

10In the third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the worde was true, but the time appointed was long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision. <sup>2</sup>At the same time I Daniel was in heauines for three weekes of dayes. <sup>3</sup>I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled. <sup>4</sup>And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel, <sup>5</sup>And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of Vphaz. <sup>6</sup>His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude. <sup>7</sup>And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues. <sup>8</sup>Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power. <sup>9</sup>Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground. <sup>10</sup>And behold, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands. <sup>11</sup>And he sayde vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe sent. And when hee had sayde this worde vnto me, I stood trembling. <sup>12</sup>Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes. <sup>13</sup>But the prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia. <sup>14</sup>Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision is for many dayes. <sup>15</sup>And when he spake these wordes vnto me, I set my face toward the grounde, and helde my tongue. <sup>16</sup>And beholde, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stode before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength. <sup>17</sup>For howe can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straight way there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me. <sup>18</sup>Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, <sup>19</sup>And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me. <sup>20</sup>Then saide he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but nowe will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come. <sup>21</sup>But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

11Also I, in ye first yere of Darius of ye Medes, euen I stood to encourage and to strengthen him. <sup>2</sup>And now wil I shew thee ye trueth, Behold, there shall stand vp yet three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia. <sup>3</sup>But a mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure. <sup>4</sup>And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, and shall be deuied towarde the foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides those. <sup>5</sup>And ye King of ye South shalbe mightie, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominio shalbe a great dominion. <sup>6</sup>And in the ende of yeeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings daughter of ye South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not reteine the power of the arme, neither shall he continue, nor his arme: but she shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times. <sup>7</sup>But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile, <sup>8</sup>And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue more yeeres then the King of the North. <sup>9</sup>So the King of ye South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one shall come, and ouerflowe, and passe through: then shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse. <sup>11</sup>And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come foorth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for he shall set foorth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand. <sup>12</sup>Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile. <sup>13</sup>For the King of the North shall returne, and shall set foorth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come foorth (after certeine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches. <sup>14</sup>And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt them selues to establish the vision, but they shall fall. <sup>15</sup>So the

King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand. <sup>16</sup>But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed. <sup>17</sup>Againe he shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and he shall giue him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but she shall not stande on his side, neither bee for him. <sup>18</sup>After this shall he turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe. <sup>19</sup>For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more founde. <sup>20</sup>Then shall stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell. <sup>21</sup>And in his place shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries. <sup>22</sup>And the armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the couenant. <sup>23</sup>And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a small people. <sup>24</sup>He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall deuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a time. <sup>25</sup>Also he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him. <sup>26</sup>Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be slaine. <sup>27</sup>And both these Kings hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaille: for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed. <sup>28</sup>Then shall he returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land. <sup>29</sup>At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first. <sup>30</sup>For the shippes of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sorie and returne, and freat against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant. <sup>31</sup>And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation. <sup>32</sup>And such as wickedly breake

ye couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile and prosper. <sup>33</sup>And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile many dayes. <sup>34</sup>Nowe when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a litle helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them fainedly. <sup>35</sup>And some of the of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed. <sup>36</sup>And the King shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against ye God of gods, and shall prosper, till ye wrath be accomplished: for ye determination is made. <sup>37</sup>Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all. <sup>38</sup>But in his place shall he honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall he honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things. <sup>39</sup>Thus shall he do in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many and shall deuide ye land for gaine. <sup>40</sup>And at ye end of time shall the King of the South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shall enter into ye countreis, and shall ouerflow and passe through. <sup>41</sup>He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countreis shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon. <sup>42</sup>He shall stretch foorth his hands also vpon the countreis, and ye land of Egypt shall not escape. <sup>43</sup>But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe. <sup>44</sup>But the tidings out of the East and the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall goe foorth with great wrath to destroy and roote out many. <sup>45</sup>And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

12And at that time shall Michael stand vp, ye great prince, which standeth for ye children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall be foud written in ye boke. <sup>2</sup>And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt. <sup>3</sup>And they that be wise, shall shine, as ye brightnes of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousnes, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer. <sup>4</sup>But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the boke til the end of the time: many shall run to and from, and knowledge shall be increased. <sup>5</sup>Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, ye one on this side of ye brinke of ye riuer, and the other on that side of ye brinke of the riuer. <sup>6</sup>And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon ye waters of the riuer, When shalbe the ende of these wonders? <sup>7</sup>And I heard ye man clothed in line which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he helde vp his right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tarie for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished. <sup>8</sup>The I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: the said I, O my Lord, what shalbe ye end of these things? <sup>9</sup>And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for ye words are closed vp, and sealed, till the ende of the time. <sup>10</sup>Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand. <sup>11</sup>And from the time that the daily sacrifice shalbe take away and the abominable desolatio set vp, there shalbe a thousand, two hundreth and ninetie daies. <sup>12</sup>Blessed is he that waiteth and cometh to the thousand, three hundreth and fие and thirtie daies. <sup>13</sup>But go thou thy way til the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of ye daies.

Hosea

1The worde of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of Vziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel. 2At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord. 3So he went, and tooke Gomer, ye daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne. 4And the Lord said vnto him, Cal his name Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel. 5And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel. 6She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God saide vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I wil vtterly take them away. 7Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and wil saue them by the Lord their God, and wil not saue them by bow, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen. 8Nowe when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, shee conceived, and bare a sonne. 9Then saide God, Call his name Lo-ammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours. 10Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sande of the sea, which can not be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was saide vnto them, Yee are not my people, it shall be saide vnto them, Yee are the sonnes of the liuing God. 11Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint them selues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izreel.

2Say vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah, 2Plead with your mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betweene her breasts. 3Lest I strippe her naked, and set her as in the day that shee was borne, and make her as a wildernes, and leaue her like a drie land, and slaie her for thirst. 4And I wil haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications. 5For their mother hath plaid the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done

shamefully: for shee said, I will goe after my louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke. 6Therefore beholde, I will stoope thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her pathes. 7Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall shee not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then nowe. 8Nowe she did not knowe that I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal. 9Therefore wil I returne, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wool and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame. 10And now will I discouer her lewdnes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand. 11I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast daies, her newe moones, and her Sabbathes, and all her solemne feasts. 12And I wil destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them. 13And I wil visit vpon her the daies of Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her earrings and her iewels, and shee folowed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord. 14Therefore beholde, I will allure her, and bring her into the wildernes, and speake friendly vnto her. 15And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the daies of her youth, and as in the daies when shee came vp out of the land of Egypt. 16And at that day, sayeth the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call me no more Baali. 17For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembred by their names. 18And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely. 19And I wil marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion. 20I will euen marry thee vnto me in faithfulnes, and thou shalt knowe the Lord. 21And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, <sup>22</sup>And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel. <sup>23</sup>And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

<sup>3</sup>Then said the Lord to me, Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottels. <sup>2</sup>So I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie. <sup>3</sup>And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee. <sup>4</sup>For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a King and without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod and without Teraphim. <sup>5</sup>Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and Daud their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores. <sup>14</sup>I will not visite your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall. <sup>15</sup>Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth. <sup>16</sup>For Israel is rebellious as an vnruely heyfer. Nowe the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place. <sup>17</sup>Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone. <sup>18</sup>Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye. <sup>19</sup>The winde hath bounde them vp in her wings, and they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

<sup>5</sup>O ye Priestes, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is towarde you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor. <sup>2</sup>Yet they were profounde, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all. <sup>3</sup>I knowe Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for nowe, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled. <sup>4</sup>They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord. <sup>5</sup>And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them. <sup>6</sup>They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawne himselfe from them. <sup>7</sup>They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotte strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions. <sup>8</sup>Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Ramah: crie out at Beth-auen, after thee, O Benjamin. <sup>9</sup>Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to knowe the trueth. <sup>10</sup>The princes of Iudah were like them that remoue the bounde: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water. <sup>11</sup>Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandement. <sup>12</sup>Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse. <sup>13</sup>When Ephraim sawe his sickenes, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Asshur, and sent vnto King Iareb: yet coulde hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound. <sup>14</sup>For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it. <sup>15</sup>I will go, and returne to my place, til they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

6Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp. 2After two dayes will he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight. 3Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth. 4O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away. 5Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth. 6For I desired mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings. 7But they like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me. 8Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood. 9And as the eues waite for a man, so the companie of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief. 10I haue seene vileny in the house of Israel: there is ye whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled. 11Yea, Iudah hath set a plant for thee, whiles I woulde returne ye captiuitie of my people.

7When I woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without. 2And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednes: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight. 3They make the King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies. 4They are all adulterers, and as a very ouen heated by ye baker, which ceaseth from raying vp, and from kneading ye dough vntill it be leauened. 5This is the day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scornors. 6For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire. 7They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me. 8Ephraim hath mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned. 9Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray heares are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not. 10And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this. 11Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur. 12But when they shall go, I will spred my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastice them as their congregation hath heard. 13Wo vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lyes against me. 14And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they houled vpon their beds: they assembled themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me. 15Though I haue boud and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me. 16They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

8Set the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe. 2Israel shall crie vnto me, My God, we know thee. 3Israel hath cast off ye thing that is good: the enimie shall pursue him. 4They haue set vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed. 5Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: howe long will they be without innocencie! 6For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces. 7For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no stalke: the budde shall bring foorth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it. 8Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure. 9For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers. 10Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they shall sorowe a litle, for the burden of the King and the princes. 11Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne. 12I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a strange thing. 13They sacrifice flesh for ye sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt. 14For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will sende a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

9Reioice not, O Israel for ioy as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued a rewarde vpon euery corne floore. 2The floore, and the wine presse shall not feede them, and the newe wine shall faile in her. 3They wil not dwel in the Lordes lande, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vnclene things in Asshur. 4They shall not offer wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mournors: al that eate thereof, shalbe polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>What wil ye do then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord? <sup>6</sup>For loe, they are gone from destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles. <sup>7</sup>The daies of visitation are come: the daies of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: the Prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great. <sup>8</sup>The watchman of Ephraim shoulde bee with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his waies, and hatred in the House of his God. <sup>9</sup>They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the daies of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes. <sup>10</sup>I found Israel like grapes in the wildernes: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers. <sup>11</sup>Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a birde: from the birth and from the wombe, and from the conception. <sup>12</sup>Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them. <sup>13</sup>Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer. <sup>14</sup>O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a baren wombe and drie breasts. <sup>15</sup>All their wickednesse is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels. <sup>16</sup>Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slaie euen the dearest of their bodie. <sup>17</sup>My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

10 Israel is a emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images. <sup>2</sup>Their heart is deuided: nowe shall they be founde faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images. <sup>3</sup>For now they shall say, We haue no King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs? <sup>4</sup>They haue spoken woordes, swearing falsly in making a couenant: thus iudgement groweth as wormewoode in the furrowes of the field. <sup>5</sup>The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it. <sup>6</sup>It shall bee also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell. <sup>7</sup>Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed as the some vpon the water.

<sup>8</sup>The hie places also of Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs. <sup>9</sup>O Israel, thou hast sinned from the daies of Gibeah: there they stode: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them. <sup>10</sup>It is my desire that I should chastice them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two furrowes. <sup>11</sup>And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delite in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iacob shall breake his cloddes. <sup>12</sup>Sowe to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercy: breake vp your fallowe ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousness vpon you. <sup>13</sup>But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruite of lies: because thou didest trust in thine owne waies, and in the multitude of thy strong men, <sup>14</sup>Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Beth-arbell in the daie of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces. <sup>15</sup>So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

11 When Israel was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt. <sup>2</sup>They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images. <sup>3</sup>I ledde Ephraim also, as one shoulde beare them in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them. <sup>4</sup>I led them with cordes of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laide the meat vnto them. <sup>5</sup>He shall no more returne into the lande of Egypt: but Asshur shalbe his King, because they refused to conuert. <sup>6</sup>And the sworde shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels. <sup>7</sup>And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most hie, yet none at all would exalt him. <sup>8</sup>Howe shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? howe shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? howe shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: my repentings are rouled together. <sup>9</sup>I wil not execute ye fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the citie. <sup>10</sup>They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare. <sup>11</sup>They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue of the lande of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, sayth the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Ephraim copasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

12Ephraim is fed with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they do make a couenant with Asshur, and oyle is caried into Egypt. <sup>2</sup>The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his waies: according to his workes, wil he recompence him. <sup>3</sup>Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had power with God, <sup>4</sup>And had power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and praied vnto him: he founde him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs. <sup>5</sup>Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memorie all. <sup>6</sup>Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God. <sup>7</sup>He is Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse. <sup>8</sup>And Ephraim saide, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, that were wickednesse. <sup>9</sup>Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwel in the tabernacles, as in the daies of the solemne feast. <sup>10</sup>I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets. <sup>11</sup>Is there iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field. <sup>12</sup>And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe. <sup>13</sup>And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued. <sup>14</sup>But Ephraim prouoked him with hie places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproche shall his Lord reward him.

13When Ephraim spake, there was trembling: hee exalted him selfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead. <sup>2</sup>And nowe they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calues. <sup>3</sup>Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlwind out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney. <sup>4</sup>Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt knowe no God but me: for there is no Sauour beside me. <sup>5</sup>I did knowe thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought. <sup>6</sup>As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me. <sup>7</sup>And I wil be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur. <sup>8</sup>I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kalle of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beast shall teare them. <sup>9</sup>O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe. <sup>10</sup>I am: where is thy King, that shoulde help thee in al thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saidest, Giue me a King, and princes? <sup>11</sup>I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath. <sup>12</sup>The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid. <sup>13</sup>The sorowes of a traouailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stande still at the time, euen at the breaking forth of the children. <sup>14</sup>I wil redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death, I wil be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes. <sup>15</sup>Though he grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shall be dried vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

14Samaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shalbe dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript. <sup>2</sup>O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie. <sup>3</sup>Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our lippes. <sup>4</sup>Asshur shall not saue vs, neither wil we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie. <sup>5</sup>I wil heale their rebellion: I wil loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him. <sup>6</sup>I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall grow as the lillie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon. <sup>7</sup>His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon. <sup>8</sup>They that dwel vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon. <sup>9</sup>Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruite founde. <sup>10</sup>Who is wise, and he shall vnderstande these things? and prudent, and he shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

Joel

1The worde of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel. 2Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitantes of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers. 3Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation. 4That which is left of ye palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of ye grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten. 5Awake ye drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shalbe pulled from your mouth. 6Yea, a nation commeth vpon my lande, mightie, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon. 7He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: ye branches therof are made white. 8Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth. 9The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne. 10The felde is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed. 11Be ye ashamed, O husband men: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate, and for the barly, because the haruest of the felde is perished. 12The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the felde are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men. 13Girde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God. 14Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, 15Alas: for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty. 16Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God? 17The seede is rotten vnder their cloddes: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered. 18How did the beasts mourne! the herdes of cattel pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed. 19O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the felde. 20The beasts of the felde cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes.

2Blowe the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the lande tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand. 2A day of darknesse, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spred vpon the mountaines, so is there a great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shalbe any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations. 3A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him. 4The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne. 5Like the noyse of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battel. 6Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse. 7They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths. 8Neither shall one thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded. 9They shall runne to and from in the citie: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at ye windowes like ye thiefe. 10The earth shall tremble before him, ye heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining, 11And the Lord shall vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strog that doeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it? 12Therefore also now the Lord sayth, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill. <sup>14</sup>Who knoweth, is he wil returne and repent and leaue a blessing behinde him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto ye Lord your God? <sup>15</sup>Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly. <sup>16</sup>Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber. <sup>17</sup>Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen should rule ouer them. Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God? <sup>18</sup>Then will the Lord be ielous ouer his land, and spare his people. <sup>19</sup>Yea, the Lord wil answere and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shalbe satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproche among the heathen, <sup>20</sup>But I will remooue farre off from you the Northren armie, and I will driue him into a land, barren and desolate with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to do this. <sup>21</sup>Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord wil do great things. <sup>22</sup>Be not afrayde, ye beastes of the felde: for the pastures of the wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree and the vine do giue their force. <sup>23</sup>Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath giuen you the rayne of righteousness, he wil cause to come downe for you the rayne, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth. <sup>24</sup>And the barnes shalbe full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle. <sup>25</sup>And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpillar and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you. <sup>26</sup>So you shall eate and be satisfied and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed. <sup>27</sup>Ye shall also know, that I am in the middes of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed. <sup>28</sup>And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophecie: your olde men shall dreame dreames, and your yong men shall see visions, <sup>29</sup>And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes wil I powre my Spirit. <sup>30</sup>And I will shewe wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke. <sup>31</sup>The sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come. <sup>32</sup>But whosoeuer shall call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe sauued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

3For beholde, in those dayes and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem, <sup>2</sup>I will also gather all nations, and wil bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land. <sup>3</sup>And they haue cast lottes for my people, and haue giuen the childe for the harlot, and sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke. <sup>4</sup>Yea, and what haue you to do with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the costes of Palestina? will ye render me a recompence? and if ye recompence mee, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head: <sup>5</sup>For ye haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things. <sup>6</sup>The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I will rase them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head, <sup>8</sup>And I will send your sonnes and your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>9</sup>Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere and come vp. <sup>10</sup>Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong. <sup>11</sup>Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe the mightie men. <sup>12</sup>Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about. <sup>13</sup>Put in your sithes, for the haruest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great. <sup>14</sup>O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing. <sup>15</sup>The sunne and moone shalbe darkened, and the starres shall withdrawe their light. <sup>16</sup>The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord wil be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel. <sup>17</sup>So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem bee holy, and there shall no strangers go thorowe her any more. <sup>18</sup>And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe newe wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and al the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim. <sup>19</sup>Egypt shalbe waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the childe of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land. <sup>20</sup>But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation. <sup>21</sup>For I will clense their blood, that I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

Amos

1The wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen at Tecoa, which he sawe vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel, two yeere before the earthquake. 2And he saide, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the top of Carmel shall wither, 3Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron. 4Therefore will I sende a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben-hadad. 5I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, sayth the Lord. 6Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom. 7Therefore will I sende a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof. 8And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, sayth the Lord God. 9Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherly couenant. 10Therefore wil I send a fire vpon ye walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof. 11Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sworde, and did cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway. 12Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah. 13Thus sayth ye Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border. 14Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwinde. 15And their King shall go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, sayth the Lord.

2Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime. 2Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet. 3And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, sayth the Lord. 4Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandementes, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked. 5Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem. 6Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer and the poore for shooes. 7They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour mine holy Name. 8And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God. 9Yet destroyed I the Amorite before the, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath. 10Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeres thorowe the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite. 11And I raysed vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, sayth the Lord? 12But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophetes, saying, Prophecie not. 13Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues. 14Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life. 15Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neyther shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life. 16And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, sayth the Lord.

3Heare this worde that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying, 2You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities. 3Can two walke together except they bee agreed? 4Will a lion roare in ye forest, when he hath no pray? or wil a lions whelp cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing? 5Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all? 6Or shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shall there be euil in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it? 7Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he reueileth his secrete vnto his seruantes the Prophets. 8The lyon hath roared: who will not bee afraide? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophecie? 9Proclayme in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and saye, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof. 10For they knowe not to doe right, sayth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbery in their palaces. 11Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen rounde about the cuntry, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled. 12Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherde taketh out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus, as in a couche. 13Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes. 14Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I wil also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground. 15And I wil smite the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, sayth the Lord.

4Heare this worde, ye kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke. 2The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee wil take you away with thornes, and your posteritie with fish hookes. 3And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kow forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord. 4Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeres. 5And offer a thankesgiuing of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offrings: for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God. 6And therefore haue I giuen you cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned

vnto me, saith the Lord. 7And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered. 8So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 9I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 10Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sworde, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 11I haue ouerthrowe you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. 12Therefore, thus wil I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I wil doe this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel. 13For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

5Heare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel. 2The virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raise her vp. 3For thus saith ye Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel. 4For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue. 5But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought. 6Seeke the Lord, and yee shall liue, least he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el. 7They turne iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousnes in the earth. 8He maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. 9He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse. 10They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly. 11Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and yee take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwel in them: ye haue plated pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them. 12For I know your manifold transgressions, and your

mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in ye gate. <sup>13</sup>Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time. <sup>14</sup>Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shalbe with you, as you haue spoken. <sup>15</sup>Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph. <sup>16</sup>Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shalbe in all streetes: and they shall say in al the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning. <sup>17</sup>And in al the vines shalbe lamentation: for I wil passe through thee, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>Woe vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkenes and not light. <sup>19</sup>As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him. <sup>20</sup>Shal not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it? <sup>21</sup>I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I wil not smell in your solemne assemblies. <sup>22</sup>Though ye offer me burnt offrings and meat offrings, I wil not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offrings of your fat beasts. <sup>23</sup>Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I wil not heare the melodie of thy violes) <sup>24</sup>And let iudgement runne downe as waters, and righteousnesse as a mightie riuer. <sup>25</sup>Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offrings in the wilderness fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel? <sup>26</sup>But you haue borne Siccuth your King, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues. <sup>27</sup>Therefore wil I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

6Woe to them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the moutaine of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them. <sup>2</sup>Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border, <sup>3</sup>Ye that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquitie? <sup>4</sup>They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beddes, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall. <sup>5</sup>They sing to the sounde of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musike like Daud. <sup>6</sup>They drinke wine in bowles, and anoynt themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is sory for the affliction of Ioseph. <sup>7</sup>Therefore nowe shall they go captiue with the first that go captiue, and the sorow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand. <sup>8</sup>The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore wil I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein. <sup>9</sup>And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die. <sup>10</sup>And his vnckle shall take him vp and burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by ye sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord. <sup>11</sup>For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts. <sup>12</sup>Shal horses runne vpon the rocke? or wil one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousness into wormewood. <sup>13</sup>Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs hornes by our owne strength? <sup>14</sup>But behold, I wil raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of Hamath vnto the riuer of the wilderness.

7Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, he formed grasshoppers in the beginning of ye shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth after the Kings mowing. <sup>2</sup>And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I saide, O Lord God, spare, I beseeche thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small. <sup>3</sup>So the Lord repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part. <sup>5</sup>Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseeche thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small. <sup>6</sup>So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God. <sup>7</sup>Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stode vpon a wall made by line with a line in his hand. <sup>8</sup>And the Lord saide vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Beholde, I wil set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and wil passe by them no more. <sup>9</sup>And the hie places of Izhak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and I wil rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sworde. <sup>10</sup>Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the lande is not able to beare all his wordes. <sup>11</sup>For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sworde, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land. <sup>12</sup>Also Amaziah sayde vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there. <sup>13</sup>But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappel, and it is the Kings court. <sup>14</sup>Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of wilde figs. <sup>15</sup>And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Go, prophecie vnto my people Israel. <sup>16</sup>Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Izhak. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be deuied by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

8Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruite. <sup>2</sup>And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of sommer fruite. Then sayd the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I wil passe by them no more. <sup>3</sup>And the songs of the Temple shalbe howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with silence. <sup>4</sup>Heare this, O yee that swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the lande to fayle, <sup>5</sup>Saying, When will the newe moneth bee gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit? <sup>6</sup>That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate. <sup>7</sup>The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes. <sup>8</sup>Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall bee cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day. <sup>10</sup>And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnes vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and from to seeke the worde of the Lord, and shall not finde it. <sup>13</sup>In that day shall the faire virgines and the yong men perish for thirst. <sup>14</sup>They that sweare by the sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

9I sawe the Lord standing vpon the altar, and he sayde, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered. <sup>2</sup>Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe. <sup>3</sup>And though they hide them selues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I commande the serpent, and he shall bite them. <sup>4</sup>And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence wil I commande the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and al that dwel therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall bee drowned as by the flood of Egypt. <sup>6</sup>He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. <sup>7</sup>Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto mee, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir? <sup>8</sup>Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuerthelesse I will not vtterly destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord. <sup>9</sup>For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth. <sup>10</sup>But all the sinners of my people shall dye by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs. <sup>11</sup>In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches therof, and I will rayse vp his ruines, and I will builde it, as in the dayes of olde, <sup>12</sup>That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayeth the Lord, that doeth this. <sup>13</sup>Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall touche the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt. <sup>14</sup>And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabite the, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them. <sup>15</sup>And I wil plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their lande, which I haue giuen them, sayeth the Lord thy God.

Obadiah

1The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, We haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battel. 2Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised. 3The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground? 4Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, sayth the Lord. 5Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? howe wast thou brought to silence? woulde they not haue stolen, til they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, woulde they not leaue some grapes? 6Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched? 7All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to ye borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him. 8Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau? 9And thy strong men, O Teman, shall bee afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter. 10For thy crueltie against thy brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer. 11When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and straungers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them. 12But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction. 13Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction. 14Neyther shouldest thou haue stande in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that shoulde escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction. 15For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head. 16For as yee haue drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shalbe as though they had not bene. 17But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, 18And the house of Iaakob shalbe a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall bee no remnant of the house of Esau for the Lord hath spoken it. 19And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead. 20And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South. 21And they that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

Jonah

1The worde of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying, 2Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that great citie, and crye against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before mee. 3But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Iapho: and he founde a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord. 4But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken. 5Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of the: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast a sleepe. 6So the shipmaster came to him, and saide vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish not. 7And they saide euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lottes, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Ionah. 8Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou? 9And he answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry lande. 10Then were the men exceedingly afrayde, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had tolde them) 11Then saide they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous) 12And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you. 13Neuerthelesse, the men rowed to bring it to the lande, but they coulde not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them. 14Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee. 15So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging. 16Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes. 17Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallowe vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nightes.

2Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly, 2And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the bellie of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce. 3For thou haddest cast me into the bottome in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me. 4Then I saide, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe towarde thine holy Temple. 5The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me rounde about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head. 6I went downe to the bottome of the moutaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God. 7When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple. 8They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie. 9But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord. 10And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry lande.

3And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ionah the seconde time, saying, 2Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee. 3So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to ye word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney. 4And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen. 5So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from ye greatest of the euen to the least of them. 6For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he rose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes. 7And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsell of ye king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor beast, bullock nor sheep taste any thing, neither feed nor drinke water. <sup>8</sup>But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their handes. <sup>9</sup>Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not? <sup>10</sup>And God sawe their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he woulde doe vnto them, and he did it not.

<sup>4</sup>Therefore it displeased Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry. <sup>2</sup>And he prayed vnto the Lord, and saide, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill. <sup>3</sup>Therefore nowe O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue. <sup>4</sup>Then saide the Lord, Doest thou well to be angry? <sup>5</sup>So Ionah went out of the citie and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe till he might see what should be done in the citie. <sup>6</sup>And the Lord God prepared a gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his grieffe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourde. <sup>7</sup>But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered. <sup>8</sup>And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to dye, then to liue. <sup>9</sup>And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angrie for the gourde? And he said, I doe well to be angrie vnto the death. <sup>10</sup>Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, <sup>11</sup>And shoulde not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are sixe score thousande persons, that cannot discern betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

Micah

1The word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he sawe concerning Samaria, and Ierusalem. 2Heare, al ye people: hearke thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnes against you, euen ye Lord from his holy Teple. 3For beholde, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come downe, and tread vpon the hie places of the earth. 4And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downewarde. 5For the wickednes of Iaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iaakob? Is not Samaria? and which are the hie places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem? 6Therefore I wil make Samaria as an heape of the felde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof. 7And all the grauen images thereof shalbe broken, and all the giftes thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot. 8Therefore I will mourne and howle: I wil goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches. 9For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enimie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem. 10Declare ye it not at Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust. 11Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, go together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in ye mourning of Beth-ezel: the enimie shall receiue of you for his standing. 12For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem. 13O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beastes of price: she is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee. 14Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lye to the Kings of Israel. 15Yet will I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, the glorie of Israel. 16Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuity from thee.

2Woe vnto them, that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: when the morning is light they practise it because their hande hath power. 2And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage. 3Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euill. 4In that daye shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, We be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto mee? he hath deuised our fieldes. 5Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a corde by lot in the Congregation of the Lord. 6They that prophecied, Prophecie ye not. They shall not prophecie to them, neither shall they take shame. 7O thou that art named of the house of Iaakob, is the Spirite of the Lord shortened? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh vp rightly? 8But hee that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enimie: they spoyle the beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre. 9The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their childe haue ye taken away my glorie continually. 10Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction. 11If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, I wil prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the prophet of this people. 12I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cities shall be full of brute of the men. 13The breake vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their King shall goe before them, and the Lord shalbe vpon their heades.

judgement? <sup>2</sup>But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinnes from them, and their flesh from their bones. <sup>3</sup>And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skinnes from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron. <sup>4</sup>Then shall they crye vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he wil euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and cry peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him, <sup>6</sup>Therefore night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shalbe vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them. <sup>7</sup>Then shall the Seers bee ashamed, and the southsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lippes, for they haue none answere of God. <sup>8</sup>Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the Spirite of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne. <sup>9</sup>Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie. <sup>10</sup>They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie. <sup>11</sup>The heads thereof iudge for rewardes, and the Priestes thereof teache for hyre, and the prophets thereof propheticie for money: yet wil they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs. <sup>12</sup>Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hye places of the forest.

<sup>4</sup>But in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shall bee exalted aboue the hilles, and people shall flowe vnto it. <sup>2</sup>Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teache vs his wayes, and we wil walke in his pathes: for the Lawe shall goe forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their swordes into mattockes, and their speares into sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more. <sup>4</sup>But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it. <sup>5</sup>For all people will walke euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer. <sup>6</sup>At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted. <sup>7</sup>And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in Mount Zion, from hence forth euen for euer. <sup>8</sup>And thou, O towre of the flock, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem. <sup>9</sup>Nowe why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is there no King in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for sorowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile. <sup>10</sup>Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for nowe shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwel in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies. <sup>11</sup>Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned and our eye shall looke vpon Zion. <sup>12</sup>But they knowe not the thoughtes of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne. <sup>13</sup>Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

<sup>5</sup>Nowe assemble thy garisons, O daughter of garisons: he hath layed siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke. <sup>2</sup>And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art litle to bee among the thousandes of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting. <sup>3</sup>Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that shee which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel. <sup>4</sup>And he shall stand, and feed in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwel still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world. <sup>5</sup>And hee shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our lande: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepherdes, and eight principall men. <sup>6</sup>And they shall destroy Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swordes: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our lande, and when he shall tread within our borders. <sup>7</sup>And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam. <sup>8</sup>And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beastes of the forest, and as the lyons whelp among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer. <sup>9</sup>Thine hand shall bee lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off. <sup>10</sup>And it shall come to passe in that day, sayth the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets. <sup>11</sup>And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes. <sup>12</sup>And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hande: and thou shalt haue no more southsayers. <sup>13</sup>Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the woorke of thine hands. <sup>14</sup>And I wil plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies. <sup>15</sup>And I will execute a vegeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

6Hearken ye nowe what the Lord sayth, Arise thou, and contende before the mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce. <sup>2</sup>Heare ye, O mountaynes, the Lordes quarel, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel. <sup>3</sup>O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherin haue I grieved thee? testifie against me. <sup>4</sup>Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam. <sup>5</sup>O my people, remember nowe what Balak King of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may knowe the righteousnes of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offrings, and with calues of a yeere olde? <sup>7</sup>Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my bodie, for the sinne of my soule? <sup>8</sup>He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God. <sup>9</sup>The Lordes voyce cryeth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: Heare the rodde, and who hath appoynted it. <sup>10</sup>Are yet the treasures of wickednes in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable? <sup>11</sup>Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weightes? <sup>12</sup>For the rich men thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth. <sup>13</sup>Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes. <sup>14</sup>Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sworde. <sup>15</sup>Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine. <sup>16</sup>For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproche of my people.

7Woe is me, for I am as the sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites. <sup>2</sup>The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net. <sup>3</sup>To make good for the euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrapt it vp. <sup>4</sup>The best of them is as a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shalbe their confusion. <sup>5</sup>Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome. <sup>6</sup>For the sonne reuileth the father: ye daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauour: my God will heare me. <sup>8</sup>Reioyce not against me, O mineemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me. <sup>9</sup>I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse. <sup>10</sup>Then she that is mineemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes. <sup>11</sup>This is ye day, that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away the decree. <sup>12</sup>In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuier, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine. <sup>13</sup>Notwithstanding, the lande shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of their inuentions. <sup>14</sup>Feed thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time. <sup>15</sup>According to the dayes of thy comming out of the lande of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things. <sup>16</sup>The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hande vpon their mouth: their eares shall be deafe. <sup>17</sup>They shall licke the dust like a serpent: they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee. <sup>18</sup>Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him. <sup>19</sup>He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottome of the sea. <sup>20</sup>Thou wilt perfourme thy trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

Nahum

1The burden of Nineueh. The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite. 2God is ielous, and the Lord reuengeth the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies. 3The Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in ye whirlwind, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete. 4He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted. 5The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the worlde, and all that dwell therein. 6Who can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him. 7The Lord is good and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him. 8But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the place thereof, and darknesse shall pursue his enemies. 9What doe ye imagine against the Lord? he wil make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the seconde time. 10For he shall come as vnto thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried. 11There commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour. 12Thus saith the Lord, Though they be quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more. 13For nowe I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder. 14And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sowed: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile. 15Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, perfourme thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe thorowe thee: he is vtterly cut off.

2The destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily. 2For the Lord hath turned away the

glorie of Iaakob, as the glorie of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches. 3The shield of his mightie men is made red: the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shalbe as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and the firre trees shall tremble. 4The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and from in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning. 5He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall bee prepared. 6The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shall melt. 7And Huzzab the Queene shalbe led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breastes. 8But Nineueh is of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stande, stande, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe. 9Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glorie of all the pleasant vessels. 10She is emptie and voyde and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorowe is in all loynes, and the faces of the all gather blackenesse. 11Where is the dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lyon, and the lionesse walked, and the lyons whelpes, and none made them afrayde. 12The lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and woryed for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with, spoyle. 13Beholde, I come vnto thee, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the smoke, and the sworde shall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

3O bloody citie, it is all full of lyes, and robberie: the pray departeth not: 2The noyse of a whippe, and the noyse of the mouing of the wheelles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets. 3The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodyes are many: there is none ende of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses, 4Because of the multitude of the fornications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and sellethe the people thorow her whoredome, and the nations thorowe her witchcrafts. 5Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discouer thy skirtes vpon thy face, and will shewe the nations thy filthines, and the kingdomes thy shame. <sup>6</sup>And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gasing stocke. <sup>7</sup>And it shall come to passe, that al they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee? <sup>8</sup>Art thou better then No, which was ful of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditche was the sea, and her wall was from the sea? <sup>9</sup>Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were her helpers. <sup>10</sup>Yet was she caried awaye, and went into captiuitie: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lottes for her noble men, and al her myghtie men were bound in chaines. <sup>11</sup>Also thou shalt bee drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe because of theemie. <sup>12</sup>All thy strong cities shall be like figtrees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and ye fire shall deuoure thy barres. <sup>14</sup>Drawe thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: go into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong bricke. <sup>15</sup>There shall ye fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the locustes, though thou bee multiplied like the locustes, and multiplyed like the grashopper. <sup>16</sup>Thou hast multiplied thy marchantes aboute the starres of heauen: the locust spoileth and flyeth away. <sup>17</sup>Thy princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away and their place is not knowen where they are. <sup>18</sup>Thy shepheardes doe sleepe, O King of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them. <sup>19</sup>There is no healing of thy wounde: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

Habakkuk

1The burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see. 2O Lord, howe long shall I crye, and thou wilt not heare! euen crye out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe! 3Why doest thou shewe mee iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that rayse vp strife and contention. 4Therefore the Lawe is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth compass about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth. 5Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: yee will not beleue it, though it be tolde you. 6For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the lande to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs. 7They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of theselues. 8Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate. 9They come all to spoyle: before their faces shalbe an Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, as the sand. 10And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a skorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust, and take it. 11Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god. 12Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction. 13Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he? 14And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them. 15They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad. 16Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat and their meat plenteous. 17Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay the nations?

2I will stand vpon my watch, and set me vpon the towre, and wil looke and see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me. 2And the Lord answered me, and sayde, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne that readeth it. 3For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay. 4Beholde, he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his fayth, 5Yea, in deede the proude man is as hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people. 6Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? howe long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay? 7Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their praye? 8Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein. 9Ho, he that coueteth an euil couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euil. 10Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule. 11For the stone shall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it. 12Wo vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie. 13Beholde, is it not of the Lord of hostes that the people shall labour in ye very fire? the people shall euen weary themselues for very vanitie. 14For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea. 15Wo vnto him that giueth his neighbour drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities. 16Thou art filled with shame for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glory. 17For the crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein. <sup>18</sup>What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles. <sup>19</sup>Wo vnto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: beholde, it is layde ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it. <sup>20</sup>But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation. <sup>19</sup>The Lord God is my strength: hee will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

3A prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorances. <sup>2</sup>O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lord, reuiue thy worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeres make it knowne: in wrath remember mercy. <sup>3</sup>God commeth from Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his prayse, <sup>4</sup>And his brightnes was as the light: he had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power. <sup>5</sup>Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete. <sup>6</sup>He stooode and measured the earth: he behelde and dissolved the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bowe: his wayes are euerlasting. <sup>7</sup>For his iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Cushman, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble. <sup>8</sup>Was the Lord angry against the riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation. <sup>9</sup>Thy bowe was manifestly reueiled, and the othes of the tribes were a sure worde, Selah. thou diddest cleaue the earth with riuers. <sup>10</sup>The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie. <sup>11</sup>The sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares. <sup>12</sup>Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and didest thresh the heathen in displeasure. <sup>13</sup>Thou wentest fourth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the necke, Selah. <sup>14</sup>Thou didest strike thorowe with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirle winde to scatter me: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly. <sup>15</sup>Thou didest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters. <sup>16</sup>When I heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble: for whe he commeth vp vnto the people, he shall destroy them. <sup>17</sup>For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the folde, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles. <sup>18</sup>But I

Zephaniah

1The word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah ye sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon King of Iudah. 2I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord. 3I will destroy man and beast: I wil destroy the foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord. 4I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I wil cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with ye Priestes, 5And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham, 6And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him. 7Be stil at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests. 8And it shalbe in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the Kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell. 9In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite. 10And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles. 11Howle ye inhabitants of the lowe place: for the companie of the marchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off. 12And at that time will I searche Ierusalem with lightes, and visite the men that are frosen in their dregges, and say in their heartes, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill. 13Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof. 14The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry there bitterly. 15That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darknesse, a day of cloudes and blacknesse, 16A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the hie towres. 17And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dongue. 18Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in ye day of the Lords wrath, but the whole lande shalbe deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

2Gather your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthe to be loued, 2Before the decree come foorth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you. 3Seeke yee the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so bee that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath. 4For Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shalbe rooted vp. 5Wo vnto the inhabitants of the sea coast. the nation of the Cherethims, the worde of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the lande of the Philistims, I will euen destroye thee without an inhabitant. 6And the sea coast shall be dwellings and cotages for shepheardes and sheepfoldes. 7And that coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie. 8I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and magnified themselues against their borders. 9Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettels and salt pittes, and a perpetuall desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoyle them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them. 10This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched and magnified themselues against the Lord of hostes people. 11The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for he wil consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen. 12Ye Morians also shalbe slaine by my sword with them. 13And he wil stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderness. <sup>14</sup>And flockes shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the pelicane, and the owle shall abide in the vpper postes of it: the voyce of birdes shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shalbe vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncouered. <sup>15</sup>This is the reioycing citie that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beastes! euery one that passeth by her, shall hisse and wagge his hand.

3Woe to her that is filthie and polluted, to the robbing citie. <sup>2</sup>She heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God. <sup>3</sup>Her princes within her are as roaring lyons: her iudges are as wolues in the euening, which leaue not the bones till the morow. <sup>4</sup>Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wrested the Lawe. <sup>5</sup>The iust Lord is in the middes thereof: he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth hee bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed. <sup>6</sup>I haue cut off the nations: their towres are desolate: I haue made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant. <sup>7</sup>I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling shoulde not be destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but they rose earely and corrupted all their workes. <sup>8</sup>Therefore wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie. <sup>9</sup>Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one cosent. <sup>10</sup>From beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shall bring me an offering. <sup>11</sup>In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy workes, wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then I will take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proude of mine holy Mountaine. <sup>12</sup>Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord. <sup>13</sup>The remnant of Israel shall do none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraide. <sup>14</sup>Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem. <sup>15</sup>The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: hee hath cast out thineemie: the King of Israel, euen the Lord is in the middes of thee: thou shalt see no more euill. <sup>16</sup>In that day it shalbe said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine handes be faint. <sup>17</sup>The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mightie: hee will saue, hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioye: he will quiet himselfe in his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy. <sup>18</sup>After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the landes of their shame. <sup>20</sup>At that time wil I bring you againe, and then wil I gather you: for I wil giue you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

Haggai

1In the second yeere of King Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came ye worde of the Lord (by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying, 2Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords House should be builded. 3Then came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, 4Is it time for your selues to dwell in your sieled houses, and this House lie waste? 5Now therefore thus saith ye Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts. 6Ye haue sowen much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge. 7Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts. 8Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and I wil be faourable in it, and I will be glorified, sayth the Lord. 9Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe vpon it. And why, sayth the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house. 10Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite. 11And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands. 12When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord. 13Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, sayth the Lord. 14And the Lord stirred vp the spirite of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hostes their God.

the second yeere of King Darius, 2In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, 3Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying, 4Who is left among you, that sawe this House in her first glory, and howe doe you see it nowe? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing? 5Yet nowe be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, sayth the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, sayth the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, sayth the Lord of hostes, 6According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirite shall remaine among you, feare ye not. 7For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land: 8And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, sayth the Lord of hostes. 9The siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, sayth the Lord of hostes. 10The glory of this last House shall be greater then the first, sayth the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, sayth the Lord of hostes. 11In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying, 12Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske nowe the Priests concerning the Law, and say, 13If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the potage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No. 14Then sayde Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and sayd, It shalbe vncleane. 15Then answered Haggai, and sayd, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane. 16And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layde vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord: 17Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie. 18I smote

you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord. <sup>19</sup>Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laide: consider it in your mindes. <sup>20</sup>Is the seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you. <sup>21</sup>And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying, <sup>22</sup>Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I wil shake the heauens and the earth, <sup>23</sup>And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I wil destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I wil ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother. <sup>24</sup>In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lord, and wil make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hostes.

Zechariah

1In the eight moneth of the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying, 2The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers. 3Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes. 4Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whome the former prophets haue cried, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord. 5your fathers, where are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer? 6But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants ye Prophets, take holde of your fathers? and they returned, and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs. 7Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, 8I saw by night, and behold a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there red horses speckled and white. 9Then sayd I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, sayde vnto me, I wil shew thee what these be. 10And the man that stood among the mirre trees, answered, and sayd, These are they whome the Lord hath sent to go through the world. 11And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the mirre trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorowe the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest. 12Then the Angel of the Lord answered and sayd, O Lord of hostes, howe long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres? 13And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes. 14So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto me, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15And am greatly angrie against the carelesse heathen: for I was angrie but a litle, and they helped forward the affliction. 16Therefore thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem. 17Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem. 18Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, foure hornes. 19And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem. 20And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters. 21Then said I, What come these to doe? And he answered, and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to scatter it.

2I lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand. 2Then saide I, Whither goest thou? And he saide vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof. 3And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went fourth: and another Angel went out to meete him, 4And saide vnto him, Runne, speake to this yong man, and say, Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein. 5For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and wil be the glory in the middes of her. 6Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the heauen, saith ye Lord. 7Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel. 8For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath hee sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye. 9For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand vpon them: and they shalbe a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me. 10Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, saith the Lord. 11And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me

vnto thee. <sup>12</sup>And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy lande, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe. <sup>13</sup>Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

<sup>3</sup>And he shewed mee Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stode at his right hand to resist him. <sup>2</sup>And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprooue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprooue thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire? <sup>3</sup>Nowe Iehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stode before the Angel. <sup>4</sup>And he answered and spake vnto those that stode before him, saying, Take away the filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee saide, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I wil clothe thee with change of raiment. <sup>5</sup>And I saide, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stode by. <sup>6</sup>And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying, <sup>7</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my courtes, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by. <sup>8</sup>Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but behold, I wil bring forth the Branche my seruant. <sup>9</sup>For loe, the stone that I haue layd before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: beholde, I will cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day. <sup>10</sup>In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figge tree.

<sup>4</sup>And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raysed out of his sleepe, <sup>2</sup>And saide vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a candlesticke all of gold with a bowle vpon the toppe of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the toppe thereof. <sup>3</sup>And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof. <sup>4</sup>So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord? <sup>5</sup>Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord. <sup>6</sup>Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>7</sup>Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring foorth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it. <sup>8</sup>Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>The handes of Zerubbabel haue layde the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. <sup>10</sup>For who hath despised the day of the small thinges? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which go thorow the whole world. <sup>11</sup>Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof? <sup>12</sup>And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two oliue branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde? <sup>13</sup>And hee answered me, and saide, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayde, No, my Lord. <sup>14</sup>Then said he, These are the two oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

<sup>5</sup>Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke. <sup>2</sup>And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof tenne cubites. <sup>3</sup>Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that stealeth, shalbe cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that. <sup>4</sup>I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof. <sup>5</sup>Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth foorth. <sup>6</sup>And I saide, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee saide moreouer, This is the sight of them through all the earth. <sup>7</sup>And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah. <sup>8</sup>And he said, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof. <sup>9</sup>Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen. <sup>10</sup>Then saide I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah? <sup>11</sup>And hee saide vnto mee, To builde it an house in the lande of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

Angell answered, and sayde vnto mee, These are the foure spirites of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth. <sup>6</sup>That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South country. <sup>7</sup>And the reddish went out, and required to go, and passe through the world, and he sayde, Goe passe through the worlde. So they went thorowout the world. <sup>8</sup>Then cryed hee vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe toward the North country, haue pacified my spirit in the North country. <sup>9</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>10</sup>Take of them of ye captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah. <sup>11</sup>Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, <sup>12</sup>And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and sayth, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe vp out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shalbe a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene them both. <sup>14</sup>And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Iedaiah, and to Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

<sup>7</sup>And in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in Chisleu, <sup>2</sup>For they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord, <sup>3</sup>And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fift moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres? <sup>4</sup>Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying, <sup>5</sup>Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen the seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? doe I approoue it? <sup>6</sup>And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate for your selues, and drinke for your selues? <sup>7</sup>Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited? <sup>8</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying, <sup>9</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother, <sup>10</sup>And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fatherles, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart. <sup>11</sup>But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare. <sup>12</sup>Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministerie of ye former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes. <sup>13</sup>Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>14</sup>But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they layd the pleasant land waste.

<sup>8</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath. <sup>3</sup>Thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zion, and wil dwel in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shalbe called a citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine. <sup>4</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet olde men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age. <sup>5</sup>And the streetes of the citie shalbe full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof. <sup>6</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, sayth the Lord of hostes? <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East country, and from the West country. <sup>8</sup>And I wil bring them, and they shall dwel in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God in trueth, and in righteousnes. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded. <sup>10</sup>For before these dayes there was no hire for man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour. <sup>11</sup>But nowe, I wil not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>12</sup>For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things. <sup>13</sup>And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong. <sup>14</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, sayth the Lord of hostes, and repented not, <sup>15</sup>So againe haue I determined in these daies to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not. <sup>16</sup>These are ye things that ye shall doe. Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprihtly in your gates, <sup>17</sup>And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>And the worde of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying, <sup>19</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous hie feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace. <sup>20</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities. <sup>21</sup>And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I wil go also. <sup>22</sup>Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord. <sup>23</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will go with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

9The burden of the worde of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shalbe his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord. <sup>2</sup>And Hamath also shall border thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise. <sup>3</sup>For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, the Lord wil spoyle her, and he wil smite her power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire. <sup>5</sup>Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shalbe very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited. <sup>6</sup>And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I wil cut off the pride of the Philistims. <sup>7</sup>And I wil take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shalbe for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite. <sup>8</sup>And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I seene with mine eyes. <sup>9</sup>Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy King commeth vnto thee: he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse. <sup>10</sup>And I wil cut off the charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shalbe broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shalbe from sea vnto sea, and from the Riuer to the end of the land. <sup>11</sup>Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water. <sup>12</sup>Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee. <sup>13</sup>For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword. <sup>14</sup>And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrowe shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlwindes of the South. <sup>15</sup>The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorowe wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar. <sup>16</sup>And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be as the stones of the crowne lifted up upon his land. <sup>17</sup>For howe great is his goodnesse! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cherefull, and newe wine the maides.

10Aske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showers of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field. <sup>2</sup>Surely the idols haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard. <sup>3</sup>My wrath was kindled against the shepherdes, and I did visite the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull horse in the battell. <sup>4</sup>Out of him shall the corner come fourth: out of him the nayle, out of him ye bowe of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also. <sup>5</sup>And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded. <sup>6</sup>And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them. <sup>7</sup>And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as thorowe wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord. <sup>8</sup>I will hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased. <sup>9</sup>And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreys: and they shall liue with their children and turne againe. <sup>10</sup>I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them. <sup>11</sup>And he shall goe into the sea with af-fiction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall drye vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away. <sup>12</sup>And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, sayth the Lord.

11Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars. <sup>2</sup>Houle, firme trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashan, for ye defesed forest is cut downe. <sup>3</sup>There is the voyce of the houlung of the shepherdes: for their glorie is destroyed: the voyce of ye roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed. <sup>4</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter. <sup>5</sup>They that possesse them, slay them and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed be the Lord: for I am riche, and their owne shepherds spare them not. <sup>6</sup>Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his King: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I wil not deliuer them. <sup>7</sup>For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me two stauces: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe. <sup>8</sup>Three shepherdes also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed them, and their soule abhorred me. <sup>9</sup>Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dyeth, let it dye: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour. <sup>10</sup>And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people. <sup>11</sup>And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the worde of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pecies of siluer. <sup>13</sup>And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pecies of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel. <sup>15</sup>And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard. <sup>16</sup>For loe, I will rayse vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pecies. <sup>17</sup>O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shalbe vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

12The burden of the worde of the Lord vpon Israel, sayth the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layed the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, I will make Ierusalem a cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be, in ye siege against Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it. <sup>4</sup>In that day, sayeth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindness. <sup>5</sup>And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God. <sup>6</sup>In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem. <sup>7</sup>The Lord also shall preserue the tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Daudid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah. <sup>8</sup>In that day shall the Lord defende the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Daudid: and the house of Daudid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them. <sup>9</sup>And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>And I will powre vpon the house of Daudid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirite of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pearced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne. <sup>11</sup>In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon. <sup>12</sup>And the land shall bewayle euery familie apart, the familie of the house of Daudid apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart: <sup>13</sup>The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of Sheimei apart, and their wiues apart: <sup>14</sup>All the families that remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

13In that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Daudid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse. <sup>2</sup>And in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I will cause the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land. <sup>3</sup>And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begat him, shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth. <sup>4</sup>And in that day shall the prophetes be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue. <sup>5</sup>But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp. <sup>6</sup>And one shall say vnto him, What are these woundes in thine hands? Then he shall answeare, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friendes. <sup>7</sup>Arise, O sword, vpon my shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, sayth the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the litle ones. <sup>8</sup>And in all the land, sayeth the Lord, two partes therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein. <sup>9</sup>And I will bring that third part thorowe the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trye them as golde is tryed: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

14Beholde, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall be deuided in the middes of thee. <sup>2</sup>For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from ye citie. <sup>3</sup>Then shall the Lord goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell. <sup>4</sup>And his fete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the Eastside, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great valley, and halfe of ye mountaine shall remooue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine towarde the South. <sup>5</sup>And yee shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reache vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the daies of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee. <sup>6</sup>And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke. <sup>7</sup>And there shall bee a day (it is knowen to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light. <sup>8</sup>And in that day shall there waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them towarde the East sea, and halfe of them towarde the vttermost sea, and shall be, both in sommer and winter. <sup>9</sup>And the Lord shall bee King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there bee one Lord, and his Name shalbe one. <sup>10</sup>All the lande shall bee turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, towarde the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the Kings wine presses. <sup>11</sup>And men shall dwell in it, and there shall bee no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall bee safely inhabited. <sup>12</sup>And this shall bee the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth. <sup>13</sup>But in that day a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take the hande of his neighbour, and his hande shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour. <sup>14</sup>And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered rounde about, with golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell. <sup>15</sup>Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this plague. <sup>16</sup>But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. <sup>17</sup>And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine. <sup>18</sup>And if the familie of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. <sup>19</sup>This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. <sup>20</sup>In that day shall there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the pottes in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar. <sup>21</sup>Yea, euery potte in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and see the therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

Malachi

1The burden of the woordes of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi. 2I haue loued you, sayth the Lord: yet yee say, Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iakob, 3And I hated Esau, and made his mountaines wast, and his heritage a wildernes for dragons. 4Though Edom say, wee are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet sayeth the Lord of hostes, they shall builde, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whome the Lord is angrie for euer. 5And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel. 6A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, sayth the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priestes, that despise my Name? and yee say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name? 7Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not to be regarded. 8And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saieth the Lord of hostes? 9And nowe, I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will hee regard your persons, sayth the Lord of hostes? 10Who is there euen among you, that would shut the doores? and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine, I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hande. 11For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offred vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayeth the Lord of hostes. 12But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted and the fruit thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded. 13Ye said also, Beholde, it is a wearines, and ye haue snuffed at it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offred an offring: shoulde I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lord? 14But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto ye Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

2And now, O ye Priestes, this commandement is for you. 2If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will euen sende a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them alreadie, because yee doe not consider it in your heart. 3Behold, I wil corrupt your seede, and cast dongue vpon your faces, euen the dongue of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it. 4And yee shall know, that I haue sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, sayeth the Lord of hostes. 5My couenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared mee, and was afraid before my Name. 6The lawe of trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lippes: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie. 7For the Priestes lippes shoulde preserue knowledge, and they shoulde seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes. 8But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayeth the Lord of hostes. 9Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue beene partiall in the Lawe. 10Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of our fathers? 11Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange God. 12The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruaunt out of the Tabernacle of Iacob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes. 13And this haue ye done againe, and couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your handes. 14Yet yee say, Wherein? Because the Lord hath beene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy companion, and the wife of thy couenant. 15And did not hee make one? yet had hee abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly seede: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth. <sup>16</sup>If thou hatest her, put her away, sayeth the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hosts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not. <sup>17</sup>Yee haue wearied the Lord with your woordes: yet yee say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he deliteth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

3Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedely come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, he shall come, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>2</sup>But who may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope. <sup>3</sup>And he shall sit downe to trye and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousness. <sup>4</sup>Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeeres afore. <sup>5</sup>And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift wisse against the southsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>6</sup>For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob are not consumed. <sup>7</sup>From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye saide, Wherein shall we returne? <sup>8</sup>Will a man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In tithes, and offerings. <sup>9</sup>Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation. <sup>10</sup>Bring ye all the tythes into the storehouse that there may be meate in mine House, and proue me nowe herewith, sayeth the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing without measure. <sup>11</sup>And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruite of your grounde, neither shall your vine be baren in the felde, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>12</sup>And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant lande, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>13</sup>Your wordes haue bene stout against me, sayeth the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee? <sup>14</sup>Ye haue saide, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes? <sup>15</sup>Therefore wee count the proude blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they

that tempt God, yea, they are deliuered. <sup>16</sup>Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name. <sup>17</sup>And they shall be to me, sayeth the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall do this, for a flocke, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him. <sup>18</sup>Then shall you returne, and discern betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

4For behold, the day commeth that shall burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branche. <sup>2</sup>But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the sunne of righteousness arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall goe forth, and growe vp as fat calves. <sup>3</sup>And ye shall treade downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>4</sup>Remember the lawe of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I will sende you Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and fearefull day of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>And he shall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with cursing.

The New Testament

Matthew

1The booke of the generation of Jesus Christ the sonne of Daud, the sonne of Abraham. <sup>2</sup>Abraham begate Isaac. And Isaac begate Iacob. And Iacob begat Iudas and his brethren. <sup>3</sup>And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram. <sup>4</sup>And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begat Salmon. <sup>5</sup>And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And Booz begat Obed of Ruth. and Obed begat Iesse. <sup>6</sup>And Iesse begate Daud the King. And Daud the King begate Salomon of her that was the wife of Vrias. <sup>7</sup>And Salomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa. <sup>8</sup>And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Hozias. <sup>9</sup>And Hozias begat Ioatham. And Ioatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias. <sup>10</sup>And Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias. <sup>11</sup>And Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim begate Iechonias and his brethren about the time they were caried away to Babylon. <sup>12</sup>And after they were caried away into Babylon, Iechonias begate Salathiel. And Salathiel begate Zorobabel. <sup>13</sup>And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor. <sup>14</sup>And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud. <sup>15</sup>And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob. <sup>16</sup>And Iacob begat Ioseph ye husband of Mary, of whom was borne Jesus, that is called Christ. <sup>17</sup>So all the generations from Abraham to Daud, are fourtene generations. And from Daud vntil they were caried away into Babylon, fourtene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations. <sup>18</sup>Nowe the birth of Jesus Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, shee was found with childe of the holy Ghost. <sup>19</sup>Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly. <sup>20</sup>But whiles he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of Daud, feare not to take Mary thy wife: for that which is conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost. <sup>21</sup>And she shall bring foorth a sonne, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for hee shall saue his people from their sinnes. <sup>22</sup>And al

this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by ye Prophet, saying, <sup>23</sup>Behold, a virgine shall be with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs. <sup>24</sup>Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife. <sup>25</sup>But he knew her not, til she had broght forth her first borne sonne, and he called his name JESUS.

2When Jesus then was borne at Bethleem in Iudea, in the dayes of Herod the King, beholde, there came Wisemen from the East to Hierusalem, <sup>2</sup>Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for wee haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him. <sup>3</sup>When King Herod heard this, he was troubled, and all Hierusalem with him. <sup>4</sup>And gathering together all the chiefe Priestes and Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne. <sup>5</sup>And they saide vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet, <sup>6</sup>And thou Beth-leem in the lande of Iuda, art not the least among the Princes of Iuda: For out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feede that my people Israel. <sup>7</sup>Then Herod priuily called the Wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared, <sup>8</sup>And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and searche diligently for the babe: and when ye haue founde him, bring mee worde againe, that I may come also, and worship him. <sup>9</sup>So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stode ouer the place where the babe was. <sup>10</sup>And when they sawe the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, <sup>11</sup>And went into the house, and founde the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him giftes, euen golde, and frankincense, and myrrhe. <sup>12</sup>And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way. <sup>13</sup>After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there til I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the babe, to destroy him. <sup>14</sup>So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, <sup>15</sup>And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne. <sup>16</sup>Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wisemen, was exceeding wroth, and sent foorth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two yeere old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wisemen. <sup>17</sup>Then was that fulfilled which is spoken by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, <sup>18</sup>In Rhama was a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not. <sup>19</sup>And whe Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt, <sup>20</sup>Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life. <sup>21</sup>Then he arose vp and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel. <sup>22</sup>But whe he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afraide to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parts of Galile, <sup>23</sup>And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That hee should be called a Nazarite.

3And in those dayes, Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the wildernes of Iudea, <sup>2</sup>And said, Repent: for the kingdome of heauen is at hand. <sup>3</sup>For this is he of whome it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernes, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his pathes straight. <sup>4</sup>And this Iohn had his garment of camels heare, and a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: his meate was also locusts and wilde hony. <sup>5</sup>Then went out to him Ierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region rounde about Iordan. <sup>6</sup>And they were baptized of him in Iordan, confessing their sinnes. <sup>7</sup>Now when he sawe many of the Pharises, and of the Sadduces come to his baptisme, he said vnto them, O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come? <sup>8</sup>Bring foorth therefore fruite worthy amendment of life. <sup>9</sup>And thinke not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able euen of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham. <sup>10</sup>And now also is the axe put to the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into ye fire. <sup>11</sup>In deede I baptize you with water to amendment of life, but he that commeth after me, is mightier then I, whose shoes I am not worthie to beare: hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire. <sup>12</sup>Which hath his fanne in his hand, and wil make cleane his floore, and gather his wheate into his garner, but will burne vp the chaffe with vnquencheable fire. <sup>13</sup>Then came Iesus from Galile to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him. <sup>14</sup>But Iohn earnestly put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me? <sup>15</sup>Then Iesus answering, saide to him, Let be nowe: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill all righteousnes. So he suffered him. <sup>16</sup>And Iesus when hee was baptized, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heaues were opened vnto him, and Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a doue, and lighting vpon him. <sup>17</sup>And loe, a voyce came from heauen, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, in whome I am well pleased.

4Then was Iesus led aside of the Spirit into the wildernes, to be tempted of the deuil. <sup>2</sup>And when he had fasted fourtie dayes, and fourtie nights, he was afterward hungrie. <sup>3</sup>Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou be the Sonne of God, commande that these stones be made bread. <sup>4</sup>But he answering said, It is written, Man shall not liue by bread onely, but by euery worde that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. <sup>5</sup>Then the deuil tooke him vp into the holy Citie, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, <sup>6</sup>And said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, that he wil giue his Angels charge ouer thee, and with their hands they shall lift thee vp, lest at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone. <sup>7</sup>Iesus saide vnto him, It is written againe, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. <sup>8</sup>Againe the deuil tooke him vp into an exceeding hie mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, and the glory of them, <sup>9</sup>And sayd to him, All these will I giue thee, if thou wilt fall downe, and worship me. <sup>10</sup>Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Auoyde Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue. <sup>11</sup>Then the deuill left him: and beholde, the Angels came, and ministred vnto him. <sup>12</sup>And when Iesus had heard that Iohn was committed to prison, he returned into Galile. <sup>13</sup>And leauing Nazareth, went and dwelt in Capernaum, which is neere the sea in the borders of Zabulon and Nephtholim, <sup>14</sup>That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Propet, saying, <sup>15</sup>The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephtholim by the way of the sea, beyond Iordan, Galile of the Gentiles: <sup>16</sup>The people which sate in darkenes, sawe great light: and to them which sate in the region, and shadowe of death, light is risen vp. <sup>17</sup>From that time Iesus began to preach, and to say, Amende your liues: for the kingdome of heauen is at hand. <sup>18</sup>And Iesus walking by the sea of Galile, sawe two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.) <sup>19</sup>And he sayd vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. <sup>20</sup>And they straightway leauing the nets, folowed him. <sup>21</sup>And when he was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother in a ship with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, and he called them. <sup>22</sup>And they without tarying, leauing the ship, and their father, folowed him. <sup>23</sup>So Iesus went about all Galile, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing euery sicknesse and euery disease among the people. <sup>24</sup>And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuers diseases and torments, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were lunatike, and those that had the palsey: and he healed them. <sup>25</sup>And there folowed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Hierusalem, and Iudea, and from beyond Iordan.

5And when he sawe the multitude, he went vp into a mountaine: and when he was set, his disciples came to him. <sup>2</sup>And he opened his mouth and taught them, saying, <sup>3</sup>Blessed are the poore in spirit, for theirs is the kingdome of heauen. <sup>4</sup>Blessed are they that mourne: for they shall be comforted. <sup>5</sup>Blessed are the meeke: for they shall inherite the earth. <sup>6</sup>Blessed are they which hunger and thirst for righteousnes: for they shalbe filled. <sup>7</sup>Blessed are the mercifull: for they shall obtaine mercie. <sup>8</sup>Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. <sup>9</sup>Blessed are the peace makers: for they shall be called the children of God. <sup>10</sup>Blessed are they which suffer persecution for righteousnes sake: for theirs is the kingdome of heauen. <sup>11</sup>Blessed shall ye be when men reuile you, and persecute you, and say all maner of euill against you for my sake, falsely. <sup>12</sup>Reioyce and be glad, for great is your reward in heauen: for so persecuted they the Prophets which were before you. <sup>13</sup>Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt haue lost his sauour, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be troden vnder foote of men. <sup>14</sup>Ye are the light of the world. A citie that is set on an hill, cannot be hid. <sup>15</sup>Neither doe men light a candel, and put it vnder a bushel, but on a candlesticke, and it giueth light vnto all that are in the house. <sup>16</sup>Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good workes, and glorifie your Father which is in heauen. <sup>17</sup>Think not that I am come to destroy the Lawe, or the Prophets. I am not come to destroy them, but to fulfill them. <sup>18</sup>For truely I say vnto you, Till heauen, and earth perish, one iote or one title of the Law shall not scape, till all things be fulfilled. <sup>19</sup>Whosoever therefore shall breake one of these least commandements, and teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdome of heauen: but whosoever shall obserue and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdome of heauen. <sup>20</sup>For I say vnto you, except your righteousnes exceede the righteousnes of the Scribes and Pharises, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen. <sup>21</sup>Ye haue heard that it was sayd vnto them of the olde time, Thou shalt not kill: for whosoever killeth shalbe culpable of iudgment. <sup>22</sup>But I say vnto you, whosoever is angry with his brother vnadvisedly, shalbe culpable of iudgment. And whosoever sayth vnto his brother, Raca, shalbe worthy to be punished by the Councill. And whosoever shall say, Foole, shalbe worthy to be punished with hell fire. <sup>23</sup>If then thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there remembreth that thy brother hath ought against thee, <sup>24</sup>Leaue there thine offering before the altar, and goe thy way: first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift. <sup>25</sup>Agree with thine aduersarie quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him, lest thine aduersarie deliuer thee to the Iudge, and the Iudge deliuer thee to ye sergeant, and thou be cast into prison. <sup>26</sup>Verely I say vnto thee, thou shalt not come out thence, till thou hast payed the vtmost farthing. <sup>27</sup>Ye haue heard that it was sayd to them of olde time, Thou shalt not commit adulterie. <sup>28</sup>But I say vnto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adulterie with her already in his heart. <sup>29</sup>Wherefore if thy right eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell. <sup>30</sup>Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell. <sup>31</sup>It hath bene sayd also, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him giue her a bill of diuorcement. <sup>32</sup>But I say vnto you, whosoever shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) causeth her to commit adulterie: and whosoever shall marrie her that is diuorced, committeth adulterie. <sup>33</sup>Againe, ye haue heard that it was sayd to them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thy selfe, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord. <sup>34</sup>But I say vnto you, Swear not at all, neither by heauen, for it is the throne of God: <sup>35</sup>Nor yet by the earth: for it is his footestoole: neither by Hierusalem: for it is the citie of the great King. <sup>36</sup>Neither shalt thou swear by thine head, because thou canst not make one heare white or blacke. <sup>37</sup>But let your communication be Yea, yea: Nay, nay. For whatsoever is more then these, commeth of euill. <sup>38</sup>Ye haue heard that it hath bene sayd, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth. <sup>39</sup>But I say vnto you, Resist not euill: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheeke, turne to him the other also. <sup>40</sup>And if any man wil sue thee at the law, and take away thy coate, let him haue thy cloke also. <sup>41</sup>And whosoever will compell thee to goe a mile, goe with him twaine. <sup>42</sup>Giue to him that asketh, and from him that would borowe of thee, turne not away. <sup>43</sup>Ye haue heard that it hath bin said, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour, and hate your enemy. <sup>44</sup>But I say vnto you, Loue your enemies: blesse them that curse you: doe good to them that hate you, and pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you, <sup>45</sup>That ye may be the children of your father that is in heauen: for he maketh his sunne to arise on the euill, and the good, and sendeth raine on the iust, and vniust. <sup>46</sup>For if ye loue them, which loue you, what rewarde shall you haue? Doe not the Publicanes euen the same? <sup>47</sup>And if ye be friendly to your brethren onely, what singular thing doe ye? doe not euen the Publicanes like-

6Take heede that ye giue not your almes before men, to be seene of them, or els ye shall haue no reward of your Father which is in heaue. <sup>2</sup>Therefore when thou giuest thine almes, thou shalt not make a trumpet to be blown before thee, as the hypocrites doe in the Synagogues and in the streetes, to be prayed of men. Verely I say vnto you, they haue their rewarde. <sup>3</sup>But when thou doest thine almes, let not thy left hand knowe what thy right hand doeth, <sup>4</sup>That thine almes may be in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret, hee will rewarde thee openly. <sup>5</sup>And when thou prayest, be not as the hypocrites: for they loue to stand, and pray in the Synagogues, and in the corners of the streetes, because they would be seene of men. Verely I say vnto you, they haue their rewarde. <sup>6</sup>But when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber and when thou hast shut thy doore, pray vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, shall rewarde thee openly. <sup>7</sup>Also when ye pray, vse no vaine repetitions as the Heathen: for they thinke to be heard for their much babbling. <sup>8</sup>Be ye not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him. <sup>9</sup>After this maner therefore pray ye, Our father which art in heauen, halowed be thy name. <sup>10</sup>Thy Kingdome come. Thy will be done euen in earth, as it is in heauen. <sup>11</sup>Giue vs this day our dayly bread. <sup>12</sup>And forgiue vs our dettes, as we also forgiue our detters. <sup>13</sup>And leade vs not into tentation, but deliuer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glorie for euer. Amen. <sup>14</sup>For if ye doe forgiue men their trespasses, your heauenly Father will also forgiue you. <sup>15</sup>But if ye do not forgiue men their trespasses,, no more will your father forgiue you your trespasses. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer, when ye fast, looke not sowre as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their rewarde. <sup>17</sup>But when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face, <sup>18</sup>That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will rewarde thee openly. <sup>19</sup>Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the mothe and canker corrupt, and where theeues digge through and steale. <sup>20</sup>But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the mothe nor canker corrupteth, and where theeues neither digge through, nor steale. <sup>21</sup>For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. <sup>22</sup>The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light. <sup>23</sup>But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shalbe darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkenes, howe great is that darkenesse? <sup>24</sup>No man can serue two masters: for eyther he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

<sup>25</sup>Therefore I say vnto you, be not carefull for your life, what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate? and the bodie then raiment? <sup>26</sup>Behold the foules of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor carie into the barnes: yet your heauenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they? <sup>27</sup>Which of you by taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature? <sup>28</sup>And why care ye for raiment? Learne howe the lilies of the field doe growe: they are not wearied, neither spinne: <sup>29</sup>Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glorie was not arayed like one of these. <sup>30</sup>Wherefore if God so clothe the grasse of the fielde which is to day, and to morowe is cast into the ouen, shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of litle faith? <sup>31</sup>Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eate? or what shall we drinke? or where with shall we be clothed? <sup>32</sup>(For after all these things seeke the Gentiles) for your heauenly Father knoweth, that ye haue neede of all these things. <sup>33</sup>But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousnesse, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you. <sup>34</sup>Care not then for the morowe: for the morowe shall care for it selfe: the day hath ynough with his owne griefe.

them by their fruites. Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figges of thistles? <sup>17</sup>So euery good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit. <sup>18</sup>A good tree can not bring forth euill fruit: neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. <sup>19</sup>Euery tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire. <sup>20</sup>Therefore by their fruites ye shall knowe them. <sup>21</sup>Not euery one that sayeth vnto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdome of heauen, but he that doeth my Fathers will which is in heauen. <sup>22</sup>Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, haue we not by thy Name prophecied? and by thy name cast out deuils? and by thy name done many great workes? <sup>23</sup>And then will I professe to them, I neuer knewe you: depart from me, ye that worke iniquitie. <sup>24</sup>Whosoever then heareth of mee these words, and doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house on a rock: <sup>25</sup>And the raine fell, and the floods came, and the windes blewe, and beat vpon that house, and it fell not: for it was grounded on a rocke. <sup>26</sup>But whosoever heareth these my wordes, and doeth them not, shall be likened vnto a foolish man, which hath builded his house vpon the sand: <sup>27</sup>And the raine fell, and the floods came, and the windes blewe, and beat vpon that house, and it fell, and the fall thereof was great. <sup>28</sup>And it came to passe, when Iesus had ended these wordes, the people were astonied at his doctrine. <sup>29</sup>For he taught them as one hauing authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

8 Nowe when he was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him. <sup>2</sup>And loe, there came a Leper and worshipped him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane. <sup>3</sup>And Iesus putting forth his hand, touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leprosie was censed. <sup>4</sup>Then Iesus saide vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and shewe thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a witness to them. <sup>5</sup>When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him, <sup>6</sup>And saide, Master, my seruant lieth sicke at home of the palsie, and is grievously pained. <sup>7</sup>And Iesus saide vnto him, I will come and heale him. <sup>8</sup>But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come vnder my rooffe: but speake the worde onely, and my seruant shall be healed. <sup>9</sup>For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of an other, and haue souldiers vnder me: and I say to one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it. <sup>10</sup>When Iesus heard that, he marueiled, and said to them that folowed him, Verely, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, euen in Israel. <sup>11</sup>But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East and West, and shall sit downe with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, in the kingdome of heauen. <sup>12</sup>And the children of the kingdome shall be cast out into vtter darkenes: there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth. <sup>13</sup>Then Iesus saide vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, and as thou hast beleued, so be it vnto thee, And his seruant was healed the same houre. <sup>14</sup>And when Iesus came to Peters house, he sawe his wiues mother layed downe, and sicke of a feuer. <sup>15</sup>And he touched her hande, and the feuer left her: so she arose, and ministred vnto them. <sup>16</sup>When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils: and he cast out the spirits with his worde, and healed all that were sicke, <sup>17</sup>That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying, He tooke our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses. <sup>18</sup>And when Iesus sawe great multitudes of people about him, he commanded them to goe ouer the water. <sup>19</sup>Then came there a certaine Scribe, and said vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest. <sup>20</sup>But Iesus saide vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to rest his head. <sup>21</sup>And another of his disciples saide vnto him, Master, suffer me first to goe, and burie my father. <sup>22</sup>But Iesus said vnto him, Followe me, and let the dead burie their dead. <sup>23</sup>And when he was entred into ye ship, his disciples followed him. <sup>24</sup>And beholde, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was couered with waues: but he was a sleepe. <sup>25</sup>Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perish. <sup>26</sup>And he said vnto them, Why are ye fearefull, O ye of litle faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea: and so there was a great calme. <sup>27</sup>And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him! <sup>28</sup>And when he was come to the other side into ye countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils, which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might goe by that way. <sup>29</sup>And beholde, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue we to do with thee? Art thou come hither to tormet vs before ye time? <sup>30</sup>Nowe there was, afarre off from them, a great heard of swine feeding. <sup>31</sup>And the deuils besought him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to goe into the heard of swine. <sup>32</sup>And he said vnto them, Go. So they went out and departed into the heard of swine: and beholde, the whole heard of swine ranne headlong into the sea, and died in the water. <sup>33</sup>Then the heardmen fled: and when they were come into the citie, they tolde all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with the deuils. <sup>34</sup>And beholde, all ye citie came out to meete Iesus: and when they sawe him, they besought him to depart out of their coastes.

man blasphemeth. <sup>4</sup>But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke yee euil things in your hearts? <sup>5</sup>For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Arise, and walke? <sup>6</sup>And that ye may knowe that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (then saide he vnto the sicke of the palsie,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house. <sup>7</sup>And hee arose, and departed to his owne house. <sup>8</sup>So when the multitude sawe it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men. <sup>9</sup>And as Iesus passed foorth from thence, hee sawe a man sitting at the custome, named Matthewe, and saide to him, Followe me. And he arose, and followed him. <sup>10</sup>And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and sinners, that came thither, sate downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples. <sup>11</sup>And when the Pharises sawe that, they saide to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners? <sup>12</sup>Nowe when Iesus heard it, hee sayde vnto them, The whole neede not a Physition, but they that are sicke. <sup>13</sup>But goe yee and learne what this is, I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance. <sup>14</sup>Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not? <sup>15</sup>And Iesus saide vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the daies will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer no man pieceth an olde garment with a piece of newe cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse. <sup>17</sup>Neither doe they put newe wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine woulde be spilt, and the vessels shoulde perish: but they put new wine into newe vessels, and so are both preserued. <sup>18</sup>While hee thus spake vnto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is nowe deceased, but come and laie thine hande on her, and shee shall liue. <sup>19</sup>And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples. <sup>20</sup>(And beholde, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeres, came behinde him, and touched the hemme of his garment. <sup>21</sup>For shee saide in her selfe, If I may touche but his garment onely, I shalbe whole. <sup>22</sup>Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that same moment.) <sup>23</sup>Nowe when Iesus came into the Rulers house, and saw the minstrels and the multitude making noise, <sup>24</sup>He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorne. <sup>25</sup>And when the multitude were put foorth, hee went in and tooke her by the hande, and the maide arose. <sup>26</sup>And this brute went throughout all that lande. <sup>27</sup>And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs. <sup>28</sup>And when hee was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus saide vnto them, Beleeue yee that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord. <sup>29</sup>Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you. <sup>30</sup>And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man knowe it. <sup>31</sup>But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame throughout all that land. <sup>32</sup>And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a domme man possessed with a deuill. <sup>33</sup>And when the deuill was cast out, the domme spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel. <sup>34</sup>But the Pharises saide, He casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils. <sup>35</sup>And Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing euery sicknesse and euery disease among the people. <sup>36</sup>But when he saw the multitude, he had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard. <sup>37</sup>Then saide he to his disciples, Surely the haruest is great, but the labourers are fewe. <sup>38</sup>Wherefore pray the Lord of the haruest, that he woulde sende foorth labourers into his haruest.

10And hee called his twelue disciples vnto him, and gaue them power against vncleane spirits, to cast them out, and to heale euery sicknesse, and euery disease. <sup>2</sup>Nowe the names of the twelue Apostles are these. The first is Simon, called Peter, and Andrew his brother: Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother. <sup>3</sup>Philippe and Bartlemewe: Thomas, and Matthewe that Publicane: Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddeus: <sup>4</sup>Simon the Cananite, and Iudas Iscariot, who also betraied him. <sup>5</sup>These twelue did Iesus send forth, and commanded them, saying, Goe not into the way of of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritans enter yee not: <sup>6</sup>But goe rather to the lost sheepe of the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And as ye goe, preach, saying, The kingdome of heauen is at hand. <sup>8</sup>Heale the sicke: cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely ye haue receiued, freely giue. <sup>9</sup>Possesse not golde, nor siluer, nor money in your girdels, <sup>10</sup>Nor a scrippe for the iourney, neither two coates, neither shoes, nor a staffe: for the workeman is worthie of his meate. <sup>11</sup>And into whatsoever citie or towne ye shall come, enquire who is worthy in it, and there abide till yee goe thence. <sup>12</sup>And when yee come into an house, salute the same. <sup>13</sup>And if the house be worthy, let your peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthie, let your peace returne to you. <sup>14</sup>And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare your woordes, when yee depart out of that house, or that citie, shake off the dust of your feete. <sup>15</sup>Truely I say vnto you, it shall be easier for them of the lande of Sodom and Gomorrhah in the day of iudgement, then for that citie. <sup>16</sup>Behold, I send you as sheepe in the

middles of the wolues: be yee therefore wise as serpents, and innocent as doves. <sup>17</sup>But beware of men, for they will deliuer you vp to the Councils, and will scourge you in their Synagogues. <sup>18</sup>And ye shall be brought to the gouernours and Kings for my sake, in witnes to them, and to the Gentiles. <sup>19</sup>But when they deliuer you vp, take no thought howe or what ye shall speake: for it shall be giuen you in that houre, what ye shall say. <sup>20</sup>For it is not yee that speake, but the spirite of your father which speaketh in you. <sup>21</sup>And the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die. <sup>22</sup>And yee shall be hated of all men for my Name: but he that endureth to the end, he shall be sauued. <sup>23</sup>And when they persecute you in this citie, flee into another: for verely I say vnto you, yee shall not goe ouer all the cities of Israel, till the Sonne of man be come. <sup>24</sup>The disciple is not aboute his master, nor the seruant aboute his Lord. <sup>25</sup>It is ynough for the disciple to bee as his master is, and the seruant as his Lord. If they haue called the master of the house Beel-zebub, howe much more them of his housholde? <sup>26</sup>Feare them not therefore: for there is nothing couered, that shall not be disclosed, nor hid, that shall not be knowen. <sup>27</sup>What I tell you in darkenesse, that speake yee in light: and what yee heare in the eare, that preach yee on the houses. <sup>28</sup>And feare yee not them which kill the bodie, but are nor able to kill the soule: but rather feare him, which is able to destroy both soule and bodie in hell. <sup>29</sup>Are not two sparowes sold for a farthing, and one of them shall not fal on the ground without your Father? <sup>30</sup>Yea, and all the heares of your head are nombred. <sup>31</sup>Feare ye not therefore, yee are of more value then many sparowes. <sup>32</sup>Whosoeuer therefore shall confesse me before men, him will I confesse also before my Father which is in heauen. <sup>33</sup>But whosoeuer shall denie me before me, him will I also denie before my Father which is in heauen. <sup>34</sup>Thinke not that I am come to sende peace into the earth: I came not to sende peace, but the sworde. <sup>35</sup>For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in lawe. <sup>36</sup>And a mans enemies shall be they of his owne housholde. <sup>37</sup>He that loueth father or mother more then me, is not worthie of me. And he that loueth sonne, or daughter more then mee, is not worthie of me. <sup>38</sup>And hee that taketh not his crosse, and followeth after me, is not worthie of me. <sup>39</sup>He that will finde his life, shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall finde it. <sup>40</sup>He that receiueth you, receiueth me: and hee that receiueth mee, receiueth him that hath sent me. <sup>41</sup>Hee that receiueth a Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shall receiue a Prophetes rewarde: and hee that receiueth a righteous man, in the name of a righteous man, shall receiue the rewarde of a righteous man. <sup>42</sup>And whosoeuer shall giue vnto one of these litle ones to drinke a cuppe of colde water onely, in the name of a disciple, verely I say vnto you, he shall not lose his rewarde.

11And it came to passe that when Iesus had made an ende of commaunding his twelue disciples, hee departed thence to teache and to preach in their cities. <sup>2</sup>And when Iohn heard in the prison the woorkes of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and sayde vnto him, <sup>3</sup>Art thou he that shoulde come, or shall we looke for another? <sup>4</sup>And Iesus answering, said vnto them, Goe, and shewe Iohn, what things ye heare, and see. <sup>5</sup>The blinde receiue sight, and the halt doe walke: the lepers are clensed, and the deafe heare, the dead are raised vp, and the poore receiue the Gospel. <sup>6</sup>And blessed is he that shall not be offeded in me. <sup>7</sup>And as they departed, Iesus beganne to speake vnto the multitude, of Iohn, What went ye out into the wildernes to see? A reede shaken with the winde? <sup>8</sup>But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that weare soft clothing, are in Kings houses. <sup>9</sup>But what went ye out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet. <sup>10</sup>For this is he of whom it is written, Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. <sup>11</sup>Verely I say vnto you, among them which are begotten of women, arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is the least in the kingdome of heauen, is greater then he. <sup>12</sup>And from the time of Iohn Baptist hitherto, the kingdome of heauen suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force. <sup>13</sup>For all the Prophetes and the Lawe prophecied vnto Iohn. <sup>14</sup>And if ye will receiue it, this is that Elias, which was to come. <sup>15</sup>He that hath eares to heare, let him heare. <sup>16</sup>But whereunto shall I liken this generation? It is like vnto litle children which sit in the markets, and call vnto their fellowes, <sup>17</sup>And say, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced, we haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented. <sup>18</sup>For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill. <sup>19</sup>The sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Beholde a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners: but wisdom is iustified of her children. <sup>20</sup>Then began he to vpbraide the cities, wherein most of his great woorkes were done, because they repented not. <sup>21</sup>Woe be to thee, Chorazin: Woe be to thee, Bethsaida: for if ye great woorkes, which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long agone in sackcloth and ashes. <sup>22</sup>But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you. <sup>23</sup>And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great woorkes, which haue bin done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day. <sup>24</sup>But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee. <sup>25</sup>At that time Iesus answered, and saide, I giue thee thankes, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes. <sup>26</sup>It is so, O Father, because thy good pleasure was such. <sup>27</sup>All things are giuen vnto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Sonne, but ye Father: neither knoweth any man ye Father, but the Sonne, and he to whom ye Sonne will reueile him. <sup>28</sup>Come vnto me, all ye that are wearie and laden, and I will ease you. <sup>29</sup>Take my yoke on you, and learne of me that I am meeke and lowly in heart: and ye shall finde rest vnto your soules. <sup>30</sup>For my yoke is easie, and my burden light.

12At that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through ye corne, and his disciples were an hungred, and bega to plucke ye eares of corne and to eate. <sup>2</sup>And when the Pharises sawe it, they saide vnto him, Beholde, thy disciples doe that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath. <sup>3</sup>But he said vnto them, Haue ye not read what Dauid did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him? <sup>4</sup>Howe he entred into ye house of God, and did eate the shewe bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the Priestes? <sup>5</sup>Or haue ye not read in the Lawe, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes in the Temple breake the Sabbath, and are blameles? <sup>6</sup>But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore if ye knewe what this is, I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents. <sup>8</sup>For the sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath. <sup>9</sup>And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue: <sup>10</sup>And beholde, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him. <sup>11</sup>And he said vnto the, What man shall there be among you, that hath a sheepe, and if it fal on a Sabbath day into a pit, doth not take it and lift it out? <sup>12</sup>How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day. <sup>13</sup>Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it fourth, and it was made whole as the other. <sup>14</sup>Then the Pharises went out, and consulted against him, howe they might destroy him. <sup>15</sup>But whe Iesus knew it, he departed thece, and great multitudes folowed him, and he healed the al, <sup>16</sup>And charged them in threatning wise, that they should not make him knowen, <sup>17</sup>That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying, <sup>18</sup>Behold my seruant whom I haue chosen, my beloued in whom my soule deliteth: I wil put my Spirit on him, and he shall shewe iudgement to the Gentiles. <sup>19</sup>He shall not striue, nor crie, neither shall any man heare his voyce in the streetes. <sup>20</sup>A bruised reede shall he not breake, and smoking flaxe shall he not quenche, till he bring forth iudgement vnto victorie. <sup>21</sup>And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust. <sup>22</sup>Then was brought to him one, possessed with a deuill, both blind, and dumme, and he healed him, so that he which was blind and dumme, both spake and saw. <sup>23</sup>And all the people were amased, and saide, Is not this that sonne of Dauid? <sup>24</sup>But when the Pharises heard it, they saide, This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils. <sup>25</sup>But Iesus knew their thoughtes, and said to them, Euey kingdome deuided against it selfe, is brought to nought: and euey citie or house, deuided against it selfe, shall not stand. <sup>26</sup>So if Satan cast out Satan, he is deuided against himself: how shall then his kingdom endure? <sup>27</sup>Also if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your iudges. <sup>28</sup>But if I cast out deuils by ye Spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you. <sup>29</sup>Els howe can a man enter into a strong mans house and spoyle his goods, except he first bind the strong man, and then spoile his house. <sup>30</sup>He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth. <sup>31</sup>Wherefore I say vnto you, euey sinne and blasphemie shalbe forgiuen vnto men: but the blasphemie against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiuen vnto men. <sup>32</sup>And whosoouer shall speake a word against the Sonne of man, it shall be forgiuen him: but whosoouer shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiuen him, neither in this worlde, nor in the worlde to come. <sup>33</sup>Either make the tree good, and his fruite good: or els make the tree euill, and his fruite euil: for the tree is knowen by the fruite. <sup>34</sup>O generations of vipers, howe can you speake good things, when ye are euill? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. <sup>35</sup>A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth fourth good things: and an euill man out of an euill treasure, bringeth forth euill things. <sup>36</sup>But I say vnto you, that of euey idle word that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement. <sup>37</sup>For by thy wordes thou shalt be iustified, and by thy wordes thou shalt be condemned. <sup>38</sup>Then answered certaine of ye Scribes and of the Pharises, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee. <sup>39</sup>But he answered and said to them, An euill and adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Ionas. <sup>40</sup>For as Ionas was three daies and three nights in the whales belly: so shall the Sonne of man be three daies and three nights in ye heart of the earth. <sup>41</sup>The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here. <sup>42</sup>The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for she came from the vtmost partes of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon: and beholde, a greater then Salomon is here. <sup>43</sup>Nowe when the vnclane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout drie places, seeking rest, and findeth none. <sup>44</sup>Then he saith, I wil returne into mine house from whence I came: and when he is come, he findeth it emptie, swept and garnished. <sup>45</sup>Then he goeth, and taketh vnto him seuen other spirites worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: and the ende of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shall it be with this wicked generation. <sup>46</sup>While he yet spake to ye multitude, beholde, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him. <sup>47</sup>Then one said vnto him, Beholde, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speake with thee. <sup>48</sup>But he answered, and said to him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren? <sup>49</sup>And he stretched foorth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Beholde my mother and my brethren. <sup>50</sup>For whosoever shall doe my Fathers will which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

13The same day went Iesus out of the house, and sate by the sea side. <sup>2</sup>And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sate downe: and the whole multitude stode on the shore. <sup>3</sup>Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sowe. <sup>4</sup>And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp. <sup>5</sup>And some fell vpon stony grounde, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprong vp, because they had no depth of earth. <sup>6</sup>And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting, withered away. <sup>7</sup>And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprong vp, and choked them. <sup>8</sup>Some againe fel in good ground, and brought forth fruite, one corne an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde. <sup>9</sup>He that hath eares to heare, let him heare. <sup>10</sup>Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables? <sup>11</sup>And he answered, and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you, to know the secretes of the kingdome of heauen, but to the it is not giue. <sup>12</sup>For whosoever hath, to him shalbe giuen, and he shall haue abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shalbe taken away, euen that he hath. <sup>13</sup>Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand. <sup>14</sup>So in them is fulfilled the prophecie of Esaias, which prophecie saieth, By hearing, ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing, ye shall see, and shall not perceiue. <sup>15</sup>For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them. <sup>16</sup>But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare. <sup>17</sup>For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them. <sup>18</sup>Heare ye therefore ye parable of ye sower. <sup>19</sup>Whensoeuer any man heareth the woorde of that kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that euil one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seede by the way side. <sup>20</sup>And hee that receiued seede in the stonie grounde, is he which heareth the woorde, and incontinently with ioy receiue it, <sup>21</sup>Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for assoone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the woorde, by and by he is offended. <sup>22</sup>And hee that receiued the seede among thornes, is hee that heareth the woorde: but the care of this worlde, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull. <sup>23</sup>But he that receiued the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the woorde, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth foorth, some an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde, and some thirtie folde. <sup>24</sup>Another parable put hee foorth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his felde. <sup>25</sup>But while men slept, there came his enemie, and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his waie. <sup>26</sup>And when the blade was sprong vp, and brought forth fruite, then appeared the tares also. <sup>27</sup>Then came the seruants of the housholder, and sayd vnto him, Master, sowedst not thou good seede in thy felde? from whence then hath it tares? <sup>28</sup>And hee said to them, Some eniuious man hath done this. Then the seruants saide vnto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them vp? <sup>29</sup>But he saide, Nay, lest while yee goe about to gather the tares, yee plucke vp also with them the wheat. <sup>30</sup>Let both growe together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather yee first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barne. <sup>31</sup>Another parable he put foorth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his felde: <sup>32</sup>Which in deede is the least of all seedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birdes of heauen come and builde in the branches thereof. <sup>33</sup>Another parable spake hee to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leauened. <sup>34</sup>All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not to them, <sup>35</sup>That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables, and will vtter the things which haue beene kept secrete from the foundation of the worlde. <sup>36</sup>Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that felde. <sup>37</sup>Then answered he, and saide to them, He that soweth the good seede, is the Sonne of man. <sup>38</sup>And the field is the worlde, and the good seede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one. <sup>39</sup>And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, and the haruest is the end of the worlde, and the reapers be the Angels. <sup>40</sup>As then the tares are gathered and burned in ye fire, so shall it be in the end of this world.

14At that time Herod the Tetrarche heard of the fame of Iesus, <sup>2</sup>And sayde vnto his seruaunts, This is that Iohn Baptist, hee is risen againe from the deade, and therefore great woorkes are wrought by him. <sup>3</sup>For Herod had taken Iohn, and bounde him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife. <sup>4</sup>For Iohn saide vnto him, It is not lawfull for thee to haue her. <sup>5</sup>And when hee woulde haue put him to death, hee feared the multitude, because they counted him as a Prophet. <sup>6</sup>But when Herods birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased Herod. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore he promised with an othe, that he would giue her whatsoever she would aske. <sup>8</sup>And shee being before instructed of her mother, sayde, Giue mee here Iohn Baptists head in a platter. <sup>9</sup>And the King was sorie: neuertheless because of the othe, and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her, <sup>10</sup>And sent, and beheaded Iohn in the prison. <sup>11</sup>And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the maide, and shee brought it vnto her mother. <sup>12</sup>And his disciples came, and tooke vp the bodie, and buried it, and went, and tolde Iesus. <sup>13</sup>And when Iesus heard it, hee departed thence by shippe into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him on foote out of the cities. <sup>14</sup>And Iesus went forth and sawe a great multitude, and was moued with compassion toward them, and he healed their sicke. <sup>15</sup>And when euen was come, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is alreadie past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and bye them vitailles. <sup>16</sup>But Iesus saide to them, They haue no neede to goe away: giue yee them to eate. <sup>17</sup>Then saide they vnto him, Wee haue here but fiue loaues, and two fishes. <sup>18</sup>And he saide, Bring them hither to me. <sup>19</sup>And hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the fiue loaues and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaues to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude. <sup>20</sup>And they did all eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full. <sup>21</sup>And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousande men, beside women and litle children. <sup>22</sup>And straightway Iesus compelled his disciples to enter into a shippe, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away. <sup>23</sup>And assoone as hee had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a moutaine alone to pray: and when the euening was come, hee was there alone. <sup>24</sup>And the shippe was nowe in the middes of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrarie winde. <sup>25</sup>And in the fourth watch of the night, Iesus went vnto them, walking on the sea. <sup>26</sup>And when his disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit, and cried out for feare. <sup>27</sup>But straight way Iesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort, It is I: be not afraide. <sup>28</sup>Then Peter answered him, and saide, Master, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water. <sup>29</sup>And he saide, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the shippe, he walked on the water, to goe to Iesus. <sup>30</sup>But when he sawe a mightie winde, he was afraide: and as he began to sinke, he cried, saying, Master, saue me. <sup>31</sup>So immediatly Iesus stretched forth his hande, and caught him, and saide to him, O thou of litle faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt? <sup>32</sup>And assoone as they were come into the ship, the winde ceased. <sup>33</sup>Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a trueth thou art the Sonne of God. <sup>34</sup>And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of Gennezaret. <sup>35</sup>And when the men of that place knewe him, they sent out into all that countrey rounde about, and brought vnto him all that were sicke, <sup>36</sup>And besought him, that they might touch the hemme of his garment onely: and as many as touched it, were made whole.

15Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Hierusalem, saying, <sup>2</sup>Why do thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they wash not their hands when they eate bread. <sup>3</sup>But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe yee also transgresse the commandement of God by your tradition? <sup>4</sup>For God hath commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death. <sup>5</sup>But ye say, Whosoeuer shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou maiest haue profite, <sup>6</sup>Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shalbe free: thus haue ye made the commandement of God of no auctoritie by your tradition. <sup>7</sup>O hypocrites, Esaias prophecied well of you, saying, <sup>8</sup>This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me. <sup>9</sup>But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts. <sup>10</sup>Then hee called the multitude vnto him, and said to them, Heare and vnderstand. <sup>11</sup>That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man. <sup>12</sup>Then came his disciples, and saide vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying? <sup>13</sup>But hee answered and saide, Euery plant which mine heauenly Father hath not planted, shalbe rooted vp. <sup>14</sup>Let them alone, they be the blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade ye blinde, both shall fall into the ditche. <sup>15</sup>Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare vnto vs this parable. <sup>16</sup>Then said Iesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding? <sup>17</sup>Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoever entreth into the mouth, goeth into the bellie, and is cast out into the draught? <sup>18</sup>But those thinges which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man. <sup>19</sup>For out of the heart come euil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slaunders. <sup>20</sup>These are the things, which defile the man: but to eat with vnwashen hands, defileth not ye man. <sup>21</sup>And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coastes of Tyrus and Sidon. <sup>22</sup>And beholde, a woman a Cananite came out of the same coastes, and cried, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on me, O Lord, the sonne of Daud: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuil. <sup>23</sup>But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Sende her away, for she crieth after vs. <sup>24</sup>But he answered, and said, I am not sent, but vnto the lost sheepe of the house of Israel. <sup>25</sup>Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, helpe me. <sup>26</sup>And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelps. <sup>27</sup>But she said, Trueth, Lord: yet in deede the whelpes eate of the crommes, which fall from their masters table. <sup>28</sup>Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre. <sup>29</sup>So Iesus went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there. <sup>30</sup>And great multitudes came vnto him, hauing with them, halt, blinde, dumme, maymed, and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and he healed them. <sup>31</sup>In so much that the multitude wondered, to see the dumme speake, the maimed whole, the halt to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. <sup>32</sup>Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with mee already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I wil not let them depart fasting, least they faint in the way. <sup>33</sup>And his disciples saide vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wildernes, as should suffice so great a multitude! <sup>34</sup>And Iesus said vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? And they said, Seuen, and a few litle fishes. <sup>35</sup>Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground, <sup>36</sup>And tooke the seuen loaves, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude. <sup>37</sup>And they did all eate, and were sufficed: and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, seuen baskets full. <sup>38</sup>And they that had eaten, were foure thousand men, beside women, and litle children. <sup>39</sup>Then Iesus sent away the multitude, and tooke ship, and came into the partes of Magdala.

16Then came the Pharises and Sadduces, and did tempt him, desiring him to shew them a signe from heauen. <sup>2</sup>But he answered, and said vnto them, When it is euening, ye say, Faire wether: for ye skie is red. <sup>3</sup>And in the morning ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is red and lowring. O hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the skie, and can ye not discern the signes of the times? <sup>4</sup>The wicked generation, and adulterous seeketh a signe, but there shall no signe be giuen it, but that signe of the Prophet Ionas: so hee left them, and departed. <sup>5</sup>And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them. <sup>6</sup>Then Iesus said vnto them, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Pharises and Sadduces. <sup>7</sup>And they reasoned among themselues, saying, It is because we haue brought no bread. <sup>8</sup>But Iesus knowing it, saide vnto them, O ye of litle faith, why reason you thus among your selues, because ye haue brought no bread? <sup>9</sup>Doe ye not yet perceiue, neither remember the fiue loaves, when there were fiue thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp? <sup>10</sup>Neither the seuen loaves when there were foure thousande men, and howe many baskets tooke ye vp? <sup>11</sup>Why perceiue ye not that I said not vnto you concerning bread, that ye shoulde beware of the leauen of the Pharises and Sadduces? <sup>12</sup>Then vnderstood they that he had not said that they should beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharises, and Sadduces. <sup>13</sup>Nowe when Iesus came into the coastes of Cesarea Philippi, hee asked his disciples, saying, Whome doe men say that I, the sonne of man am? <sup>14</sup>And they said, Some say, Iohn Baptist: and some, Elias: and others, Ieremias, or one of the Prophets. <sup>15</sup>He said vnto them, But whome say ye that I am? <sup>16</sup>Then Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art that Christ, the Sonne of the liuing God. <sup>17</sup>And Iesus answered, and saide to him, Blessed art thou, Simon, the sonne of Ionas: for flesh and blood hath not reueiled it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen. <sup>18</sup>And I say also vnto thee, that thou art Peter, and vpon this rocke I will builde my Church: and ye gates of hell shall not ouercome it. <sup>19</sup>And I will giue vnto thee the keyes of the kingdome of heauen, and whatsoever thou shalt binde vpon earth, shalbe bound in heauen: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen. <sup>20</sup>Then hee charged his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Iesus that Christ. <sup>21</sup>From that time fourth Iesus beganne to shewe vnto his disciples, that he must goe vnto Hierusalem, and suffer many thinges of the Elders, and of the hie Priestes, and Scribes, and be slaine, and be raised againe the thirde day. <sup>22</sup>Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him, saying, Master, pitie thy selfe: this shall not be vnto thee. <sup>23</sup>Then he turned backe, and said vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, because thou vnderstandest not the thinges that are of God, but the thinges that are of men. <sup>24</sup>Iesus then saide to his disciples, If any man will follow me, let him forsake himselfe: and take vp his crosse, and follow me. <sup>25</sup>For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall finde it. <sup>26</sup>For what shall it profite a man though he should winne the whole worlde, if hee lose his owne soule? or what shall a man giue for recompence of his soule? <sup>27</sup>For the Sonne of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels, and then shall he giue to euery man according to his deedes. <sup>28</sup>Verely I say vnto you, there bee some of them that stande here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the Sonne of man come in his kingdome.

17And after sixe dayes, Iesus tooke Peter, and Iames and Iohn his brother, and brought them vp into an hie mountaine apart, <sup>2</sup>And was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the Sunne, and his clothes were as white as the light. <sup>3</sup>And beholde, there appeared vnto them Moses, and Elias, talking with him. <sup>4</sup>Then answered Peter, and saide to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: if thou wilt, let vs make here three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. <sup>5</sup>While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloude shadowed them: and beholde, there came a voyce out of the cloude, saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased: heare him. <sup>6</sup>And when the disciples heard that, they fell on their faces, and were sore afraide. <sup>7</sup>Then Iesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraide. <sup>8</sup>And when they lifted vp their eyes, they sawe no man, saue Iesus onely. <sup>9</sup>And as they came downe from the moutaine,

Iesus charged them, saying, Shewe the vision to no man, vntil the Sonne of man rise againe from the dead. <sup>10</sup>And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the Scribes that Elias must first come? <sup>11</sup>And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Certainely Elias must first come, and restore all thinges. <sup>12</sup>But I say vnto you that Elias is come already, and they knewe him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoever they would: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them. <sup>13</sup>Then the disciples perceiued that he spake vnto them of Iohn Baptist. <sup>14</sup>And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certaine man, and fell downe at his feete, <sup>15</sup>And saide, Master, haue pitie on my sonne: for he is lunatike, and is sore vexed: for oft times he falleth into the fire, and oft times into the water. <sup>16</sup>And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not heale him. <sup>17</sup>Then Iesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you! howe long nowe shall I suffer you! bring him hither to me. <sup>18</sup>And Iesus rebuked the deuill, and he went out of him: and the childe was healed at that houre. <sup>19</sup>Then came the disciples to Iesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out? <sup>20</sup>And Iesus said vnto them, Because of your vnbeliefe: for verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as is a graine of mustarde seede, ye shall say vnto this mountaine, Remouoe hence to yonder place, and it shall remoue: and nothing shalbe vnpossible vnto you. <sup>21</sup>Howbeit this kinde goeth not out, but by prayer and fasting. <sup>22</sup>And they being in Galile, Iesus said vnto them, The Sonne of man shall be deliuered into the handes of men, <sup>23</sup>And they shall kill him, but the thirde day shall he rise againe: and they were very sorie. <sup>24</sup>And when they were come to Capernaum, they that receiued polle money, came to Peter, and sayd, Doeth not your Master pay polle money? <sup>25</sup>He sayd, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Iesus preuented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? Of whome doe the Kings of the earth take tribute, or polle money? of their children, or of strangers? <sup>26</sup>Peter sayd vnto him, Of strangers. Then said Iesus vnto him, Then are the children free. <sup>27</sup>Neuerthelesse, lest we should offend them: goe to the sea, and cast in an angle, and take the first fish that commeth vp, and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt finde a piece of twentie pence: that take, and giue it vnto them for me and thee.

18The same time the disciples came vnto Iesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen? <sup>2</sup>And Iesus called a litle childe vnto him, and set him in the mids of them, <sup>3</sup>And sayd, Verely I say vnto you, except ye be conuerted, and become as litle children, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen. <sup>4</sup>Whosoever therefore shall humble himselfe as this litle childe, the same is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen. <sup>5</sup>And whosoever shall receiue one such litle childe in my name, receiueth me. <sup>6</sup>But whosoever shall offend one of these litle ones which beleue

in me, it were better for him, that a milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. <sup>7</sup>Wo be vnto the world because of offences: for it must needes be that offences shall come, but wo be to that man by whome the offence commeth. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foote cause thee to offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maimed, then hauing two hands, or two feete, to be cast into euerlasting fire. <sup>9</sup>And if thine eye cause thee to offende, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire. <sup>10</sup>See that ye despise not one of these litle ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their Angels alwayes behold the face of my Father which is in heauen. <sup>11</sup>For the Sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost. <sup>12</sup>How thinke ye? If a man haue an hundreth sheepe, and one of them be gone astray, doeth he not leaue ninetie and nine, and go into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray? <sup>13</sup>And if so be that he finde it, verely I say vnto you, he reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninetie and nine which went not astray: <sup>14</sup>So is it not ye wil of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these litle ones should perish. <sup>15</sup>Moreouer, if thy brother trespassse against thee, goe and tell him his fault betweene thee and him alone: if he heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother. <sup>16</sup>But if he heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the mouth of two or three witnesses euery worde may be confirmed. <sup>17</sup>And if he refuse to heare them, tell it vnto the Church: and if he refuse to heare the Church also, let him be vnto thee as an heathen man, and a Publicane. <sup>18</sup>Verely I say vnto you, Whatsoever ye bind on earth, shall be bound in heauen: and whatsoever ye loose on earth, shall be loosed in heauen. <sup>19</sup>Againe, verely I say vnto you, that if two of you shall agree in earth vpon any thing, whatsoever they shall desire, it shall be giuen them of my Father which is in heauen. <sup>20</sup>For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the midis of them. <sup>21</sup>Then came Peter to him, and said, Master, howe oft shall my brother sinne against me, and I shall forgiue him? vnto seuen times? <sup>22</sup>Jesus said vnto him, I say not to thee, Vnto seuen times, but, Vnto seentie times seuen times. <sup>23</sup>Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine King, which would take an account of his seruants. <sup>24</sup>And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which ought him ten thousand talents. <sup>25</sup>And because he had nothing to pay, his Lord commanded him to be solde, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the dette to be payed. <sup>26</sup>The seruant therefore fell downe, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, refraine thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all. <sup>27</sup>Then that seruants Lord had compassion, and loosed him, and forgaued him the dette. <sup>28</sup>But when the seruant was departed, hee found one of his fellow seruants, which ought him an hundred pence, and he layde hands on him, and thratled him, saying, Pay me that thou owest. <sup>29</sup>Then his fellow seruant fell downe at his feete, and besought him, saying, Refraine thine anger towards me, and I will pay thee all. <sup>30</sup>Yet he would not, but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the dette. <sup>31</sup>And when his other fellowe seruants sawe what was done, they were very sory, and came, and declared vnto their Lord all that was done. <sup>32</sup>Then his Lord called him vnto him, and sayd to him, O euil seruant, I forgaued thee all that dette, because thou prayedst me. <sup>33</sup>Oughtest not thou also to haue had pitie on thy fellowe seruant, euen as I had pitie on thee? <sup>34</sup>So his Lord was wroth, and deliuered him to the tormentours, till he should pay all that was due to him. <sup>35</sup>So likewise shall mine heauenly Father doe vnto you, except ye forgiue from your hearts, eche one to his brother their trespassses.

19And it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished these sayings, he departed from Galile, and came into ye coasts of Iudea beyond Iordan. <sup>2</sup>And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there. <sup>3</sup>Then came vnto him the Pharises tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawfull for a man to put away his wife vpon euery occasion? <sup>4</sup>And he answered and sayd vnto them, Haue ye not read, that hee which made them at the beginning, made them male and female, <sup>5</sup>And sayd, For this cause, shall a man leaue father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were two shall be one flesh. <sup>6</sup>Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let not man therefore put asunder that, which God hath coupled together. <sup>7</sup>They said to him, Why did then Moses commaund to giue a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away? <sup>8</sup>He sayd vnto them, Moses, because of the hardnesse of your heart, suffered you to put away your wiues: but from the beginning it was not so. <sup>9</sup>I say therefore vnto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whosoever marieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie. <sup>10</sup>Then sayd his disciples to him, If the matter be so betweene man and wife, it is not good to marry. <sup>11</sup>But he sayd vnto them, All men cannot receiue this thing, saue they to whom it is giuen. <sup>12</sup>For there are some eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: and there be some eunuches, which be gelded by men: and there be some eunuches, which haue gelded them selues for the kingdome of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it. <sup>13</sup>Then were brought to him litle children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them. <sup>14</sup>But Iesus sayd, Suffer the litle children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen. <sup>15</sup>And when he had put his hands on them, he departed thence. <sup>16</sup>And beholde, one came and sayd vnto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life? <sup>17</sup>And he said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, eue God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe ye commandemets. <sup>18</sup>He sayd to him, Which? And Iesus sayde, These, Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnessse. <sup>19</sup>Honour thy father and mother: and thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. <sup>20</sup>The yong man sayd vnto him, I haue obserued all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet? <sup>21</sup>Iesus sayd vnto him, If thou wilt be perfite, go, sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and follow me. <sup>22</sup>And when the yong man heard that saying, he went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions. <sup>23</sup>Then Iesus sayd vnto his disciples, Verely I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen. <sup>24</sup>And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into ye kingdome of God. <sup>25</sup>And whe his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amased, saying, Who then can be saued? <sup>26</sup>And Iesus behelde them, and sayde vnto them, With men this is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible. <sup>27</sup>Then answered Peter, and said to him, Beholde, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue? <sup>28</sup>And Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his maiestie, ye which folowed me in the regeneration, shall sit also vpon twelue thrones and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel. <sup>29</sup>And whosoeuer shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Names sake, he shall receiue an hundreth folde more, and shall inherite euerlasting life. <sup>30</sup>But many that are first, shalbe last, and the last shalbe first.

20For the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine, housholder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyarde. <sup>2</sup>And he agreed with the labourers for a peny a day, and sent them into his vineyard. <sup>3</sup>And he went out about the third houre, and sawe other standing idle in the market place, <sup>4</sup>And sayd vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, I will giue you: and they went their way. <sup>5</sup>Againe he went out about the sixt and ninth houre, and did likewise. <sup>6</sup>And he went about the eleuenth houre, and found other standing idle, and sayd vnto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle? <sup>7</sup>They sayd vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He sayd to them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue. <sup>8</sup>And when euen was come, the master of the vineyard sayd vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first. <sup>9</sup>And they which were hired about ye eleuenth houre, came and receiued euery man a penie. <sup>10</sup>Nowe when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a penie. <sup>11</sup>And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, <sup>12</sup>Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burden and heate of the day. <sup>13</sup>And hee answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: didst thou not agree with me for a penie? <sup>14</sup>Take that which is thine owne, and go thy way: I will giue vnto this last, as much as to thee. <sup>15</sup>Is it not lawfull for me to do as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye euil, because I am good? <sup>16</sup>So the last shalbe first, and the first last: for many are called, but fewe chosen. <sup>17</sup>And Iesus went vp to Hierusalem, and tooke the twelue disciples apart in the way, and said vnto them, <sup>18</sup>Beholde, wee goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall bee deliuered vnto the chiefe priestes, and vnto the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, <sup>19</sup>And shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to scourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he shall rise againe. <sup>20</sup>Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him. <sup>21</sup>And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Graunt that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome. <sup>22</sup>And Iesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptized with the baptisme that I shalbe baptized with? They said to him, We are able. <sup>23</sup>And he said vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deede of my cup, and shall be baptized with the baptisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hande, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it shalbe giuen to them for whome it is prepared of my Father. <sup>24</sup>And when the other ten heard this, they disdained at the two brethren. <sup>25</sup>Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and saide, We knowe that the lordes of the Gentiles haue domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authoritie ouer them. <sup>26</sup>But it shall not be so among you: but whosoeuer will be great among you, let him be your seruant. <sup>27</sup>And whosoeuer will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant. <sup>28</sup>Euen as the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransome of many. <sup>29</sup>And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him. <sup>30</sup>And beholde, two blinde men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cryed, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on vs. <sup>31</sup>And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on vs. <sup>32</sup>Then Iesus stooode still, and called them, and said, What will ye that I should do to you? <sup>33</sup>They saide to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened. <sup>34</sup>And Iesus mooued with compassion, touched their eyes, and immediatly their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

21And when they drewe neere to Hierusalem, and were come to Bethphage, vnto the mount of the Oliues, then sent Iesus two disciples, <sup>2</sup>Saying to them, Goe into the towne that is ouer against you, and anon yee shall finde an asse bounde, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them vnto me. <sup>3</sup>And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath neede of them, and straightway he will let them goe. <sup>4</sup>All this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, <sup>5</sup>Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Beholde, thy King commeth vnto thee, meeke and sitting vpon an asse, and a colte, the foale of an asse vsed to the yoke. <sup>6</sup>So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had commanded them, <sup>7</sup>And brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon. <sup>8</sup>And a great multitude spred their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way. <sup>9</sup>Moreouer, the people that went before, and they also that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, Blessed be hee that commeth in the Name of the Lord, Hosanna thou which art in the highest heauens. <sup>10</sup>And when he was come into Hierusalem, all the citie was moued, saying, Who is this? <sup>11</sup>And the people said, This is Iesus that Prophet of Nazareth in Galile. <sup>12</sup>And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money chagers, and the seates of them that sold doues, <sup>13</sup>And said to them, it is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a denne of theeues. <sup>14</sup>Then the blinde, and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them. <sup>15</sup>But when the chiefe priestes and Scribes sawe the marueiles that hee did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Hosanna to the Sonne of Dauid, they disdained, <sup>16</sup>And said vnto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Iesus said vnto them, Yea: read ye neuer, By the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast made perfite the praise? <sup>17</sup>So hee left them, and went out of the citie vnto Bethania, and lodged there. <sup>18</sup>And in the morning, as he returned into the citie, he was hungrie, <sup>19</sup>And seeing a figge tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaues onely, and said to it, Neuer fruite grow on thee henceforwards. And anon the figge tree withered. <sup>20</sup>And when his disciples saw it, they marueiled, saying, How soone is the figge tree withered! <sup>21</sup>And Iesus answered and said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only doe that, which I haue done to the figge tree, but also if ye say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shalbe done. <sup>22</sup>And whatsoever ye shall aske in prayer, if ye beleeeue, ye shall receiue it. <sup>23</sup>And whe he was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priestes, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as he was teaching, and saide, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie? <sup>24</sup>Then Iesus answered and said vnto them, I also will aske of you a certaine thing, which if ye tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things. <sup>25</sup>The baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? from heauen, or of men? Then they reasoned among themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleeeue him? <sup>26</sup>And if we say, Of men, we feare the multitude, for all holde Iohn as a Prophet. <sup>27</sup>Then they answered Iesus, and said, We can not tell. And he said vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authoritie I doe these things. <sup>28</sup>But what thinke ye? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and saide, Sonne, goe and worke to day in my vineyarde. <sup>29</sup>But he answered, and said, I will not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went. <sup>30</sup>Then came he to the second, and said likewise. And he answered, and said, I will, Syr: yet he went not. <sup>31</sup>Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They saide vnto him, The first. Iesus saide vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots goe before you into the kingdome of God. <sup>32</sup>For Iohn came vnto you in the way of righteousnes, and yee beleeeued him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleeeued him, and ye, though ye sawe it, were not moued with repentance afterward, that ye might beleeeue him. <sup>33</sup>Heare another parable, There was a certaine housholder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a winepresse therein, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country. <sup>34</sup>And when the time of the fruite drewe neere, hee sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruites thereof. <sup>35</sup>And ye husbandmen tooke his seruants and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another. <sup>36</sup>Againe hee sent other seruants, moe then the first: and they did the like vnto them. <sup>37</sup>But last of all he sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne. <sup>38</sup>But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they saide among themselues, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and let vs take his inheritance. <sup>39</sup>So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyarde, and slewe him. <sup>40</sup>When therefore the Lord of the vineyarde shall come, what will hee doe to those husbandmen? <sup>41</sup>They saide vnto him, Hee will cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruites in their seasons. <sup>42</sup>Iesus saide vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the head of the corner? This was the Lordes doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes. <sup>43</sup>Therefore say I vnto you, The kingdome of God shalbe taken from you, and shalbe giuen to a nation, which shall bring forth the fruites thereof. <sup>44</sup>And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shalbe broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will dash him a pecies. <sup>45</sup>And when the chiefe Priestes and Pharises had heard his parables, they perceiued that hee spake of them. <sup>46</sup>And they seeking to laye handes on him, feared the people, because they tooke him as a Prophet.

parables, saying, <sup>2</sup>The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which married his sonne, <sup>3</sup>And sent forth his seruants, to call them that were bidde to the wedding, but they woulde not come. <sup>4</sup>Againe hee sent forth other seruants, saying. Tell them which are bidden, Beholde, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all thinges are readie: come vnto the mariage. <sup>5</sup>But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his marchandise. <sup>6</sup>And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slewe them. <sup>7</sup>But when the King heard it, he was wroth, and sent forth his warriers, and destroyed those murtherers, and burnt vp their citie. <sup>8</sup>Then saide hee to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy. <sup>9</sup>Go ye therefore out into the high wayes, and as many as ye finde, bid them to the mariage. <sup>10</sup>So those seruantes went out into the hie wayes, and gathered together all that euer they found, both good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghestes. <sup>11</sup>Then the King came in, to see the ghestes, and sawe there a man which had not on a wedding garment. <sup>12</sup>And he sayd vnto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment? And he was speechlesse. <sup>13</sup>Then sayd the King to the seruants, Binde him hand and foote: take him away, and cast him into vtter darkenes: there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth. <sup>14</sup>For many are called, but fewe chosen. <sup>15</sup>Then went the Pharises and tooke counsell how they might tangle him in talke. <sup>16</sup>And they sent vnto him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Master, we knowe that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truly, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the person of men. <sup>17</sup>Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not? <sup>18</sup>But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and sayd, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites? <sup>19</sup>Shewe me the tribute money. And they brought him a peny. <sup>20</sup>And he sayde vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? <sup>21</sup>They sayd vnto him, Cesars. Then sayd he vnto them, Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cesars, and giue vnto God, those things which are Gods. <sup>22</sup>And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way. <sup>23</sup>The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him, <sup>24</sup>Saying, Master, Moses sayd, If a man die, hauing no children, his brother shall marie his wife by the right of alliance, and raise vp seede vnto his brother. <sup>25</sup>Nowe there were with vs seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing none yssue, left his wife vnto his brother. <sup>26</sup>Likewise also the second, and the third, vnto the seuenth. <sup>27</sup>And last of all the woman died also. <sup>28</sup>Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her. <sup>29</sup>Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Ye are deceived, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God. <sup>30</sup>For in the resurrection they neither marie wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in mariage, but are as the Angels of God in heauen. <sup>31</sup>And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying, <sup>32</sup>I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing. <sup>33</sup>And when the multitude heard it, they were astonied at his doctrine. <sup>34</sup>But when the Pharises had heard, that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together. <sup>35</sup>And one of them, which was an expounder of the Lawe, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying, <sup>36</sup>Master, which is ye great commandement in the Lawe? <sup>37</sup>Iesus sayd to him, Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soule, and with all thy minde. <sup>38</sup>This is the first and the great commandement. <sup>39</sup>And the second is like vnto this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. <sup>40</sup>On these two commandements hangeth the whole Lawe, and the Prophets. <sup>41</sup>While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them, <sup>42</sup>Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? whose sonne is he? They sayd vnto him, Dauids. <sup>43</sup>He sayd vnto them, How then doeth Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, <sup>44</sup>The Lord sayd to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstoole? <sup>45</sup>If then Dauid call him Lord, howe is he his sonne? <sup>46</sup>And none could answere him a worde, neither durst any from that day forth aske him any moe questions.

23Then spake Iesus to the multitude, and to his disciples, <sup>2</sup>Saying, The Scribes and the Pharises sit in Moses seate. <sup>3</sup>All therefore whatsoever they bid you obserue, that obserue and doe: but after their workes doe not: for they say, and doe not. <sup>4</sup>For they binde heauie burdens, and grieuous to be borne, and lay them on mens shoulders, but they themselues will not moue them with one of their fingers. <sup>5</sup>All their workes they doe for to be seene of men: for they make their phylacteries broad, and make long the frindges of their garments, <sup>6</sup>And loue the chiefe place at feastes, and to haue the chiefe seates in the assemblies, <sup>7</sup>And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi. <sup>8</sup>But be not ye called, Rabbi: for one is your doctour, to wit, Christ, and all ye are brethren. <sup>9</sup>And call no man your father vpon the earth: for there is but one, your father which is in heauen. <sup>10</sup>Be not called doctours: for one is your doctour, euen Christ. <sup>11</sup>But he that is greatest among you, let him be your seruant. <sup>12</sup>For whosoever will exalt himselfe, shall be brought lowe: and whosoever will humble himselfe, shalbe exalted. <sup>13</sup>Wo therefore be vnto you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites, because ye shut vp the kingdome of heauen before men: for ye your selues go not in, neither suffer ye them that would enter, to come in. <sup>14</sup>Wo be vnto you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye deuoure widowes houses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers: wherefore ye shall receiue the greater damnation. <sup>15</sup>Wo be vnto you, Scribes and Phar-

ises, hypocrites: for ye compasse sea and land to make one of your profession: and when he is made, ye make him two folde more the childe of hell, then you your selues. <sup>16</sup>Wo be vnto you blinde guides, which say, Whosoeuer sweareth by the Temple, it is nothing: but whosoeuer sweareth by the golde of the Temple, he offendeth. <sup>17</sup>Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the golde, or the Temple that sanctifieth the golde? <sup>18</sup>And whosoeuer sweareth by the altar, it is nothing: but whosoeuer sweareth by the offering that is vpon it, offendeth. <sup>19</sup>Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the offering, or the altar which sanctifieth the offering? <sup>20</sup>Whosoeuer therefore sweareth by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon. <sup>21</sup>And whosoeuer sweareth by the Temple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein. <sup>22</sup>And he that sweareth by heauen, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon. <sup>23</sup>Wo be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye tithе mynt, and annyse, and cummyn, and leaue the weightier matters of the law, as iudgement, and mercy and fidelitie. These ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other. <sup>24</sup>Ye blinde guides, which straine out a gnat, and swallowe a camell. <sup>25</sup>Wo be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye make cleane the vtter side of the cup, and of the platter: but within they are full of briberie and excesse. <sup>26</sup>Thou blinde Pharise, cleanse first the inside of the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be cleane also. <sup>27</sup>Wo be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye are like vnto whited tombes, which appeare beautifull outward, but are within full of dead mens bones, and all filthines. <sup>28</sup>So are ye also: for outwardе ye appeare righteous vnto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisie and iniquitie. <sup>29</sup>Wo be vnto you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye build the tombes of the Prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous, <sup>30</sup>And say, If we had bene in the dayes of our fathers, we would not haue bene partners with them in the blood of the Prophets. <sup>31</sup>So then ye be witnesses vnto your selues, that ye are the children of them that murdered the Prophets. <sup>32</sup>Fulfill ye also ye measure of your fathers. <sup>33</sup>O serpents, the generation of vipers, howe should ye escape the damnation of hell! <sup>34</sup>Wherefore beholde, I send vnto you Prophets, and wise men, and Scribes, and of them ye shall kill and crucife: and of them shall ye scourge in your Synagogues, and persecute from citie to citie, <sup>35</sup>That vpon you may come all the righteous blood that was shed vpon the earth, from the blood of Abel the righteous, vnto the blood of Zacharias the sonne of Barachias, whome ye slewe betweene the Temple and the altar. <sup>36</sup>Verely I say vnto you, all these things shall come vpon this generation. <sup>37</sup>Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them which are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her chickins vnder her wings, and ye would not! <sup>38</sup>Beholde, your habitation shall be left vnto you desolate, <sup>39</sup>For I say vnto you, ye shall not see mee henceforth till that ye say, Blessed is he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

24And Iesus went out, and departed from the Temple, and his disciples came to him, to shewe him the building of the Temple. <sup>2</sup>And Iesus sayd vnto them, See ye not all these things? Verely I say vnto you, there shall not be here left a stone vpon a stone, that shall not be cast downe. <sup>3</sup>And as he sate vpon the mount of Oliues, his disciples came vnto him apart, saying, Tell vs when these things shall be, and what signe shall be of thy comming, and of the ende of the world. <sup>4</sup>And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Take heede that no man deceiue you. <sup>5</sup>For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many. <sup>6</sup>And ye shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to passe, but the end is not yet. <sup>7</sup>For nation shall rise against nation, and realme against realme, and there shall be famine, and pestilence, and earthquakes in diuers places. <sup>8</sup>All these are but ye beginning of sorowes. <sup>9</sup>Then shall they deliuer you vp to be afflicted, and shall kill you, and ye shall be hated of all nations for my Names sake. <sup>10</sup>And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another. <sup>11</sup>And many false prophets shall arise, and shall deceiue many. <sup>12</sup>And because iniquitie shall be increased, the loue of many shall be colde. <sup>13</sup>But he that endureth to the ende, he shall be saued. <sup>14</sup>And this Gospel of the kingdome shall be preached through the whole world for a witnes vnto all nations, and then shall the end come. <sup>15</sup>When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation spoken of by Daniel the Prophet, set in the holy place (let him that readeth consider it.) <sup>16</sup>Then let them which be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines. <sup>17</sup>Let him which is on the house top, not come downe to fetch any thing out of his house. <sup>18</sup>And he that is in the fielde, let not him returne backe to fetch his clothes. <sup>19</sup>And woe shall be to them that are with childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes. <sup>20</sup>But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the Sabbath day. <sup>21</sup>For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the worlde to this time, nor shall be. <sup>22</sup>And except those dayes should be shortened, there should no flesh be saued: but for the elects sake those dayes shall be shortened. <sup>23</sup>Then if any shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there, beleue it not. <sup>24</sup>For there shall arise false Christes, and false prophets, and shall shewe great signes and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceiue the very elect. <sup>25</sup>Beholde, I haue tolde you before. <sup>26</sup>Wherefore if they shall say vnto you, Beholde, he is in the desert, goe not forth: Beholde, he is in the secret places, beleue it not. <sup>27</sup>For as the lightning commeth out of the East, and is seene into the West, so shall also the comming of the Sonne of man be. <sup>28</sup>For wheresoeuer

a dead carkeis is, thither will the Egles be gathered together. <sup>29</sup>And immediatly after ye tribulations of those dayes, shall the sunne be darkened, and the moone shall not giue her light, and the starres shall fal from heauen, and ye powers of heaue shalbe shake. <sup>30</sup>And then shall appere the signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the kinreds of the earth mourne, and they shall see the Sonne of man come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glorie. <sup>31</sup>And he shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect, from the foure windes, and from the one ende of the heauens vnto the other. <sup>32</sup>Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her bough is yet tender, and it putteth fourth leaues, ye knowe that sommer is neere. <sup>33</sup>So likewise ye, when ye see all these things, know that the kingdom of God is neere, eue at ye doores. <sup>34</sup>Verely I say vnto you, this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done. <sup>35</sup>Heauen and earth shall passe away: but my wordes shall not passe away. <sup>36</sup>But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heauen, but my father only. <sup>37</sup>But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the comming of the Sonne of man be. <sup>38</sup>For as in the dayes before the flood, they did eate and drinke, marrie, and giue in mariage, vnto the day that Noe entred into the Arke, <sup>39</sup>And knewe nothing, till the flood came, and tooke them all away, so shall also the comming of the Sonne of man be. <sup>40</sup>Then two shall be in the fieldes, the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe refused. <sup>41</sup>Two women shalbe grinding at ye mill: the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe refused. <sup>42</sup>Watch therefore: for ye knowe not what houre your master will come. <sup>43</sup>Of this be sure, that if the good man of the house knewe at what watch the thiefe would come, he woulde surely watch, and not suffer his house to be digged through. <sup>44</sup>Therefore be ye also ready: for in the houre that ye thinke not, will the Sonne of man come. <sup>45</sup>Who then is a faithfull seru-aunt and wise, whom his master hath made ruler ouer his household, to giue them meate in season? <sup>46</sup>Blessed is that seru-ant, whom his master when he commeth, shall finde so doing. <sup>47</sup>Verely I say vnto you, he shall make him ruler ouer all his goods. <sup>48</sup>But if that euil seru-ant shall say in his heart, My master doth deferre his comming, <sup>49</sup>And begin to smite his fellowes, and to eate, and to drinke with the drunken, <sup>50</sup>That seruaunts master will come in a day, when he looketh not for him, and in an houre that he is not ware of, <sup>51</sup>And will cut him off, and giue him his portion with hypocrites: there shalbe weeping, and gnashing of teeth.

sels with their lampes. <sup>5</sup>Nowe while the bridegrome taried long, all slumbred and slept. <sup>6</sup>And at midnight there was a crie made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meete him. <sup>7</sup>Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes. <sup>8</sup>And the foolish said to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out. <sup>9</sup>But the wise answered, saying, Not so, lest there will not be ynough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and bye for your selues. <sup>10</sup>And while they went to bye, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut. <sup>11</sup>Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs. <sup>12</sup>But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, I knowe you not. <sup>13</sup>Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day, nor the houre, when the sonne of man will come. <sup>14</sup>For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seru-ants, and deliuered to them his goods. <sup>15</sup>And vnto one he gaue fiewe talents, and to an other two, and to another one, to euery man after his own ability, and straightway went from home. <sup>16</sup>Then he that had receiued the fiewe talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other fiewe talents. <sup>17</sup>Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two. <sup>18</sup>But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money. <sup>19</sup>But after a long season, the master of those seru-ants came, and reckoned with them. <sup>20</sup>Then came he that had receiued fiewe talents, and brought other fiewe talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fiewe talents: behold, I haue gained with them other fiewe talents. <sup>21</sup>Then his master saide vnto him, It is well done good seru-ant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy. <sup>22</sup>Also he that had receiued two talents, came, and said, Master, thou deli-ueredst vnto me two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talets more. <sup>23</sup>His master saide vnto him, It is well done good seru-ant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy. <sup>24</sup>Then he which had receiued the one talent, came, and said, Master, I knewe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not: <sup>25</sup>I was therefore afraide, and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne. <sup>26</sup>And his master answered, and said vnto him, Thou euill seru-ant, and slouthfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not. <sup>27</sup>Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to ye ex-changers, and then at my comming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage. <sup>28</sup>Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath tenne talents. <sup>29</sup>For vnto euery man that hath, it shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shalbe taken away. <sup>30</sup>Cast therefore that vnprof-itable seru-ant into vtter darkenes: there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth. <sup>31</sup>And when the Sonne of man

commeth in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glorie, <sup>32</sup>And before him shalbe gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepheard separateth the sheepe from ye goates. <sup>33</sup>And he shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left. <sup>34</sup>Then shall ye king say to them on his right hand, Come ye blessed of my father: take the inheritance of the kingdome prepared for you from the foundation of the world. <sup>35</sup>For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye tooke me in vnto you. <sup>36</sup>I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was sicke, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me. <sup>37</sup>Then shall the righteous answeere him, saying, Lord, when sawe we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or a thirst, and gaue thee drinke? <sup>38</sup>And when sawe we thee a stranger, and tooke thee in vnto vs? or naked, and clothed thee? <sup>39</sup>Or when sawe we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee? <sup>40</sup>And the King shall answeere, and say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethre, ye haue done it to me. <sup>41</sup>Then shall he say vnto them on ye left hand, Depart from me ye cursed, into euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels. <sup>42</sup>For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke: <sup>43</sup>I was a stranger, and ye tooke me not in vnto you: I was naked, and ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not. <sup>44</sup>Then shall they also answeere him, saying, Lord, when sawe we thee an hungred, or a thirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee? <sup>45</sup>Then shall he answeere them, and say, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me. <sup>46</sup>And these shall goe into euerlasting paine, and the righteous into life eternall.

26And it came to passe, when Iesus had finished all these sayings, he saide vnto his disciples, <sup>2</sup>Ye know that after two dayes is ye Passeouer, and the Sonne of man shalbe deliuered to be crucified. <sup>3</sup>Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of ye people into the hall of the high Priest called Caiaphas: <sup>4</sup>And consulted together that they might take Iesus by subtiltie, and kill him. <sup>5</sup>But they sayd, Not on the feast day, least any vprorre be among the people. <sup>6</sup>And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, <sup>7</sup>There came vnto him a woman, which had a boxe of very costly oyntment, and powred it on his head, as he sate at the table. <sup>8</sup>And when his disciples sawe it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this waste? <sup>9</sup>For this oyntment might haue bene solde for much, and bene giuen to the poore. <sup>10</sup>And Iesus knowing it, sayde vnto them, Why trouble yee the woman? for shee hath wrought a good worke vpon me. <sup>11</sup>For yee haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall yee not haue alwaies. <sup>12</sup>For in that shee

powred this oyntment on my bodie, shee did it to burie me. <sup>13</sup>Verely I say vnto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shall bee preached throughout all the worlde, there shall also this that shee hath done, be spoken of for a memoriall of her. <sup>14</sup>Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priestes, <sup>15</sup>And said, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appoynted vnto him thirtie pecies of siluer. <sup>16</sup>And from that time, he sought opportunitie to betraie him. <sup>17</sup>Nowe on the first day of the feast of vnleauened bread the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Passeouer? <sup>18</sup>And he said, Goe yee into the citie to such a man, and say to him, The master saieth, My time is at hande: I will keepe the Passeouer at thine house with my disciples. <sup>19</sup>And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made readie the Passeouer. <sup>20</sup>So when the Euen was come, hee sate downe with the twelue. <sup>21</sup>And as they did eate, he sayde, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betraie me. <sup>22</sup>And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master? <sup>23</sup>And hee answered and sayde, Hee that dippeth his hande with me in the dish, hee shall betraie me. <sup>24</sup>Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if hee had neuer bene borne. <sup>25</sup>Then Iudas which betraied him, answered and sayde, Is it I, Master? He sayde vnto him, Thou hast sayd it. <sup>26</sup>And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had blessed, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and sayd, Take, eate: this is my bodie. <sup>27</sup>Also he tooke the cuppe, and when he had giuen thanks, he gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye all of it. <sup>28</sup>For this is my blood of the Newe Testament, that is shedde for many, for the remission of sinnes. <sup>29</sup>I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine vntil that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdome. <sup>30</sup>And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Oliues. <sup>31</sup>Then saide Iesus vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I wil smite the shepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shalbe scattered. <sup>32</sup>But after I am risen againe, I will go before you into Galile. <sup>33</sup>But Peter aunswered, and sayde vnto him, Though that al men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended. <sup>34</sup>Iesus sayde vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise. <sup>35</sup>Peter saide vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case denie thee. Likewise also sayd all the disciples. <sup>36</sup>Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe, and pray yonder. <sup>37</sup>And hee tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorowfull, and grievously troubled. <sup>38</sup>Then sayde Iesus vnto them, My soule is very heaueie, euen vnto the death: tarie yee here, and watch with me. <sup>39</sup>So hee went a litle further, and fell on his face, and praied, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup passe from me: neuerthesse, not as I will, but as thou wilt. <sup>40</sup>After, hee came vnto the disciples, and founde them a sleepe, and sayde to Peter, What? coulde yee not watch with me one houre? <sup>41</sup>Watch, and praie, that yee enter not into tentation: the spirit in deede is readie, but the flesh is weake. <sup>42</sup>Againe he went away the second time, and praied, saying, O my Father, if this cuppe can not passe away from mee, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done. <sup>43</sup>And he came, and founde them a sleepe againe, for their eyes were heauie. <sup>44</sup>So he left them and went away againe, and praied the third time, saying the same woordes. <sup>45</sup>Then came he to his disciples, and said vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners. <sup>46</sup>Rise, let vs goe: beholde, hee is at hande that betraieith me. <sup>47</sup>And while hee yet spake, loe Iudas, one of the twelue, came, and with him a great multitude with swordes and stauces, from the high Priests and Elders of the people. <sup>48</sup>Now he that betraied him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomesoeuer I shall kisse, that is he, laie holde on him. <sup>49</sup>And forthwith he came to Iesus, and sayd, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him. <sup>50</sup>Then Iesus sayde vnto him, Friende, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laide hands on Iesus, and tooke him. <sup>51</sup>And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drewe his sworde, and strooke a seruaunt of the high Priest, and smote off his eare. <sup>52</sup>Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sworde into his place: for all that take the sworde, shall perish with the sworde. <sup>53</sup>Either thinkest thou, that I can not now pray to my Father, and he will giue me moe then twelue legions of Angels? <sup>54</sup>Howe then shoulde the Scriptures bee fulfilled, which say, that it must be so? <sup>55</sup>The same houre sayde Iesus to the multitude, Ye be come out as it were against a thiefe, with swordes and stauces to take mee: I sate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and yee tooke me not. <sup>56</sup>But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled. <sup>57</sup>And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled. <sup>58</sup>And Peter followed him a farre off vnto the hie Priestes hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the ende. <sup>59</sup>Nowe the chiefe Priestes and the Elders, and all the whole councill sought false witsnesse against Iesus, to put him to death. <sup>60</sup>But they founde none, and though many false witnesses came, yet founde they none: but at the last came two false witnesses, <sup>61</sup>And saide, This man saide, I can destroie the Temple of God, and build it in three daies. <sup>62</sup>Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayde to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witsnesse against thee? <sup>63</sup>But Iesus helde his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and saide to him, I charge thee swaere vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, If thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no. <sup>64</sup>Iesus saide to him, Thou hast saide it: neuerthesse I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man, sitting at the right hande of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen. <sup>65</sup>Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, Hee hath blasphemed, what haue wee any more neede of witnesses? beholde: nowe yee haue heard his blasphemie. <sup>66</sup>What thinke yee? They answered, and said, He is guiltie of death. <sup>67</sup>Then spet they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with roddes, <sup>68</sup>Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee? <sup>69</sup>Peter sate without in the hall, and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile: <sup>70</sup>But hee denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou saiest. <sup>71</sup>And when hee went out into the porche, another maide sawe him, and sayde vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth. <sup>72</sup>And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I knowe not the man. <sup>73</sup>So after a while, came vnto him they that stode by, and sayde vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speache bewraieith thee. <sup>74</sup>Then began hee to curse himselfe, and to swaere, saying, I knowe not the man. And immediately the cocke crewe. <sup>75</sup>Then Peter remembred the wordes of Iesus, which had sayde vnto him, Before the cocke crowe thou shalt denie me thrise. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

27When the morning was come, all the chiefe Priests, and the elders of the people tooke counsell against Iesus, to put him to death, <sup>2</sup>And led him away bounde, and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the gouernour. <sup>3</sup>Then when Iudas which betraied him, sawe that hee was condemned, hee repented himselfe, and brought againe the thirtie pieces of siluer to the chiefe Priestes, and Elders, <sup>4</sup>Saying, I haue sinned, betraying the innocent blood. But they sayde, What is that to vs? see thou to it. <sup>5</sup>And when hee had cast downe the siluer pieces in the Temple, hee departed, and went, and hanged himselfe. <sup>6</sup>And the chiefe Priestes tooke the siluer pieces, and sayde, It is not lawfull for vs to put them into the treasure, because it is the price of blood. <sup>7</sup>And they tooke counsell, and bought with them a potters felde, for the buriall of strangers. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore that field is called, The field of blood, vntill this day. <sup>9</sup>(Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Ieremias the Prophet, saying, And they tooke thirtie siluer pieces, ye price of him that was valued, whom they of ye children of Israel valued. <sup>10</sup>And they gaue them for the potters felde, as the Lord appointed me.) <sup>11</sup>And Iesus stood before ye gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou that King of the Iewes? Iesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it. <sup>12</sup>And when he was accused of the chiefe Priestes, and Elders, he answered nothing. <sup>13</sup>Then saide Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not howe many things they lay against thee? <sup>14</sup>But he answered him not to one worde, in so much that the gouernour marueiled greatly. <sup>15</sup>Nowe at the feast, the gouernour was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner whom they would. <sup>16</sup>And they had then a notable prisoner, called Barabbas. <sup>17</sup>When they were then gathered together, Pilate said vnto the, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ? <sup>18</sup>(For he knewe well, that for enuie they had deliuered him. <sup>19</sup>Also when he was set downe vpon the iudgement seate, his wife sent to him, saying, Haue thou nothing to do with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.) <sup>20</sup>But the chiefe Priestes and the Elders had persuaded the people that they shoulde aske Barabbas, and should destroy Iesus. <sup>21</sup>Then the gouernour answered, and said vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they said, Barabbas. <sup>22</sup>Pilate said vnto them, What shall I do then with Iesus, which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified. <sup>23</sup>Then saide the gouernour, But what euill hath he done? Then they cryed the more, saying, Let him be crucified. <sup>24</sup>When Pilate saw that he auailed nothing, but that more tumult was made, he tooke water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man: looke you to it. <sup>25</sup>Then answered all the people, and saide, His bloud be on vs, and on our children. <sup>26</sup>Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, and deliuered him to be crucified. <sup>27</sup>Then the souldiers of the gouernour tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band, <sup>28</sup>And they stripped him, and put about him a skarlet robe, <sup>29</sup>And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reede in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee King of the Iewes, <sup>30</sup>And spitted vpon him, and tooke a reede, and smote him on the head. <sup>31</sup>Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him. <sup>32</sup>And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse. <sup>33</sup>And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens skulles) <sup>34</sup>They gaue him vineger to drinke, mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke. <sup>35</sup>And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lottes, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, They deuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lottes. <sup>36</sup>And they sate, and watched him there. <sup>37</sup>They set vp also ouer his head his cause written, THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEVVES. <sup>38</sup>And there were two theeues crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left. <sup>39</sup>And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heades, <sup>40</sup>And saying, Thou that destroyest ye Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: if thou be ye Sonne of God, come downe from ye crosse. <sup>41</sup>Likewise also the hie Priests mocking him, with the Scribes, and Elders, and Pharises, said, <sup>42</sup>He saued others, but he cannot saue him selfe: if he be ye King of Israel, let him now come downe from ye crosse, and we will beleue in him. <sup>43</sup>He trusted in God, let him deliuer him nowe, if he will haue him: for he saide, I am the Sonne of God. <sup>44</sup>The selfe same thing also ye theeues which were crucified with him, cast in his teeth. <sup>45</sup>Now from ye sixt houre was there darkenesse ouer all the land, vnto the ninth houre. <sup>46</sup>And about ye ninth houre Iesus cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Eli, Eli, lamasabachthani? that is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? <sup>47</sup>And some of them that stoode there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth Elias. <sup>48</sup>And straightway one of them ran, and tooke a spondge, and filled it with vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke. <sup>49</sup>Other said, Let be: let vs see, if Elias wil come and saue him. <sup>50</sup>Then Iesus cryed againe with a loude voyce, and yeilded vp the ghost. <sup>51</sup>And behold, the vayle of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome, and the earth did quake, and the stones were cloue. <sup>52</sup>And the graues did open themselues, and many bodies of the Saintes, which slept, arose, <sup>53</sup>And came out of the graues after his resurrection, and went into the holy citie, and appeared vnto many. <sup>54</sup>When the Centurion, and they that were with him watching Iesus, saw the earthquake, and the thinges that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truely this was the Sonne of God. <sup>55</sup>And many women were there, beholding him a farre off, which had folowed Iesus from Galile, ministring vnto him. <sup>56</sup>Among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames, and Ioses, and the mother of Zebedeus sonnes. <sup>57</sup>And when the euen was come, there came a riche man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus disciple. <sup>58</sup>He went to Pilate, and asked ye body of Iesus. Then Pilate commanded ye body to be deliuered. <sup>59</sup>So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth, <sup>60</sup>And put it in his new tombe, which he had hewen out in a rocke, and rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, and departed. <sup>61</sup>And there was Marie Magdalene, and the other Marie sitting ouer against the sepulchre. <sup>62</sup>Nowe the next day that followed the Preparation of the Sabbath, the hie Priestes and Pharises assembled to Pilate, <sup>63</sup>And said, Syr, we remember that that deceiuer saide, while he was yet alieue, Within three dayes I will rise. <sup>64</sup>Command therefore, that the sepulchre be made sure vntill the third day, lest his disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, He is risen from the dead: so shall the last error be worse then the first. <sup>65</sup>Then Pilate saide vnto them, Ye haue a watch: goe, and make it sure as ye knowe. <sup>66</sup>And they went, and made the sepulchre sure with the watch, and sealed the stone.

<sup>28</sup>Now in the end of the Sabbath, when the first day of ye weeke began to dawne, Marie Magdalene, and the other Marie came to see the sepulchre, <sup>2</sup>And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sate vpon it. <sup>3</sup>And his countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snowe. <sup>4</sup>And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men. <sup>5</sup>But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified: <sup>6</sup>He is not here, for he is risen; as he saide: come, see the place where the Lord was laid, <sup>7</sup>And go quickly, and tel his disciples that he is risen from ye dead: and behold, he goeth before you into Galile: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you. <sup>8</sup>So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great ioye, and did runne to bring his disciples worde. <sup>9</sup>And as they wet to tel his disciples, behold, Iesus also met the, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him. <sup>10</sup>Then said Iesus vnto them, Be not afraide. Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see me. <sup>11</sup>Nowe when they were gone, beholde, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the hie Priestes all ye things that were done. <sup>12</sup>And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers, <sup>13</sup>Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept. <sup>14</sup>And if this matter come before the gouernour to be heard, we will perswade him, and so vse the matter that you shall not neede to care. <sup>15</sup>So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is noysed among the Iewes vnto this day. <sup>16</sup>Then ye eleuen disciples wet into Galile, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed the. <sup>17</sup>And when they sawe him, they worshipped him: but some doubted. <sup>18</sup>And Iesus came, and spake vnto them, saying, All power is giuen vnto me, in heauen, and in earth. <sup>19</sup>Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost, <sup>20</sup>Teaching them to obserue all things, whatsoever I haue commanded you: and lo, I am with you alway, vntill the ende of the worlde, Amen.

1The beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God: <sup>2</sup>As it is written in the Prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. <sup>3</sup>The voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness is, Prepare the way of the Lord: make his paths straight. <sup>4</sup>Iohn did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptisme of amendment of life, for remission of sinnes. <sup>5</sup>And al ye countrey of Iudea, and they of Hierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the riuier Iordan, confessing their sinnes. <sup>6</sup>Nowe Iohn was clothed with camels heare, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate Locusts and wilde hony, <sup>7</sup>And preached, saying, A stronger then I commeth after me, whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnloose. <sup>8</sup>Trueth it is, I haue baptized you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost. <sup>9</sup>And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazareth, a citie of Galile, and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan. <sup>10</sup>And assoone as he was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heauens clouen in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue. <sup>11</sup>Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued Sonne, in whome I am well pleased. <sup>12</sup>And immediatly the Spirite driueth him into the wilderness. <sup>13</sup>And he was there in the wilderness fourtie daies, and was tempted of Satan: hee was also with the wilde bestes, and the Angels ministred vnto him. <sup>14</sup>Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God, <sup>15</sup>And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleue the Gospel. <sup>16</sup>And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saw Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea, (for they were fishers.) <sup>17</sup>Then Iesus said vnto them, Folow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men. <sup>18</sup>And straightway they forsooke their nets, and folowed him. <sup>19</sup>And when hee had gone a litle further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets. <sup>20</sup>And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him. <sup>21</sup>So they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught. <sup>22</sup>And they were astonied at his doctrine, for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes. <sup>23</sup>And there was in their Synagogue a man in whome was an vnclane spirite, and hee cried out, <sup>24</sup>Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I knowe thee what thou art, euen that holy one of God. <sup>25</sup>And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Holde thy peace, and come out of him. <sup>26</sup>And the vnclane spirit tare him, and cried with a loude voyce, and came out of him. <sup>27</sup>And they were all amased, so that they demaunded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what newe doctrine is this? for he commandeth euen the foule spirites with authoritie, and they obey him. <sup>28</sup>And immediatly his fame spred abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile. <sup>29</sup>And asoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Symon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn. <sup>30</sup>And Symons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her. <sup>31</sup>And he came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and shee ministred vnto them. <sup>32</sup>And whe euen was come, at what time the sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils. <sup>33</sup>And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore. <sup>34</sup>And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many deuils, and suffred not the deuils to say that they knewe him. <sup>35</sup>And in the morning very early before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitarie place, and there praied. <sup>36</sup>And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him. <sup>37</sup>And when they had found him, they sayde vnto him, All men seeke for thee. <sup>38</sup>Then he said vnto them, Let vs go into the next townes, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose. <sup>39</sup>And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out. <sup>40</sup>And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe vnto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane. <sup>41</sup>And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I wil: be thou cleane. <sup>42</sup>And assone as he had spoken, immediatly ye leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane. <sup>43</sup>And after he had giue him a streight commandement, he sent him away forthwith, <sup>44</sup>And sayde vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shewe thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy clensing those things, which Moses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them. <sup>45</sup>But when he was departed, hee began to tel many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the citie, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

2After a fewe dayes, hee entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noysed that he was in the house. <sup>2</sup>And anon, many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receiue any more and he preached the word vnto them. <sup>3</sup>And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsie, borne of foure men. <sup>4</sup>And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered ye roofe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein the sicke of the palsie lay. <sup>5</sup>Nowe when Iesus sawe their faith, he saide to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, thy sinnes are forgiuen thee. <sup>6</sup>And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts, <sup>7</sup>Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely? <sup>8</sup>And immediatly when Iesus perceiued in his spirite, that thus they reasoned with themselues, he sayde vnto them, Why reason yee these things in your hearts? <sup>9</sup>Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsie, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee? or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke? <sup>10</sup>But that ye may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (he sayde vnto the sicke of the palsie.) <sup>11</sup>I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, and get thee hence into thine owne house. <sup>12</sup>And by and by he arose, and tooke vp his bed, and went forth before them all, in so much that they were all amased, and glorified God, saying, We neuer sawe such a thing. <sup>13</sup>Then he went forth againe towarde the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them. <sup>14</sup>And as Iesus passed by, hee sawe Leui the sonne of Alpheus sit at the receit of custome, and said vnto him, Folowe me. And he arose and followed him. <sup>15</sup>And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sate at table also with Iesus, and his disciples: for there were many that followed him. <sup>16</sup>And when the Scribes and Pharises sawe him eate with the Publicanes and sinners, they sayd vnto his disciples, Howe is it, that hee eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners? <sup>17</sup>Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayde vnto them, The whole haue no neede of the Physicion, but the sicke. I came not to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance. <sup>18</sup>And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharises did fast, and came and saide vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn, and of the Pharises fast, and thy disciples fast not? <sup>19</sup>And Iesus saide vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them, they cannot fast. <sup>20</sup>But the daies will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast in those daies. <sup>21</sup>Also no man soweth a piece of newe cloth in an olde garment: for els the newe piece that filled it vp, taketh away somewhat from the olde, and the breach is worse. <sup>22</sup>Likewise, no man putteth newe wine into old vessels: for els the new wine breaketh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but newe wine must be put into new vessels. <sup>23</sup>And it came to passe as hee went through the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of corne. <sup>24</sup>And the Pharises saide vnto him, Beholde, why doe they on the Sabbath day, that which is not lawfull? <sup>25</sup>And he saide to them, Haue yee neuer read what Dauid did when he had neede, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him? <sup>26</sup>Howe he went into the house of God, in the daies of Abiathar the hie Priest, and did eat the shewe bread, which were not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests, and gaue also to them which were with him? <sup>27</sup>And hee sayde to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. <sup>28</sup>Wherefore the Sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

3And he entred againe into ye Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered had. <sup>2</sup>And they watched him, whether he would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him. <sup>3</sup>Then he saide vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand forth in the middes. <sup>4</sup>And he saide to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deede on the Sabbath day, or to doe euil? to saue the life, or to kill? But they held their peace. <sup>5</sup>Then hee looked rounde about on them angerly, mourning also for the hardnesse of their hearts, and saide to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hande was restored, as whole as the other. <sup>6</sup>And the Pharises departed, and straightway gathered a councill with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him. <sup>7</sup>But Iesus auoided with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galile, and from Iudea, <sup>8</sup>And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and beyonde Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sidon, when they had heard what great things he did, came vnto him in great number. <sup>9</sup>And he commanded his disciples, that a litle shippe should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they shoulde throng him. <sup>10</sup>For hee had healed many, in so much that they preassed vpon him to touch him, as many as had plagues. <sup>11</sup>And when the vnclane spirits sawe him, they fel downe before him, and cried, saying, Thou art the Sonne of God. <sup>12</sup>And he sharply rebuked them, to the ende they should not vtter him. <sup>13</sup>Then hee went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whome he woulde, and they came vnto him. <sup>14</sup>And hee appoynted twelue that they should be with him, and that he might send them to preache, <sup>15</sup>And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils. <sup>16</sup>And the first was Simon, and hee named Simon, Peter, <sup>17</sup>Then Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn Iames brother (and surnamed them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder,) <sup>18</sup>And Andrew, and Philippe, and Bartlemew, and Mattheue, and Thomas, and Iames, the sonne of Alpheus, and Thaddeus, and Simon the Cananite, <sup>19</sup>And Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him, and they came home. <sup>20</sup>And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread. <sup>21</sup>And when his kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to laie hold on him: for they sayde that he was beside himselfe. <sup>22</sup>And the Scribes which came downe from Hierusalem, saide, He hath Beelzebub, and through the prince of the deuils he casteth out deuils. <sup>23</sup>But he called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan driue out Satan? <sup>24</sup>For if a kingdome bee deuided against it selfe, that kingdome can not stand. <sup>25</sup>Or if a house bee deuided against it selfe, that house can not continue. <sup>26</sup>So if Satan make insurrection against himselfe, and be deuided, hee can not endure but is at an ende. <sup>27</sup>No man can enter into a strong mans house, and take away his goods, except hee first binde that strong man, and then spoyle his house. <sup>28</sup>Verely I say vnto you, all sinnes shalbe forgien vnto the children of men, and blasphemies, wherewith they blaspheme: <sup>29</sup>But hee that blasphemeth against the holy Ghost, shall neuer haue forgienesse, but is culpable of eternall damnation. <sup>30</sup>Because they saide, Hee had an vnclane spirit. <sup>31</sup>Then came his brethren and mother, and stooode without, and sent vnto him, and called him. <sup>32</sup>And the people sate about him, and they said vnto him, Beholde, thy mother, and thy brethren seeke for thee without. <sup>33</sup>But hee answered them, saying, Who is my mother and my brethren? <sup>34</sup>And hee looked rounde about on them, which sate in compasse about him, and saide, Beholde my mother and my brethren. <sup>35</sup>For whosoouer doeth the will of God, he is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

<sup>4</sup>And hee began againe to teache by the sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that hee entered into a shippe, and sate in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land. <sup>2</sup>And he taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine, <sup>3</sup>Hearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sowe. <sup>4</sup>And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the foules of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp. <sup>5</sup>And some fell on stonie grounde, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth. <sup>6</sup>But assoone as ye Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not roote, it withered away. <sup>7</sup>And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grewe vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruite. <sup>8</sup>Some againe fell in good grounde, and did yeelde fruite that sprong vp, and grewe, and it brought forth, some thirtie folde, some sixtie folde, and some an hundreth folde. <sup>9</sup>Then he said

vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare. <sup>10</sup>And whe he was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of ye parable. <sup>11</sup>And he saide vnto them, To you it is giuen to knowe the mysterie of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all thinges bee done in parables, <sup>12</sup>That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should be forgien them. <sup>13</sup>Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? howe then should ye vnderstand all other parables? <sup>14</sup>The sower soweth the worde. <sup>15</sup>And these are they that receiue the seede by the wayes side, in whome the worde is sowed: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediatly, and taketh away the worde that was sowed in their heartes. <sup>16</sup>And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they, which whe they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse. <sup>17</sup>Yet haue they no roote in themselues, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the worde, immediatly they be offended. <sup>18</sup>Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word: <sup>19</sup>But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulnes of riches, and the lustes of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull. <sup>20</sup>But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the worde, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite: one corne thirtie, another sixtie, and some an hundreth. <sup>21</sup>Also he saide vnto them, Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke? <sup>22</sup>For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light. <sup>23</sup>If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare. <sup>24</sup>And he said vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen. <sup>25</sup>For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath. <sup>26</sup>Also he said, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede in the ground, <sup>27</sup>And shoulde sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and growe vp, he not knowing howe. <sup>28</sup>For the earth bringeth forth fruite of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares. <sup>29</sup>And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon hee putteth in the sickle, because the haruest is come. <sup>30</sup>He saide moreouer, Whereunto shall wee liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it? <sup>31</sup>It is like a graine of mustarde seede, which when it is sowed in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth: <sup>32</sup>But after that it is sowed, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may builde vnder the shadow of it. <sup>33</sup>And with many such parables he preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it. <sup>34</sup>And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them: but he expounded

all thinges to his disciples apart. <sup>35</sup>Nowe the same day when euen was come, he saide vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side. <sup>36</sup>And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little shippes. <sup>37</sup>And there arose a great storme of winde, and the waues dashed into the shippe, so that it was now full. <sup>38</sup>And he was in the sterne asleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and saide to him, Master, carest thou not that we perish? <sup>39</sup>And hee rose vp, and rebuked the winde, and saide vnto the sea, Peace, and be still. So the winde ceased, and it was a great calme. <sup>40</sup>Then he saide vnto them, Why are ye so fearefull? how is it that ye haue no faith? <sup>41</sup>And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, Who is this, that both the winde and sea obey him?

5And they came ouer to the other side of the sea into the cuntry of the Gadarens. <sup>2</sup>And when he was come out of the shippe, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man which had an vnclane spirit: <sup>3</sup>Who had his abiding among the graues, and no man could binde him, no not with chaines: <sup>4</sup>Because that when hee was often bounde with fetters and chaines, he plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in pieces, neither could any man tame him. <sup>5</sup>And alwayes both night and day he cryed in the mountaines, and in the graues, and strooke himselfe with stones. <sup>6</sup>And when he saw Iesus afarre off, he ranne, and worshipped him, <sup>7</sup>And cryed with a loude voyce, and saide, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of the most high God? I will that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not. <sup>8</sup>(For hee saide vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vnclane spirit.) <sup>9</sup>And he asked him, What is thy name? and hee answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many. <sup>10</sup>And hee prayed him instantly, that hee would not send them away out of the cuntry. <sup>11</sup>Now there was there in the mountaines a great heard of swine, feeding. <sup>12</sup>And all ye deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them. <sup>13</sup>And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue. Then the vnclane spirites went out, and entred into the swine, and the heard ranne headlong from the high banke into the sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the sea. <sup>14</sup>And the swineheards fled, and told it in the citie, and in the cuntry, and they came out to see what it was that was done. <sup>15</sup>And they came to Iesus, and sawe him that had bene possessed with the deuil, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraide. <sup>16</sup>And they that saw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuil, and concerning the swine. <sup>17</sup>Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coastes. <sup>18</sup>And when he was come into the shippe, he that had bene possessed with the deuil, prayed him that he might be with him. <sup>19</sup>Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friendes, and shewe them what great thinges the Lord hath done vnto thee, and howe hee hath had compassion on thee. <sup>20</sup>So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great thinges Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile. <sup>21</sup>And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and he was neere vnto the sea. <sup>22</sup>And beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when he sawe him, he fell downe at his feete, <sup>23</sup>And besought him instantly, saying, My litle daughter lyeth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed, and liue. <sup>24</sup>Then hee went with him, and a great multitude folowed him, and thronged him. <sup>25</sup>(And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, <sup>26</sup>And had suffred many thinges of many physicions, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse. <sup>27</sup>When she had heard of Iesus, shee came in the preasse behinde, and touched his garment. <sup>28</sup>For she said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shalbe whole. <sup>29</sup>And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plague. <sup>30</sup>And immediatly when Iesus did knowe in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the preasse, and said, Who hath touched my clothes? <sup>31</sup>And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touche me? <sup>32</sup>And he looked round about, to see her that had done that. <sup>33</sup>And the woman feared and trembled: for she knewe what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole trueth. <sup>34</sup>And hee saide to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.) <sup>35</sup>While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the Master any further? <sup>36</sup>Assoone as Iesus heard that word spoken, he said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraide: onely beleeeue. <sup>37</sup>And he suffered no man to follow him saue Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames. <sup>38</sup>So hee came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and sawe the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly. <sup>39</sup>And he went in, and said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the childe is not dead, but sleepeth. <sup>40</sup>And they laught him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the childe, and them that were with him, and entred in where the childe lay, <sup>41</sup>And tooke the childe by the hand, and saide vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Mayden, I say vnto thee, arise. <sup>42</sup>And straightway the mayden arose, and walked: for shee was of the age of twelue yeeres, and they were astonied out of measure. <sup>43</sup>And he charged them straitly that no man should knowe of it, and com-

6And he departed thence, and came into his owne cuntry, and his disciples followed him. <sup>2</sup>And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him, were astonied, and sayd, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this that is giuen vnto him, that euen such great workes are done by his hands? <sup>3</sup>Is not this that carpenter Maries sonne, the brother of Iames and Ioses, and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his sisters here with vs? And they were offended in him. <sup>4</sup>Then Iesus sayd vnto them, A Prophet is not without honour, but in his owne cuntry, and among his owne kindred, and in his own house. <sup>5</sup>And he could there doe no great workes, saue that hee layd his hands vpon a fewe sicke folke, and healed them, <sup>6</sup>And he marueiled at their vnbeliefe, and went about by ye townes on euery side, teaching. <sup>7</sup>And he called vnto him the twelue, and began to send them forth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vnclane spirits, <sup>8</sup>And commanded them that they should take nothing for their iourney, saue a staffe onely: neither scrip, neither bread, neither money in their girdles: <sup>9</sup>But that they should be shod with sandals, and that they should not put on two coates. <sup>10</sup>And he sayd vnto them, Wheresoeuer ye shall enter into an house, there abide till ye depart thence. <sup>11</sup>And whosoeuer shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, shake off the dust that is vnder your feete, for a witnes vnto them. Verely I say vnto you, It shalbe easier for Sodom, or Gomorrha at the day of iudgement, then for that citie. <sup>12</sup>And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues. <sup>13</sup>And they cast out many deuils: and they anointed many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them. <sup>14</sup>Then King Herod heard of him (for his name was made manifest) and sayd, Iohn Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great workes are wrought by him. <sup>15</sup>Other sayd, It is Elias, and some sayd, It is a Prophet, or as one of those Prophets. <sup>16</sup>So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead. <sup>17</sup>For Herod him selfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philippes wife, because he had married her. <sup>18</sup>For Iohn sayd vnto Herod, It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife. <sup>19</sup>Therefore Herodias layd waite against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not: <sup>20</sup>For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly. <sup>21</sup>But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birth day made a banquet to his princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galile: <sup>22</sup>And the daughter of the same Herodias came in, and daunced, and pleased Herod, and them that sate at table together, the King sayd vnto the mayde, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee. <sup>23</sup>And he sware

vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdome. <sup>24</sup>So she went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head. <sup>25</sup>Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the King, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest giue me euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist. <sup>26</sup>Then the King was very sorry: yet for his othes sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her. <sup>27</sup>And immediatly the King sent the hangman, and gaue charge that his head shoulde be brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison, <sup>28</sup>And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother. <sup>29</sup>And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe. <sup>30</sup>And the Apostles gathered themselves together to Iesus, and tolde him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught. <sup>31</sup>And he sayd vnto them, Come ye apart into the wildernes, and rest a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had not leasure to eate. <sup>32</sup>So they went by ship out of the way into a desart place. <sup>33</sup>But the people sawe them when they departed, and many knewe him, and ran a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him. <sup>34</sup>Then Iesus went out, and sawe a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepheard: and he began to teach them many things. <sup>35</sup>And when the day was nowe farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desart place, and nowe the day is farre passed. <sup>36</sup>Let them depart, that they may goe into the cuntry and townes about, and buy them bread: for they haue nothing to eate. <sup>37</sup>But he answered, and said vnto them, Giue yee them to eate. And they said vnto him, Shall we goe, and buy two hundreth peny worth of bread, and giue them to eate? <sup>38</sup>Then he sayde vnto them, Howe many loaves haue ye? goe and looke. And when they knewe it, they sayd, Fiue, and two fishes. <sup>39</sup>So he commanded them to make them all sit downe by companies vpon the greene grasse. <sup>40</sup>Then they sate downe by rowes, by hundreds, and by fifties. <sup>41</sup>And he tooke the fiue loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and gaue thanks, and brake the loaves, and gaue them to his disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he deuided among them all. <sup>42</sup>So they did all eate, and were satisfied. <sup>43</sup>And they tooke vp twelue baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes. <sup>44</sup>And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men. <sup>45</sup>And straightway he caused his disciples to goe into the ship, and to goe before vnto the other side vnto Bethsaida, while he sent away the people. <sup>46</sup>Then asoone as he had sent them away, he departed into a mountaine to pray. <sup>47</sup>And when euen was come, the ship was in the mids of the sea, and he alone on the land. <sup>48</sup>And he saw them troubled in rowing, (for the winde was contrary vnto them) and about the fourth watch of the night, hee came vnto them, walking vpon the sea, and would haue passed by them. <sup>49</sup>And when they saw him walking vpon the sea, they supposed it had bene a spirit, and cried out. <sup>50</sup>For they all saw him, and were sore afrayd: but anon he talked with them, and said vnto them, Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afrayd. <sup>51</sup>Then he went vp vnto them into the ship, and the winde ceased, and they were much more amased in them selues, and marueiled. <sup>52</sup>For they had not considered the matter of the loaves, because their hearts were hardened. <sup>53</sup>And they came ouer, and went into the land of Gennesaret, and arriued. <sup>54</sup>So when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knewe him, <sup>55</sup>And ran about throughout all that region round about, and began to cary hither and thither in couches all that were sicke, where they heard that he was. <sup>56</sup>And whithersoouer he entred into townes, or cities, or villages, they laide their sicke in the streetes, and prayed him that they might touch at the least the edge of his garment. And as many as touched him, were made whole.

7Then gathered vnto him the Pharises, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Hierusalem. <sup>2</sup>And when they sawe some of his disciples eate meate with common hands, (that is to say, vnwashen) they complained. <sup>3</sup>(For the Pharises, and all the Iewes, except they wash their hands oft, eate not, holding the tradition of the Elders. <sup>4</sup>And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brasen vessels, and of beds.) <sup>5</sup>Then asked him the Pharises and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meate with vnwashen hands? <sup>6</sup>Then hee answered and sayd vnto them, Surely Esay hath prophecied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lippes, but their heart is farre away from me. <sup>7</sup>But they worship me in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men. <sup>8</sup>For ye lay the commandement of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe. <sup>9</sup>And he sayd vnto them, Well, ye reiect the commandement of God, that ye may obserue your owne tradition. <sup>10</sup>For Moses sayd, Honour thy father and thy mother: and Whosoever shall speake euill of father or mother, let him die the death. <sup>11</sup>But yee say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by mee, thou mayest haue profite, hee shall be free. <sup>12</sup>So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father, or his mother, <sup>13</sup>Making the worde of God of none authoritie, by your tradition which ye haue ordeined: and ye doe many such like things. <sup>14</sup>Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and sayd vnto them, Harken you all vnto me, and vnderstand. <sup>15</sup>There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entred into him: but the things which procede out of him, are they which defile the man. <sup>16</sup>If any haue eares to heare, let him heare. <sup>17</sup>And when hee came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable. <sup>18</sup>And he sayde vnto them, What? are ye without vnderstanding also? Doe ye not knowe that whatsoeuer thing from without entred into a man, cannot defile him, <sup>19</sup>Because it entred not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the purging of all meates? <sup>20</sup>Then he sayd, That which commeth out of man, that defileth man. <sup>21</sup>For from within, euen out of the heart of men, procede euill thoughtes, adulteries, fornications, murthers, <sup>22</sup>Theftes, couetousnes, wickednes, deceite, vncleannes, a wicked eye, backbiting, pride, foolishnesse. <sup>23</sup>All these euill things come from within, and defile a man. <sup>24</sup>And from thence he rose, and went into the borders of Tyrus and Sidon, and entred into an house, and woulde that no man should haue knowen: but he could not be hid. <sup>25</sup>For a certaine woman, whose litle daughter had an vncleane spirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his feete, <sup>26</sup>(And the woman was a Greeke, a Syrophenissian by nation) and she besought him that he would cast out the deuill out of her daughter. <sup>27</sup>But Iesus saide vnto her, Let the children first be fedde: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelpes. <sup>28</sup>Then shee answered, and saide vnto him, Trueth, Lord: yet in dede the whelpes eate vnder the table of the childrens crommes. <sup>29</sup>Then he said vnto her, For this saying goe thy way: the deuil is gone out of thy daughter. <sup>30</sup>And when shee was come home to her house, shee founde the deuill departed, and her daughter lying on the bed. <sup>31</sup>And hee departed againe from the coastes of Tyrus and Sidon, and came vnto the sea of Galile, through the middes of the coastes of Decapolis. <sup>32</sup>And they brought vnto him one that was deafe and stambered in his speache, and prayed him to put his hand vpon him. <sup>33</sup>Then hee tooke him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers in his eares, and did spit, and touched his tongue. <sup>34</sup>And looking vp to heauen, hee sighed, and said vnto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. <sup>35</sup>And straightway his eares were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and hee spake plaine. <sup>36</sup>And he commanded them, that they should tell no man: but howe much soeuer hee forbad them, the more a great deale they published it, <sup>37</sup>And were beyonde measure astonied, saying, Hee hath done all things well: he maketh both the deafe to heare, and the domme to speake.

8In those dayes, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples to him, and said vnto them, <sup>2</sup>I haue compassion on the multitude, because they haue nowe continued with mee three dayes, and haue nothing to eate. <sup>3</sup>And if I sende them away fasting to their owne houses, they woulde faint by the way: for some of them came from farre. <sup>4</sup>Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satisfie these with bread

here in the wildernes? <sup>5</sup>And hee asked them, Howe many loaves haue ye? And they said, Seuen. <sup>6</sup>Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the gronde: and hee tooke the seuen loaves, and gaue thankes, brake them, and gaue to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people. <sup>7</sup>They had also a few small fishes: and when he had giuen thankes, he commanded them also to be set before them. <sup>8</sup>So they did eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen baskets full. <sup>9</sup>(And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand) so he sent them away. <sup>10</sup>And anon he entred into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha. <sup>11</sup>And the Pharises came foorth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him. <sup>12</sup>Then hee sighed deeply in his spirit, and saide, Why doeth this generation seeke a signe? Verely I say vnto you, a signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation. <sup>13</sup>So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side. <sup>14</sup>And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the shippe with them, but one loafe. <sup>15</sup>And he charged them, saying, Take heede, and beware of the leauen of the Pharises, and of the leauen of Herod. <sup>16</sup>And they reasoned among themselues, saying, It is, because we haue no bread. <sup>17</sup>And when Iesus knew it, he said vnto them, Why reason you thus, because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstande? haue ye your hearts yet hardened? <sup>18</sup>Haue yee eyes, and see not? and haue yee eares, and heare not? and doe ye not remember? <sup>19</sup>When I brake the fiue loaves among fiue thousand, how many baskets full of broken meate tooke ye vp? They said vnto him, Twelue. <sup>20</sup>And when I brake seuen among foure thousande, howe many baskets of the leauings of broken meate tooke ye vp? And they said, Seuen. <sup>21</sup>Then he saide vnto them, Howe is it that ye vnderstand not? <sup>22</sup>And hee came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him. <sup>23</sup>Then he tooke the blinde by the hand, and ledde him out of the towne, and spat in his eyes, and put his handes vpon him, and asked him, if he sawe ought. <sup>24</sup>And he looked vp, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees. <sup>25</sup>After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And hee was restored to his sight, and sawe euery man a farre off clearly. <sup>26</sup>And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne. <sup>27</sup>And Iesus went out, and his disciples into the townes of Cesarea Philippi. And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whome doe men say that I am? <sup>28</sup>And they answered, Some say, Iohn Baptist: and some, Elias: and some, one of the Prophets. <sup>29</sup>And he said vnto them, But whome say ye that I am? Then Peter answered, and saide vnto him, Thou art that Christ. <sup>30</sup>And he sharply charged them, that concerning him they should tell no man. <sup>31</sup>Then hee began to teache them that the Sonne of man must suffer many things, and should be reprobued of the Elders, and of the hie Priestes, and of the Scribes, and be slaine, and within three dayes rise againe. <sup>32</sup>And he spake that thing boldly. Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him. <sup>33</sup>Then he turned backe, and looked on his disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying, Get thee behinde me, Satan: for thou vnderstandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men. <sup>34</sup>And hee called the people vnto him with his disciples, and saide vnto them, Whosoever will follow me, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow me. <sup>35</sup>For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the Gospels, he shall saue it. <sup>36</sup>For what shall it profite a man, though he should winne the whole world, if he lose his soule? <sup>37</sup>Or what exchange shall a man giue for his soule? <sup>38</sup>For whosoever shall be ashamed of mee, and of my wordes among this adulterous and sinfull generation, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed also, when he commeth in the glorie of his Father with the holy Angels.

9And he saide vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stande here, which shall not taste of death till they haue seene the kingdome of God come with power. <sup>2</sup>And sixe dayes after, Iesus taketh vnto him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and carieth them vp into an hie mountaine out of the way alone, and his shape was changed before them. <sup>3</sup>And his rayment did shine, and was very white, as snowe, so white as no fuller can make vpon the earth. <sup>4</sup>And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus. <sup>5</sup>Then Peter answered, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. <sup>6</sup>Yet hee knewe not what he saide: for they were afraide. <sup>7</sup>And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voyce came out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne: heare him. <sup>8</sup>And suddenly they looked roud about, and sawe no more any man saue Iesus only with them. <sup>9</sup>And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them, that they should tell no man what they had seene, saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe. <sup>10</sup>So they kept that matter to themselues, and demaunded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane? <sup>11</sup>Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that Elias must first come? <sup>12</sup>And he answered, and said vnto them, Elias verely shall first come, and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, hee must suffer many things, and be set at nought. <sup>13</sup>But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoever they would) as it is written of him. <sup>14</sup>And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them. <sup>15</sup>And straightway all the people, when they behelde him, were amased, and ranne to him, and saluted him. <sup>16</sup>Then hee asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues? <sup>17</sup>And one of the companie answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dumme spirit: <sup>18</sup>And whosoever he taketh him, he teareth him, and he fometh, and gnasheth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not. <sup>19</sup>Then he answered him, and said, O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you! how long now shall I suffer you! Bring him vnto me. <sup>20</sup>So they brought him vnto him: and assoone as the spirit sawe him, hee tare him, and hee fell downe on the ground walowing and foming. <sup>21</sup>Then he asked his father, How long time is it since he hath bin thus? And he said, Of a childe. <sup>22</sup>And oft times he casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs. <sup>23</sup>And Iesus said vnto him, If thou canst beleuee it, al things are possible to him that beleueeth. <sup>24</sup>And straightway the father of the childe crying with teares, saide, Lord, I beleuee: helpe my vn-beliefe. <sup>25</sup>When Iesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the vn-cleane spirit, saying vnto him, Thou domme and deafe spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him. <sup>26</sup>Then the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out, and he was as one dead, in so much that many said, He is dead. <sup>27</sup>But Iesus tooke his hande, and lift him vp, and he arose. <sup>28</sup>And when hee was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out? <sup>29</sup>And he saide vnto them, This kinde can by no other meanes come foorth, but by prayer and fasting. <sup>30</sup>And they departed thence, and went together through Galile, and hee would not that any should haue knowen it. <sup>31</sup>For he taught his disciples, and saide vnto them, The Sonne of man shall be deliuered into the handes of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the third day. <sup>32</sup>But they vnderstode not that saying, and were afraide to aske him. <sup>33</sup>After, he came to Capernaum: and when he was in the house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among you by the way? <sup>34</sup>And they helde their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselues, who should bee the chiefest. <sup>35</sup>And he sate downe, and called the twelue, and said to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and seruant vnto all. <sup>36</sup>And he tooke a litle childe, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and sayd vnto them, <sup>37</sup>Whosoever shall receiue one of such litle children in my Name, receiueth me: and whosoever receiueth mee, receiueth not me, but him that sent me. <sup>38</sup>Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, we sawe one casting out deuils by thy Name, which followeth not vs, and we forbade him, because he followeth vs not. <sup>39</sup>But Iesus sayd, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake euill of me. <sup>40</sup>For whosoever is not against vs, is on our part. <sup>41</sup>And whosoever shall giue you a cup of water to drinke for my Names sake, because ye belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you, he shall not lose his rewarde. <sup>42</sup>And whosoever shall offend one of these litle ones, that beleuee in me, it were better for him rather, that a milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea. <sup>43</sup>Wherefore, if thine hand cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life, maimed, then hauing two hands, to goe into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched, <sup>44</sup>Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out. <sup>45</sup>Likewise, if thy foote cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to go halt into life, then hauing two feete, to be cast into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched, <sup>46</sup>Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out. <sup>47</sup>And if thine eye cause thee to offende, plucke it out: it is better for thee to goe into the kingdome of God with one eye, then hauing two eyes, to be cast into hell fire, <sup>48</sup>Where their worme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out. <sup>49</sup>For euery man shall be salted with fire: and euery sacrifice shall be salted with salt. <sup>50</sup>Salt is good: but if the salt be vnsauerie, wherewith shall it be seasoned? haue salt in your selues, and haue peace one with another.

10And he arose from thence, and went into the coastes of Iudea by the farre side of Iordan, and the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe. <sup>2</sup>Then the Pharises came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him. <sup>3</sup>And he answered, and sayde vnto them, What did Moses commaund you? <sup>4</sup>And they sayd, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away. <sup>5</sup>Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart he wrote this precept vnto you. <sup>6</sup>But at the beginning of the creation God made them male and female: <sup>7</sup>For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife. <sup>8</sup>And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh. <sup>9</sup>Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate. <sup>10</sup>And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter. <sup>11</sup>And he sayd vnto them, Whosoever shall put away his wife and marrie another, committeth adulterie against her. <sup>12</sup>And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adulterie. <sup>13</sup>Then they brought litle children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them. <sup>14</sup>But when Iesus sawe it, he was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God. <sup>15</sup>Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a litle childe, he shall not enter therein. <sup>16</sup>And he tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them. <sup>17</sup>And when hee was gone out on the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternall life? <sup>18</sup>Iesus sayde to him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God. <sup>19</sup>Thou knowest the comandements, Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witnesse. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother. <sup>20</sup>Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued from my youth. <sup>21</sup>And Iesus looked vpon him, and loued him, and sayde vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Go and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow me, and take vp the crosse. <sup>22</sup>But hee was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions. <sup>23</sup>And Iesus looked round about, and sayd vnto his disciples, Howe hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God! <sup>24</sup>And his disciples were afraide at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and sayd vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God! <sup>25</sup>It is easier for a camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a riche man to enter into the kingdome of God. <sup>26</sup>And they were much more astonied, saying with themselues, Who then can be saued? <sup>27</sup>But Iesus looked vpon them, and sayd, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible. <sup>28</sup>Then Peter began to say vnto him, Loe, we haue forsaken all, and haue folowed thee. <sup>29</sup>Iesus answered, and sayd, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, <sup>30</sup>But he shall receiue an hundred folde, now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternall life. <sup>31</sup>But many that are first, shall be last, and the last, first. <sup>32</sup>And they were in the way going vp to Hierusalem, and Iesus went before them and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraide, and Iesus tooke the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him, <sup>33</sup>Saying, Beholde, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles. <sup>34</sup>And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe. <sup>35</sup>Then Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldest doe for vs that we desire. <sup>36</sup>And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you? <sup>37</sup>And they said to him, Graunt vnto vs, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory. <sup>38</sup>But Iesus sayd vnto them, Ye knowe not what ye aske. Can ye drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with? <sup>39</sup>And they said vnto him, We can. But Iesus sayd vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deede of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shalbe baptized: <sup>40</sup>But to sit at my right hand, and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shalbe giuen to them for whome it is prepared. <sup>41</sup>And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaine at Iames and Iohn. <sup>42</sup>But Iesus called them vnto him, and sayd to them, Ye know that they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them. <sup>43</sup>But it shall not be so among you: but whosoouer will be great among you, shall be your seruant. <sup>44</sup>And whosoouer will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all. <sup>45</sup>For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the raunsome of many. <sup>46</sup>Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man, sate by the wayes side, begging. <sup>47</sup>And when hee heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to crye, and to say, Iesus the Sonne of Daud, haue mercy on me. <sup>48</sup>And many rebuked him, because he should holde his peace: but hee cryed much more, O Sonne of Daud, haue mercy on me. <sup>49</sup>Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blind, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee. <sup>50</sup>So he threwe away his cloke, and rose, and came to Iesus. <sup>51</sup>And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde sayd vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight. <sup>52</sup>Then Iesus sayde vnto him, Goe thy way: thy fayth hath saued thee. And by and by, he receiued his sight, and folowed Iesus in the way.

11And when they came neere to Hierusalem, to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Oliues, he sent forth two of his disciples, <sup>2</sup>And sayd vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you, and assoone as ye shall enter into it, ye shall finde a colte tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him. <sup>3</sup>And if any man say vnto you, Why doe ye this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him hither. <sup>4</sup>And they went their way, and found a colt tyed by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him. <sup>5</sup>Then certaine of them, that stooode there, sayd vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colt? <sup>6</sup>And they sayde vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them: So they let them goe. <sup>7</sup>And they brought the colte to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him. <sup>8</sup>And many spred their garments in the way: other cut downe branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way. <sup>9</sup>And they that went before, and they that folowed, cryed, saying, Hosanna: blessed be hee that commeth in the Name of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Blessed be the kingdome that commeth in the Name of the Lord of our father Daud: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens. <sup>11</sup>So Iesus entred into Hierusalem, and into the Temple: and when he had looked about on all things, and now it was euening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelue. <sup>12</sup>And on the morowe when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry. <sup>13</sup>And seeing a fig tree afarre off, that had leaues, he went to see if he might finde any thing thereon: but when he came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet. <sup>14</sup>Then Iesus answered, and sayd to it, Neuer man eate fruite of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it. <sup>15</sup>And they came to Hierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrewe the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that solde doues. <sup>16</sup>Neither would hee suffer that any man should cary a vessell through the Temple. <sup>17</sup>And he taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, Mine house shalbe called the house of prayer vnto all nations? but you haue made it a denne of theeues. <sup>18</sup>And the Scribes and hie Priestes heard it, and sought howe to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonied at his doctrine. <sup>19</sup>But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the citie. <sup>20</sup>And in the morning as they iourneyed together, they saw the figge tree dried vp from the rootes. <sup>21</sup>Then Peter remembred, and said vnto him, Master, beholde, the figge tree which thou cursedst, is withered. <sup>22</sup>And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Haue the faith of God. <sup>23</sup>For verely I say vnto you, that whosoeuer shall say vnto this mountaine, Be thou taken away, and cast into the sea, and shall not wauer in his heart, but shall beleue that those things which he saieth, shall come to passe, whatsoever he saieth, shall be done to him. <sup>24</sup>Therefore I say vnto you, Whatsoever ye desire when ye pray, beleue that ye shall haue it, and it shalbe done vnto you. <sup>25</sup>But when ye shall stand, and pray, forgiue, if ye haue any thing against any man, that your Father also which is in heauen, may forgiue you your trespasses. <sup>26</sup>For if you will not forgiue, your Father which is in heauen, will not pardon you your trespasses. <sup>27</sup>Then they came againe to Hierusalem: and as he walked in the Temple, there came to him ye hie Priestes, and the Scribes, and the Elders, <sup>28</sup>And said vnto him, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldest doe these things? <sup>29</sup>Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, I will also aske of you a certaine thing, and answere ye me, and I will tell you by what authoritie I do these things. <sup>30</sup>The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men? answere me. <sup>31</sup>And they thought with themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then did ye not beleue him? <sup>32</sup>But if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn, that he was a Prophet in deede. <sup>33</sup>Then they answered, and saide vnto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

<sup>12</sup>And he began to speake vnto them in parables, A certaine man planted a vineyard, and copassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and built a tower in it, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange cuntry. <sup>2</sup>And at the time, he sent to the husbandmen a seruant, that he might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruite of the vineyard. <sup>3</sup>But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away emptie. <sup>4</sup>And againe he sent vnto them another seruant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled. <sup>5</sup>And againe he sent another, and him they slew, and many other, beating some, and killing some. <sup>6</sup>Yet had he one sonne, his deare beloued: him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne. <sup>7</sup>But ye husbandmen said among themselues, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shalbe ours. <sup>8</sup>So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard. <sup>9</sup>What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others. <sup>10</sup>Haue ye not read so much as this Scripture? The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner. <sup>11</sup>This was done of the Lord, and it is marueilous in our eyes. <sup>12</sup>Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceiued that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way. <sup>13</sup>And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharises, and of ye Herodians that they might take him in his talke. <sup>14</sup>And when they came, they saide vnto him, Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly, Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not? <sup>15</sup>Should we giue it, or should we not giue it? but he knew their hypocrisie, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a peny, that I may see it. <sup>16</sup>So they brought it, and he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they said vnto him, Cesars. <sup>17</sup>Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Giue to Cesar the things that are Cesars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marueiled at him. <sup>18</sup>Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying, <sup>19</sup>Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and rayse vp seede vnto his brother. <sup>20</sup>There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue. <sup>21</sup>Then the seconde tooke her, and he died, neither did he yet leaue issue, and the third likewise: <sup>22</sup>So those seuen had her, and left no yssue: last of all the wife died also. <sup>23</sup>In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall she be of them? for seuen had her to wife. <sup>24</sup>Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Are ye not therefore deceiued, because ye knowe not the Scriptures, neither the power of God? <sup>25</sup>For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marry, nor wiues are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen. <sup>26</sup>And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, howe in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob? <sup>27</sup>God is not ye God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deceiued. <sup>28</sup>Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiuing that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandement of all? <sup>29</sup>Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandements is, Heare, Israel, The Lord our God is the onely Lord. <sup>30</sup>Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy minde, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandement. <sup>31</sup>And the second is like, that is, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandement greater then these. <sup>32</sup>Then that Scribe said vnto him, Well, Master, thou hast saide the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he, <sup>33</sup>And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all whole burnt offerings and sacrifices. <sup>34</sup>Then when Iesus saw that he answered discretely, he saide vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question. <sup>35</sup>And Iesus answered and said teaching in the Temple, Howe say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of Dauid? <sup>36</sup>For Dauid himselfe said by ye holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footestoole. <sup>37</sup>Then Dauid himselfe calleth him Lord: by what meanes is he then his sonne? and much people heard him gladly. <sup>38</sup>Moreouer he saide vnto them in his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which loue to goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, <sup>39</sup>And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the first rouses at feastes, <sup>40</sup>Which deuoure widowes houses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers. These shall receiue the greater damnation. <sup>41</sup>And as Iesus sate ouer against the treasure, he beheld how the people cast money into the treasure, and many rich men cast in much. <sup>42</sup>And there came a certaine poore widowe, and she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin. <sup>43</sup>Then he called vnto him his disciples, and said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that this poore widowe hath cast more in, then all they which haue cast into the treasure. <sup>44</sup>For they all did cast in of their superfluitie: but she of her pouertie did cast in all that she had, euen all her liuing.

be thrown downe. <sup>3</sup>And as he sate on the mount of Oliues, ouer against the Temple, Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew asked him secretly, <sup>4</sup>Tell vs, when shall these things be? and what shalbe the signe when all these things shalbe fulfilled? <sup>5</sup>And Iesus answered them, and began to say, Take heede lest any man deceiue you. <sup>6</sup>For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many. <sup>7</sup>Furthermore when ye shall heare, of warres, and rumours of warres, be ye not troubled: for such things must needes be: but the end shall not be yet. <sup>8</sup>For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, and there shalbe earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shalbe famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes. <sup>9</sup>But take ye heede to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shalbe beaten, and brought before rulers and Kings for my sake, for a testimoniall vnto them. <sup>10</sup>And the Gospel must first be published among all nations. <sup>11</sup>But when they leade you, and deliuer you vp, be not carefull before hand, neither studie what ye shall say: but what is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not ye that speake, but the holy Ghost. <sup>12</sup>Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die. <sup>13</sup>And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but whosoever shall endure vnto the end, he shalbe saued. <sup>14</sup>Moreouer, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) set where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) then let them that be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines, <sup>15</sup>And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house. <sup>16</sup>And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe to take his garment. <sup>17</sup>Then wo shalbe to the that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes. <sup>18</sup>Pray therefore that your flight be not in the winter. <sup>19</sup>For those dayes shalbe such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of ye creation which God created vnto this time, neither shalbe. <sup>20</sup>And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh shoulde be saued: but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes. <sup>21</sup>Then if any man say to you, Loe, here is Christ, or, lo, he is there, beleue it not. <sup>22</sup>For false Christes shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shewe signes and wonders, to deceiue if it were possible the very elect. <sup>23</sup>But take ye heede: beholde, I haue shewed you all things before. <sup>24</sup>Moreouer in those dayes, after that tribulation, the sunne shall waxe darke, and ye moone shall not giue her light, <sup>25</sup>And the starres of heauen shall fall: and the powers which are in heauen, shall shake. <sup>26</sup>And then shall they see the Sonne of man comming in ye cloudes, with great power and glory. <sup>27</sup>And he shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the vtmost part of the earth to the vt-

most part of heauen. <sup>28</sup>Nowe learne a parable of the figge tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth fourth leaues, ye knowe that sommer is neere. <sup>29</sup>So in like maner, when ye see these things come to passe, knowe that the kingdom of God is neere, euen at the doores. <sup>30</sup>Verely I say vnto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done. <sup>31</sup>Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my woordes shall not passe away. <sup>32</sup>But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, but the Father. <sup>33</sup>Take heede: watch, and praie: for yee knowe not when the time is. <sup>34</sup>For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, and leaueth his house, and giueth authoritie to his seruants, and to euery man his woorke, and commandeth the porter to watch. <sup>35</sup>Watch ye therefore, (for ye know not whe ye master of the house will come, at eue, or at midnight, at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning,) <sup>36</sup>Least if he come suddenly, he should finde you sleeping. <sup>37</sup>And those things that I say vnto you, I say vnto all men, Watch.

14And two daies after followed the feast of the Passeouer, and of vnleauened bread: and the hie Priests, and Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death. <sup>2</sup>But they sayde, Not in the feast day, least there be any tumult among the people. <sup>3</sup>And when hee was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he sate at table, there came a woman hauing a boxe of oyntment of spikenarde, very costly, and shee brake the boxe, and powred it on his head. <sup>4</sup>Therefore some disdained among themselues, and sayde, To what ende is this waste of oyntment? <sup>5</sup>For it might haue bene sold for more then three hundred pence, and bene giuen vnto the poore, and they murmured against her. <sup>6</sup>But Iesus saide, Let her alone: why trouble yee her? shee hath wrought a good worke on me. <sup>7</sup>For yee haue the poore with you alwaies, and when yee will yee may doe them good, but me yee shall not haue alwaies. <sup>8</sup>She hath done that she coulede: she came afore hand to anoynt my body to the burying. <sup>9</sup>Verely I say vnto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shalbe spoken of in remembrance of her. <sup>10</sup>Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went away vnto the hie Priestes, to betray him vnto them. <sup>11</sup>And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they woulde giue him monie: therefore he sought howe he might conueniently betraie him. <sup>12</sup>Nowe the first day of vnleauened bread, when they sacrificed the Passeouer, his disciples sayde vnto him, Where wilt thou that we goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Passeouer? <sup>13</sup>Then hee sent fourth two of his disciples, and sayde vnto them, Goe yee into the citie, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him. <sup>14</sup>And whithersoever he goeth in, say yee to the good man of the house, The Master sayeth, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Passeouer with my disciples? <sup>15</sup>And he wil shewe you an vpper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it readie for vs. <sup>16</sup>So his disciples went fourth, and came to the citie, and found as he had said vnto them, and made readie the Passeouer. <sup>17</sup>And at euen he came with the twelue. <sup>18</sup>And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus said, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me. <sup>19</sup>Then they began to be sorowful and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I? <sup>20</sup>And he answered and sayde vnto them, It is one of the twelue that dippeth with mee in the platter. <sup>21</sup>Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe bee to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had benee good for that man, if hee had neuer benee borne. <sup>22</sup>And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue it to them, and sayde, Take, eate, this is my bodie. <sup>23</sup>Also he tooke the cuppe, and when he had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it. <sup>24</sup>And he saide vnto them, This is my blood of that newe Testament, which is shed for many. <sup>25</sup>Verely I say vnto you, I wil drinke no more of the fruit of ye vine vntill that day, that I drinke it newe in the kingdome of God. <sup>26</sup>And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Oliues. <sup>27</sup>Then Iesus said vnto them, Al ye shall be offended by mee this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered. <sup>28</sup>But after that I am risen, I will goe into Galile before you. <sup>29</sup>And Peter saide vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I. <sup>30</sup>Then Iesus saide vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cocke crowe twice, thou shalt denie me thrise. <sup>31</sup>But he saide more earnestly. If I shoulde die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also saide they all. <sup>32</sup>After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then hee saide to his disciples, Sit yee here, till I haue praied. <sup>33</sup>And hee tooke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and hee began to be troubled, and in great heauinesse, <sup>34</sup>And saide vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie here, and watch. <sup>35</sup>So he went forward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, and praied, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him. <sup>36</sup>And he saide, Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: neuertheles not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done. <sup>37</sup>Then hee came, and founde them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watche one houre? <sup>38</sup>Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirite in deede is ready, but the flesh is weake. <sup>39</sup>And againe hee went away, and praied, and spake the same wordes. <sup>40</sup>And he returned, and founde them a sleepe againe: for their eyes were heauie: neither knewe they what they should answer him. <sup>41</sup>And he came the third time, and said vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is ynough: the houre is come: beholde, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners. <sup>42</sup>Rise vp: let vs go: loe, he that betraieþ me, is at hand. <sup>43</sup>And immediatly while hee yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swordes and stauers from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders. <sup>44</sup>And he that betraied him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, he it is: take him and leade him away safely. <sup>45</sup>And assoone as hee was come, hee went straightway to him, and saide, Haile Master, and kissed him. <sup>46</sup>Then they laide their handes on him, and tooke him. <sup>47</sup>And one of them that stode by, drewe out a sword, and smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and cut off his eare. <sup>48</sup>And Iesus answered and saide to them, Ye be come out as against a thiefe with swordes, and with stauers, to take me. <sup>49</sup>I was daily with you teaching in the Temple, and yee tooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled. <sup>50</sup>Then they all forsooke him, and fled. <sup>51</sup>And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in linnen vpon his bare bodie, and the yong men caught him. <sup>52</sup>But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked. <sup>53</sup>So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came together all the hie Priestes, and the Elders, and the Scribes. <sup>54</sup>And Peter folowed him afarre off, euen into the hall of the hie Priest, and sate with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire. <sup>55</sup>And the hie Priestes, and all the Councill sought for witnessse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none. <sup>56</sup>For many bare false witnessse against him, but their witnessse agreed not together. <sup>57</sup>Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnessse against him, saying, <sup>58</sup>We hearde him say, I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three daies I will builde another, made without hands. <sup>59</sup>But their witnessse yet agreed not together. <sup>60</sup>Then the hie Priest stode vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witnessse against thee? <sup>61</sup>But hee helde his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and sayde vnto him, Art thou that Christ the Sonne of the Blessed? <sup>62</sup>And Iesus said, I am he, and yee shall see the Sonne of man sitte at the right hande of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heauen. <sup>63</sup>Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and sayd, What haue we any more neede of witnesses? <sup>64</sup>Ye haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke yee? And they all condemned him to be worthie of death. <sup>65</sup>And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fists, and to say vnto him, Prophetie. And the sergeants smote him with their rodde. <sup>66</sup>And as Peter was beneath in the hal, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest. <sup>67</sup>And when shee sawe Peter warming him selfe, shee looked on him, and sayde, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth. <sup>68</sup>But he denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wot I what thou saiest. Then he went out into the porche, and the cocke crewe. <sup>69</sup>Then a maid sawe him againe, and bega to say to them that stood by, This is one of them. <sup>70</sup>But hee denied it againe: and anon after, they that stode by, sayde againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speach is like. <sup>71</sup>And he began to curse, and sweare, saying, I knowe not this man of whom ye speake. <sup>72</sup>Then the seconde time the cocke crewe, and Peter remembred the woorde that Iesus had saide vnto him, Before the cocke crewe twice, thou shalt denie me thrise, and waying that with himselfe, he wept.

15And anon in the dawning, the hie Priestes helde a Councill with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole Council, and bound Iesus, and led him away, and deliuered him to Pilate. <sup>2</sup>Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And hee answered, and sayde vnto him, Thou sayest it. <sup>3</sup>And the hie Priestes accused him of many things. <sup>4</sup>Wherefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? beholde howe many things they witnessse against thee. <sup>5</sup>But Iesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marueiled. <sup>6</sup>Nowe at the feast, Pilate did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomesoeuer they woulde desire. <sup>7</sup>Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bounde with his fellowes, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder. <sup>8</sup>And the people cried aloud, and began to desire that he woulde doe as he had euer done vnto them. <sup>9</sup>Then Pilate answered them, and said, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of ye Iewes? <sup>10</sup>For he knewe that the hie Priestes had deliuered him of enuie. <sup>11</sup>But the high Priestes had moued the people to desire that he would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them. <sup>12</sup>And Pilate answered, and said againe vnto them, What will ye then that I doe with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes? <sup>13</sup>And they cried againe, Crucifie him. <sup>14</sup>Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euill hath he done? And they cryed the more feruently, Crucifie him. <sup>15</sup>So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and deliuered Iesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified. <sup>16</sup>Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band, <sup>17</sup>And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, <sup>18</sup>And began to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes. <sup>19</sup>And they smote him on the head with a reede, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reuerence. <sup>20</sup>And whe they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him. <sup>21</sup>And they compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse. <sup>22</sup>And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulles. <sup>23</sup>And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrrhe: but he receiued it not. <sup>24</sup>And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what euery man should haue. <sup>25</sup>And it was the third houre, when they crucified him. <sup>26</sup>And ye title of his cause was written aboue, THAT KING OF THE JEWES. <sup>27</sup>They crucified also with him two theeues, the one on ye right hand, and the other on his left. <sup>28</sup>Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which sayth, And he was counted among the wicked. <sup>29</sup>And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Hey, thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, <sup>30</sup>Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse. <sup>31</sup>Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking, said among themselues with the Scribes, He saued other men, himselfe he cannot saue. <sup>32</sup>Let Christ the King of Israel nowe come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleue. They also that were crucified with him, reuled him. <sup>33</sup>Nowe when the sixt houre was come, darkenesse arose ouer all the land vntill the ninth houre. <sup>34</sup>And at the ninth houre Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lamma-sabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? <sup>35</sup>And some of them that stode by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elias. <sup>36</sup>And one ranne, and filled a spondge full of vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come, and take him downe. <sup>37</sup>And Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, and gaue vp the ghost. <sup>38</sup>And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the toppe to the bottome. <sup>39</sup>Nowe when the Centurion, which stode ouer against him, sawe that he thus crying gaue vp the ghost, he saide, Truly this man was the Sonne of God. <sup>40</sup>There were also women, which beheld afarre off, among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie (the mother of Iames the lesse, and of Ioses) and Salome, <sup>41</sup>Which also when he was in Galile, folowed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem. <sup>42</sup>And nowe when the night was come (because it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath) <sup>43</sup>Ioseph of Arimathea, an honorable counsellour, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus. <sup>44</sup>And Pilate marueiled, if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had bene any while dead. <sup>45</sup>And when he knewe the trueth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Ioseph: <sup>46</sup>Who bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and laide him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre: <sup>47</sup>And Marie Magdalene, and Marie Ioses mother, behelde where he should be layed.

16And when the Sabbath day was past, Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames, and Salome, bought sweete oyntments, that they might come, and anoynt him. <sup>2</sup>Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the sepulchre, when the Sunne was nowe risen. <sup>3</sup>And they saide one to another, Who shall rolle vs away the stone from the doore of the sepulchre? <sup>4</sup>And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one) <sup>5</sup>So they went into the sepulchre, and saw a yong man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were sore troubled. <sup>6</sup>But he said vnto them, Be not so troubled: ye seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him. <sup>7</sup>But goe your way, and tell his disciples, and Peter, that he will goe before you into Galile: there shall ye see him, as he said vnto you. <sup>8</sup>And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amased: neither said they any thing to any man: for they were afraide. <sup>9</sup>And when Iesus was risen againe, early the first day of the weeke, he appeared first to Marie Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seuen deuils: <sup>10</sup>And shee went and tolde them that had bene with him, which mourned and wept. <sup>11</sup>And when they heard that he was aliuie, and had appeared to her, they beleued it not. <sup>12</sup>After that, he appeared vnto two of them in an other forme, as they walked and went into the countrey. <sup>13</sup>And they went, and told it to the remnant, neither beleued they them. <sup>14</sup>Finally, he appeared vnto the eleuen as they sate together, and reproched them for their vnbeliefe and hardnesse of heart, because they beleued not them which had seene him, being risen vp againe. <sup>15</sup>And he saide vnto them, Goe ye into all the worlde, and preach the Gospel to euery creature. <sup>16</sup>He that shall beleue and be baptized, shalbe saued: but he that will not beleue, shalbe damned. <sup>17</sup>And these tokens shall folowe them that beleue, In my Name they shall cast out deuils, and shall speake with newe tongues, <sup>18</sup>And shall take away serpents, and if they shall drinke any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them: they shall lay their handes on the sicke, and they shall recouer. <sup>19</sup>So after ye Lord had spoken vnto them, he was receiued into heauen, and sate at the right hand of God. <sup>20</sup>And they went forth, and preached euery where. And the Lord wrought with them, and confirmed the worde with signes that folowed. Amen.

Luke

1Forasmuch as many haue taken in hand to set forth the storie of those things, whereof we are fully persuaded, 2As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning saw them their selues, and were ministers of ye word, 3It seemed good also to me (most noble Theophilus) assoone as I had searched out perfectly all things from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point, 4That thou mightest acknowledge the certaintie of those things, whereof thou hast bene instructed. 5In the time of Herod King of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet. 6Both were iust before God, and walked in all the commandements and ordinances of the Lord, without reproofe. 7And they had no childe, because that Elisabet was barren: and both were well stricken in age. 8And it came to passe, as he executed the Priestes office before God, as his course came in order, 9According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the Temple of the Lord. 10And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, while the incense was burning. 11Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense. 12And when Zacharias sawe him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him. 13But the Angel saide vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wise Elisabet shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn. 14And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnes, and many shall reioyce at his birth. 15For he shalbe great in the sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor strong drinke: and he shalbe filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe. 16And many of the children of Israel shall he turne to their Lord God. 17For he shall goe before him in the spirite and power of Elias, to turne the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord. 18Then Zacharias said vnto ye Angel, Whereby shall I knowe this? for I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age. 19And the Angell answered, and sayde vnto him, I am Gabriel that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings. 20And beholde, thou shalt be domme, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things be done, because thou beleuedst not my words, which shalbe fulfilled in their season. 21Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that he taried so long in the Temple. 22And when hee came out, hee coulde not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: For he made signes vnto them, and remained domme. 23And it came to passe, when the daies of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house. 24And after those daies, his wife Elisabet conceiued, and hid her selfe fiue moneths, saying, 25Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the daies wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men. 26And in the sixth moneth, the Angell Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, 27To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Daud, and the virgins name was Marie. 28And the Angel went in vnto her, and said, Haile thou that art freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women. 29And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what maner of salutation that should be. 30Then the Angel saide vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast found fauour with God. 31For loe, thou shalt conceiue in thy wobe, and beare a sonne, and shalt call his name Iesus. 32He shall be great, and shall be called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Daud. 33And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall bee none ende. 34Then sayde Marie vnto the Angel, How shall this be, seeing I knowe not man? 35And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershad-owe thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall bee borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God. 36And behold, thy cousin Elisabet, she hath also conceiued a sonne in her olde age: and this is her sixt moneth, which was called barren. 37For with God shall nothing be vnpossible. 38Then Marie said, Behold the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto me according to thy woorde. So the Angel departed from her. 39And Marie arose in those daies, and went into ye hil countrey with hast to a citie of Iuda, 40And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet. 41And it came to passe, as Elisabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe sprang in her bellie, and Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost. <sup>42</sup>And she cried with a loud voice, and saide, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed. <sup>43</sup>And whence cometh this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? <sup>44</sup>For loe, assoone as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my bellie for ioye, <sup>45</sup>And blessed is shee that beleueed: for those things shall be perfourmed, which were tolde her from the Lord. <sup>46</sup>Then Marie sayde, My soule magnifieth the Lord, <sup>47</sup>And my spirite reioyceth in God my Sauour. <sup>48</sup>For hee hath looked on the poore degree of his seruaunt: for beholde, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed, <sup>49</sup>Because hee that is mightie, hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name. <sup>50</sup>And his mercie is from generation to generation on them that feare him. <sup>51</sup>Hee hath shewed strength with his arme: hee hath scattered the proude in the imagination of their hearts. <sup>52</sup>Hee hath put downe the mighty from their seates, and exalted them of lowe degree. <sup>53</sup>Hee hath filled the hungrie with good things, and sent away the rich emptie. <sup>54</sup>Hee hath vpholden Israel his seruaunt to be mindefull of his mercie <sup>55</sup>(As hee hath spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and his seede) for euer. <sup>56</sup>And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after, shee returned to her owne house. <sup>57</sup>Nowe Elisabets time was fulfilled, that shee should be deliuered, and shee brought forth a sonne. <sup>58</sup>And her neighbours, and cousins heard tell howe the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they reioyced with her. <sup>59</sup>And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father. <sup>60</sup>But his mother answered, and saide, Not so, but he shalbe called Iohn. <sup>61</sup>And they saide vnto her, There is none of thy kindred, that is named with this name. <sup>62</sup>Then they made signes to his father, howe he would haue him called. <sup>63</sup>So hee asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marueiled all. <sup>64</sup>And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, and he spake and praised God. <sup>65</sup>Then feare came on all them that dwelt neere vnto them, and all these woordes were noised abroad throughout all the hill countrey of Iudea. <sup>66</sup>And al they that heard them, laid them vp in their hearts, saying, What maner childe shall this be! and the hand of the Lord was with him. <sup>67</sup>Then his father Zacharias was filled with the holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying, <sup>68</sup>Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, because he hath visited and redeemed his people, <sup>69</sup>And hath raised vp the horne of saluation vnto vs, in the house of his seruant Daud, <sup>70</sup>As he spake by ye mouth of his holy Prophets, which were since the world began, saying, <sup>71</sup>That he would sende vs deliuerance from our enemies, and from the hands of all that hate vs, <sup>72</sup>That he might shewe mercie towards our fathers, and remember his holy couenant, <sup>73</sup>And the othe which he sware to our father Abraham. <sup>74</sup>Which was, that he would graunt vnto vs, that we being deliuered out of the handes of our enemies, should serue him without feare, <sup>75</sup>All the daies of our life, in holinesse and righteousnesse before him. <sup>76</sup>And thou, babe, shalt be called the Prophet of the most High: for thou shalt goe before the face of the Lord, to prepare his waies, <sup>77</sup>And to giue knowledge of saluation vnto his people, by the remission of their sinnes, <sup>78</sup>Through ye tender mercy of our God, wherby the day spring from an hie hath visited vs, <sup>79</sup>To giue light to them that sit in darknes, and in the shadow of death, and to guide our feete into the way of peace. <sup>80</sup>And the childe grewe, and waxed strong in spirit, and was in the wilderness, til the day came that he should shewe him selfe vnto Israel.

2And it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the world should be taxed. <sup>2</sup>(This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.) <sup>3</sup>Therefore went all to be taxed, euery man to his owne Citie. <sup>4</sup>And Ioseph also went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto the citie of Daud, which is called Beth-leem (because he was of the house and linage of Daud,) <sup>5</sup>To bee taxed with Marie that was giuen him to wife, which was with childe. <sup>6</sup>And so it was, that while they were there, the daies were accomplished that shee shoulde be deliuered, <sup>7</sup>And she brought forth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swadling clothes, and laide him in a cratch, because there was no roome for them in the ynne. <sup>8</sup>And there were in the same countrey shepherds, abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke. <sup>9</sup>And loe, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and the glorie of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraide. <sup>10</sup>Then the Angel saide vnto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shalbe to all the people, <sup>11</sup>That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Daud, a Sauour, which is Christ the Lord. <sup>12</sup>And this shalbe a signe to you, Yee shall finde the babe swaddled, and laid in a cratch. <sup>13</sup>And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of heauenly souldiers, praising God, and saying, <sup>14</sup>Glory be to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men good will. <sup>15</sup>And it came to passe whe the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepherds sayde one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and see this thing that is come to passe which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs. <sup>16</sup>So they came with haste, and founde both Marie and Ioseph, and the babe laid in the cratch. <sup>17</sup>And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing, that was tolde them of that childe. <sup>18</sup>And all that heard it, wondred at ye things which were tolde them of the shepherds. <sup>19</sup>But Mary kept all those sayings, and pondred them in her heart. <sup>20</sup>And the shepherdes returned glori-fyng and praising God, for all that they had heard and

seene as it was spoken vnto them. <sup>21</sup>And when the eight daies were accomplished, that they shoulde circumcise the childe, his name was then called Iesus, which was named of the Angell, before he was conceiued in the wombe. <sup>22</sup>And when the daies of her purification after the Lawe of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lord, <sup>23</sup>(As it is written in the Lawe of the Lord, Euery man childe that first openeth ye wombe, shalbe called holy to the Lord) <sup>24</sup>And to giue an oblation, as it is commanded in the Lawe of the Lord, a paire of turtle doues, or two yong pigeons. <sup>25</sup>And behold, there was a man in Hierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the holy Ghost was vpon him. <sup>26</sup>And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that he shoulde not see death, before he had seene that Anointed of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the parents brought in the babe Iesus, to do for him after the custome of the Lawe, <sup>28</sup>Then hee tooke him in his armes, and praised God, and sayd, <sup>29</sup>Lord, nowe letttest thou thy seruauent depart in peace, according to thy worde, <sup>30</sup>For mine eyes haue seene thy saluation, <sup>31</sup>Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people, <sup>32</sup>A light to be reueiled to the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel. <sup>33</sup>And Ioseph and his mother marueiled at those things, which were spoken touching him. <sup>34</sup>And Simeon blessed them, and saide vnto Mary his mother, Beholde, this childe is appointed for the fall and rising againe of many in Israel, and for a signe which shalbe spoken against, <sup>35</sup>(Yea and a sworde shall pearce through thy soule) that the thoughts of many heartes may be opened. <sup>36</sup>And there was a Prophetesse, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser, which was of a great age, after she had liued with an husband seuen yeeres from her virginite: <sup>37</sup>And she was widowe about foure score and foure yeeres, and went not out of the Temple, but serued God with fastings and prayers, night and day. <sup>38</sup>She then coming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem. <sup>39</sup>And when they had performed all thinges according to the lawe of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth. <sup>40</sup>And the childe grewe, and waxed strong in Spirit, and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him. <sup>41</sup>Nowe his parents went to Hierusalem euery yeere, at the feast of the Passeouer. <sup>42</sup>And when hee was twelue yeere olde, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the custome of the feast, <sup>43</sup>And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the childe Iesus remained in Hierusalem, and Ioseph knew not, nor his mother, <sup>44</sup>But they supposing, that he had bene in the company, went a dayes iourney, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance. <sup>45</sup>And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him. <sup>46</sup>And it came to passe three

dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the mids of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them questions: <sup>47</sup>And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answers. <sup>48</sup>So when they sawe him, they were amased, and his mother said vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? beholde, thy father and I haue sought thee with very heauie hearts. <sup>49</sup>Then said he vnto them, Howe is it that ye sought me? knewe ye not that I must goe about my Fathers busines? <sup>50</sup>But they vnderstode not the word that he spake to them. <sup>51</sup>Then hee went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart. <sup>52</sup>And Iesus increased in wisdom, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

3Nowe in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being gouernour of Iudea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galile, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the cuntry of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the Tetrarch of Abilene, <sup>2</sup>(When Annas and Caiaphas were the hie Priestes) the worde of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wildernes. <sup>3</sup>And hee came into all the coastes about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes, <sup>4</sup>As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which saith, The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernes is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight. <sup>5</sup>Euery valley shalbe filled, and euery mountaine and hill shall be brought lowe, and crooked things shalbe made straight, and the rough wayes shalbe made smoothe. <sup>6</sup>And all flesh shall see the saluation of God. <sup>7</sup>Then said he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come? <sup>8</sup>Bring foorth therefore fruites worthy amendment of life, and beginne not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham. <sup>9</sup>Nowe also is the axe layed vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not foorth good fruite, shalbe hewen downe, and cast into the fire. <sup>10</sup>Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we doe then? <sup>11</sup>And he answered, and said vnto them, He that hath two coates, let him part with him that hath none: and hee that hath meate, let him doe likewise. <sup>12</sup>Then came there Publicanes also to bee baptized, and saide vnto him, Master, what shall we doe? <sup>13</sup>And hee saide vnto them, Require no more then that which is appointed vnto you. <sup>14</sup>The souldiers likewise demaunded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he saide vnto them, Doe violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages. <sup>15</sup>As the people waited, and all men mused in their heartes of Iohn, if he were not that Christ, <sup>16</sup>Iohn answered, and saide to them all, In deede I baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, commeth, whose shoes

latchet I am not worthy to vnloose: hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire. <sup>17</sup>Whose fanne is in his hande, and hee will make cleane his floore, and will gather the wheate into his garner, but the chaffe will hee burne vp with fire that neuer shalbe quenched. <sup>18</sup>Thus then exhorting with many other things, he preached vnto the people. <sup>19</sup>But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philips wife, and for all the euils which Herod had done, <sup>20</sup>He added yet this about all, that he shut vp Iohn in prison. <sup>21</sup>Nowe it came to passe, as all the people were baptized, and that Iesus was baptized and did pray, that the heauen was opened: <sup>22</sup>And the holy Ghost came downe in a bodily shape like a doue, vpon him, and there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued Sonne: in thee I am well pleased. <sup>23</sup>And Iesus himselfe began to bee about thirtie yeere of age, being as men supposed the sonne of Ioseph, which was the sonne of Eli, <sup>24</sup>The sonne of Matthat, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Melchi, the sonne of Ianna, the sonne of Ioseph, <sup>25</sup>The sonne of Mattathias, the sonne of Amos, the sonne of Naum, the sonne of Esli, the sonne of Nagge, <sup>26</sup>The sonne of Maath, the sonne of Mattathias, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Iuda, <sup>27</sup>The sonne of Ioanna, the sonne of Rhesa, the sonne of Zorobabel, the sonne of Salathiel, the sonne of Neri, <sup>28</sup>The sonne of Melchi, the sonne of Addi, the sonne of Cosam, the sonne of Elmodam, the sonne of Er, <sup>29</sup>The sonne of Iose, the sonne of Eliezer, the sonne of Iorim, the sonne of Matthat, the son of Leui, <sup>30</sup>The sonne of Simeon, the sonne of Iuda, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Ionan, the sonne of Eliacim, <sup>31</sup>The sonne of Melea, the sonne of Mainan, the sonne of Mattatha, the sonne of Nathan, the sonne of Daud, <sup>32</sup>The sonne of Iesse, the sonne of Obed, the sonne of Booz, the sonne of Salmon, the sonne of Naasson, <sup>33</sup>The sonne of Aminadab, the sonne of Aram, the sonne of Esrom, the sonne of Phares, the sonne of Iuda, <sup>34</sup>The sonne of Iacob, the sonne of Isaac, the sonne of Abraham, the sonne of Thara, the sonne of Nachor, <sup>35</sup>The sonne of Saruch, the sonne of Ragau, the sonne of Phalec, the sonne of Eber, the sonne of Sala, <sup>36</sup>The sonne of Cainan, the sonne of Arphaxad, the sonne of Sem, the sonne of Noe, the sonne of Lamech, <sup>37</sup>The sonne of Mathusala, the sonne of Enoch, the sonne of Iared, the sonne of Maleleel, the sonne of Cainan, <sup>38</sup>The sonne of Enos, the sonne of Seth, the sonne of Adam, the sonne of God.

<sup>4</sup>And Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wildernes, <sup>2</sup>And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuil, and in those dayes he did eate nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry. <sup>3</sup>Then the deuil saide vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, commaund this stone that it be made bread. <sup>4</sup>But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not liue by bread only, but by

euery word of God. <sup>5</sup>Then the deuill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkeling of an eye. <sup>6</sup>And the deuill saide vnto him, All this power will I giue thee, and the glory of those kingdomes: for that is deliuered to mee: and to whomsoeuer I will, I giue it. <sup>7</sup>If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shalbe all thine. <sup>8</sup>But Iesus answered him, and saide, Hence from mee, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serue. <sup>9</sup>Then hee brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence, <sup>10</sup>For it is written, That hee will giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee: <sup>11</sup>And with their handes they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone. <sup>12</sup>And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, It is said, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. <sup>13</sup>And when the deuil had ended all the tentation, he departed from him for a litle season. <sup>14</sup>And Iesus returned by the power of the spirite into Galile: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about. <sup>15</sup>For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men. <sup>16</sup>And hee came to Nazareth where hee had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stode vp to reade. <sup>17</sup>And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had opened the booke, hee founde the place, where it was written, <sup>18</sup>The Spirit of the Lord is vpon mee, because he hath anoynted me, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: he hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recouering of sight to the blinde, that I should set at libertie them that are bruised: <sup>19</sup>And that I should preache the acceptable yeere of the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and sate downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him. <sup>21</sup>Then he began to say vnto them, This day is the Scripture fulfilled in your eares. <sup>22</sup>And all bare him witnes, and wondered at the gracious wordes, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne? <sup>23</sup>Then he said vnto them, Ye will surely say vnto mee this prouerbe, Physician, heale thy selfe: whatsoever we haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne countrey. <sup>24</sup>And he saide, Verely I say vnto you, No Prophet is accepted in his owne countrey. <sup>25</sup>But I tell you of a trueth, many widowes were in Israel in the dayes of Elias, when heauen was shut three yeres and sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land: <sup>26</sup>But vnto none of them was Elias sent, saue into Sarepta, a citie of Sidon, vnto a certaine widowe. <sup>27</sup>Also many lepers were in Israel, in the time of Eliseus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, sauing Naaman the Syrian. <sup>28</sup>Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath, <sup>29</sup>And rose vp, and thrust him out of the citie, and led him vnto the edge of the hil, whereon their citie was built, to cast him downe headlong. <sup>30</sup>But he passed through the middes of them, and went his way, <sup>31</sup>And came downe into Capernaum a citie of Galile, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes. <sup>32</sup>And they were astonied at his doctrine: for his worde was with authoritie. <sup>33</sup>And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vncleane deuill, which cryed with a loude voyce, <sup>34</sup>Saying, Oh, what haue we to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, euen the holy one of God. <sup>35</sup>And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Holde thy peace, and come out of him. Then the deuill throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all. <sup>36</sup>So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselues, saying, What thing is this: for with authoritie and power he commaundeth the foule spirits, and they come out? <sup>37</sup>And ye fame of him spred abroad throughout all the places of the countrey round about. <sup>38</sup>And he rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons house. And Simons wiues mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her. <sup>39</sup>Then he stooode ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her, and immediatly she arose, and ministred vnto them. <sup>40</sup>Now at the sunne setting, all they that had sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and he layd his hands on euery one of them, and healed them. <sup>41</sup>And deuils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knewe him to be that Christ. <sup>42</sup>And when it was day, he departed, and went fourth into a desart place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them. <sup>43</sup>But he sayd vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdome of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent. <sup>44</sup>And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

<sup>5</sup>Then it came to passe, as the people preassed vpon him to heare the word of God, that he stooode by the lake of Gennesaret, <sup>2</sup>And sawe two shippes stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nettes. <sup>3</sup>And he entred into one of the ships, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a litle from the land: and he sate downe, and taught the people out of the ship. <sup>4</sup>Now when he had left speaking, he sayd vnto Simon, Lanch out into the deepe, and let downe your nettes to make a draught. <sup>5</sup>Then Simon answered, and sayd vnto him, Master, we haue trauailed sore all night, and haue taken nothing: neuerthelesse at thy worde I will let downe the net. <sup>6</sup>And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake. <sup>7</sup>And they beckened to their parteners, which were in the other ship, that they shoulde come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sinke. <sup>8</sup>Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fel down at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinfull man. <sup>9</sup>For he was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke. <sup>10</sup>And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus sayde vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men. <sup>11</sup>And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsooke all, and followed him. <sup>12</sup>Nowe it came to passe, as he was in a certaine citie, beholde, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he sawe Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane. <sup>13</sup>So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him. <sup>14</sup>And he commanded him that hee should tell it no man: but Go, sayth he, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy clensing, as Moses hath commanded, for a witnes vnto them. <sup>15</sup>But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to be healed of him of their infirmities. <sup>16</sup>But he kept himselfe apart in the wildernes, and prayed. <sup>17</sup>And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharises and doctours of the Law sate by, which were come out of euery towne of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him to heale them. <sup>18</sup>Then beholde, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsie, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him. <sup>19</sup>And when they could not finde by what way they might bring him in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling, bed and all, in the middes before Iesus. <sup>20</sup>And when he sawe their faith, he sayd vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiuen thee. <sup>21</sup>Then the Scribes and the Pharises began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely? <sup>22</sup>But when Iesus perceiued their reasoning, he answered, and sayd vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts? <sup>23</sup>Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Rise and walke? <sup>24</sup>But that ye may know that that Sonne of man hath authoritie to forgiue sinnes in earth, (he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsie) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house. <sup>25</sup>And immediatly he rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praying God. <sup>26</sup>And they were all amased, and prayed God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doutlesse we haue seene strange things to day. <sup>27</sup>And after that, he went fourth and sawe a Publicane named Leui, sitting at the receite of custome, and sayd vnto him, Follow me. <sup>28</sup>And he left all, rose vp, and folowed him. <sup>29</sup>Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publicanes, and of other that sate at table with them. <sup>30</sup>But they that were Scribes and Pharises among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate ye and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners? <sup>31</sup>Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke. <sup>32</sup>I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. <sup>33</sup>Then they said vnto him, Why do the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharises also, but thine eate and drinke? <sup>34</sup>And he said vnto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegrome is with them? <sup>35</sup>But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shalbe taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes. <sup>36</sup>Againe he spake also vnto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a newe garment into an olde vesture: for then the newe renteth it, and the piece taken out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde. <sup>37</sup>Also no man powreth newe wine into olde vessels: for then ye new wine wil breake the vessels, and it will runne out, and the vessels will perish: <sup>38</sup>But newe wine must be powred into newe vessels: so both are preserued. <sup>39</sup>Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightway desireth newe: for he sayth, The olde is more profitable.

6And it came to passe on a second solemne Sabbath, that hee went through the corne fieldes, and his disciples plucked the eares of corne, and did eate, and rub them in their hands. <sup>2</sup>And certaine of the Pharises sayde vnto them, Why doe ye that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes? <sup>3</sup>Then Iesus answered them, and said, Haue ye not read this, that Dauid did when he himselfe was an hungred, and they which were with him, <sup>4</sup>Howe he went into the house of God, and tooke, and ate the shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests onely? <sup>5</sup>And he sayd vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day. <sup>6</sup>It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp. <sup>7</sup>And the Scribes and Pharises watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accusation against him. <sup>8</sup>But he knew their thoughts, and sayd to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand vp in the middes. And hee arose, and stode vp. <sup>9</sup>Then sayd Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to doe euill? to saue life, or to destroy? <sup>10</sup>And he behelde them all in compasse, and sayd vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other. <sup>11</sup>Then they were filled full of madnes, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus. <sup>12</sup>And it came to passe in those dayes, that he went into a mountaine to praye, and spent the night in prayer to God. <sup>13</sup>And when it was day, he called his disciples, and of them he chose twelue which also he called Apostles. <sup>14</sup>(Simon whome he named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, Iames and Iohn, Philippe and Bartlemewe: <sup>15</sup>Matthewe and Thomas: Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelous, <sup>16</sup>Iudas Iames brother, and Iudas Iscariot, which also was the traitour.) <sup>17</sup>Then he came downe with them, and stood in a plaine place, with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases: <sup>18</sup>And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed. <sup>19</sup>And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all. <sup>20</sup>And hee lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and sayd, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God. <sup>21</sup>Blessed are ye that hunger nowe: for ye shalbe satisfied: blessed are ye that weepe now: for ye shall laugh. <sup>22</sup>Blessed are ye when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euill, for the Sonne of mans sake. <sup>23</sup>Reioyce ye in that day, and be glad: for beholde, your reward is great in heauen: for after this maner their fathers did to the Prophets. <sup>24</sup>But wo be to you that are rich: for ye haue receiued your consolation. <sup>25</sup>Wo be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Wo be to you that now laugh: for ye shall wayle and weepe. <sup>26</sup>Wo be to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets. <sup>27</sup>But I say vnto you which heare, Loue your enemies: doe well to them which hate you. <sup>28</sup>Blesse them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you. <sup>29</sup>And vnto him that smiteth thee on ye one cheeke, offer also the other: and him that taketh away thy cloke, forbid not to take thy coate also. <sup>30</sup>Giue to euery man that asketh of thee: and of him that taketh away the things that be thine, aske them not againe. <sup>31</sup>And as ye would that men should doe to you, so doe ye to them likewise. <sup>32</sup>For if yee loue them which loue you, what thanke shall ye haue? for euen the sinners loue those that loue them. <sup>33</sup>And if ye do good for them which do good for you, what thanke shall ye haue? for euen the sinners doe the same. <sup>34</sup>And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receiue, what thanke shall yee haue? for euen the sinners lend to sinners, to receiue the like. <sup>35</sup>Wherefore loue ye your enemies, and doe good, and lend, looking for nothing againe, and your rewarde shalbe great, and ye shalbe the children of the most High: for he is kinde vnto the vnkinde, and to the euill. <sup>36</sup>Be ye therefore mercifull, as your Father also is mercifull. <sup>37</sup>Iudge not, and ye shall not be iudged: condemne not, and ye shall not bee condemned: forgiue, and ye shalbe forgiuen. <sup>38</sup>Giue, and it shalbe giuen vnto you: a good measure, pressed downe, shaken together and running ouer shall men giue into your bosome: for with what measure ye mete, with the same shall men mete to you againe. <sup>39</sup>And he spake a parable vnto them, Can the blinde leade the blinde? shall they not both fall into the ditche? <sup>40</sup>The disciple is not aboute his master: but whosoever will be a perfect disciple, shall bee as his master. <sup>41</sup>And why seest thou a mote in thy brothers eye, and considerest not the beame that is in thine owne eye? <sup>42</sup>Either howe canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou seest not the beame that is in thine owne eye? Hypocrite, cast out the beame out of thine owne eye first, and then shalt thou see, perfectly to pull out the mote that is in thy brothers eye. <sup>43</sup>For it is not a good tree that bringeth forth euill fruite: neither an euill tree, that bringeth forth good fruite. <sup>44</sup>For euery tree is knowen by his owne fruite: for neither of thornes gather men figges, nor of bushes gather they grapes. <sup>45</sup>A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good, and an euill man out of the euill treasure of his heart bringeth forth euill: for of the aboundance of the heart his mouth speaketh. <sup>46</sup>But why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things that I speake? <sup>47</sup>Whosoeuer commeth to mee, and heareth my wordes, and doeth the same, I will shewe you to whome he is like: <sup>48</sup>He is like a man which built an house, and digged deepe, and layde the fundation on a rocke: and when the waters arose, the flood beat vpon that house, and coulde not shake it: for it was grounded vpon a rocke. <sup>49</sup>But hee that heareth and doeth not, is like a man that built an house vpon the earth without foundation, against which the flood did beate, and it fell by and by: and the fall of that house was great.

who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widowe, and much people of the citie was with her. <sup>13</sup>And when the Lord sawe her, he had compassion on her, and said vnto her, Weepe not. <sup>14</sup>And he went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stode still) and he said, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise. <sup>15</sup>And he that was dead, sate vp, and began to speake, and he deliuered him to his mother. <sup>16</sup>Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among vs, and God hath visited his people. <sup>17</sup>And this rumour of him went forth throughout all Iudea, and throughout all the region round about. <sup>18</sup>And the disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things. <sup>19</sup>So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall we waite for another? <sup>20</sup>And when the men were come vnto him, they said, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall we waite for another? <sup>21</sup>And at that time, he cured many of their sicknesses, and plagues, and of euill spirites, and vnto many blinde men he gaue sight freely. <sup>22</sup>And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Goe your wayes and shewe Iohn, what things ye haue seene and heard: that the blinde see, the halt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospel. <sup>23</sup>And blessed is hee, that shall not be offended in me. <sup>24</sup>And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, hee began to speake vnto the people, of Iohn, What went ye out into the wildernes to see? A reede shaken with the winde? <sup>25</sup>But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft rayment? beholde, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and liue delicately, are in Kings courtes. <sup>26</sup>But what went ye fourth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet. <sup>27</sup>This is he of whom it is written, Beholde, I sende my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. <sup>28</sup>For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, hee that is the least in the kingdome of God, is greater then he. <sup>29</sup>Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes iustified God, being baptized with the baptisme of Iohn. <sup>30</sup>But the Pharises and the expounders of the Law despised the counsell of God against themselues, and were not baptized of him. <sup>31</sup>And the Lord saide, Whereunto shall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like vnto? <sup>32</sup>They are like vnto litle children sitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and saying, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced: we haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept. <sup>33</sup>For Iohn Baptist came, neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye say, He hath the deuil. <sup>34</sup>The Sonne of man is come, and eateth and drinketh: and ye say, Beholde, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and sinners: <sup>35</sup>But wisdome is iustified of all her children. <sup>36</sup>And one of the Pharises desired him that hee would eate with him: and hee went into the Pharises house, and sate downe at table. <sup>37</sup>And beholde, a woman in the citie, which was a sinner, when she knewe that Iesus sate at table in the Pharises house, shee brought a boxe of oyntment. <sup>38</sup>And shee stooode at his feete behinde him weeping, and began to wash his feete with teares, and did wipe them with the heares of her head, and kissed his feete, and anoynted them with the oyntment. <sup>39</sup>Nowe when the Pharise which bade him, saw it, he spake within himselfe, saying, If this man were a Prophet, hee woulde surely haue knowen who, and what maner of woman this is which toucheth him: for she is a sinner. <sup>40</sup>And Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on. <sup>41</sup>There was a certaine lender which had two detters: the one ought fife hundreth pence, and the other fiftie: <sup>42</sup>When they had nothing to pay, he forgaued them both: Which of them therefore, tell mee, will loue him most? <sup>43</sup>Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgaued most. And he said vnto him, Thou hast truely iudged. <sup>44</sup>Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest mee no water to my feete: but she hath washed my feete with teares, and wiped them with the heares of her head. <sup>45</sup>Thou gauest me no kisse: but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feete. <sup>46</sup>Mine head with oyle thou didest not anoint: but she hath anoynted my feete with oyntment. <sup>47</sup>Wherefore I say vnto thee, many sinnes are forgiuen her: for she loued much. To whom a litle is forgiuen, he doeth loue a litle. <sup>48</sup>And he saide vnto her, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee. <sup>49</sup>And they that sate at table with him, began to say within themselues, Who is this that euen forgiueth sinnes? <sup>50</sup>And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saued thee: goe in peace.

8And it came to passe afterwarde, that hee himselfe went through euery citie and towne, preaching and publishing the kingdome of God, and the twelue were with him, <sup>2</sup>And certaine women, which were healed of euill spiritess, and infirmities, as Mary which was called Magdalene, out of whom went seuen deuils, <sup>3</sup>And Ioanna the wife of Chuza Herods steward, and Susanna, and many other which ministred vnto him of their substance. <sup>4</sup>Nowe when much people were gathered together, and were come vnto him out of all cities, he spake by a parable. <sup>5</sup>A sower went out to sowe his seede, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and it was troden vnder feete, and the foules of heauen deuoured it vp. <sup>6</sup>And some fell on the stones, and when it was sprong vp, it withered away, because it lacked moystnesse. <sup>7</sup>And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprang vp with it, and choked it. <sup>8</sup>And some fell on good ground, and sprang vp, and bare fruite, an hundreth folde. And as hee sayd these things, he cryed, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare. <sup>9</sup>Then his disciples asked him, demaunding what parable that was. <sup>10</sup>And he sayd, Vnto you it is giuen to know the secrets of ye kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when they see, they shoulde not see, and when they heare, they should not vnderstand. <sup>11</sup>The parable is this, The seede is the worde of God. <sup>12</sup>And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: afterward commeth the deuill, and taketh away the worde out of their hearts, lest they should beleue, and be saued. <sup>13</sup>But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue ye word with ioy: but they haue no rootes: which for a while beleue, but in the time of tentation goe away. <sup>14</sup>And that which fell among thornes, are they which haue heard, and after their departure are choked with cares and with riches, and voluptuous liuing, and bring forth no fruite. <sup>15</sup>But that which fell in good ground, are they which with an honest and good heart heare the worde, and keepe it, and bring forth fruite with patience. <sup>16</sup>No man when he hath lighted a candle, couereth it vnder a vessell, neither putteth it vnder the bed, but setteth it on a candlesticke, that they that enter in, may see the light. <sup>17</sup>For nothing is secret, that shall not be euident: neither any thing hid, that shall not be knowen, and come to light. <sup>18</sup>Take heede therefore how ye heare: for whosoever hath, to him shall be giuen: and whosoever hath not, from him shalbe taken euen that which it seemeth that he hath. <sup>19</sup>Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come neere to him for the preasse. <sup>20</sup>And it was tolde him by certaine which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee. <sup>21</sup>But he answered, and sayd vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the worde of God, and doe it. <sup>22</sup>And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he sayd vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they lanced forth. <sup>23</sup>And as they sayled, he fell a sleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in ieopardie. <sup>24</sup>Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme. <sup>25</sup>Then he sayde vnto them, Where is your fayth? and they feared, and wondered among them selues, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him! <sup>26</sup>So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galile. <sup>27</sup>And as he went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and he ware no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues. <sup>28</sup>And when he sawe Iesus, he cryed out and fell downe before him, and with a loude voyce sayd, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of God the most High? I beseech thee torment me not. <sup>29</sup>For he commanded ye foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore he was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters:

but he brake the bands, and was caried of the deuill into wildernesses.) <sup>30</sup>Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he sayd, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him. <sup>31</sup>And they besought him, that he would not commaund them to goe out into the deepe. <sup>32</sup>And there was there by, an hearde of many swine, feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them. <sup>33</sup>Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the hearde was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked. <sup>34</sup>When the heardmen sawe what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they tolde it in the citie and in the countrey. <sup>35</sup>Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afrayd. <sup>36</sup>They also which saw it, tolde them by what meanes he that was possessed with the deuill, was healed. <sup>37</sup>Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him that he would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ship, and returned. <sup>38</sup>Then the man, out of whome the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might be with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying, <sup>39</sup>Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things God hath done to thee. So hee went his way, and preached throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him. <sup>40</sup>And it came to passe, when Iesus was come againe, that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him. <sup>41</sup>And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feete, and besought him that he would come into his house. <sup>42</sup>For he had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him. <sup>43</sup>And a woman hauing an yssue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon physicians, and could not be healed of any: <sup>44</sup>When she came behind him, she touched the hemme of his garment, and immediatly her yssue of blood stanchd. <sup>45</sup>Then Iesus sayd, Who is it that hath touched me? When euery man denied, Peter sayd and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and tread on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me? <sup>46</sup>And Iesus sayde, Some one hath touched me: for I perceiue that vertue is gone out of me. <sup>47</sup>When the woman sawe that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell downe before him, and tolde him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediatly. <sup>48</sup>And he said vnto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath sau'd thee: go in peace.) <sup>49</sup>While he yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which sayde to him, Thy daughter is dead: disease not the Master. <sup>50</sup>When Iesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Feare not: beleue onely, and she shall be sau'd. <sup>51</sup>And when he went into the house, he suffered no man to goe in with him, saue Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and the father and mother of the maide. <sup>52</sup>And all wept, and sorowed for her: but he sayd, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth. <sup>53</sup>And they laught him to scorne, knowing that she was dead. <sup>54</sup>So he thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cryed, saying, Maide, arise. <sup>55</sup>And her spirite came againe, and she rose straightway: and he comanded to giue her meate. <sup>56</sup>Then her parents were astonied: but hee commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

9Then called hee his twelue disciples together, and gaue them power and authoritie ouer all deuils, and to heale diseases. <sup>2</sup>And hee sent them forth to preach the kingdome of God, and to cure the sicke. <sup>3</sup>And he sayd to them, Take nothing to your iourney, neither stau'es, nor scrip, neither bread, nor siluer, neither haue two coates apiece. <sup>4</sup>And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart. <sup>5</sup>And howe many so euer will not receiue you, when ye goe out of that citie, shake off the very dust from your feete for a testimonie against them. <sup>6</sup>And they went out, and went through euery towne preaching the Gospel, and healing euery where. <sup>7</sup>Nowe Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he douted, because that it was sayd of some, that Iohn was risen againe from the dead: <sup>8</sup>And of some, that Elias had appeared: and of some, that one of the olde Prophets was risen againe. <sup>9</sup>Then Herod sayd, Iohn haue I beheaded: who then is this of whome I heare such things? and he desired to see him. <sup>10</sup>And when the Apostles returned, they tolde him what great things they had done. Then he tooke them to him, and went aside into a solitarie place, neere to the citie called Bethsaida. <sup>11</sup>But when the people knewe it, they followed him: and he receiued them, and spake vnto them of the kingdome of God, and healed them that had neede to be healed. <sup>12</sup>And when the day began to weare away, the twelue came, and sayd vnto him, Sende the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meate: for we are here in a desart place. <sup>13</sup>But he sayd vnto them, Giue ye them to eate. And they sayd, We haue no more but fise loaves and two fishes, except we should go and buy meate for all this people. <sup>14</sup>For they were about fise thousand men. Then he sayde to his disciples, Cause them to sit downe by fifties in a company. <sup>15</sup>And they did so, and caused all to sit downe. <sup>16</sup>Then he tooke the fise loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people. <sup>17</sup>So they did all eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate. <sup>18</sup>And it came to passe, as hee was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am? <sup>19</sup>They answered, and sayd, Iohn Baptist: and others say,

Elias: and some say, that one of the olde Prophets is risen againe. <sup>20</sup>And he sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and sayd, That Christ of God. <sup>21</sup>And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man, <sup>22</sup>Saying, The Sonne of man must suffer many things and be reprov'd of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe. <sup>23</sup>And he sayd to them all, If any man will come after me, let him denie himselfe, and take vp his crosse dayly, and follow me. <sup>24</sup>For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it. <sup>25</sup>For what auantage it a man, if he win the whole worlde, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe? <sup>26</sup>For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my wordes, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when hee shall come in his glorie, and in the glorie of the Father, and of the holy Angels. <sup>27</sup>And I tell you of a suretie, there be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they haue seene the kingdome of God. <sup>28</sup>And it came to passe about an eyght dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and Iames, and went vp into a mountaine to pray. <sup>29</sup>And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered. <sup>30</sup>And beholde, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias: <sup>31</sup>Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his departing, which he shoulde accomplish at Hierusalem. <sup>32</sup>But Peter and they that were with him, were heauie with sleepe, and when they awoke, they saw his glorie, and the two men standing with him. <sup>33</sup>And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said. <sup>34</sup>Whiles he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were entring into the cloude. <sup>35</sup>And there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, heare him. <sup>36</sup>And when the voyce was past, Iesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and tolde no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene. <sup>37</sup>And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him. <sup>38</sup>And beholde, a man of the companie cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, beholde my sonne: for he is all that I haue. <sup>39</sup>And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he crieth, and he teareth him, that he fometh, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath bruised him. <sup>40</sup>Nowe I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not. <sup>41</sup>Then Iesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, howe long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither. <sup>42</sup>And whiles he was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vncleane spirite, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father. <sup>43</sup>And they were all amased at the mightie power of God: and while they all wondered at al things, which Iesus did, he said vnto his disciples, <sup>44</sup>Marke these wordes diligently: for it shall come to passe, that the Sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the handes of men. <sup>45</sup>But they vnderstood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it: and they feared to aske him of that worde. <sup>46</sup>Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should be the greatest. <sup>47</sup>When Iesus sawe the thoughtes of their heartes, he tooke a litle childe, and set him by him, <sup>48</sup>And said vnto them, Whosoever receiueth this litle childe in my Name, receiueth me: and whosoever shall receiue me, receiueth him that sent me: for he that is least among you all, he shall be great. <sup>49</sup>And Iohn answered and saide, Master, we sawe one casting out deuils in thy Name, and we forbad him, because he followeth thee not with vs. <sup>50</sup>Then Iesus saide vnto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs. <sup>51</sup>And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that he should be receiued vp, he settled himselfe fully to goe to Hierusalem, <sup>52</sup>And sent messengers before him: and they went and entred into a towne of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging. <sup>53</sup>But they woulde not receiue him, because his behauiour was, as though he would go to Hierusalem. <sup>54</sup>And when his disciples, Iames and Iohn sawe it, they saide, Lord, wilt thou that we commaund, that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as Elias did? <sup>55</sup>But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye knowe not of what spirit ye are. <sup>56</sup>For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne. <sup>57</sup>And it came to passe that as they went in the way, a certaine man said vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoever thou goest. <sup>58</sup>And Iesus saide vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head. <sup>59</sup>But he said vnto another, Followe me. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to goe and burie my father. <sup>60</sup>And Iesus said vnto him, Let the dead burie their dead: but go thou, and preache the kingdome of God. <sup>61</sup>Then another saide, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house. <sup>62</sup>And Iesus saide vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdome of God.

10After these thinges, the Lord appointed other seuentie also, and sent them, two and two before him into euery citie and place, whither he himselfe should come. <sup>2</sup>And he said vnto them, The haruest is great, but the labourers are fewe: pray therefore the Lord of the haruest to sende fourth labourers into his haruest. <sup>3</sup>Goe your wayes: beholde, I send you fourth as lames among wolues. <sup>4</sup>Beare no bagge, neither scrippe, nor shoes, and salute no man by the way. <sup>5</sup>And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house. <sup>6</sup>And if the sonne of peace be there, your peace shall rest vpon him: if not, it shall turne to you againe. <sup>7</sup>And in that house tary still, eating and drinking such things as by them shall be set before you: for the labourer is worthy of his wages. Goe not from house to house. <sup>8</sup>But into whatsoever citie ye shall enter, if they receiue you, eate such things as are set before you, <sup>9</sup>And heale the sicke that are there, and say vnto them, The kingdome of God is come neere vnto you. <sup>10</sup>But into whatsoever citie ye shall enter, if they will not receiue you, goe your wayes out into the streetes of the same, and say, <sup>11</sup>Euen the very dust, which cleaueth on vs of your citie, we wipe off against you: notwithstanding knowe this, that the kingdome of God was come neere vnto you. <sup>12</sup>For I say to you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodom, then for that citie. <sup>13</sup>Woe be to thee, Chorazin: woe be to thee, Beth-saida: for if the miracles had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, which haue bene done in you, they had a great while agoone repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. <sup>14</sup>Therefore it shall be easier for Tyrus, and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you. <sup>15</sup>And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heauen, shalt be thrust downe to hell. <sup>16</sup>He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me. <sup>17</sup>And the seuentie turned againe with ioy, saying, Lord, euen the deuils are subdued to vs through thy Name. <sup>18</sup>And he said vnto them, I sawe Satan, like lightening, fall downe from heauen. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, I giue vnto you power to treade on Serpents, and Scorpions, and ouer all the power of the enemye, and nothing shall hurt you. <sup>20</sup>Neuerthelesse, in this reioyce not, that the spirits are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heauen. <sup>21</sup>That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirit, and said, I confesse vnto thee, Father, Lord of heauen and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and vnderstanding, and hast reueiled them to babes: euen so, Father, because it so pleased thee. <sup>22</sup>All things are giuen me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the Sonne, and he to whom the Sonne will reueile him. <sup>23</sup>And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see. <sup>24</sup>For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings haue desired to see those things, which ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them. <sup>25</sup>Then beholde, a certaine Lawyer stode vp, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe, to inherite eternall life? <sup>26</sup>And he saide vnto him, What is written in the Lawe? howe readest thou? <sup>27</sup>And he answered, and saide, Thou shalt loue thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, and thy neighbour as thy selfe. <sup>28</sup>Then he said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue. <sup>29</sup>But he willing to iustifie himselfe, said vnto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour? <sup>30</sup>And Iesus answered, and saide, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, and fell among theeues, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead. <sup>31</sup>Nowe so it fell out, that there came downe a certaine Priest that same way, and when he sawe him, he passed by on the other side. <sup>32</sup>And likewise also a Leuite, when he was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side. <sup>33</sup>Then a certaine Samaritane, as he iourneyed, came neere vnto him, and when he sawe him, he had compassion on him, <sup>34</sup>And went to him, and bound vp his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him. <sup>35</sup>And on the morowe when he departed, he tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the hoste, and said vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee. <sup>36</sup>Which nowe of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theeues? <sup>37</sup>And he saide, He that shewed mercie on him. Then said Iesus vnto him, Goe, and do thou likewise. <sup>38</sup>Nowe it came to passe, as they went, that he entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house. <sup>39</sup>And she had a sister called Marie, which also sate at Iesus feete, and heard his preaching. <sup>40</sup>But Martha was combred about much seruing, and came to him, and saide, Master, doest thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bid her therefore, that she helpe me. <sup>41</sup>And Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things: <sup>42</sup>But one thing is needefull, Marie hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

11And so it was, that as he was praying in a certaine place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said vnto him, Lord, teache vs to pray, as Iohn also taught his disciples. <sup>2</sup>And he said vnto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father, which art in heauen, halowed be thy Name: Thy kingdome come: Let thy will be done, euen in earth, as it is in heauen: <sup>3</sup>Our dayly bread giue vs for the day: <sup>4</sup>And forgiue vs our sinnes: for euen we forgiue euery man that is indetted to vs: And leade vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs from euill. <sup>5</sup>Moreouer he said vnto them, Which of you shall haue a friende, and shall goe to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friende, lende mee three loaues? <sup>6</sup>For a friende of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him: <sup>7</sup>And hee within shoulde answere, and say, Trouble mee not: the doore is nowe shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I can not rise and giue them to thee. <sup>8</sup>I say vnto you, Though he would not arise and giue him, because he is his friende, yet doubtlesse because of his importunitie, hee woulde rise, and giue him as many as he needed. <sup>9</sup>And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and yee shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you. <sup>10</sup>For euery one that asketh, receiueth:

and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shalbe opened. <sup>11</sup>If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will he giue him a stone? or if hee aske a fish, will he for a fish giue him a serpent? <sup>12</sup>Or if hee aske an egge, will hee giue him a scorpion? <sup>13</sup>If yee then which are euill, can giue good giftes vnto your children, howe much more shall your heauenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him? <sup>14</sup>Then hee cast out a deuill which was domme: and when the deuill was gone out, the domme spake, and the people wondered. <sup>15</sup>But some of them said, He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of ye deuils. <sup>16</sup>And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen. <sup>17</sup>But he knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, Euery kingdom deuided against it self, shall be desolate, and an house deuided against an house, falleth. <sup>18</sup>So if Satan also bee deuided against himselfe, howe shall his kingdome stande, because yee say that I cast out deuils through Beelzebub? <sup>19</sup>If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whome doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges. <sup>20</sup>But if I by ye finger of God cast out deuils, doutles the kingdome of God is come vnto you. <sup>21</sup>When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, the thinges that hee possesseth, are in peace. <sup>22</sup>But when a stronger then hee, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and deuideth his spoiles. <sup>23</sup>He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth. <sup>24</sup>When the vnclane spirite is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none he saith, I wil returne vnto mine house whence I came out. <sup>25</sup>And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished. <sup>26</sup>Then goeth hee, and taketh to him seuen other spirites worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwel there: so the last state of that man is worse then the first. <sup>27</sup>And it came to passe as he sayde these thinges, a certaine woman of the companie lifted vp her voyce, and sayde vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the pappes which thou hast sucked. <sup>28</sup>But hee saide, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the worde of God, and keepe it. <sup>29</sup>And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of Ionas the Prophet. <sup>30</sup>For as Ionas was a signe to the Niniuites: so shall also the Sonne of man bee to this generation. <sup>31</sup>The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for shée came from the vtmost partes of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon, and beholde, a greater then Salomon is here. <sup>32</sup>The men of Niniue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Ionas: and beholde, a greater then Ionas is here. <sup>33</sup>No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priue place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlesticke, that they

which come in, may see the light. <sup>34</sup>The light of the bodie is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole bodie light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy bodie is darke. <sup>35</sup>Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkenesse. <sup>36</sup>If therefore thy whole body shall be light, hauing no part darke, then shall all be light, euen as when a candle doth light thee with the brightness. <sup>37</sup>And as hee spake, a certaine Pharise besought him to dine with him: and hee went in, and sate downe at table. <sup>38</sup>And when the Pharise saw it, he marueiled that he had not first washed before dinner. <sup>39</sup>And the Lord saide to him, In deede yee Pharises make cleane the outside of the cuppe, and of the platter: but the inwarde part is full of rauening and wickednesse. <sup>40</sup>Ye fooles, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also? <sup>41</sup>Therefore, giue almes of those thinges which you haue, and beholde, all thinges shall be cleane to you. <sup>42</sup>But wo be to you, Pharises: for ye tithe the mynt and the rewe, and all maner herbs, and passe ouer iudgement and the loue of God: these ought yee to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone. <sup>43</sup>Wo be to you, Pharises: for ye loue the vppermost seats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets. <sup>44</sup>Wo be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not. <sup>45</sup>Then answered one of the Lawyers, and saide vnto him, Master, thus saying thou putttest vs to rebuke also. <sup>46</sup>And he sayde, Wo be to you also, yee Lawyers: for yee lade men with burdens grieuous to be borne, and yee your selues touche not the burdens with one of your fingers. <sup>47</sup>Wo be to you: for ye builde the sepulchres of the Prophetes, and your fathers killed them. <sup>48</sup>Truely ye beare witness, and allowe the deedes of your fathers: for they killed them, and yee build their sepulchres. <sup>49</sup>Therefore said the wisdom of God, I wil sende them Prophetes and Apostles, and of them they shall slaie, and persecute away, <sup>50</sup>That the blood of all the Prophetes, shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation, <sup>51</sup>From the blood of Abel vnto the blood of Zacharias, which was slaine betweene the altar and the Temple: verely I say vnto you, it shall be required of this generation. <sup>52</sup>Wo be to you, Lawyers: for ye haue taken away the key of knowledge: ye entred not in your selues, and them that came in, ye forbade. <sup>53</sup>And as he sayde these things vnto them, the Scribes and Pharises began to vrge him sore, and to prouoke him to speake of many things, <sup>54</sup>Laying wait for him, and seeking to catche some thing of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

12In the meane time, there gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, so that they trode one another: and he began to say vnto his disciples first, Take heede to your selues of the leauen of the Pharises, which is hypocrisie. <sup>2</sup>For there is nothing couered, that shall not bee reueiled: neither hidde, that shall not be knowen.

clothe the grasse which is to day in the field, and to morowe is cast into the ouen, howe much more will he clothe you, O yee of litle faith? <sup>29</sup>Therefore aske not what yee shall eate, or what ye shall drinke, neither hag you in suspense. <sup>30</sup>For all such things the people of the world seeke for: and your Father knoweth that ye haue neede of these things. <sup>31</sup>But rather seeke ye after the kingdome of God, and all these things shalbe cast vpon you. <sup>32</sup>Feare not, litle flocke: for it is your Fathers pleasure, to giue you the kingdome. <sup>33</sup>Sell that ye haue, and giue almes: make you bagges, which waxe not old, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no theefe commeth, neither mothe corrupteth. <sup>34</sup>For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also. <sup>35</sup>Let your loynes be gird about and your lights burning, <sup>36</sup>And ye your selues like vnto men that waite for their master, when he will returne from the wedding, that when he commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediatly. <sup>37</sup>Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when he commeth shall finde waking: verely I say vnto you, he will girde himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth, and serue them. <sup>38</sup>And if he come in the seconde watch, or come in the third watch, and shall finde them so, blessed are those seruants. <sup>39</sup>Nowe vnderstand this, that if the good man of the house had knowen at what houre the theefe would haue come, he would haue watched, and would not haue suffered his house to be digged through. <sup>40</sup>Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when ye thinke not. <sup>41</sup>Then Peter saide vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all? <sup>42</sup>And the Lord saide, Who is a faithfull steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his householde, to giue them their portion of meate in season? <sup>43</sup>Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he commeth, shall finde so doing. <sup>44</sup>Of a trueth I say vnto you, that he wil make him ruler ouer all that he hath. <sup>45</sup>But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doeth deferre his comming, and ginne to smite the seruants, and maydens, and to eate, and drinke, and to be drunken, <sup>46</sup>The master of that seruant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an houre when he is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbeleeuers. <sup>47</sup>And that seruant that knewe his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shalbe beaten with many stripes. <sup>48</sup>But he that knewe it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with fewe stripes: for vnto whomsoever much is giuen, of him shalbe much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske. <sup>49</sup>I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled? <sup>50</sup>Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptisme, and how am I grieved, till it be ended? <sup>51</sup>Thinke ye that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate. <sup>52</sup>For from henceforth there shall be fiue in one house deuided, three against two, and two against three. <sup>53</sup>The father shalbe deuided against ye sonne, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in lawe against her daughter in lawe, and the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe. <sup>54</sup>Then said he to the people, When ye see a cloude rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shower cometh: and so it is. <sup>55</sup>And when ye see the South winde blowe, ye say, that it wilbe hoate: and it commeth to passe. <sup>56</sup>Hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discern ye not this time? <sup>57</sup>Yea, and why iudge ye not of your selues what is right? <sup>58</sup>While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest be deliuered from him, least he drawe thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the iayler, and the iayler cast thee into prison. <sup>59</sup>I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast payed the vtmost mite.

13There were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. <sup>2</sup>And Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners then al the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things? <sup>3</sup>I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish. <sup>4</sup>Or thinke you that those eighteene, vpon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slewe them, were sinners aboue all men that dwel in Hierusalem? <sup>5</sup>I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish. <sup>6</sup>He spake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and he came and sought fruite thereon, and found none. <sup>7</sup>Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three yeeres haue I come and sought fruite of this figge tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground barren? <sup>8</sup>And he answered, and said vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yeere also, till I digge round about it, and doung it. <sup>9</sup>And if it beare fruite, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe. <sup>10</sup>And he taught in one of ye Synagogues on the Sabbath day. <sup>11</sup>And behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmitie eighteene yeeres, and was bowed together, and coulde not lift vp her selfe in any wise. <sup>12</sup>When Iesus sawe her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease. <sup>13</sup>And he laide his handes on her, and immediatly she was made straight againe, and glorified God. <sup>14</sup>And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said vnto the people, There are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day. <sup>15</sup>Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocrite, doth not eche one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water? <sup>16</sup>And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, loe, eighteene yeeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day? <sup>17</sup>And when he said these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people reioyced at all the excellent things, that were done by him. <sup>18</sup>Then said he, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it? <sup>19</sup>It is like a graine of mustard seede, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, and it grewe, and waxed a great tree, and the foules of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof. <sup>20</sup>And againe he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God? <sup>21</sup>It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, and hid in three peckes of floure, till all was leavened. <sup>22</sup>And he went through all cities and townes, teaching, and iourneying towards Hierusalem. <sup>23</sup>Then saide one vnto him, Lord, are there fewe that shalbe saued? And he said vnto them, <sup>24</sup>Striue to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able. <sup>25</sup>When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and ye begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and he shall answere and say vnto you, I know you not whence ye are, <sup>26</sup>Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and drunke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes. <sup>27</sup>But he shall say, I tell you, I knowe you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquitie. <sup>28</sup>There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Iacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores. <sup>29</sup>Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdome of God. <sup>30</sup>And beholde, there are last, which shalbe first, and there are first, which shalbe last. <sup>31</sup>The same day there came certaine Pharises, and said vnto him, Depart, and goe hence: for Herod will kill thee. <sup>32</sup>Then said he vnto them, Goe ye and tell that foxe, Beholde, I cast out deuils, and will heale still to day, and to morowe, and the third day I shalbe perfected. <sup>33</sup>Neuerthesse I must walke to day, and to morowe, and the day following: for it cannot be that a Prophet should perish out of Hierusalem. <sup>34</sup>O Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them that are sent to thee, howe often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her brood vnder her wings, and ye would not! <sup>35</sup>Beholde, your house is left vnto you desolate: and verely I tell you, ye shall not see me vntill the time come that ye shall say, Blessed is he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

held their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe, <sup>5</sup>And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an oxe fallen into a pit, and wil not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day? <sup>6</sup>And they could not answere him againe to those things. <sup>7</sup>He spake also a parable to the ghestes, when he marked howe they chose out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them, <sup>8</sup>When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefest place, lest a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him, <sup>9</sup>And he that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Giue this man roome, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest roome. <sup>10</sup>But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest roome, that when he that bade thee, cometh, he may say vnto thee, Friende, sit vp hier: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee. <sup>11</sup>For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shall be exalted. <sup>12</sup>Then said he also to him that had bidden him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friendes, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinemen, nor ye riche neighbours, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompence be made thee. <sup>13</sup>But when thou makest a feast, call ye poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blind, <sup>14</sup>And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the iust. <sup>15</sup>Nowe when one of them that sate at table, heard these things, he said vnto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdome of God. <sup>16</sup>Then saide he to him, A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many, <sup>17</sup>And sent his seruant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are nowe readie. <sup>18</sup>But they all with one mind beganne to make excuse: The first saide vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needes goe out and see it: I pray thee, haue me excused. <sup>19</sup>And another said, I haue bought fiue yoke of oxen, and I goe to proue them: I pray thee, haue me excused. <sup>20</sup>And another said, I haue married a wife, and therefore I can not come. <sup>21</sup>So that seruaunt returned, and shewed his master these thinges. Then was the good man of the house angrie, and said to his seruant, Goe out quickly into the streetes and lanes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde. <sup>22</sup>And the seruaunt saide, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is roome. <sup>23</sup>Then the master sayd to the seruaunt, Goe out into the hie wayes, and hedges, and compell them to come in, that mine house may bee filled. <sup>24</sup>For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper. <sup>25</sup>Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and sayd vnto them, <sup>26</sup>If any man come to mee, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters: yea, and his owne life also, he can not be my disciple. <sup>27</sup>And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after mee, can not bee my disciple. <sup>28</sup>For which of you minding to builde a towre, sitteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to performe it, <sup>29</sup>Lest that after he hath laide the foundation, and is not able to performe it, all that behold it, begin to mocke him, <sup>30</sup>Saying, This man began to builde, and was not able to make an end? <sup>31</sup>Or what King going to make warre against another King, sitteth not downe first, and taketh counsell, whether he be able with ten thousande, to meete him that commeth against him with twentie thousand? <sup>32</sup>Or els while hee is yet a great way off, hee sendeth an ambassage, and desireth peace. <sup>33</sup>So likewise, whosoever hee be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple. <sup>34</sup>Salt is good: but if salt haue lost his sauour, wherewith shall it be salted? <sup>35</sup>It is neither meete for the land, nor yet for the dunghill, but men cast it out. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

15Then resorted vnto him all the Publicanes and sinners, to heare him. <sup>2</sup>Therefore the Pharises and Scribes murmured, saying, Hee receiueth sinners, and eateth with them. <sup>3</sup>Then spake hee this parable to them, saying, <sup>4</sup>What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if hee lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wilderness, and goe after that which is lost, vntill he finde it? <sup>5</sup>And when he hath found it, he laieth it on his shoulders with ioye. <sup>6</sup>And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friendes and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with mee: for I haue founde my sheepe which was lost. <sup>7</sup>I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which neede none amendment of life. <sup>8</sup>Either what woman hauing ten groates, if she lose one groate, doth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till shee finde it? <sup>9</sup>And when shee hath found it, shee calleth her friendes, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groate which I had lost. <sup>10</sup>Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth. <sup>11</sup>He sayde moreouer, A certaine man had two sonnes. <sup>12</sup>And the yonger of them sayde to his father, Father, giue mee the portion of the goods that falleth to mee. So he deuided vnto them his substance. <sup>13</sup>So not many daies after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, hee tooke his journey into a farre cuntry, and there hee wasted his goods with riotous liuing. <sup>14</sup>Nowe when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessitie. <sup>15</sup>Then hee went and claued to a citizen of that countrey, and hee sent him to his farme, to feede swine. <sup>16</sup>And hee would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes, that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him. <sup>17</sup>Then he came to him selfe, and said, Howe many hired seruaunts at my fathers haue bread ynough, and I die for hunger? <sup>18</sup>I wil rise and goe to my father, and say

vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heaue, and before thee, <sup>19</sup>And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hired seruants. <sup>20</sup>So hee arose and came to his father, and when hee was yet a great way off, his father sawe him, and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him. <sup>21</sup>And the sonne sayde vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthie to be called thy sonne. <sup>22</sup>Then the father said to his seruants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feete, <sup>23</sup>And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate, and be merie: <sup>24</sup>For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merie. <sup>25</sup>Nowe the elder brother was in the felde, and when he came and drewe neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dauncing, <sup>26</sup>And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant. <sup>27</sup>And hee sayde vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatte calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and sound. <sup>28</sup>Then he was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and entreated him. <sup>29</sup>But he answered and said to his father, Loe, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commadement, and yet thou neuer gauest mee a kidde that I might make merie with my friends. <sup>30</sup>But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy good with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calfe. <sup>31</sup>And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, and al that I haue, is thine. <sup>32</sup>It was meete that we shoulde make merie, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and hee was lost, but he is found.

16And he sayde also vnto his disciples, There was a certaine riche man, which had a stewarde, and he was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods. <sup>2</sup>And hee called him, and saide vnto him, Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts of thy stewardship: for thou maiest be no longer steward. <sup>3</sup>Then the stewarde saide within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot digge, and to begge I am ashamed. <sup>4</sup>I knowe what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue mee into their houses. <sup>5</sup>Then called he vnto him euery one of his masters detters, and said vnto the first, Howe much owest thou vnto my master? <sup>6</sup>And he said, An hudreth measures of oyle. And he saide to him, Take thy writing, and sitte downe quickly, and write fiftie. <sup>7</sup>Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And hee sayde, An hundreth measures of wheate. Then he saide to him, Take thy writing, and write foure score. <sup>8</sup>And the Lord commended the vniust stewarde, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the children of this worlde are in their generation wiser then the children of light. <sup>9</sup>And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches of iniquitie, that when ye shall want, they may receiue you into euerlasting habitations. <sup>10</sup>He that is faithfull in the least, hee is also faithful in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much. <sup>11</sup>If then ye haue not ben faithful in the wicked riches, who wil trust you in the true treasure? <sup>12</sup>And if ye haue not bene faithful in another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is yours? <sup>13</sup>No seruaunt can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Yee can not serue God and riches. <sup>14</sup>All these thinges heard the Pharises also which were couetous, and they scoffed at him. <sup>15</sup>Then he sayde vnto them, Yee are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your heartes: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God. <sup>16</sup>The Lawe and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preasseth into it. <sup>17</sup>Nowe it is more easie that heauen and earth shoulde passe away, then that one tittle of the Lawe should fall. <sup>18</sup>Whosoeuer putteth away his wife, and marieth another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adulterie. <sup>19</sup>There was a certaine riche man, which was clothed in purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day. <sup>20</sup>Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was laide at his gate full of sores, <sup>21</sup>And desired to bee refreshed with the crommes that fell from the riche mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his sores. <sup>22</sup>And it was so that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bosome. The rich man also died, and was buried. <sup>23</sup>And being in hell in torments, he lift vp his eyes, and sawe Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome. <sup>24</sup>Then he cried, and saide, Father Abraham, haue mercie on mee, and sende Lazarus that hee may dippe the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame. <sup>25</sup>But Abraham saide, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented. <sup>26</sup>Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, can not: neither can they come from thence to vs. <sup>27</sup>Then he said, I pray thee therfore, father, that thou wouldest sende him to my fathers house, <sup>28</sup>(For I haue fiue brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, least they also come into this place of torment. <sup>29</sup>Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moses and the Prophets: let them heare them. <sup>30</sup>And he sayde, Nay, father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues. <sup>31</sup>Then he saide vnto him, If they heare not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

they come. <sup>2</sup>It is better for him that a great milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into ye sea, then that he should offende one of these litle ones. <sup>3</sup>Take heede to your selues: if thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him: and if hee repent, forgiue him. <sup>4</sup>And though he sinne against thee seuen times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth mee, thou shalt forgiue him. <sup>5</sup>And the Apostles saide vnto the Lord, Increase our faith. <sup>6</sup>And the Lord said, If ye had faith, as much as is a graine of mustard seede, and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you. <sup>7</sup>Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding cattell, woulde say vnto him by and by, when hee were come from the felde, Goe, and sit downe at table? <sup>8</sup>And woulde not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and girde thy selfe, and serue mee, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eate thou, and drinke thou? <sup>9</sup>Doeth he thanke that seruant, because hee did that which was commanded vnto him? I trowe not. <sup>10</sup>So likewise yee, when yee haue done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: wee haue done that which was our duetie to doe. <sup>11</sup>And so it was when he went to Hierusalem, that he passed through the middes of Samaria, and Galile. <sup>12</sup>And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there met him tenne men that were lepers, which stooode a farre off. <sup>13</sup>And they lift vp their voyces and saide, Iesus, Master, haue mercie on vs. <sup>14</sup>And when he saw them, he said vnto them, Goe, shewe your selues vnto the Priestes. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were censed. <sup>15</sup>Then one of them, when hee sawe that hee, was healed, turned backe, and with a loude voyce praised God, <sup>16</sup>And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thanks: and he was a Samaritan. <sup>17</sup>And Iesus answered, and said, Are there not tenne censed? but where are the nine? <sup>18</sup>There is none founde that returned to giue God praise, saue this stranger. <sup>19</sup>And he saide vnto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath saued thee. <sup>20</sup>And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God shoulde come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God commeth not with obseruation. <sup>21</sup>Neither shall men say, Loe here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdome of God is within you. <sup>22</sup>And he saide vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it. <sup>23</sup>Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or beholde there: but goe not thither, neither follow them. <sup>24</sup>For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day. <sup>25</sup>But first must he suffer many things, and be reprooued of this generation. <sup>26</sup>And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man. <sup>27</sup>They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue

in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all. <sup>28</sup>Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they solde, they planted, they built. <sup>29</sup>But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all. <sup>30</sup>After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man is reueiled. <sup>31</sup>At that day hee that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in ye house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the felde likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde. <sup>32</sup>Remember Lots wife. <sup>33</sup>Whosoever will seeke to saue his soule, shall loose it: and whosoever shall loose it, shall get it life. <sup>34</sup>I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe left. <sup>35</sup>Two women shalbe grinding together: the one shalbe taken, and the other shalbe left. <sup>36</sup>Two shalbe in the felde: one shalbe receiued, and another shalbe left. <sup>37</sup>And they answered, and saide to him, Where, Lord? And he said vnto them, Wheresoeuer the body is, thither shall also the eagles bee gathered together.

18And he spake also a parable vnto them, to this ende, that they ought alwayes to pray, and not to waxe faint, <sup>2</sup>Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine citie, which feared not God, neither reuerced man. <sup>3</sup>And there was a widowe in that citie, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersarie. <sup>4</sup>And hee would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man, <sup>5</sup>Yet because this widowe troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last shee come and make me wearie. <sup>6</sup>And the Lord said, Heare what the vnrightheous iudge saith. <sup>7</sup>Now shall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though he suffer long for them? <sup>8</sup>I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall he finde faith on the earth? <sup>9</sup>He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselues that they were iust, and despised other. <sup>10</sup>Two men went vp into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharise, and the other a Publican. <sup>11</sup>The Pharise stooode and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniust, adulterers, or euen as this Publican. <sup>12</sup>I fast twice in the weeke: I giue tithe of all that euer I possesse. <sup>13</sup>But the Publican standing a farre off, woulde not lift vp so much as his eyes to heauen, but smote his brest, saying, O God, be mercifull to me a sinner. <sup>14</sup>I tell you, this man departed to his house iustified, rather then the other: for euery man that exalteth himselfe, shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shalbe exalted. <sup>15</sup>They brought vnto him also babes that he should touche them. And when his disciples sawe it, they rebuked them. <sup>16</sup>But Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come vnto mee, and forbid them not: for of such is the

kingdome of God. <sup>17</sup>Verely I say vnto you, whosoeuer receiueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein. <sup>18</sup>Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life? <sup>19</sup>And Iesus said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, saue one, euen God. <sup>20</sup>Thou knowest the comandements, Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnes: Honour thy father and thy mother. <sup>21</sup>And hee saide, All these haue I kept from my youth. <sup>22</sup>Nowe when Iesus heard that, he saide vnto him, Yet lackest thou one thing. Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come follow mee. <sup>23</sup>But when he heard those things, he was very heauie: for he was marueilous riche. <sup>24</sup>And when Iesus sawe him very sorrowfull, he said, With what difficultie shall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God! <sup>25</sup>Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needles eye, then for a riche man to enter into the kingdome of God. <sup>26</sup>Then said they that heard it, And who then can be saued? <sup>27</sup>And he said, The things which are vnpossible with men, are possible with God. <sup>28</sup>Then Peter said, Loe, we haue left all, and haue followed thee. <sup>29</sup>And he said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, <sup>30</sup>Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life euerlasting. <sup>31</sup>Then Iesus tooke vnto him ye twelue, and said vnto them, Beholde, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and all things shalbe fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are writttn by the Prophets. <sup>32</sup>For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shalbe mocked, and shalbe spitefully entreated, and shalbe spitted on. <sup>33</sup>And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the thirde day hee shall rise againe. <sup>34</sup>But they vnderstood none of these things, and this saying was hidde from them, neither perceiued they the things, which were spoken. <sup>35</sup>And it came to passe, that as he was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sate by the way side, begging. <sup>36</sup>And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant. <sup>37</sup>And they saide vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by. <sup>38</sup>Then hee cried, saying, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me. <sup>39</sup>And they which went before, rebuked him that he shoulde holde his peace, but he cried much more, O Sone of Dauid, haue mercie on me. <sup>40</sup>And Iesus stode stil, and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, <sup>41</sup>Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receiue my sight. <sup>42</sup>And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee. <sup>43</sup>Then immediatly he receiued his sight, and followed him, praying God: and all the people, when they sawe this, gaue praise to God.

<sup>19</sup>Now when Iesus entred and passed through Iericho, <sup>2</sup>Beholde, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the chiefe receiuer of the tribute, and he was riche. <sup>3</sup>And he sought to see Iesus, who hee should be, and coulde not for the preasse, because he was of a lowe stature. <sup>4</sup>Wherefore he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde figge tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way. <sup>5</sup>And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp, and saw him, and said vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house. <sup>6</sup>Then he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully. <sup>7</sup>And when all they sawe it, they murmured, saying, that hee was gone in to lodge with a sinfull man. <sup>8</sup>And Zaccheus stood forth, and said vnto the Lord, Beholde, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by forged cauillation, I restore him foure folde. <sup>9</sup>Then Iesus said to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as hee is also become the sonne of Abraham. <sup>10</sup>For the Sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost. <sup>11</sup>And whiles they heard these thinges, hee continued and spake a parable, because hee was neere to Hierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdom of God should shortly appeare. <sup>12</sup>He saide therefore, A certaine noble man went into a farre countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe. <sup>13</sup>And he called his ten seruants, and deliuered them ten pieces of money, and sayd vnto them, Occupie till I come. <sup>14</sup>Nowe his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, We will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs. <sup>15</sup>And it came to passe, when hee was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whome he gaue his money, that he might knowe what euery man had gained. <sup>16</sup>Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath encreased ten pieces. <sup>17</sup>And he sayd vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very litle thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities. <sup>18</sup>And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath encreased fiue pieces. <sup>19</sup>And to the same he sayd, Be thou also ruler ouer fiue cities. <sup>20</sup>So the other came, and sayd, Lord, beholde thy piece, which I haue laide vp in a napkin: <sup>21</sup>For I feared thee, because thou art a straight man: thou takest vp, that thou layedst not downe, and reapest that thou diddest not sowe. <sup>22</sup>Then he sayde vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knewest that I am a straight man, taking vp that I layd not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe. <sup>23</sup>Wherefore then gauest not thou my money into the banke, that at my coming I might haue required it with vantage? <sup>24</sup>And he sayd to them that stode by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces. <sup>25</sup>(And they sayd vnto him, Lord, hee hath ten pieces.) <sup>26</sup>For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shalbe giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shalbe taken from him. <sup>27</sup>Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me. <sup>28</sup>And when he had thus spoken, he went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem. <sup>29</sup>And it came to passe, when hee was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, he sent two of his disciples, <sup>30</sup>Saying, Goe ye to the towne which is before you, wherein, assoone as ye are come, ye shall finde a colte tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him hither. <sup>31</sup>And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath neede of him. <sup>32</sup>So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had sayd vnto them. <sup>33</sup>And as they were loosing the colte, the owners thereof sayd vnto them, Why loose ye the colte? <sup>34</sup>And they sayd, The Lord hath neede of him. <sup>35</sup>So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colte, and set Iesus thereon. <sup>36</sup>And as he went, they spred their clothes in the way. <sup>37</sup>And when he was nowe come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to prayse God with a loude voyce, for all the great workes that they had seene, <sup>38</sup>Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places. <sup>39</sup>Then some of the Pharises of the companie sayd vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples. <sup>40</sup>But he answered, and sayd vnto them, I tell you, that if these should holde their peace, the stones would crie. <sup>41</sup>And when he was come neere, he behelde the Citie, and wept for it, <sup>42</sup>Saying, O if thou haddest euen knowen at the least in this thy day those things, which belong vnto thy peace! but nowe are they hid from thine eyes. <sup>43</sup>For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compasse thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side, <sup>44</sup>And shall make thee euen with ye ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not that season of thy visitation. <sup>45</sup>He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde therein, and them that bought, <sup>46</sup>Saying vnto them, It is written, Mine house is the house of prayer, but ye haue made it a denne of theeues. <sup>47</sup>And he taught dayly in the Temple. And the hie Priests and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him. <sup>48</sup>But they could not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hanged vpon him when they heard him.

20And it came to passe, that on one of those dayes, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the hie Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders, <sup>2</sup>And spake vnto him, saying, Tell vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is hee that hath giuen thee this authoritie? <sup>3</sup>And he answered, and sayde vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore: <sup>4</sup>The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men? <sup>5</sup>And they reasoned within themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then beleueed ye him not? <sup>6</sup>But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that Iohn was a Prophet. <sup>7</sup>Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was. <sup>8</sup>Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe these things. <sup>9</sup>Then began he to speake to ye people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyarde, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey, for a great time. <sup>10</sup>And at the time conuenient he sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beate him, and sent him away emptie. <sup>11</sup>Againe he sent yet another seruant: and they did beate him, and foule entreated him, and sent him away emptie. <sup>12</sup>Moreouer he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out. <sup>13</sup>Then sayd the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloued sonne: it may be that they will doe reuerence, when they see him. <sup>14</sup>But when the husbandmen sawe him, they reasoned with themselues, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours. <sup>15</sup>So they cast him out of the vineyarde, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyarde therefore doe vnto them? <sup>16</sup>He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and wil giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they sayd, God forbid. <sup>17</sup>And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner? <sup>18</sup>Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder. <sup>19</sup>Then the hie Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay hands on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceiued that he had spoken this parable against them. <sup>20</sup>And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should faine themselues iust men, to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authoritie of the gouernour. <sup>21</sup>And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest right, neither doest thou accept mans person, but teachest the way of God truely. <sup>22</sup>Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no? <sup>23</sup>But he perceiued their craftines, and sayd vnto them, Why tempt ye me? <sup>24</sup>Shew me a penie. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and sayd, Cesars. <sup>25</sup>Then he sayd vnto them, Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cesars, and to God those which are Gods. <sup>26</sup>And they could not reprove his saying before the people: but they marueiled at his answere, and helde their peace. <sup>27</sup>Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, <sup>28</sup>Saying, Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother. <sup>29</sup>Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he dyed without children.

<sup>30</sup>And the second tooke the wife, and he dyed childelesse. <sup>31</sup>Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen dyed, and left no children. <sup>32</sup>And last of all the woman dyed also. <sup>33</sup>Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife. <sup>34</sup>Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, The children of this world marry wiues, and are married. <sup>35</sup>But they which shalbe counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wiues, neither are married. <sup>36</sup>For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the children of the resurrection. <sup>37</sup>And that the dead shall rise againe, euen Moses shewed it besides the bush, when he said, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob. <sup>38</sup>For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all liue vnto him. <sup>39</sup>Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and sayd, Master, thou hast well sayd. <sup>40</sup>And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all. <sup>41</sup>Then sayd he vnto them, Howe say they that Christ is Dauids sonne? <sup>42</sup>And Dauid himselfe sayth in the booke of the Psalmes, The Lord sayd vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, <sup>43</sup>Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstoole. <sup>44</sup>Seeing Dauid called him Lord, howe is he then his sonne? <sup>45</sup>Then in the audience of all the people he sayd vnto his disciples, <sup>46</sup>Beware of the Scribes, which willingly go in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest seates in the assemblies, and the chiefe roomes at feastes: <sup>47</sup>Which deuoure widowes houses, and in shewe make long prayers: These shall receiue greater damnation.

21And as he behelde, he sawe the rich men, which cast their giftes into the treasurie. <sup>2</sup>And he sawe also a certaine poore widowe which cast in thither two mites: <sup>3</sup>And he sayd, Of a trueth I say vnto you, that this poore widowe hath cast in more then they all. <sup>4</sup>For they all haue of their superfluitie cast into the offerings of God: but she of her penurie hath cast in all the liuing that she had. <sup>5</sup>Nowe as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, and with consecrate things, he sayd, <sup>6</sup>Are these ye things that ye looke vpon? the dayes will come wherein a stone shall not be left vpon a stone, that shall not be throwen downe. <sup>7</sup>Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what signe shall there be when these things shall come to passe? <sup>8</sup>And he sayd, Take heede, that ye be not deceiued: for many will come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth neere: follow ye not them therefore. <sup>9</sup>And when ye heare of warres and seditions, be not afraid: for these things must first come, but the ende foloweth not by and by. <sup>10</sup>Then said hee vnto them, Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, <sup>11</sup>And great earthquakes shall be in diuers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearefull things, and great signes shall

there be from heauen. <sup>12</sup>But before all these, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, deliuering you vp to the assemblies, and into prisons, and bring you before Kings and rulers for my Names sake. <sup>13</sup>And this shall turne to you, for a testimoniall. <sup>14</sup>Lay it vp therefore in your heartes, that ye cast not before hand, what ye shall answer. <sup>15</sup>For I will giue you a mouth and wisdome, where against all your aduersaries shall not be able to speake, nor resist. <sup>16</sup>Yea, ye shalbe betrayed also of your parents, and of your brethren, and kinsmen, and friendes, and some of you shall they put to death. <sup>17</sup>And ye shall bee hated of all men for my Names sake. <sup>18</sup>Yet there shall not one heare of your heads perish. <sup>19</sup>By your patience possesse your soules. <sup>20</sup>And when ye see Hierusalem besieged with souldiers, then vnderstand that the desolation thereof is neere. <sup>21</sup>Then let them which are in Iudea, flee to the mountaines: and let them which are in the middes thereof, depart out: and let not them that are in the countrey, enter therein. <sup>22</sup>For these be the dayes of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written. <sup>23</sup>But woe be to them that be with childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes: for there shalbe great distresse in this land, and wrath ouer this people. <sup>24</sup>And they shall fall on the edge of the sword, and shalbe led captiue into all nations, and Hierusalem shalbe troden vnder foote of the Gentiles, vntill the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled. <sup>25</sup>Then there shalbe signes in the sunne, and in the moone, and in the starres, and vpon the earth trouble among the nations with perplexitie: the sea and the waters shall roare. <sup>26</sup>And mens hearts shall faile them for feare, and for looking after those thinges which shall come on the worlde: for the powers of heauen shall be shaken. <sup>27</sup>And then shall they see the Sonne of man come in a cloude, with power and great glory. <sup>28</sup>And when these things beginne to come to passe, then looke vp, and lift vp your heades: for your redemption draweth neere. <sup>29</sup>And he spake to them a parable, Behold, the figge tree, and all trees, <sup>30</sup>When they nowe shoote forth, ye seeing them, knowe of your owne selues, that sommer is then neere. <sup>31</sup>So likewise yee, when yee see these thinges come to passe, knowe ye that the kingdome of God is neere. <sup>32</sup>Verely I say vnto you, This age shall not passe, till all these things be done: <sup>33</sup>Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my wordes shall not passe away. <sup>34</sup>Take heede to your selues, lest at any time your hearts be oppressed with surfetig and drunkennesse, and cares of this life, and least that day come on you at vnwares. <sup>35</sup>For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth. <sup>36</sup>Watche therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to escape all these thinges that shall come to passe, and that ye may stand before the Sonne of man. <sup>37</sup>Nowe in the day time hee taught in the Temple, and at night hee went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Oliues. <sup>38</sup>And all the people came in the morning to him, to heare him in the Temple.

22 Now the feast of vnleauened bread drewe neere, which is called the Passeouer. 2 And the hie Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people. 3 Then entred Satan into Iudas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelue. 4 And he went his way, and communed with the hie Priestes and captaines, how he might betray him to them. 5 So they were glad, and agreed to giue him money. 6 And he consented, and sought opportunitie to betraye him vnto them, when the people were away. 7 Then came the day of vnleauened bread, when the Passeouer must be sacrificed. 8 And he sent Peter and Iohn, saying, Go and prepare vs the Passeouer, that we may eate it. 9 And they saide to him, Where wilt thou, that we prepare it? 10 Then he said vnto them, Beholde, when ye be entred into the citie, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water: folowe him into the house that he entreth in, 11 And say vnto the good man of the house, The Master saith vnto thee, Where is the lodging where I shall eate my Passeouer with my disciples? 12 Then he shall shewe you a great hie chamber trimmed: there make it ready. 13 So they went, and found as he had said vnto them, and made readie the Passeouer. 14 And when the houre was come, hee sate downe, and the twelue Apostles with him. 15 Then he saide vnto them, I haue earnestly desired to eate this Passeouer with you, before I suffer. 16 For I say vnto you, Hencefoorth I will not eate of it any more, vntill it bee fulfilled in the kingdome of God. 17 And hee tooke the cup, and gaue thanks, and said, Take this, and deuide it among you, 18 For I say vnto you, I will not drinke of the fruite of the vine, vntill the kingdome of God be come. 19 And he tooke bread, and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it, and gaue to them, saying, This is my body, which is giuen for you: doe this in the remembrance of me. 20 Likewise also after supper he tooke the cup, saying, This cup is that newe Testament in my blood, which is shed for you. 21 Yet beholde, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the table. 22 And truly the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe be to that man, by whom he is betrayed. 23 Then they began to enquire among themselues which of them it should be, that should do that. 24 And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be ye greatest. 25 But hee saide vnto them, The Kings of the Gentiles reigne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them, are called bountifull. 26 But yee shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chieftest as he that serueth. 27 For who is greater, he that sitteth at table, or he that serueth? Is not he that sitteth at table? And I am among you as he that serueth. 28 And yee are they which haue continued with me in my tentations. 29 Therefore I appoint vnto you a kingdome, as my Father hath appointed vnto me, 30 That ye may eate, and drinke at my table in my kingdome, and sit on seates, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel. 31 And the Lord saide, Simon, Simon, beholde,

Satan hath desired you, to winowe you as wheate. 32 But I haue prayed for thee, that thy faith faile not: therefore when thou art conuerted, strengthen thy brethren. 33 And he said vnto him, Lord, I am ready to goe with thee into prison, and to death. 34 But he said, I tell thee, Peter, the cocke shall not crowe this day, before thou hast thrise denied that thou knewest me. 35 And he saide vnto them, When I sent you without bagge, and scrip, and shooes, lacked ye any thing? And they said, Nothing. 36 Then he said to them, But nowe he that hath a bagge, let him take it, and likewise a scrip: and hee that hath none, let him sell his coate, and buy a sworde. 37 For I say vnto you, That yet the same which is written, must be perfourmed in me, Euen with the wicked was he nombred: for doubtlesse those things which are written of me, haue an ende. 38 And they said, Lord, beholde, here are two swordes. And he said vnto them, It is ynough. 39 And he came out, and went (as he was wont) to the mount of Oliues: and his disciples also followed him. 40 And when hee came to the place, hee said to them, Pray, lest ye enter into tentation. 41 And he was drawen aside from them about a stoness cast, and kneeled downe, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou wilt, take away this cuppe from mee: neuerthelesse, not my will, but thine be done. 43 And there appeared an Angell vnto him from heauen, comforting him. 44 But being in an agonie, hee prayed more earnestly: and his sweate was like drops of blood, trickling downe to the ground. 45 And he rose vp from prayer, and came to his disciples, and found them sleeping for heauinesse. 46 And he said vnto them, Why sleepe ye? rise and pray, least ye enter into tentation. 47 And while he yet spake, beholde, a companie, and he that was called Iudas one of the twelue, went before them, and came neere vnto Iesus to kisse him. 48 And Iesus saide vnto him, Iudas, betrayest thou the Sonne of man with a kisse? 49 Now when they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said vnto him, Lord, shall we smite with sworde? 50 And one of them smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and strooke off his right eare. 51 Then Iesus answered, and said, Suffer them thus farre: and he touched his eare, and healed him. 52 Then Iesus said vnto the hie Priests, and captaines of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Bee ye come out as vnto a theeffe with swordes and stauess? 53 When I was dayly with you in the Temple, yee stretched not forth the handes against mee: but this is your very houre, and the power of darkenesse. 54 Then tooke they him, and led him, and brought him to the hie Priestes house. And Peter followed afarre off. 55 And when they had kindled a fire in the middes of the hall, and were set downe together, Peter also sate downe among them. 56 And a certaine mayde behelde him as hee sate by the fire, and hauing well looked on him, said, This man was also with him. 57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not. 58 And after a little while, another man sawe him, and saide, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not. <sup>59</sup>And about the space of an houre after, a certaine other affirmed, saying. Verely euen this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean. <sup>60</sup>And Peter saide, Man, I knowe not what thou sayest. And immediatly while hee yet spake, the cocke crewe. <sup>61</sup>Then the Lord turned backe, and looked vpon Peter: and Peter remembred the worde of the Lord, how he had said vnto him, Before the cocke crewe, thou shalt denie me thrise. <sup>62</sup>And Peter went out, and wept bitterly. <sup>63</sup>And the men that helde Iesus, mocked him, and strooke him. <sup>64</sup>And when they had blindfolded him, they smote him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophecie who it is that smote thee. <sup>65</sup>And many other thinges blasphemously spake they against him. <sup>66</sup>And assoone as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the hie Priests and the Scribes came together, and led him into their councill, <sup>67</sup>Saying, Art thou that Christ? tell vs. And he said vnto them, If I tell you, ye wil not beleuee it. <sup>68</sup>And if also I aske you, you will not answere me, nor let me goe. <sup>69</sup>Hereafter shall the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God. <sup>70</sup>Then sayd they all, Art thou then ye Sonne of God? And he sayd to them, Ye say, that I am. <sup>71</sup>Then sayd they, What neede we any further witnes? for we our selues haue heard it of his owne mouth.

23Then the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate. <sup>2</sup>And they began to accuse him, saying, We haue found this man peruerting the nation, and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a King. <sup>3</sup>And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And hee answered him, and sayd, Thou sayest it. <sup>4</sup>Then sayd Pilate to the hie Priests, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man. <sup>5</sup>But they were the more fierce, saying, He moueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galile, euen to this place. <sup>6</sup>Nowe when Pilate heard of Galile, he asked whether the man were a Galilean. <sup>7</sup>And when he knewe that he was of Herods iurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes. <sup>8</sup>And when Herod sawe Iesus, hee was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue seene some signe done by him. <sup>9</sup>Then questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing. <sup>10</sup>The hie Priests also and Scribes stood forth, and accused him vehemently. <sup>11</sup>And Herod with his men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and arayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate. <sup>12</sup>And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another. <sup>13</sup>Then Pilate called together the hie Priests and the rulers, and the people, <sup>14</sup>And sayd vnto them, Ye haue brought this man vnto me, as one that peruerted the people: and beholde, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him: <sup>15</sup>No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and loe, nothing worthy of death is done of him. <sup>16</sup>I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose. <sup>17</sup>(For of necessitie hee must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast.) <sup>18</sup>Then all ye multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barabbas: <sup>19</sup>Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and murder, was cast in prison. <sup>20</sup>Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose. <sup>21</sup>But they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him. <sup>22</sup>And he sayd vnto them the third time, But what euill hath he done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose. <sup>23</sup>But they were instant with loude voyces, and required that he might be crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priests preuailed. <sup>24</sup>So Pilate gaue sentence, that it should be as they required. <sup>25</sup>And he let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whome they desired, and deliuered Iesus to doe with him what they would. <sup>26</sup>And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, comming out of the felde, and on him they layde the crosse, to beare it after Iesus. <sup>27</sup>And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him. <sup>28</sup>But Iesus turned backe vnto them, and said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children. <sup>29</sup>For behold, the dayes wil come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer gaue sucke. <sup>30</sup>Then shall they begin to say to the mountaines, Fall on vs: and to the hilles, Couer vs. <sup>31</sup>For if they doe these things to a greene tree, what shalbe done to the drie? <sup>32</sup>And there were two others, which were euill doers, led with him to be slaine. <sup>33</sup>And when they were come to the place, which is called Caluarie, there they crucified him, and the euill doers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left. <sup>34</sup>Then sayd Iesus, Father, forgiue them: for they know not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lottes. <sup>35</sup>And the people stode, and behelde: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saued others: let him saue himselfe, if hee be that Christ, the Chosen of God. <sup>36</sup>The souldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger, <sup>37</sup>And said, If thou be the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe. <sup>38</sup>And a superscription was also written ouer him, in Greeke letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE JEWES. <sup>39</sup>And one of the euill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, saue thy selfe and vs. <sup>40</sup>But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation? <sup>41</sup>We are in deede righteously here: for we receiue things worthy of that we haue done: but this man hath done nothing amisse. <sup>42</sup>And he sayd vnto Iesus, Lord, remember me, when thou comest into thy kingdome. <sup>43</sup>Then Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, to day shalt thou be with me in Paradise. <sup>44</sup>And it was about the sixt houre: and there was a darkenes ouer all the land, vntill the ninth houre. <sup>45</sup>And the Sunne was darkened, and the vaile of the Temple rent through the middes. <sup>46</sup>And Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, Father, into thine hands I commend my spirit. And when hee thus had sayd, hee gaue vp the ghost. <sup>47</sup>Nowe when the Centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a suretie this man was iust. <sup>48</sup>And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things, which were done, smote their brestes, and returned. <sup>49</sup>And all his acquaintance stood a farre off, and the women that followed him from Galile, beholding these things. <sup>50</sup>And beholde, there was a man named Ioseph, which was a counsellor, a good man and a iust. <sup>51</sup>Hee did not consent to the counsell and deede of them, which was of Arimathea, a citie of the Iewes: who also himselfe waited for the kingdome of God. <sup>52</sup>He went vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus, <sup>53</sup>And tooke it downe, and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and laide it in a tombe hewen out of a rocke, wherein was neuer man yet laide. <sup>54</sup>And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath drewe on. <sup>55</sup>And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galile, behelde the sepulchre, and how his body was layd. <sup>56</sup>And they returned and prepared odours, and ointments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

24Nowe the first day of the weeke early in the morning, they came vnto the sepulchre, and brought the odours, which they had prepared, and certaine women with them. <sup>2</sup>And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre, <sup>3</sup>And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Iesus. <sup>4</sup>And it came to passe, that as they were amased thereat, beholde, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures. <sup>5</sup>And as they were afraide, and bowed downe their faces to the earth, they sayd to them, Why seeke ye him that liueth, among the dead? <sup>6</sup>He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake vnto you, when he was yet in Galile, <sup>7</sup>Saying, that the sonne of man must be deliuered into the hands of sinfull men, and be crucified, and the third day rise againe. <sup>8</sup>And they remembered his wordes, <sup>9</sup>And returned from the sepulchre, and tolde all these things vnto the eleuen, and to all the remnant. <sup>10</sup>Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Ioanna, and Mary the mother of Iames, and other women with them, which tolde these things vnto the Apostles. <sup>11</sup>But their wordes seemed vnto them, as a fained thing, neither beleueed they them. <sup>12</sup>Then arose Peter, and ran vnto the sepulchre, and looked in, and saw the linnen clothes laide by themselues, and departed wondering in himselfe at that which was come to passe. <sup>13</sup>And beholde, two of them went that same day to a towne which was from Hierusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus. <sup>14</sup>And they talked together of al these things that were done. <sup>15</sup>And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Iesus him-

selfe drewe neere, and went with them. <sup>16</sup>But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him. <sup>17</sup>And he sayd vnto them, What maner of communications are these that ye haue one to another as ye walke and are sad? <sup>18</sup>And the one (named Cleopas) answered, and sayd vnto him, Art thou onely a stranger in Hierusalem, and hast not knowen the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes? <sup>19</sup>And he said vnto them, What things? And they sayd vnto him, Of Iesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mightie in deede and in word before God, and all people, <sup>20</sup>And howe the hie Priests, and our rulers deliuered him to be condemned to death, and haue crucified him. <sup>21</sup>But we trusted that it had bene he that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is ye third day, that they were done. <sup>22</sup>Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs astonied, which came early vnto the sepulchre. <sup>23</sup>And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which sayd, that he was aliuie. <sup>24</sup>Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had sayd, but him they saw not. <sup>25</sup>Then he sayd vnto them, O fooles and slowe of heart to beleuee all that the Prophets haue spoken! <sup>26</sup>Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things, and to enter into his glory? <sup>27</sup>And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him. <sup>28</sup>And they drew neere vnto ye towne, which they went to, but he made as though hee would haue gone further. <sup>29</sup>But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs: for it is towards night, and the day is farre spent. So he went in to tarie with them. <sup>30</sup>And it came to passe, as hee sate at table with them, he tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gaue it to them. <sup>31</sup>Then their eyes were opened, and they knewe him: and he was no more seene of them. <sup>32</sup>And they saide betweene themselues, Did not our heartes burne within vs, while he talked with vs by the way, and when he opened to vs the Scriptures? <sup>33</sup>And they rose vp the same houre, and returned to Hierusalem, and found the Eleuen gathered together, and them that were with them, <sup>34</sup>Which said, The Lord is risen in deede, and hath appeared to Simon. <sup>35</sup>Then they tolde what things were done in the way, and howe he was knowen of them in breaking of bread. <sup>36</sup>And as they spake these things, Iesus himselfe stode in the middes of them, and saide vnto them, Peace be to you. <sup>37</sup>But they were abashed and afraide, supposing that they had seene a spirit. <sup>38</sup>Then he saide vnto them, Why are ye troubled? and wherefore doe doutes arise in your hearts? <sup>39</sup>Beholde mine handes and my feete: for it is I my selfe: handle me, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me haue. <sup>40</sup>And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his handes and feete. <sup>41</sup>And while they yet beleueed not for ioy, and wondred, he saide vnto them, Haue ye here any meate? <sup>42</sup>And they gaue him a piece of a broyled fish, and of an honie combe, <sup>43</sup>And hee tooke it, and did eate before them. <sup>44</sup>And he saide vnto them, These are the wordes, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Lawe of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalmes. <sup>45</sup>Then opened he their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures, <sup>46</sup>And said vnto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behoued Christ to suffer, and to rise againe from the dead the third day, <sup>47</sup>And that repentance, and remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name among all nations, beginning at Hierusalem. <sup>48</sup>Nowe ye are witnesses of these things. <sup>49</sup>And beholde, I doe sende the promise of my Father vpon you: but tary ye in the citie of Hierusalem, vntill ye be endued with power from an hie. <sup>50</sup>Afterward he lead them out into Bethania, and lift vp his hands, and blessed them. <sup>51</sup>And it came to passe, that as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was caried vp into heauen. <sup>52</sup>And they worshipped him, and returned to Hierusalem with great ioy, <sup>53</sup>And were continually in the Temple, praying, and lauding God, Amen.

John

1In the beginning was that Word, and that Word was with God, and that Word was God. 2This same was in the beginning with God. 3All things were made by it, and without it was made nothing that was made. 4In it was life, and that life was the light of men. 5And that light shineth in the darknesse, and the darknesse comprehended it not. 6There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn. 7This same came for a witness, to beare witness of that light, that all men through him might beleue. 8He was not that light, but was sent to beare witness of that light. 9This was that true light, which lighteth euery man that commeth into the world. 10He was in the world, and the worlde was made by him: and the worlde knewe him not. 11He came vnto his owne, and his owne receiued him not. 12But as many as receiued him, to them he gaue prerogatiue to be the sonnes of God, euen to them that beleue in his Name. 13Which are borne not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of ye wil of man, but of God. 14And that Word was made flesh, and dwelt among vs, (and we sawe the glorie thereof, as the glorie of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) full of grace and trueth. 15Iohn bare witness of him, and cryed, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that cometh after me, was before me: for he was better then I. 16And of his fulnesse haue all we receiued, and grace for grace. 17For the Lawe was giuen by Moses, but grace, and trueth came by Iesus Christ. 18No man hath seene God at any time: that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the bosome of the Father, he hath declared him. 19Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priestes and Leuites from Hierusalem, to aske him, Who art thou? 20And he confessed and denied not, and said plainly, I am not that Christ. 21And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I am not. Art thou that Prophet? And he answered, No. 22Then said they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue an answer to them that sent vs? What sayest thou of thy selfe? 23He said, I am the voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Esaias. 24Nowe they which were sent, were of the Pharises. 25And they asked him, and saide vnto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that

Prophet? 26Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whom ye knowe not. 27He it is that commeth after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthie to vnloose. 28These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize. 29The next day Iohn, seeth Iesus comming vnto him, and saith, Beholde that Lambe of God, which taketh away the sinne of the world. 30This is he of whom I saide, After me cometh a man, which was before me: for he was better then I. 31And I knewe him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water. 32So Iohn bare recorde, saying, I behelde that Spirit come downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him, 33And I knewe him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, he saide vnto me, Vpon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come downe, and tary still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost. 34And I sawe, and bare record that this is that Sonne of God. 35The next day, Iohn stode againe, and two of his disciples. 36And he behelde Iesus walking by, and said, Beholde that Lambe of God. 37And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus. 38Then Iesus turned about, and saw them follow, and saide vnto them, What seeke ye? And they saide vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou? 39He saide vnto them, Come, and see. They came and sawe where hee dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth houre. 40Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him. 41The same founde his brother Simon first, and said vnto him, We haue founde that Messias, which is by interpretation, that Christ. 42And he brought him to Iesus. And Iesus behelde him, and saide, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a stone. 43The day following, Iesus woulde goe into Galile, and founde Philip, and said vnto him, Followe me. 44Nowe Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter. 45Philippe founde Nathanael, and saide vnto him, Wee haue founde him of whom Moses did write in the Lawe, and the Prophetes, Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth. 46Then Nathanael sayde vnto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip saide to him, Come, and see. 47Iesus sawe Nathanael comming to him, and saide of him, Beholde in deede an Israelite, in whom is no guile. <sup>48</sup>Nathanael sayde vnto him, Whence knewest thou mee? Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast vnder the figge tree, I sawe thee. <sup>49</sup>Nathanael answered, and saide vnto him, Rabbi, thou art that Sonne of God: thou art that King of Israel. <sup>50</sup>Iesus answered, and sayde vnto him, Because I sayde vnto thee, I sawe thee vnder the figtree, beleueest thou? thou shalt see greater things then these. <sup>51</sup>And he saide vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto you, hereafter shall yee see heauen open, and the Angels of God ascending, and descending vpon that Sonne of man.

2And the thirde day, was there a mariage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there. <sup>2</sup>And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the mariage. <sup>3</sup>Nowe when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus saide vnto him, They haue no wine. <sup>4</sup>Iesus saide vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine houre is not yet come. <sup>5</sup>His mother saide vnto the seruants, Whatsoeuer he sayeth vnto you, doe it. <sup>6</sup>And there were set there, sixe waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of the Iewes, containing two or three firkins a piece. <sup>7</sup>And Iesus sayde vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brim. <sup>8</sup>Then he sayde vnto them, Draw out nowe and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it. <sup>9</sup>Nowe when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knewe not whence it was: but the seruants, which drewe the water, knewe) the gouernour of ye feast called the bridegrome, <sup>10</sup>And saide vnto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men haue well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill nowe. <sup>11</sup>This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and shewed forth his glorie: and his disciples beleued on him. <sup>12</sup>After that, he went downe into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many daies there. <sup>13</sup>For the Iewes Passeouer was at hande. Therefore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem. <sup>14</sup>And he found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doues, and changers of money, sitting there. <sup>15</sup>Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrew the tables, <sup>16</sup>And said vnto them that solde doues, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of marchandise. <sup>17</sup>And his disciples remembred, that it was written, The zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp. <sup>18</sup>Then answered the Iewes, and saide vnto him, What signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things? <sup>19</sup>Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Destroy this Temple, and in three daies I will raise it vp againe. <sup>20</sup>Then said the Iewes, Fourtie and sixe yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three daies? <sup>21</sup>But he spake of the temple of his bodie. <sup>22</sup>Assoone therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembred that hee thus sayde vnto them: and they beleued the Scripture, and the worde which Iesus had saide. <sup>23</sup>Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passeouer in the feast, many beleued in his Name, when they sawe his miracles which he did. <sup>24</sup>But Iesus did not commit him selfe vnto them, because he knewe them all, <sup>25</sup>And had no neede that any should testifie of man: for he knewe what was in man.

3There was nowe a man of the Pharises, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Iewes. <sup>2</sup>This man came to Iesus by night, and sayd vnto him, Rabbi, we knowe ye thou art a teacher come from God: for no man could do these miracles that thou doest, except God were with him. <sup>3</sup>Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except a man be borne againe, he can not see the kingdome of God. <sup>4</sup>Nicodemus sayde vnto him, Howe can a man be borne which is olde? can he enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne? <sup>5</sup>Iesus answered, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirite, hee can not enter into the kingdome of God. <sup>6</sup>That which is borne of the flesh, is flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirit, is spirit. <sup>7</sup>Marueile not that I said to thee, Yee must be borne againe. <sup>8</sup>The winde bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it commeth, and whither it goeth: so is euery man that is borne of the Spirit. <sup>9</sup>Nicodemus answered, and said vnto him, Howe can these things be? <sup>10</sup>Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things? <sup>11</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto thee, wee speake that we know, and testifie that we haue seene: but yee receiue not our witnesse. <sup>12</sup>If when I tel you earthly things, ye beleue not, howe should yee beleue, if I shall tel you of heauenly things? <sup>13</sup>For no man ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath descended from heauen, that Sonne of man which is in heauen. <sup>14</sup>And as Moses lift vp the serpent in the wilderness, so must that Sonne of man be lift vp, <sup>15</sup>That whosoeuer beleueeth in him, shoulde not perish, but haue eternall life. <sup>16</sup>For God so loued the worlde, that hee hath giuen his onely begotten Sonne, that whosoeuer beleueeth in him, should not perish, but haue euerlasting life. <sup>17</sup>For God sent not his Sonne into the world, that he should condemne the world, but that the world through him might be saued. <sup>18</sup>Hee that beleueeth in him, is not condemned: but hee that beleueeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not beleued in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God. <sup>19</sup>And this is the condemnation, that that light came into the worlde, and men loued darknesse rather then that light, because their deedes were euill. <sup>20</sup>For euery man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither commeth to light, least his deedes should be reprooued. <sup>21</sup>But he that doeth trueth, commeth to the light, that his deedes might bee made manifest, that they are wrought according to God. <sup>22</sup>After these things, came Iesus and his disciples into the lande of Iudea, and there taried with them, and baptized. <sup>23</sup>And Iohn also baptized in Enon besides Salim, because there was much water there: and they came, and were baptized. <sup>24</sup>For Iohn was not yet cast into prison. <sup>25</sup>Then there arose a question betweene Iohns disciples and the Iewes, about purifying. <sup>26</sup>And they came vnto Iohn, and saide vnto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Iorden, to whom thou barest witness, behold, he baptizeth, and all men come to him. <sup>27</sup>Iohn answered, and saide, A man can receiue nothing, except it be giuen him from heauen. <sup>28</sup>Yee your selues are my witnesses, that I sayde, I am not that Christ, but that I am sent before him. <sup>29</sup>He that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friend of the bridegrome which standeth and heareth him, reioyceth greatly, because of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy therefore is fulfilled. <sup>30</sup>He must increase, but I must decrease. <sup>31</sup>Hee that is come from an hie, is aboue all: he that is of the earth, is of the earth, and speaketh of the earth: hee that is come from heauen, is aboue all. <sup>32</sup>And what hee hath seene and heard, that he testifieth: but no man receiueh his testimonie. <sup>33</sup>He that hath receiued his testimonie, hath sealed that God is true. <sup>34</sup>For hee whome God hath sent, speaketh the woordes of God: for God giueth him not the Spirit by measure. <sup>35</sup>The Father loueth the Sonne, and hath giuen all things into his hande. <sup>36</sup>Hee that beleueh in the Sonne, hath euerlasting life, and hee that obeyeth not the Sonne, shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

and said vnto her, Whosoeuer drinketh of this water, shall thirst againe: <sup>14</sup>But whosoeuer drinketh of the water that I shall giue him, shall neuer be more a thirst: but the water that I shall giue him, shalbe in him a well of water, springing vp into euerlasting life. <sup>15</sup>The woman said vnto him, Syr, giue me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to drawe. <sup>16</sup>Iesus said vnto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither. <sup>17</sup>The woman answered, and saide, I haue no husband. Iesus said vnto her, Thou hast well said, I haue no husband. <sup>18</sup>For thou hast had fiue husbands, and he whom thou nowe hast, is not thine husband: that saidest thou truely. <sup>19</sup>The woman saide vnto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet. <sup>20</sup>Our fathers worshipped in this mountaine, and ye say, that in Ierusalem is the place where men ought to worship. <sup>21</sup>Iesus saide vnto her, Woman, beleue me, the houre commeth, when ye shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship ye Father. <sup>22</sup>Ye worship that which ye knowe not: we worship that which we knowe: for saluation is of the Iewes. <sup>23</sup>But the houre commeth, and nowe is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit, and trueth: for the Father requireth euen such to worship him. <sup>24</sup>God is a Spirite, and they that worship him, must worship him in spirit and trueth. <sup>25</sup>The woman said vnto him, I knowe well that Messias shall come which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell vs all things. <sup>26</sup>Iesus said vnto her, I am he, that speake vnto thee. <sup>27</sup>And vpon that, came his disciples, and marueiled that he talked with a woman: yet no man said vnto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her? <sup>28</sup>The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the citie, and said to the men, <sup>29</sup>Come, see a man which hath tolde me all things that euer I did: is not he that Christ? <sup>30</sup>Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him. <sup>31</sup>In the meane while, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eate. <sup>32</sup>But he said vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye know not of. <sup>33</sup>Then said ye disciples betweene themselues, Hath any man brought him meate? <sup>34</sup>Iesus saide vnto them, My meate is that I may doe the will of him that sent me, and finish his worke. <sup>35</sup>Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth haruest? Beholde, I say vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: for they are white alreadie vnto haruest. <sup>36</sup>And he that reapeth, receiueh rewarde, and gathereth fruite vnto life eternall, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth, might reioyce together. <sup>37</sup>For herein is the saying true, that one soweth, and an other reapeth. <sup>38</sup>I sent you to reape that, whereon ye bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours. <sup>39</sup>Nowe many of the Samaritans of that citie beleued in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath tolde me all things that euer I did. <sup>40</sup>Then when the Samaritans were come vnto him, they besought him, that he woulde tarie with them: and he abode there two dayes. <sup>41</sup>And many moe beleued because of his owne word. <sup>42</sup>And they said vnto the woman, Nowe we beleue, not because of thy saying: for we haue heard him our selues, and knowe that this is in deede that Christ the Sauour of the world. <sup>43</sup>So two dayes after he departed thence, and went into Galile. <sup>44</sup>For Iesus himselfe had testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his owne countrey. <sup>45</sup>Then when he was come into Galile, the Galileans receiued him, which had seene all the things that he did at Hierusalem at the feast: for they went also vnto the feast. <sup>46</sup>And Iesus came againe into Cana a towne of Galile, where he had made of water, wine. And there was a certaine ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum. <sup>47</sup>When he heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galile, he went vnto him, and besought him that he would goe downe, and heale his sonne: for he was euen ready to die. <sup>48</sup>Then saide Iesus vnto him, Except ye see signes and wonders, ye will not beleue. <sup>49</sup>The ruler said vnto him, Syr, goe downe before my sonne dye. <sup>50</sup>Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way, thy sonne liueth: and the man beleued the worde that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way. <sup>51</sup>And as he was nowe going downe, his seruants met him, saying, Thy sonne liueth. <sup>52</sup>Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they said vnto him, Yesterday the seuenth houre the feuer left him. <sup>53</sup>Then the father knew, that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had said vnto him, Thy sonne liueth. And he beleued, and all his houshold. <sup>54</sup>This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galile.

<sup>5</sup>After that, there was a feast of the Iewes, and Iesus went vp to Hierusalem. <sup>2</sup>And there is at Hierusalem by the place of the sheepe, a poole called in Ebrew Bethesda, hauing fiue porches: <sup>3</sup>In the which lay a great multitude of sicke folke, of blinde, halte, and withered, wayting for the mouing of the water. <sup>4</sup>For an Angel went downe at a certaine season into the poole, and troubled the water: whosoeuer then first, after the stirring of the water, stepped in, was made whole of whatsoeuer disease he had. <sup>5</sup>And a certaine man was there, which had bene diseased eight and thirtie yeeres. <sup>6</sup>When Iesus sawe him lie, and knew that he nowe long time had bene diseased, he saide vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole? <sup>7</sup>The sicke man answered him, Sir, I haue no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the poole: but while I am comming, another steppeth downe before me. <sup>8</sup>Iesus said vnto him, Rise: take vp thy bed, and walke. <sup>9</sup>And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath. <sup>10</sup>The Iewes therefore said to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: it is not lawfull for thee to cary thy bed. <sup>11</sup>He answered them, He that made me whole, he said vnto me, Take vp thy bed, and walke. <sup>12</sup>Then asked they him, What man is that which said vnto thee, Take vp thy bed and walke? <sup>13</sup>And he that was healed, knewe not who it was:

for Iesus had conueied himselfe away from the multitude that was in that place. <sup>14</sup>And after that, Iesus founde him in the Temple, and said vnto him, Beholde, thou art made whole: sinne no more, lest a worse thing come vnto thee. <sup>15</sup>The man departed and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus, which had made him whole. <sup>16</sup>And therefore the Iewes did persecute Iesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath day. <sup>17</sup>But Iesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I worke. <sup>18</sup>Therefore the Iewes sought the more to kill him: not onely because he had broken the Sabbath: but said also that God was his Father, and made himselfe equall with God. <sup>19</sup>Then answered Iesus, and said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, The Sonne can doe nothing of himselfe, saue that he seeth the Father doe: for whatsoeuer things he doth, the same things doeth the Sonne in like maner. <sup>20</sup>For the Father loueth the Sonne, and sheweth him all things, whatsoeuer he himselfe doeth, and he will shewe him greater workes then these, that ye should marueile. <sup>21</sup>For likewise as the Father rayseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Sonne quickeneth whom he will. <sup>22</sup>For the Father iudgeth no man, but hath committed all iudgement vnto the Sonne, <sup>23</sup>Because that all men shoulde honour the Sonne, as they honour the Father: he that honoureth not the Sonne, the same honoureth not the Father, which hath sent him. <sup>24</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that heareth my worde, and beleueth him that sent me, hath euerlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death vnto life. <sup>25</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, the houre shall come, and now is, when the dead shall heare the voyce of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it, shall liue. <sup>26</sup>For as the Father hath life in himselfe, so likewise hath he giuen to the Sonne to haue life in himselfe, <sup>27</sup>And hath giuen him power also to execute iudgement, in that he is the Sonne of man. <sup>28</sup>Marueile not at this: for the houre shall come, in the which all that are in the graues, shall heare his voyce. <sup>29</sup>And they shall come forth, that haue done good, vnto ye resurrection of life: but they that haue done euil, vnto the resurrection of condemnation. <sup>30</sup>I can doe nothing of mine owne selfe: as I heare, I iudge: and my iudgement is iust, because I seeke not mine owne will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me. <sup>31</sup>If I should beare witness of my selfe, my witness were not true. <sup>32</sup>There is another that beareth witness of me, and I know that the witness, which he beareth of me, is true. <sup>33</sup>Ye sent vnto Iohn, and he bare witness vnto the trueth. <sup>34</sup>But I receiue not the record of man: neuerthelesse these things I say, that ye might be saued. <sup>35</sup>He was a burning, and a shining candle: and ye would for a season haue reioyced in his light. <sup>36</sup>But I haue greater witness then the witness of Iohn: for the workes which the Father hath giuen me to finish, the same workes that I doe, beare witness of me, that the Father sent me. <sup>37</sup>And the Father himselfe, which hath sent me, bearth wisse of me. Ye haue not heard his voyce at any time, neither haue ye seene his shape. <sup>38</sup>And his worde haue you not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye beleueed not. <sup>39</sup>Searche the Scriptures: for in them ye thinke to haue eternall life, and they are they which testifie of me. <sup>40</sup>But ye will not come to me, that ye might haue life. <sup>41</sup>I receiue not the prayse of men. <sup>42</sup>But I know you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you. <sup>43</sup>I am come in my Fathers Name, and ye receiue me not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue. <sup>44</sup>How can ye beleue, which receiue honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that commeth of God alone? <sup>45</sup>Doe not thinke that I will accuse you to my Father: there is one that accuseth you, euen Moses, in whom ye trust. <sup>46</sup>For had ye beleueed Moses, ye would haue beleueed me: for he wrote of me. <sup>47</sup>But if ye beleue not his writings, how shall ye beleue my wordes?

6After these thinges, Iesus went his way ouer the sea of Galile, which is Tiberias. <sup>2</sup>And a great multitude followed him, because they sawe his miracles, which hee did on them that were diseased. <sup>3</sup>Then Iesus went vp into a mountaine, and there he sate with his disciples. <sup>4</sup>Now the Passeouer, a feast of the Iewes, was neere. <sup>5</sup>Then Iesus lift vp his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came vnto him, hee sayde vnto Philippe, Whence shall we buy breade, that these might eate? <sup>6</sup>(And this he sayde to prooue him: for hee himselfe knewe what he would doe.) <sup>7</sup>Philippe answered him, Two hundred penie worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that euery one of them may take a litle. <sup>8</sup>Then saide vnto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, <sup>9</sup>There is a little boy heere, which hath fife barlie loaues, and two fishes: but what are they among so many? <sup>10</sup>And Iesus saide, Make ye people sit downe. (Nowe there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men sate downe in nomber, about fife thousande. <sup>11</sup>And Iesus tooke the bread, and gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples, to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would. <sup>12</sup>And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost. <sup>13</sup>Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meat of the fife barly loaues, which remained vnto them that had eaten. <sup>14</sup>Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, saide, This is of a trueth that Prophet that should come into the world. <sup>15</sup>When Iesus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a King, hee departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone. <sup>16</sup>When euen was nowe come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea, <sup>17</sup>And entred into a shippe, and went ouer the sea, towardes Capernaum: and nowe it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them. <sup>18</sup>And the Sea arose with a great winde that blewe. <sup>19</sup>And when they had rowed about fife and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they

sawe Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing neere vnto the ship: so they were afraide. <sup>20</sup>But he said vnto them, It is I: be not afraid. <sup>21</sup>Then willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the lande, whither they went. <sup>22</sup>The day following, the people which stode on the other side of the sea, saw that there was none other ship there, saue that one, whereinto his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone, <sup>23</sup>And that there came other ships from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks. <sup>24</sup>Nowe when the people sawe that Iesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus. <sup>25</sup>And when they had founde him on the other side of the sea, they sayde vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither? <sup>26</sup>Iesus answered them; and sayde, Verely, verely I say vnto you, ye seeke me not because ye sawe the miracles, but because yee ate of ye loaues, and were filled. <sup>27</sup>Labour not for ye meate which perisheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlasting life, which the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you: for him hath God the Father sealed. <sup>28</sup>Then sayde they vnto him, What shall we doe, that we might worke the workes of God? <sup>29</sup>Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, This is the worke of God, that yee beleue in him, whome he hath sent. <sup>30</sup>They sayde therefore vnto him, What signe shewest thou then, that we may see it, and beleue thee? what doest thou worke? <sup>31</sup>Our fathers did eate Manna in the desart, as it is written, Hee gaue them bread from heauen to eate. <sup>32</sup>Then Iesus said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Moses gaue you not that bread from heauen, but my Father giueth you that true bread from heauen. <sup>33</sup>For the breade of God is hee which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the world. <sup>34</sup>Then they said vnto him, Lord, euermore giue vs this bread. <sup>35</sup>And Iesus saide vnto them, I am that bread of life: he that commeth to me, shall not hunger, and he that beleueeth in me, shall neuer thirst. <sup>36</sup>But I said vnto you, that ye also haue seene me, and beleue not. <sup>37</sup>All that the Father giueth me, shall come to mee: and him that commeth to me, I cast not away. <sup>38</sup>For I came downe from heauen, not to do mine owne wil, but his wil which hath sent me. <sup>39</sup>And this is the Fathers will which hath sent mee, that of all which hee hath giuen mee, I should lose nothing, but shoulde raise it vp againe at the last day. <sup>40</sup>And this is the will of him that sent mee, that euery man which seeth the Sonne, and beleueeth in him, should haue euerlasting life: and I will raise him vp at the last day. <sup>41</sup>The Iewes then murmured at him because hee sayde, I am that bread, which is come downe from heauen. <sup>42</sup>And they said, Is not this Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother wee knowe? howe then sayth he, I came downe from heauen? <sup>43</sup>Iesus then answered, and saide vnto them, Murmure not among your selues. <sup>44</sup>No man can come to mee, except the Father, which hath sent mee, drawe him: and I will raise him vp at the last day. <sup>45</sup>It is written in the Prophetes, And they shalbe al taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, commeth vnto me: <sup>46</sup>Not that any man hath seene the Father, saue hee which is of God, hee hath seene the Father. <sup>47</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, hee that beleueeth in me, hath euerlasting life. <sup>48</sup>I am that bread of life. <sup>49</sup>Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderness, and are dead. <sup>50</sup>This is that breade, which commeth downe from heauen, that hee which eateth of it, shoulde not die. <sup>51</sup>I am that liuing breade, which came downe from heauen: if any man eate of this breade, hee shall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue, is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world. <sup>52</sup>Then the Iewes stroue among themselues, saying, Howe can this man giue vs his flesh to eate? <sup>53</sup>Then Iesus saide vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except yee eate the flesh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, yee haue no life in you. <sup>54</sup>Whosoouer eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raise him vp at the last day. <sup>55</sup>For my flesh is meat in deede, and my blood is drinke in deede. <sup>56</sup>Hee that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. <sup>57</sup>As that liuing Father hath sent me, so liue I by the Father, and he that eateth me, euen he shall liue by me. <sup>58</sup>This is that bread which came downe from heauen: not as your fathers haue eaten Manna, and are deade. Hee that eateth of this bread, shall liue for euer. <sup>59</sup>These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum. <sup>60</sup>Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) sayde, This is an hard saying: who can heare it? <sup>61</sup>But Iesus knowing in himselfe, that his disciples murmured at this, saide vnto them, Doeth this offend you? <sup>62</sup>What then if yee should see that Sonne of man ascend vp where he was before? <sup>63</sup>It is the spirite that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the woordes that I speake vnto you, are spirite and life. <sup>64</sup>But there are some of you that beleue not: for Iesus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleued not, and who shoulde betray him. <sup>65</sup>And hee saide, Therefore saide I vnto you, that no man can come vnto mee, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father. <sup>66</sup>From that time, many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him. <sup>67</sup>Then sayde Iesus to the twelue, Will yee also goe away? <sup>68</sup>Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whome shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eternall life: <sup>69</sup>And we beleue and knowe that thou art that Christ that Sonne of the liuing God. <sup>70</sup>Iesus answered them, Haue not I chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuill? <sup>71</sup>Now he spake it of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for hee it was that shoulde betraie him, though he was one of the twelue.

the Iewes feast of the Tabernacles was at hande. <sup>3</sup>His brethren therefore sayde vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea, that thy disciples may see thy woorkes that thou doest. <sup>4</sup>For there is no man that doeth any thing secretly, and hee himselfe seeketh to be famous. If thou doest these things, shewe thy selfe to the worlde. <sup>5</sup>For as yet his brethren beleued not in him. <sup>6</sup>Then Iesus saide vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway readie. <sup>7</sup>The world can not hate you: but me it hateth, because I testifie of it, that the woorkes thereof are euill. <sup>8</sup>Go ye vp vnto this feast: I wil not go vp yet vnto this feast: for my time is not yet fulfilled. <sup>9</sup>These things he sayde vnto them, and abode still in Galile. <sup>10</sup>But assoone as his brethren were gone vp, then went hee also vp vnto the feast, not openly, but as it were priuilie. <sup>11</sup>Then the Iewes sought him at the feast, and saide, Where is hee? <sup>12</sup>And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some said, He is a good man: other sayd, Nay: but he deceiueth the people. <sup>13</sup>Howbeit no man spake openly of him for feare of the Iewes. <sup>14</sup>Nowe when halfe the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the Temple and taught. <sup>15</sup>And the Iewes marueiled, saving, Howe knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that hee neuer learned! <sup>16</sup>Iesus answered them, and saide, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. <sup>17</sup>If any man will doe his will, he shall knowe of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe. <sup>18</sup>Hee that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glorie: but hee that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnes is in him. <sup>19</sup>Did not Moses giue you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the lawe? Why goe ye about to kill me? <sup>20</sup>The people answered, and said, Thou hast a deuill: who goeth about to kill thee? <sup>21</sup>Iesus answered, and saide to them, I haue done one worke, and ye all maruaile. <sup>22</sup>Moses therefore gauē vnto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers) and ye on the Sabbath day circumsise a man. <sup>23</sup>If a man on the Sabbath receiue circumcision, that the Lawe of Moses should not be broken, be ye angrie with me, because I haue made a man euery whit whole on the Sabbath day? <sup>24</sup>Iudge not according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement. <sup>25</sup>Then saide some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he, whom they goe about to kill? <sup>26</sup>And beholde, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know in deede that this is in deede that Christ? <sup>27</sup>Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall knowe whence he is. <sup>28</sup>Then cried Iesus in the Temple as hee taught, saying, Ye both knowe mee, and knowe whence I am: yet am I not come of my selfe, but he that sent me, is true, whome ye knowe not. <sup>29</sup>But I knowe him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me. <sup>30</sup>Then they sought to take him, but no man layde handes on him, because his houre was not yet come. <sup>31</sup>Now many of the people beleued in him, and said, When that Christ commeth, will he doe moe miracles then this man hath done? <sup>32</sup>The Pharises heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priestes sent officers to take him. <sup>33</sup>Then saide Iesus vnto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then goe I vnto him that sent mee. <sup>34</sup>Ye shall seeke me, and shall not finde me, and where I am, can ye not come. <sup>35</sup>Then saide the Iewes amongs themselues, Whither will he goe, that we shall not finde him? Will he goe vnto them that are dispersed among the Grecians, and teache the Grecians? <sup>36</sup>What saying is this that hee saide, Ye shall seeke mee, and shall not finde mee? and where I am, cannot ye come? <sup>37</sup>Nowe in the last and great day of the feast, Iesus stode and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come vnto me, and drinke. <sup>38</sup>Hee that beleueeth in mee, as saith the Scripture, out of his bellie shall flowe riuers of water of life. <sup>39</sup>(This spake hee of the Spirite which they that beleued in him, should receiue: for the holy Ghost was not yet giuen, because that Iesus was not yet glorified.) <sup>40</sup>So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, Of a trueth this is that Prophet. <sup>41</sup>Other saide, This is that Christ: and some said, But shall that Christ come out of Galile? <sup>42</sup>Saith not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid, and out of the towne of Beth-leem, where Dauid was? <sup>43</sup>So was there dissension among the people for him. <sup>44</sup>And some of them would haue taken him, but no man layde handes on him. <sup>45</sup>Then came the officers to the hie Priests and Pharises, and they said vnto them, Why haue ye not brought him? <sup>46</sup>The officers answered, Neuer man spake like this man. <sup>47</sup>Then answered them the Pharises, Are yee also deceiued? <sup>48</sup>Doeth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleue in him? <sup>49</sup>But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed. <sup>50</sup>Nicodemus said vnto them, (he that came to Iesus by night, and was one of them.) <sup>51</sup>Doth our Law iudge a man before it heare him, and knowe what he hath done? <sup>52</sup>They answered, and said vnto him, Art thou also of Galile? Searche and looke: for out of Galile ariseth no Prophet. <sup>53</sup>And euery man wet vnto his owne house.

8 And Iesus went vnto the mount of Oliues, <sup>2</sup>And early in the morning came againe into the Temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sate downe, and taught them. <sup>3</sup>Then the Scribes, and the Pharises brought vnto him a woman, taken in adulterie, and set her in the middes, <sup>4</sup>And said vnto him, Master, we foud this woman committing adulterie, euen in the very acte. <sup>5</sup>Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what sayest thou therefore? <sup>6</sup>And this they saide to tempt him, that they might haue, whereof to accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, and with his finger wrote on the ground. <sup>7</sup>And while they continued asking him, hee lift himselfe vp, and sayde vnto them, Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her. <sup>8</sup>And againe hee stouped downe, and wrote on the ground. <sup>9</sup>And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out one by one, beginning at ye eldest euen to the last: so Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the mids. <sup>10</sup>When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and sawe no man, but the woman, hee saide vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee? <sup>11</sup>She said, No man, Lord. And Iesus said, Neither do I condemne thee: go and sinne no more. <sup>12</sup>Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I am that light of the worlde: hee that followeth mee, shall not walke in darkenes, but shall haue that light of life. <sup>13</sup>The Pharises therefore saide vnto him, Thou bearest recorde of thy selfe: thy recorde is not true. <sup>14</sup>Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Though I beare recorde of my selfe, yet my recorde is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe. <sup>15</sup>Ye iudge after the flesh: I iudge no man. <sup>16</sup>And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true: for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent mee. <sup>17</sup>And it is also written in your Lawe, that the testimonie of two men is true. <sup>18</sup>I am one that beare witnes of my selfe, and the Father that sent me, beareth witnes of me. <sup>19</sup>Then saide they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor that Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye should haue knowen that Father of mine also. <sup>20</sup>These wordes spake Iesus in the treasurie, as hee taught in the Temple, and no man layde handes on him: for his houre was not yet come. <sup>21</sup>Then saide Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye shall seeke me, and shall die in your sinnes, Whither I goe, can ye not come. <sup>22</sup>Then said the Iewes, Will he kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I goe, can ye not come? <sup>23</sup>And hee saide vnto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this worlde. <sup>24</sup>I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except ye beleue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes. <sup>25</sup>Then saide they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus saide vnto them, Euen the same thing that I said vnto you from the beginning. <sup>26</sup>I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world. <sup>27</sup>They vnderstode not that hee spake to them of the Father. <sup>28</sup>Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught me, so I speake these things. <sup>29</sup>For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do alwayes those things that please him. <sup>30</sup>As hee spake these thinges, many beleued in him. <sup>31</sup>Then saide Iesus to the Iewes which beleued in him, If ye continue in my worde, ye are verely my disciples, <sup>32</sup>And shall know the trueth, and the trueth shall make you free. <sup>33</sup>They answered him, Wee be Abrahams seede, and were neuer bonde to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shalbe made free? <sup>34</sup>Iesus answered them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that whosoeuer committeth sinne, is the seruant of sinne. <sup>35</sup>And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer. <sup>36</sup>If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shalbe free in deede. <sup>37</sup>I know that ye are Abrahams seede, but yee seeke to kill mee, because my worde hath no place in you. <sup>38</sup>I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue seene with your father. <sup>39</sup>They answered, and saide vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus said vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye woulde doe the workes of Abraham. <sup>40</sup>But nowe ye goe about to kill mee, a man that haue told you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham. <sup>41</sup>Ye do the workes of your father. Then said they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God. <sup>42</sup>Therefore Iesus sayde vnto them, If God were your Father, then woulde ye loue mee: for I proceeded foorth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me. <sup>43</sup>Why doe ye not vnderstande my talke? because ye cannot heare my worde. <sup>44</sup>Ye are of your father the deuill, and the lustes of your father ye will doe: hee hath bene a murtherer from the beginning, and abode not in the trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When hee speaketh a lie, then speaketh hee of his owne: for he is a liar, and the father thereof. <sup>45</sup>And because I tell you the trueth, yee beleue me not. <sup>46</sup>Which of you can rebuke me of sinne? and if I say the trueth, why do ye not beleue me? <sup>47</sup>He that is of God, heareth Gods wordes: yee therefore heare them not, because ye are not of God. <sup>48</sup>Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuill? <sup>49</sup>Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me. <sup>50</sup>And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and iudgeth. <sup>51</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, If a man keepe my word, he shall neuer see death. <sup>52</sup>Then said the Iewes to him, Now know we that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my worde, he shall neuer taste of death. <sup>53</sup>Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whome makest thou thy selfe? <sup>54</sup>Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth me, whome ye say, that hee is your God. <sup>55</sup>Yet ye haue not knowen him: but I knowe him, and if I should say I know him not, I should be a liar like vnto you: but I knowe him, and keepe his worde. <sup>56</sup>Your father Abraham reioyced to see my day, and he sawe it, and was glad. <sup>57</sup>Then sayd ye Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham? <sup>58</sup>Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I am. <sup>59</sup>Then tooke they vp stones, to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee passed through the middes of them, and so went his way.

<sup>9</sup>And as Iesus passed by, he sawe a man which was blinde from his birth. <sup>2</sup>And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde? <sup>3</sup>Iesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him. <sup>4</sup>I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is day: the night commeth when no man can worke. <sup>5</sup>As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world. <sup>6</sup>Assoone as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spettle, and anointed the eyes of the blinde with the clay, <sup>7</sup>And sayd vnto him, Go wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came againe seeing. <sup>8</sup>Nowe the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when he was blinde, sayd, Is not this he that sate and begged? <sup>9</sup>Some said, This is he: and other sayd, He is like him: but he himselfe sayd, I am he. <sup>10</sup>Therefore they sayd vnto him, Howe were thine eyes opened? <sup>11</sup>He answered, and sayd, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and sayde vnto me, Goe to the poole of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and receiued sight. <sup>12</sup>Then they sayd vnto him, Where is he? He sayd, I can not tell. <sup>13</sup>They brought to the Pharises him that was once blinde. <sup>14</sup>And it was the Sabbath day, when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes. <sup>15</sup>Then againe the Pharises also asked him, how he had receiued sight. And hee sayd vnto them, He layd clay vpon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see. <sup>16</sup>Then said some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others sayd, Howe can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a dissension among them. <sup>17</sup>Then spake they vnto the blinde againe, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he sayd, He is a Prophet. <sup>18</sup>Then the Iewes did not beleue him (that he had bene blinde, and receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued sight. <sup>19</sup>And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whom ye say was borne blinde? How doeth he nowe see then? <sup>20</sup>His parents answered them, and sayd, We know that this is our sonne, and that he was borne blinde: <sup>21</sup>But by what meanes hee nowe seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is olde ynough: aske him: hee shall answere for himselfe. <sup>22</sup>These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that he was Christ, he should be excommunicate out of the Synagogue. <sup>23</sup>Therefore sayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: aske him. <sup>24</sup>Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and sayd vnto him, Giue glory vnto God: we know that this man is a sinner. <sup>25</sup>Then he answered, and sayd, Whether hee be a sinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and nowe I see. <sup>26</sup>Then sayd they to him againe, What did he to thee? howe opened he thine eyes? <sup>27</sup>Hee answered them, I haue tolde you already, and yee haue not heard it: wherefore would yee heare it againe? will yee also be his disciples? <sup>28</sup>Then reuled they him, and sayd, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses disciples. <sup>29</sup>We know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is. <sup>30</sup>The man answered, and sayde vnto them, Doutlesse, this is a marueilous thing, that ye know not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes. <sup>31</sup>Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he. <sup>32</sup>Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde. <sup>33</sup>If this man were not of God, hee could haue done nothing. <sup>34</sup>They answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou art altogether borne in sinnes, and doest thou teach vs? so they cast him out. <sup>35</sup>Iesus heard that they had cast him out: and when he had found him, he sayd vnto him, Doest thou beleue in the Sonne of God? <sup>36</sup>He answered, and sayd, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleue in him? <sup>37</sup>And Iesus sayd vnto him, Both thou hast seene him, and he it is that talketh with thee. <sup>38</sup>Then he sayd, Lord, I beleuee, and worshipped him. <sup>39</sup>And Iesus sayd, I am come vnto iudgement into this world, that they which see not, might see: and that they which see, might be made blinde. <sup>40</sup>And some of the Pharises which were with him, heard these things, and sayd vnto him, Are we blinde also? <sup>41</sup>Iesus sayd vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinne: but nowe ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

10Verely, verely I say vnto you, Hee that entreth not in by the doore into the sheepefolde, but climeth vp another way, he is a theefe and a robber. <sup>2</sup>But he that goeth in by the doore, is the shepheard of the sheepe. <sup>3</sup>To him the porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out. <sup>4</sup>And when hee hath sent forth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: for they know his voyce. <sup>5</sup>And they will not follow a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of strangers. <sup>6</sup>This parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they vnderstoode not what things they were which he spake vnto them. <sup>7</sup>Then sayd Iesus vnto them againe, Verely, verely I say vnto you, I am that doore of the sheepe. <sup>8</sup>All, that euer came before me, are theeues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them. <sup>9</sup>I am that doore: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saued, and shall go in, and go out, and finde pasture. <sup>10</sup>The theefe commeth not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance. <sup>11</sup>I am that good shepheard: that good shepheard giueth his life for his sheepe. <sup>12</sup>But an hireling, and hee which is not the shepheard, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the wolfe comming, and hee leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and scattreth the sheepe. <sup>13</sup>So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe. <sup>14</sup>I am that good shepheard, and knowe mine, and am knowen of mine. <sup>15</sup>As the Father knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe. <sup>16</sup>Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this folde: them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: and there shalbe one sheepefolde, and one shepheard. <sup>17</sup>Therefore doeth my Father loue me, because I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe. <sup>18</sup>No man taketh it from me, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this commandement haue I receiued of my Father. <sup>19</sup>Then there was a dissension againe among the Iewes for these sayings, <sup>20</sup>And many of them sayd, He hath a deuill, and is mad: why heare ye him? <sup>21</sup>Other sayd, These are not the wordes of him that hath a deuill: can the deuill open the eyes of the blinde? <sup>22</sup>And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the Dedication, and it was winter. <sup>23</sup>And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Salomons porche. <sup>24</sup>Then came the Iewes round about him, and sayd vnto him, Howe long doest thou make vs dout? If thou be that Christ, tell vs plainely. <sup>25</sup>Iesus answered them, I tolde you, and ye beleuee not: the workes that I doe in my Fathers Name, they beare witnes of me. <sup>26</sup>But ye beleuee not: for ye are not of my sheepe, as I sayd vnto you. <sup>27</sup>My sheepe heare my voyce, and I knowe them, and they follow me, <sup>28</sup>And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they shall neuer perish, neither shall any plucke them out of mine hand. <sup>29</sup>My Father which gaue them me, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand. <sup>30</sup>I and my Father are one. <sup>31</sup>Then ye Iewes againe tooke vp stones, to stone him. <sup>32</sup>Iesus answered them, Many good workes haue I shewed you from my Father: for which of these workes doe ye stone me? <sup>33</sup>The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke we stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God. <sup>34</sup>Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Lawe, I sayd, Ye are gods? <sup>35</sup>If hee called them gods, vnto whome the worde of God was giuen, and the Scripture cannot be broken, <sup>36</sup>Say ye of him, whome the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the worlde, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am the Sonne of God? <sup>37</sup>If I doe not the workes of my Father, beleuee me not. <sup>38</sup>But if I doe, then though ye beleuee not mee, yet beleuee the workes, that ye may knowe and beleuee, that the Father is in me, and I in him. <sup>39</sup>Againe they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their handes, <sup>40</sup>And went againe beyonde Iordan, into the place where Iohn first baptized, and there abode. <sup>41</sup>And many resorted vnto him, and saide, Iohn did no miracle: but all thinges that Iohn spake of this man, were true. <sup>42</sup>And many beleueed in him there.

and wiped his feete with her heare, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)<sup>3</sup> Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, beholde, he whome thou louest, is sicke. <sup>4</sup>When Jesus heard it, he saide, This sickenes is not vnto death, but for the glorie of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby. <sup>5</sup>Nowe Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus. <sup>6</sup>And after he had heard that he was sicke, yet abode hee two dayes still in the same place where he was. <sup>7</sup>Then after that, said he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe. <sup>8</sup>The disciples saide vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to stone thee, and doest thou goe thither againe? <sup>9</sup>Iesus answered, Are there not twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, hee stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world. <sup>10</sup>But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him. <sup>11</sup>These things spake he, and after, he said vnto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp. <sup>12</sup>Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleepe, he shalbe safe. <sup>13</sup>Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe. <sup>14</sup>Then saide Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead. <sup>15</sup>And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleue: but let vs go vnto him. <sup>16</sup>Then saide Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his felow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him. <sup>17</sup>Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure dayes already. <sup>18</sup>(Nowe Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fifteene furlongs off.) <sup>19</sup>And many of ye Iewes were come to Martha and Marie to comfort them for their brother. <sup>20</sup>Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him: but Mary sate still in the house. <sup>21</sup>Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead. <sup>22</sup>But now I know also, that whatsoever thou askest of God, God will giue it thee. <sup>23</sup>Iesus said vnto her, Thy brother shall rise againe. <sup>24</sup>Martha said vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe in the resurrection at the last day. <sup>25</sup>Iesus saide vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that beleueueth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue. <sup>26</sup>And whosoever liueth, and beleueueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleeuest thou this? <sup>27</sup>She said vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleue that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world. <sup>28</sup>And when she had so saide, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee. <sup>29</sup>And when she heard it, shee arose quickly, and came vnto him. <sup>30</sup>For Iesus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him. <sup>31</sup>The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they sawe Marie, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, folowed her, saying, She goeth vnto the graue, to weepe there. <sup>32</sup>Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and sawe him, she fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou haddest bene here, my brother had not

bene dead. <sup>33</sup>When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, hee groned in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe, <sup>34</sup>And saide, Where haue ye layde him? They said vnto him, Lord, come and see. <sup>35</sup>And Iesus wept. <sup>36</sup>Then saide the Iewes, Beholde, how he loued him. <sup>37</sup>And some of them saide, Coude not he, which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also, that this man should not haue died? <sup>38</sup>Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was layde vpon it. <sup>39</sup>Iesus saide, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said vnto him, Lord, he stinketh already: for he hath bene dead foure dayes. <sup>40</sup>Iesus saide vnto her, Saide I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleue, thou shouldst see the glorie of God? <sup>41</sup>Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layde. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and saide, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me. <sup>42</sup>I knowe that thou hearest me alwayes, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may beleue, that thou hast sent me. <sup>43</sup>As hee had spoken these things, hee cried with a loude voyce, Lazarus, come foorth. <sup>44</sup>Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hande and foote with bandes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus said vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe. <sup>45</sup>Then many of the Iewes, which came to Mary, and had seene the thinges, which Iesus did, beleueed in him. <sup>46</sup>But some of them went their way to the Pharises, and told them what things Iesus had done. <sup>47</sup>Then gathered the hie Priests, and the Pharises a councill, and said, What shall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles. <sup>48</sup>If we let him thus alone, all men will beleue in him, and the Romanes will come and take away both our place, and the nation. <sup>49</sup>Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yere, said vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all, <sup>50</sup>Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not. <sup>51</sup>This spake hee not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yere, he prophecied that Iesus should die for that nation: <sup>52</sup>And not for that nation onely, but that he shoulde gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered. <sup>53</sup>Then from that day foorth they consulted together, to put him to death. <sup>54</sup>Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wildernes, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples. <sup>55</sup>And the Iewes Passeouer was at hande, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Passeouer, to purifie themselues. <sup>56</sup>Then sought they for Iesus, and spake among themselues, as they stode in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he cometh not to the feast? <sup>57</sup>Now both the high Priestes and the Pharises had giuen a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

12Then Iesus, sixe dayes before the Passeouer, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead. <sup>2</sup>There they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with him. <sup>3</sup>Then tooke Mary a pound of oyntment of Spikenarde very costly, and anoynted Iesus feete, and wiped his feete with her heare, and the house was filled with the sauour of the oyntment. <sup>4</sup>Then said one of his disciples, euen Iudas Iscariot Simons sonne, which should betray him: <sup>5</sup>Why was not this oyntment sold for three hundreth pence, and giuen to the poore? <sup>6</sup>Nowe he said this, not that he cared for the poore, but because hee was a theefe, and had the bagge, and bare that which was giuen. <sup>7</sup>Then said Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it. <sup>8</sup>For the poore alwayes yee haue with you, but me ye shall not haue alwayes. <sup>9</sup>Then much people of the Iewes knewe that hee was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also, whome he had rayseed from the dead. <sup>10</sup>The hie Priestes therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also, <sup>11</sup>Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleueed in Iesus. <sup>12</sup>On the morowe a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Hierusalem, <sup>13</sup>Tooke branches of palme trees, and went fourth to meete him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the King of Israel that commeth in the Name of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>And Iesus found a yong asse, and sate thereon, as it is written, <sup>15</sup>Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King commeth sitting on an asses colte. <sup>16</sup>But his disciples vnderstoode not these thinges at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembred they, that these thinges were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him. <sup>17</sup>The people therefore that was with him, bare witnesse that hee called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead. <sup>18</sup>Therefore mette him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle. <sup>19</sup>And the Pharises said among themselues, Perceiue ye howe ye preuaile nothing? Beholde, the worlde goeth after him. <sup>20</sup>Nowe there were certaine Greekes among them that came vp to worship at the feast. <sup>21</sup>And they came to Philippe, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Syr, we would see that Iesus. <sup>22</sup>Philippe came and tolde Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philippe tolde Iesus. <sup>23</sup>And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must bee glorified. <sup>24</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except the wheate corne fall into the grounde and die, it bideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth fourth much fruite. <sup>25</sup>He that loueth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it vnto life eternall. <sup>26</sup>If any man serue me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall also my seruante be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour. <sup>27</sup>Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, saue me from this houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre. <sup>28</sup>Father, glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe. <sup>29</sup>Then saide the people that stode by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other said, An Angel spake to him. <sup>30</sup>Iesus answered, and said, This voyce came not because of me, but for your sakes. <sup>31</sup>Now is the iudgement of this world: nowe shall the prince of this world be cast out. <sup>32</sup>And I, if I were lift vp from the earth, will drawe all men vnto me. <sup>33</sup>Nowe this sayd he, signifying what death he should die. <sup>34</sup>The people answered him, We haue heard out of the Law, that that Christ bideth for euer: and howe sayest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lift vp? Who is that Sonne of man? <sup>35</sup>Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Yet a litle while is the light with you: walke while ye haue that light, lest the darkenes come vpon you: for hee that walketh in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth. <sup>36</sup>While ye haue that light, beleuee in that light, that ye may be the children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them. <sup>37</sup>And though he had done so many miracles before them, yet beleueed they not on him, <sup>38</sup>That the saying of Esaias the Prophete might be fulfilled, that he sayd, Lord, who beleueed our report? and to whome is the arme of the Lord reueiled? <sup>39</sup>Therefore could they not beleuee, because that Esaias saith againe, <sup>40</sup>He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they shoulde not see with their eyes, nor vnderstand with their heart, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them. <sup>41</sup>These things sayd Esaias when he sawe his glory, and spake of him. <sup>42</sup>Neuertheles, euen among the chiefe rulers, many beleueed in him: but because of the Pharises they did not confesse him, least they should be cast out of the Synagogue. <sup>43</sup>For they loued the prayse of men, more then the prayse of God. <sup>44</sup>And Iesus cryed, and sayd, He that beleueeth in me, beleueeth not in me, but in him that sent me. <sup>45</sup>And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me. <sup>46</sup>I am come a light into the world, that whosoeuer beleueeth in me, should not abide in darkenes. <sup>47</sup>And if any man heare my wordes, and beleuee not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world. <sup>48</sup>He that refuseth me, and receiueeth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: the worde that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day. <sup>49</sup>For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which sent me, hee gaue me a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake. <sup>50</sup>And I knowe that his commandement is life euerlasting: the thinges therefore that I speake, I speake them so as the Father sayde vnto me.

13Nowe before the feast of the Passeouer, when Iesus knewe that his houre was come, that he should depart out of this world vnto the Father, forasmuch as he loued his owne which were in the world, vnto the end he loued them. <sup>2</sup>And when supper was done (and that the deuill had now put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, to betray him) <sup>3</sup>Jesus knowing that the Father had giuen all things into his hands, and that he was come forth from God, and went to God, <sup>4</sup>He riseth from supper, and layeth aside his vpper garments, and tooke a towel, and girded himselfe. <sup>5</sup>After that, hee powred water into a basen, and began to wash the disciples feete, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith he was girded. <sup>6</sup>Then came he to Simon Peter, who sayd to him, Lord, doest thou wash my feete? <sup>7</sup>Jesus answered and sayd vnto him, What I doe, thou knowest not nowe: but thou shalt knowe it hereafter. <sup>8</sup>Peter said vnto him, Thou shalt neuer wash my feete. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt haue no part with me. <sup>9</sup>Simon Peter sayd vnto him, Lord, not my feete onely, but also the hands and the head. <sup>10</sup>Jesus sayd to him, He that is washed, needeth not, saue to wash his feete, but is cleane euery whit: and ye are cleane, but not all. <sup>11</sup>For hee knewe who should betray him: therefore sayd he, Ye are not all cleane. <sup>12</sup>So after he had washed their feete, and had taken his garments, and was set downe againe, he sayd vnto them, Knowe ye what I haue done to you? <sup>13</sup>Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well: for so am I. <sup>14</sup>If I then your Lord, and Master, haue washed your feete, ye also ought to wash one an others feete. <sup>15</sup>For I haue giuen you an example, that ye should doe, euen as I haue done to you. <sup>16</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, The seruant is not greater then his master, neither the ambassadour greater then he that sent him. <sup>17</sup>If ye know these things, blessed are ye, if ye doe them. <sup>18</sup>I speake not of you all: I know whom I haue chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me, hath lift vp his heele against me. <sup>19</sup>From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleue that I am he. <sup>20</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, If I send any, he that receiueh him, receiueh me, and hee that receiueh me, receiueh him that sent me. <sup>21</sup>When Iesus had sayd these things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and testified, and said, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me. <sup>22</sup>Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake. <sup>23</sup>Nowe there was one of his disciples, which leaned on Iesus bosome, whom Iesus loued. <sup>24</sup>To him beckened therefore Simon Peter, that he should aske who it was of whom he spake. <sup>25</sup>He then, as he leaned on Iesus breast, saide vnto him, Lord, who is it? <sup>26</sup>Iesus answered, He it is, to whome I shall giue a soppe, when I haue dipt it: and hee wet a soppe, and gaue it to Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne. <sup>27</sup>And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then sayd Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly. <sup>28</sup>But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it vnto him. <sup>29</sup>For some of them thought because Iudas had the bag, that Iesus had sayd vnto him, Buy those things that we haue neede of against ye feast: or that he should giue some thing to the poore. <sup>30</sup>Assoone then as he had received the soppe, he went immediately out, and it was night. <sup>31</sup>When hee was gone out, Iesus sayd, Nowe is the Sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him. <sup>32</sup>If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorifie him in himselfe, and shall straightway glorifie him. <sup>33</sup>Litle children, yet a litle while am I with you: ye shall seeke me, but as I sayde vnto the Iewes, Whither I goe, can ye not come: also to you say I nowe, <sup>34</sup>A newe commandement giue I vnto you, that ye loue one another: as I haue loued you, that ye also loue one another. <sup>35</sup>By this shall all men knowe that ye are my disciples, if ye haue loue one to another. <sup>36</sup>Simon Peter said vnto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Iesus answered him, Whither I goe, thou canst not follow me nowe: but thou shalt follow me afterward. <sup>37</sup>Peter sayd vnto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? I will lay downe my life for thy sake. <sup>38</sup>Iesus answered him, Wilt thou lay downe thy life for my sake? Verely, verely I say vnto thee, The cocke shall not crowe, till thou haue denied me thrise.

14Let not your heart be troubled: ye beleue in God, beleue also in me. <sup>2</sup>In my Fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, I would haue tolde you: I go to prepare a place for you. <sup>3</sup>And if I go to prepare a place for you, I wil come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also. <sup>4</sup>And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye knowe. <sup>5</sup>Thomas sayd vnto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we then know ye way? <sup>6</sup>Iesus sayd vnto him, I am that Way, and that Trueth, and that Life. No man commeth vnto the Father, but by me. <sup>7</sup>If ye had knowen mee, ye should haue knowen my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and haue seene him. <sup>8</sup>Philippe sayd vnto him, Lord, shewe vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs. <sup>9</sup>Iesus sayd vnto him, I haue bene so long time with you, and hast thou not knowen mee, Philippe? he that hath seene me, hath seene my Father: how then sayest thou, Shewe vs thy Father? <sup>10</sup>Beleeuest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The wordes that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the workes. <sup>11</sup>Beleeue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the least, beleue me for the very workes sake. <sup>12</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that beleueth in me, the workes that I doe, hee shall doe also, and greater then these shall he doe: for I goe vnto my Father. <sup>13</sup>And whatsoever ye aske in my Name, that will I doe, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne. <sup>14</sup>If ye shall aske any thing in my Name, I will doe it. <sup>15</sup>If ye loue me, keepe my comandements, <sup>16</sup>And I wil pray the Father, and he shall giue you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for euer, <sup>17</sup>Euen the Spirit of trueth, whome the world can not receiue, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye knowe him: for he dwelleth with you, and shalbe in you. <sup>18</sup>I will not leaue you fatherles: but I will come to you. <sup>19</sup>Yet a litle while, and the world shall see me no more, but ye shall see me: because I

liue, ye shall liue also. <sup>20</sup>At that day shall ye knowe that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. <sup>21</sup>He that hath my commandements, and keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and he that loueth me, shall be loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and wil shewe mine owne selfe to him. <sup>22</sup>Iudas sayd vnto him (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world? <sup>23</sup>Jesus answered, and sayd vnto him, If any man loue me, he will keepe my worde, and my Father will loue him, and we wil come vnto him, and wil dwell with him. <sup>24</sup>He that loueth me not, keepeth not my wordes, and the worde which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which sent me. <sup>25</sup>These things haue I spoken vnto you, being present with you. <sup>26</sup>But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father wil send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue tolde you. <sup>27</sup>Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you: not as the worlde giueth, giue I vnto you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor feare. <sup>28</sup>Ye haue heard howe I saide vnto you, I goe away, and will come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verely reioyce, because I said, I goe vnto the Father: for the Father is greater then I. <sup>29</sup>And nowe haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleue. <sup>30</sup>Hereafter will I not speake many things vnto you: for the prince of this world commeth, and hath nought in me. <sup>31</sup>But it is that the world may knowe that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I doe. Arise, let vs goe hence.

15I Am that true vine, and my Father is that husband man. <sup>2</sup>Euery branch that beareth not fruite in me, he taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruite, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruite. <sup>3</sup>Nowe are ye cleane through the worde, which I haue spoken vnto you. <sup>4</sup>Abide in me, and I in you: as the branche cannot beare fruite of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me. <sup>5</sup>I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruite: for without me can ye doe nothing. <sup>6</sup>If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branche, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne. <sup>7</sup>If ye abide in me, and my wordes abide in you, aske what ye wil, and it shalbe done to you. <sup>8</sup>Herein is my Father glorified, that ye beare much fruite, and be made my disciples. <sup>9</sup>As the father hath loued me, so haue I loued you: continue in that my loue. <sup>10</sup>If ye shall keepe my commandements, ye shall abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commandements, and abide in his loue. <sup>11</sup>These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full. <sup>12</sup>This is my commandement, that ye loue one another, as I haue loued you. <sup>13</sup>Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his

friendes. <sup>14</sup>Ye are my friendes, if ye doe whatsoeuer I commaund you. <sup>15</sup>Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I haue called you friends: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowen to you. <sup>16</sup>Ye haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeined you, that ye goe and bring forth fruite, and that your fruite remaine, that whatsoeuer ye shall aske of the Father in my Name, he may giue it you. <sup>17</sup>These things commaund I you, that ye loue one another. <sup>18</sup>If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that it hated me before you. <sup>19</sup>If ye were of the worlde, the world woulde loue his owne: but because ye are not of ye world, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. <sup>20</sup>Remember the word that I said vnto you, The seruant is not greater then his master. If they haue persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my worde, they will also keepe yours. <sup>21</sup>But all these things will they doe vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me. <sup>22</sup>If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they shoulde not haue had sinne: but nowe haue they no cloke for their sinne. <sup>23</sup>He that hateth me, hateth my Father also. <sup>24</sup>If I had not done workes among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne: but nowe haue they both seene, and haue hated both me, and my Father. <sup>25</sup>But it is that the worde might be fulfilled, that is written in their Lawe, They hated me without a cause. <sup>26</sup>But when that Comforter shall come, whom I will send vnto you from the Father, euen the Spirit of trueth, which procedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me. <sup>27</sup>And ye shall witness also, because ye haue bene with me from the beginning.

16These thinges haue I saide vnto you, that ye should not be offended. <sup>2</sup>They shall excommunicate you: yea, the time shall come, that whosoever killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God seruice. <sup>3</sup>And these things will they doe vnto you, because they haue not knowen ye Father, nor me. <sup>4</sup>But these things haue I tolde you, that when the houre shall come, ye might remember, that I tolde you them. And these things said I not vnto you from ye beginning, because I was with you. <sup>5</sup>But now I go my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou? <sup>6</sup>But because I haue saide these thinges vnto you, your hearts are full of sorowe. <sup>7</sup>Yet I tell you the trueth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will send him vnto you. <sup>8</sup>And when he is come, he will reprove the worlde of sinne, and of righteousnesse, and of iudgement. <sup>9</sup>Of sinne, because they beleueed not in me: <sup>10</sup>Of righteousnesse, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more: <sup>11</sup>Of iudgement, because the prince of this world is iudged. <sup>12</sup>I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them nowe. <sup>13</sup>Howbeit, when he is come which is the Spirit of trueth, he will leade

you into all trueth: for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoeuer he shall heare, shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come. <sup>14</sup>He shall glorifie me: for he shall receiue of mine, and shall shewe it vnto you. <sup>15</sup>All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shewe it vnto you. <sup>16</sup>A litle while, and ye shall not see me: and againe a litle while, and ye shall see me: for I goe to the Father. <sup>17</sup>Then said some of his disciples among them selues, What is this that he saith vnto vs, A litle while, and ye shall not see me, and againe, a litle while, and ye shall see me, and, For I goe to the Father. <sup>18</sup>They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A litle while? we know not what he sayeth. <sup>19</sup>Now Iesus knew that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe ye enquire among your selues, of that I said, A litle while, and ye shall not see me: and againe, a litle while, and yee shall see me? <sup>20</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto you, that ye shall weepe and lament, and the worlde shall reioyce: and ye shall sorowe, but your sorowe shalbe turned to ioye. <sup>21</sup>A woman when she traueileth, hath sorowe, because her houre is come: but assoone as she is deliuered of the childe, she remembreth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne into the world. <sup>22</sup>And ye nowe therefore are in sorowe: but I will see you againe, and your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you. <sup>23</sup>And in that day shall ye aske me nothing. Verely, verely I say vnto you, whatsoeuer ye shall aske the Father in my Name, he will giue it you. <sup>24</sup>Hitherto haue ye asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye shall receiue, that your ioye may be full. <sup>25</sup>These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainly of the Father. <sup>26</sup>At that day shall ye aske in my Name, and I say not vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you: <sup>27</sup>For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, and haue beleueed that I came out from God. <sup>28</sup>I am come out from the Father, and came into the worlde: againe I leaue the worlde, and goe to the Father. <sup>29</sup>His disciples saide vnto him, Loe, nowe speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable. <sup>30</sup>Nowe knowe wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this we beleuee, that thou art come out from God. <sup>31</sup>Iesus answered them, Doe you beleuee nowe? <sup>32</sup>Beholde, the houre commeth, and is already come, that ye shalbe scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me. <sup>33</sup>These thinges haue I spoken vnto you, that in me ye might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but be of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

eternall life to all them that thou hast giuen him. <sup>3</sup>And this is life eternall, that they knowe thee to be the onely very God, and whom thou hast sent, Iesus Christ. <sup>4</sup>I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe. <sup>5</sup>And nowe glorifie me, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glorie which I had with thee before the world was. <sup>6</sup>I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kept thy worde. <sup>7</sup>Nowe they knowe that all things whatsoeuer thou hast giuen me, are of thee. <sup>8</sup>For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowen surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleueed that thou hast sent me. <sup>9</sup>I pray for them: I pray not for the worlde, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine. <sup>10</sup>And al mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them. <sup>11</sup>And nowe am I no more in the world, but these are in the worlde, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, euen them whome thou hast giuen mee, that they may bee one, as we are. <sup>12</sup>While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled. <sup>13</sup>And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the worlde, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselues. <sup>14</sup>I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world. <sup>15</sup>I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepe them from euill. <sup>16</sup>They are not of the worlde, as I am not of the world. <sup>17</sup>Sanctifie them with thy trueth: thy word is trueth. <sup>18</sup>As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world. <sup>19</sup>And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may bee sanctified through the trueth. <sup>20</sup>I praie not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleuee in mee, through their wordes, <sup>21</sup>That they all may bee one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee: euen that they may be also one in vs, that the worlde may beleuee that thou hast sent me. <sup>22</sup>And the glory that thou gauest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one, <sup>23</sup>I in them, and thou in mee, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the worlde may knowe that thou hast sent mee, and hast loued them, as thou hast loued me. <sup>24</sup>Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with me euen where I am, that they may beholde that my glorie, which thou hast giuen mee: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world. <sup>25</sup>O righteous Father, the worlde also hath not knowen thee, but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me. <sup>26</sup>And I haue declared vnto the thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

18When Iesus had spoken these things, hee went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his disciples. <sup>2</sup>And Iudas which betraied him, knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples. <sup>3</sup>Iudas then, after hee had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons. <sup>4</sup>Then Iesus, knowing all things that shoulde come vnto him, went foorth and said vnto them, Whom seeke yee? <sup>5</sup>They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus sayde vnto them, I am hee. Nowe Iudas also which betraied him, stode with them. <sup>6</sup>Assoone then as hee had saide vnto them, I am hee, they went away backwardes, and fell to the grounde. <sup>7</sup>Then he asked them againe, Whome seeke yee? And they sayd, Iesus of Nazareth. <sup>8</sup>Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these go their way. <sup>9</sup>This was that the worde might be fulfilled which hee spake, Of them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none. <sup>10</sup>Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drewe it, and smote the hie Priests seruant, and cut off his right eare. Nowe the seruants name was Malchus. <sup>11</sup>Then sayde Iesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sworde into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cuppe which my Father hath giuen me? <sup>12</sup>Then the bande and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus, and bound him, <sup>13</sup>And led him away to Annas first (for he was father in lawe to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere) <sup>14</sup>And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsel to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people. <sup>15</sup>Nowe Simon Peter folowed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was knowen of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest: <sup>16</sup>But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowen vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter. <sup>17</sup>Then saide the maide that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not. <sup>18</sup>And the seruants and officers stode there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselues. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe. <sup>19</sup>(The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine. <sup>20</sup>Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I sayde nothing. <sup>21</sup>Why askest thou mee? aske them which heard mee what I sayde vnto them: beholde, they knowe what I sayd. <sup>22</sup>When he had spoken these thinges, one of the officers which stode by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so? <sup>23</sup>Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witnes of the euil: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me? <sup>24</sup>Nowe Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest) <sup>25</sup>And Simon Peter stode and warmed himselfe, and they said

vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not. <sup>26</sup>One of the seruants of the hie Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote off, saide, Did not I see thee in the garden with him? <sup>27</sup>Peter then denied againe, and immediatly the cocke crewe. <sup>28</sup>Then led they Iesus from Caiaphas into the common hall. Nowe it was morning, and they themselues went not into the common hall, least they should be defiled, but that they might eate the Passeouer. <sup>29</sup>Pilate then went out vnto them, and said, What accusation bring yee against this man? <sup>30</sup>They answered, and saide vnto him, If hee were not an euill doer, we woulde not haue deliuered him vnto thee. <sup>31</sup>Then sayde Pilate vnto them, Take yee him, and iudge him after your owne Lawe. Then the Iewes sayde vnto him, It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death. <sup>32</sup>It was that the worde of Iesus might be fulfilled which he spake, signifying what death he should die. <sup>33</sup>So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayde vnto him, Art thou the king of the Iewes? <sup>34</sup>Iesus answered him, Saiest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me? <sup>35</sup>Pilate answered, Am I a Iewe? Thine owne nation, and the hie Priestes haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done? <sup>36</sup>Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this worlde: if my kingdome were of this worlde, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but nowe is my kingdome not from hence. <sup>37</sup>Pilate then said vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnes vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth, heareth my voyce. <sup>38</sup>Pilate said vnto him, What is trueth? And when he had saide that, hee went out againe vnto the Iewes, and said vnto them, I finde in him no cause at all. <sup>39</sup>But you haue a custome, that I shoulde deliuer you one loose at the Passeouer: will yee then that I loose vnto you the King of ye Iewes? <sup>40</sup>Then cried they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: nowe this Barabbas was a murtherer.

19Then Pilate tooke Iesus and scourged him. <sup>2</sup>And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment, <sup>3</sup>And saide, Haile, King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their roddes. <sup>4</sup>Then Pilate went foorth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may knowe, that I finde no fault in him at all. <sup>5</sup>Then came Iesus foorth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Beholde the man. <sup>6</sup>Then when the hie Priests and officers sawe him, they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Take yee him and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him. <sup>7</sup>The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God. <sup>8</sup>When Pilate then heard that woorde, he was the more afraide,

<sup>9</sup>And went againe into the common hall, and saide vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answere. <sup>10</sup>Then saide Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee? <sup>11</sup>Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne. <sup>12</sup>From thence foorth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cried, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cesars friende: for whosoouer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cesar. <sup>13</sup>When Pilate heard this woorde, hee brought Iesus foorth, and sate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the Pauement, and in Hebrew, Gabbatha. <sup>14</sup>And it was the Preparation of the Passeouer, and about the sixt houre: and hee sayde vnto the Iewes, Beholde your King. <sup>15</sup>But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate sayde vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The high Priestes answered, We haue no King but Cesar. <sup>16</sup>Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. And they tooke Iesus, and led him away. <sup>17</sup>And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens Skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha: <sup>18</sup>Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the middes. <sup>19</sup>And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWES. <sup>20</sup>This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke and Latine. <sup>21</sup>Then saide the hie Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he sayd, I am King of the Iewes. <sup>22</sup>Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written. <sup>23</sup>Then the souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure partes, to eury souldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seame wouen from the toppe throughout. <sup>24</sup>Therefore they sayde one to another, Let vs not deuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which sayth, They parted my garments among them, and on my coate did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things in deede. <sup>25</sup>Then stooode by the crosse of Iesus his mother, and his mothers sister, Marie the wife of Cleopas, and Marie Magdalene. <sup>26</sup>And when Iesus sawe his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loued, he said vnto his mother, Woman, beholde thy sonne. <sup>27</sup>Then saide he to the disciple, Beholde thy mother: and from that houre, the disciple tooke her home vnto him. <sup>28</sup>After, when Iesus knew that all things were performed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst. <sup>29</sup>And there was set a vessell full of vineger: and they filled a spondge with vineger: and put it about an Hyssope stalke, and put it to his mouth. <sup>30</sup>Nowe when Iesus had receiued of the vineger, he saide, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gaue vp the ghost. <sup>31</sup>The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an hie day) besought Pilate that their legges might be broken, and that they might be taken downe. <sup>32</sup>Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Iesus. <sup>33</sup>But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead alreadie, they brake not his legges. <sup>34</sup>But one of the souldiers with a speare pearced his side, and foorthwith came there out blood and water. <sup>35</sup>And he that sawe it, bare recorde, and his record is true: and he knoweth that he saith true, that ye might beleue it. <sup>36</sup>For these things were done, that the Scripture shoulde be fulfilled, Not a bone of him shalbe broken. <sup>37</sup>And againe an other Scripture saith, They shall see him whom they haue thrust through. <sup>38</sup>And after these things, Ioseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Iesus, but secretly for feare of the Iewes) besought Pilate that he might take downe the bodie of Iesus. And Pilate gaue him licence. He came then and tooke Iesus body. <sup>39</sup>And there came also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundreth pound. <sup>40</sup>Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie. <sup>41</sup>And in that place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a newe sepulchre, wherein was neuer man yet laid. <sup>42</sup>There then laide they Iesus, because of the Iewes Preparation day, for the sepulchre was neere.

20Nowe the first day of the weeke came Marie Magdalene, early when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and sawe the stone taken away from the tombe. <sup>2</sup>Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Iesus loued, and saide vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we knowe not where they haue laid him. <sup>3</sup>Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre. <sup>4</sup>So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. <sup>5</sup>And he stouped downe, and sawe the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in. <sup>6</sup>Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and sawe the linnen clothes lye, <sup>7</sup>And the kerchiefe that was vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe. <sup>8</sup>Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he sawe it, and beleued. <sup>9</sup>For as yet they knewe not the Scripture, That he must rise againe from the dead. <sup>10</sup>And the disciples went away againe vnto their owne home. <sup>11</sup>But Marie stooode without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowed her selfe into the sepulchre, <sup>12</sup>And sawe two Angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feete, where the body of Iesus had laien. <sup>13</sup>And they said vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said vnto them, They

haue taken away my Lord, and I know not where they haue laide him. <sup>14</sup>When she had thus said, she turned her selfe backe, and sawe Iesus standing, and knewe not that it was Iesus. <sup>15</sup>Iesus saith vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that he had bene the gardener, said vnto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away. <sup>16</sup>Iesus saith vnto her, Marie. She turned her selfe, and said vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master. <sup>17</sup>Iesus saith vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and your God. <sup>18</sup>Marie Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things vnto her. <sup>19</sup>The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the doores were shut where the disciples were assembled for feare of the Iewes, came Iesus and stode in the middes, and saide to them, Peace be vnto you. <sup>20</sup>And when he had so saide, he shewed vnto them his handes, and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they had seene the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Then saide Iesus to them againe, Peace be vnto you: as my Father sent me, so sende I you. <sup>22</sup>And when he had saide that, he breathed on them, and saide vnto them, Receiue the holy Ghost. <sup>23</sup>Whosoeruers sinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them: and whosoeruers sinnes ye reteine, they are reteined. <sup>24</sup>But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came. <sup>25</sup>The other disciples therefore saide vnto him, We haue seene the Lord: but he said vnto them, Except I see in his handes the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the print of the nailes, and put mine hand into his side, I will not beleuee it. <sup>26</sup>And eight dayes after, againe his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus, when the doores were shut, and stood in the middes, and said, Peace be vnto you. <sup>27</sup>After saide he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, and put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithlesse, but faithfull. <sup>28</sup>Then Thomas answered, and said vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God. <sup>29</sup>Iesus said vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene me, thou beleeuest: blessed are they that haue not seene, and haue beleeued. <sup>30</sup>And many other signes also did Iesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this booke. <sup>31</sup>But these things are written, that ye might beleuee, that Iesus is that Christ that Sonne of God, and that in beleeuing ye might haue life through his Name.

him, We also will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ship straightway, and that night caught they nothing. <sup>4</sup>But when the morning was nowe come, Iesus stode on the shore: neuerthelesse the disciples knewe not that it was Iesus. <sup>5</sup>Iesus then said vnto them, Syrs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No. <sup>6</sup>Then he said vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall finde. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes. <sup>7</sup>Therefore said the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his coate to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea. <sup>8</sup>But the other disciples came by shippe (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fishes. <sup>9</sup>Assoone then as they were come to land, they sawe hoate coales, and fish laide thereon, and bread. <sup>10</sup>Iesus saide vnto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye haue nowe caught. <sup>11</sup>Simon Peter stepped forth and drewe the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken. <sup>12</sup>Iesus saide vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knewe that he was the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Iesus then came and tooke bread, and gaue them, and fish likewise. <sup>14</sup>This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead. <sup>15</sup>So when they had dined, Iesus said to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He said vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my lambes. <sup>16</sup>He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? He said vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my sheepe. <sup>17</sup>He said vnto him the third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorie because he said to him the third time, Louest thou me? and said vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus saide vnto him, Feede my sheepe. <sup>18</sup>Verely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldest not. <sup>19</sup>And this spake he signifying by what death he shoulde glorifie God. And when he had said this, he said to him, Folowe me. <sup>20</sup>Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whom JESUS loued, folowing, which had also leaned on his breast at supper, and had saide, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee? <sup>21</sup>When Peter therefore sawe him, he saide to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe? <sup>22</sup>Iesus said vnto him, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me. <sup>23</sup>Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this disciple shoulde not die. Yet Iesus saide not to him, He shall not die: but if I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? <sup>24</sup>This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimonie is true. <sup>25</sup>Nowe there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they should be written euery one, I suppose the world coulde not containe the bookes that shoulde be written, Amen.

Acts

1I have made the former treatise, O Theophilus, of al that Jesus began to doe and teach, 2Vntill the day that hee was taken vp, after that hee through the holy Ghost, had giuen commandements vnto the Apostles, whome hee had chosen: 3To whome also he presented himselfe aliue after that he had suffered, by many infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie daies, and speaking of those thinges which appertaine to the kingdome of God. 4And when he had gathered them together, he commanded them, that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, which sayde hee, yee haue heard of me. 5For Iohn in deede baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized with the holy Ghost within these fewe daies. 6When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore the kingdome to Israel? 7And hee saide vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power, 8But yee shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you: and ye shalbe witnesses vnto me both in Hierusalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and vnto the vttermost part of the earth. 9And when he had spoken these things, while they behelde, he was taken vp: for a cloude tooke him vp out of their sight. 10And while they looked stedfastly towarde heauen, as hee went, beholde, two men stooode by them in white apparell, 11Which also sayde, Yee men of Galile, why stande yee gasing into heauen? This Iesus which is taken vp from you into heauen, shall so come, as yee haue seene him goe into heauen. 12Then returned they vnto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Oliues, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath daies iourney. 13And when they were come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, where abode both Peter and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, and Mattheue, Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames brother. 14These all continued with one accorde in prayer and supplication with the women, and Marie the mother of Iesus, and with his brethren. 15And in those dayes Peter stooode vp in the middes of the disciples, and sayde (nowe the number of names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie.) 16Yee men and brethren, this scripture must needes

haue beene fulfilled, which the holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was guide to them that tooke Iesus. 17For hee was nombred with vs, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration. 18He therefore hath purchased a field with the reward of iniquitie: and when he had throwen downe himselfe headlong, hee brast asunder in the middes, and all his bowels gushed out. 19And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much, that that field is called in their owne language, Aeldama, That is, the field of blood. 20For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwel therein: also, Let another take his charge. 21Wherefore of these men which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lord Iesus was conuersant among vs, 22Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn vnto the day that hee was taken vp from vs, must one of them bee made a witnesse with vs of his resurrection. 23And they presented two, Ioseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias. 24And they praied, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen, 25That he may take the roume of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath gone astray, to goe to his owne place. 26Then they gaue fourth their lottes: and the lotte fell on Matthias, and hee was by a common consent counted with the eleuen Apostles.

2And when the day of Pentecost was come, they were al with one accord in one place. 2And suddenly there came a sounde from heauen, as of a russhing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sate. 3And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, and it sate vpon eche of them. 4And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speake with other tongues, as the Spirit gaue them vtterance. 5And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen. 6Nowe when this was noised, the multitude came together and were astonied, because that euery man heard them speake his owne language. 7And they wondered al, and marueiled, saying among themselues, Beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galile? 8How then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne? 9Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia, <sup>10</sup>And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the partes of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and Iewes, and Proselytes, <sup>11</sup>Creetes, and Arabians: wee hearde them speake in our owne tongues the wonderful works of God. <sup>12</sup>They were all then amased, and douted, saying one to another, What may this be? <sup>13</sup>And others mocked, and saide, They are full of newe wine. <sup>14</sup>But Peter standing with ye Eleuen, lift vp his voice, and said vnto them, Ye men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabite Hierusalem, be this knowen vnto you, and hearken vnto my woordes. <sup>15</sup>For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the third houre of the day. <sup>16</sup>But this is that, which was spoken by the Prophet Ioel, <sup>17</sup>And it shalbe in the last daies, saith God, I wil powre out of my Spirite vpon al flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your old men shall dreame dreames. <sup>18</sup>And on my seruantes, and on mine handmaidens I will powre out of my Spirite in those daies, and they shall prophecie. <sup>19</sup>And I wil shew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapour of smoke. <sup>20</sup>The Sunne shalbe turned into darknesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come. <sup>21</sup>And it shalbe, that whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued. <sup>22</sup>Yee men of Israel, heare these woordes, JESUS of Nazareth, a man approued of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as yee your selues also knowe: <sup>23</sup>Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell, and foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked handes you haue crucified and slaine. <sup>24</sup>Whome God hath raised vp, and loosed the sorrowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it. <sup>25</sup>For Daud sayeth concerning him, I beheld the Lord alwaies before me: for hee is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken. <sup>26</sup>Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope, <sup>27</sup>Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption. <sup>28</sup>Thou hast shewed me the waies of life, and shalt make me full of ioy with thy countenance. <sup>29</sup>Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Daud, that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day. <sup>30</sup>Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knewe that God had sworne with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loynes hee woulde raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne, <sup>31</sup>Hee knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soule shoulde not bee left in graue, neither his flesh shoulde see corruption. <sup>32</sup>This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses. <sup>33</sup>Since then that he by the right hande of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which yee nowe see and heare. <sup>34</sup>For Daud is not ascended into heauen, but he sayth, The Lord sayd to my Lord, Sit at my right hande, <sup>35</sup>Vntill I make thine enemies thy footstool. <sup>36</sup>Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whome yee haue crucified. <sup>37</sup>Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their heartes, and said vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe? <sup>38</sup>Then Peter said vnto them, Amend your liues, and bee baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sinnes: and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost. <sup>39</sup>For the promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are a farre off, euen as many as the Lord our God shall call. <sup>40</sup>And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Saue your selues from this froward generation. <sup>41</sup>Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules. <sup>42</sup>And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and fellowship, and breaking of bread, and prayers. <sup>43</sup>And feare came vpon euery soule: and many wonders and signes were done by ye Apostles. <sup>44</sup>And all that beleued, were in one place, and had all things common. <sup>45</sup>And they sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all me, as euery one had need. <sup>46</sup>And they continued dayly with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meate together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart, <sup>47</sup>Praying God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saued.

3Nowe Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer. <sup>2</sup>And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, was caried, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautiful, to aske almes of them that entred into ye Temple. <sup>3</sup>Who seeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receiue an alme. <sup>4</sup>And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, said, Looke on vs. <sup>5</sup>And hee gaue heede vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them. <sup>6</sup>Then said Peter, Siluer and gold haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke. <sup>7</sup>And hee tooke him by the right hand, and lift him vp, and immediately his feete and ankle bones receiued strength. <sup>8</sup>And he leaped vp, stode, and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praying God. <sup>9</sup>And all the people sawe him walke, and praying God. <sup>10</sup>And they knewe him, that it was he which sate for the almes at the Beautiful gate of the Temple: and they were amased, and sore astonied at that, which was come vnto him. <sup>11</sup>And as the creeple which was healed, held Peter and Iohn, all the people ranne amased vnto them in the porch which is called

Salomons. <sup>12</sup>So when Peter saw it, he answered vnto the people, Ye me of Israel, why marueile ye at this? or why looke ye so stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlines, we had made this man go? <sup>13</sup>The God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Iesus, whom ye betrayed, and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be deliuered. <sup>14</sup>But ye denied the Holy one and the Iust, and desired a murtherer to be giuen you, <sup>15</sup>And killed the Lord of life, whome God hath raised from the dead, whereof we are witnesses. <sup>16</sup>And his Name hath made this man sound, whom ye see, and know, through faith in his Name: and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to him this perfite health of his whole body in the presence of you all. <sup>17</sup>And now brethren, I know that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your gouernours. <sup>18</sup>But those thinges which God before had shewed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled. <sup>19</sup>Amend your liues therefore, and turne, that your sinnes may be put away, whe the time of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And he shall sende Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you, <sup>21</sup>Whome the heauen must containe vntill the time that all thinges be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began. <sup>22</sup>For Moses said vnto the Fathers, The Lord your God shall raise vp vnto you a Prophet, euen of your brethren, like vnto me: ye shall heare him in all things, whatsoeuer he shall say vnto you. <sup>23</sup>For it shalbe that euery person which shall not heare that Prophet, shall be destroyed out of the people. <sup>24</sup>Also all the Prophets from Samuel, and thenceforth as many as haue spoken, haue likewise foretolde of these dayes. <sup>25</sup>Ye are the children of the Prophets, and of the couenant, which God hath made vnto our fathers, saying to Abraham, Euen in thy seede shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed. <sup>26</sup>First vnto you hath God raysed vp his Sonne Iesus, and him hee hath sent to blesse you, in turning euery one of you from your iniquities.

<sup>4</sup>And as they spake vnto the people, the Priestes and the Captaine of the Temple, and the Sadduces came vpon them, <sup>2</sup>Taking it grieuously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead. <sup>3</sup>And they layde handes on them, and put them in holde, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide. <sup>4</sup>Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, beleueed, and the number of the men was about fiue thousand. <sup>5</sup>And it came to passe on the morow, that their rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem, <sup>6</sup>And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the hie Priestes. <sup>7</sup>And whe they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what Name haue ye done this? <sup>8</sup>Then Peter ful of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel, <sup>9</sup>For as much as we this day are examined of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole, <sup>10</sup>Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whome God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doth this man stand here before you, whole. <sup>11</sup>This is the stone cast aside of you builders which is become the head of the corner. <sup>12</sup>Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is giuen none other Name vnder heauen, whereby we must be saued. <sup>13</sup>Now when they sawe the boldnes of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstoode that they were vnlearned men and without knowledge, they marueiled, and knew them, that they had bin with Iesus: <sup>14</sup>And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it. <sup>15</sup>Then they commanded them to goe aside out of the Council, and conferred among themselues, <sup>16</sup>Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it. <sup>17</sup>But that it be noysed no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake henceforth to no man in this Name. <sup>18</sup>So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Iesus. <sup>19</sup>But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye. <sup>20</sup>For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard. <sup>21</sup>So they threatened them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done. <sup>22</sup>For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres olde, on whome this miracle of healing was shewed. <sup>23</sup>Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priestes and Elders had said vnto them. <sup>24</sup>And when they heard it, they lift vp their voyces to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heaue, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, <sup>25</sup>Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast saide, Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things? <sup>26</sup>The Kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ. <sup>27</sup>For doutlesse, against thine holy Sonne Iesus, whome thou haddest anoynted, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel gathered themselues together, <sup>28</sup>To doe whatsoeuer thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done. <sup>29</sup>And nowe, O Lord, beholde their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word, <sup>30</sup>So that thou stretch forth thine hand, that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Iesus. <sup>31</sup>And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly. <sup>32</sup>And the multitude of them that beleued, were of one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them said, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all thinges common. <sup>33</sup>And with great power gaue the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all. <sup>34</sup>Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of landes or houses, solde them, and brought the price of the things that were solde, <sup>35</sup>And layde it downe at the Apostles feete, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had neede. <sup>36</sup>Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, <sup>37</sup>Where as he had land, solde it, and brought the money, and laid it downe at the Apostles feete.

5But a certaine man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, solde a possession, <sup>2</sup>And kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certaine part, and layde it downe at the Apostles feete. <sup>3</sup>Then saide Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart, that thou shouldest lye vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession? <sup>4</sup>Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? howe is it that thou hast conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God. <sup>5</sup>Now when Ananias heard these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things. <sup>6</sup>And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caried him out, and buried him. <sup>7</sup>And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done. <sup>8</sup>And Peter sayd vnto her, Tell me, solde ye the land for so much? And she sayd, Yea, for so much. <sup>9</sup>Then Peter sayde vnto her, Why haue ye agreed together, to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? beholde, the feete of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the doore, and shall carie thee out. <sup>10</sup>Then she fell downe straightway at his feete, and yeelded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband. <sup>11</sup>And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things. <sup>12</sup>Thus by the hands of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accorde in Salomons porche. <sup>13</sup>And of the other durst no man ioyn him selfe to them: neuertheless the people magnified them. <sup>14</sup>Also the number of them that beleued in the Lord, both of men and women, grewe more and more) <sup>15</sup>In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and layd them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadowe of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them. <sup>16</sup>There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto

Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vnclane spirits, who were all healed. <sup>17</sup>Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation, <sup>18</sup>And laide hands on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison. <sup>19</sup>But the Angel of the Lord, by night opened the prison doores, and brought them forth, and sayd, <sup>20</sup>Go your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people, all the wordes of this life. <sup>21</sup>So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought. <sup>22</sup>But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and tolde it, <sup>23</sup>Saying, Certainly we founde the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when we had opened, we found no man within. <sup>24</sup>Then when the chiefe Priest, and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Priestes heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would growe. <sup>25</sup>Then came one and shewed them, saying, Beholde, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people. <sup>26</sup>Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should haue bene stoned) <sup>27</sup>And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them, <sup>28</sup>Saying, Did not we straightly commaund you, that ye should not teach in this Name? and behold, ye haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and ye would bring this mans blood vpon vs. <sup>29</sup>Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and sayd, We ought rather to obey God then men. <sup>30</sup>The God of our fathers hath raised vp Iesus, whom ye slewe, and hanged on a tree. <sup>31</sup>Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Sauour, to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiuenes of sinnes. <sup>32</sup>And we are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whome God hath giuen to them that obey him. <sup>33</sup>Now when they heard it, they brast for anger, and consulted to slay them. <sup>34</sup>Then stooode there vp in the Councill a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a doctour of the Lawe, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles forth a litle space, <sup>35</sup>And sayd vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye intende to doe touching these men. <sup>36</sup>For before these times, rose vp Theudas boasting himselfe, to whom resorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was slaine: and they all which obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought. <sup>37</sup>After this man, arose vp Iudas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drewe away much people after him: hee also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad. <sup>38</sup>And nowe I say vnto you, Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this coun-

sell, or this worke be of men, it will come to nought: <sup>39</sup>But if it be of God, ye can not destroy it, lest ye be found euen fighters against God. <sup>40</sup>And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe. <sup>41</sup>So they departed from the Councill, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name. <sup>42</sup>And dayly in the Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Iesus Christ.

6And in those dayes, as the number of ye disciples grewe, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians towards ye Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the dayly ministring. <sup>2</sup>Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and sayd, It is not meete that we should leaue the worde of God to serue the tables. <sup>3</sup>Wherefore brethren, looke ye out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this busines. <sup>4</sup>And we will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministring of the worde. <sup>5</sup>And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of fayth and of the holy Ghost, and Philippe, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia, <sup>6</sup>Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and layed their hands on them. <sup>7</sup>And the worde of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the faith. <sup>8</sup>Now Steuen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people. <sup>9</sup>Then there arose certaine of the Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen. <sup>10</sup>But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake. <sup>11</sup>Then they suborned men, which saide, We haue heard him speake blasphemous wordes against Moses, and God. <sup>12</sup>Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill, <sup>13</sup>And set forth false witnesses, which sayd, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Law. <sup>14</sup>For we haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances, which Moses gaue vs. <sup>15</sup>And as all that sate in the Councill, looked stedfastly on him, they saw his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

7Then sayd the chiefe Priest, Are these things so? <sup>2</sup>And he sayd, Ye men, brethren and Fathers, hearken. That God of glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, <sup>3</sup>And said vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kindred, and come into the land, which I shall shewe thee. <sup>4</sup>Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell, <sup>5</sup>And hee gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the bredth of a foote: yet he promised that he would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seede after him, when as yet hee had no childe. <sup>6</sup>But God spake thus, that his seede should be a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill foure hundred yeeres. <sup>7</sup>But the nation to whome they shall be in bondage, will I iudge, sayth God: and after that, they shall come forth and serue me in this place. <sup>8</sup>Hee gaue him also the couenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate Iacob, and Iacob the twelue Patriarkes. <sup>9</sup>And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, solde Ioseph into Egypt: but God was with him, <sup>10</sup>And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and gaue him fauour and wisdom in the sight of Pharao King of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house. <sup>11</sup>Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance. <sup>12</sup>But when Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent our fathers first: <sup>13</sup>And at the second time, Ioseph was knowen of his brethren, and Iosephs kindred was made knowen vnto Pharao. <sup>14</sup>Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kindred, euen threescore and fiteene soules. <sup>15</sup>So Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he dyed, and our fathers, <sup>16</sup>And were remoued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem. <sup>17</sup>But when the time of the promise drewe neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people grewe and multiplied in Egypt, <sup>18</sup>Till another King arose, which knewe not Ioseph. <sup>19</sup>The same dealt subtilly with our kindred, and euill entreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliue. <sup>20</sup>The same time was Moses borne, and was acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three moneths. <sup>21</sup>And when he was cast out, Pharaohs daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne. <sup>22</sup>And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mightie in wordes and in deedes. <sup>23</sup>Nowe when he was full fourtie yeere olde, it came into his heart to visite his brethren, the children of Israel. <sup>24</sup>And whe he saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and auenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian. <sup>25</sup>For hee supposed his brethren would haue vnderstand, that God by his hande should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstode it not. <sup>26</sup>And the next day, he shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and woulde haue set them at one againe, saying, Syrs, ye are brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another? <sup>27</sup>But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer vs? <sup>28</sup>Wilt thou kill mee, as thou diddest the Egyptian yesterday?<sup>29</sup> Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate two sonnes.<sup>30</sup> And when fourtie yeres were expired, there appeared to him in the wildernes of mout Sina, an Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.<sup>31</sup> And when Moses sawe it, hee wondred at the sight: and as he drew neere to consider it, the voyce of the Lord came vnto him, saying,<sup>32</sup> I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob. Then Moses trembled, and durst not behold it.<sup>33</sup> Then the Lord said to him, Put off thy shoes from thy feete: for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.<sup>34</sup> I haue seene, I haue seene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I haue heard their groning, and am come downe to deliuer them: and nowe come, and I will sende thee into Egypt.<sup>35</sup> This Moses whome they forsooke, saying, Who made thee a prince and a iudge? the same God sent for a prince, and a deliuerer by the hand of the Angel, which appeared to him in the bush.<sup>36</sup> Hee brought them out, doing wonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the red sea, and in the wildernes fourtie yeeeres.<sup>37</sup> This is that Moses, which saide vnto the children of Israel, A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you, euen of your brethren, like vnto me: him shall ye heare.<sup>38</sup> This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wildernes with the Angell, which spake to him in mount Sina, and with our fathers, who receiued the liuely oracles to giue vnto vs.<sup>39</sup> To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt:<sup>40</sup> Saying vnto Aaron, Make vs gods that may goe before vs: for we knowe not what is become of this Moses that brought vs out of the land of Egypt.<sup>41</sup> And they made a calfe in those dayes, and offered sacrifice vnto the idole, and reioyced in the workes of their owne handes.<sup>42</sup> Then God turned himselfe away, and gaue them vp to serue the host of heauen, as it is written in the booke of the Prophets, O house of Israel, haue ye offred to me slaine beasts and sacrifices by the space of fourtie yeres in the wildernes?<sup>43</sup> And ye tooke vp the tabernacle of Moloch, and the starre of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will carie you away beyond Babylon.<sup>44</sup> Our fathers had the tabernacle of witnes, in the wildernes, as hee had appointed, speaking vnto Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seene.<sup>45</sup> Which tabernacle also our fathers receiued, and brought in with Iesus into the possession of the Gentiles, which God draue out before our fathers, vnto the dayes of Dauid:<sup>46</sup> Who found fauour before God, and desired that hee might finde a tabernacle for the God of Iacob.<sup>47</sup> But Salomon built him an house.<sup>48</sup> Howbeit the most High dwelleth not in temples made with handes, as saith the Prophet,<sup>49</sup> Heauen is my throne, and earth is my footestool: what house wil ye build for me, saith the Lord? or what place is it that I should rest in?<sup>50</sup> Hath not mine hand made all these things?<sup>51</sup> Ye stiffnecked and of vncircumcised heartes and eares, ye haue alwayes resisted the holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do you.<sup>52</sup> Which of the Prophets haue not your fathers persecuted? and they haue slaine them, which shewed before of the comming of that Iust, of whome ye are now the betrayers and murthers,<sup>53</sup> Which haue receiued the Lawe by the ordinance of Angels, and haue not kept it.<sup>54</sup> But when they heard these thinges, their heartes brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.<sup>55</sup> But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked stedfastly into heauen, and sawe the glory of God, and Iesus standing at the right hand of God,<sup>56</sup> And said, Beholde, I see the heauens open, and the Sonne of man standing at the right hand of God.<sup>57</sup> Then they gaue a shoute with a loude voyce, and stopped their eares, and ranne vpon him violently all at once,<sup>58</sup> And cast him out of the citie, and stoned him: and the witnesses layd downe their clothes at a yong mans feete, named Saul.<sup>59</sup> And they stoned Steuen, who called on God, and said, Lord Iesus, receiue my spirit.<sup>60</sup> And he kneeled downe, and cried with a loude voyce, Lord, laye not this sinne to their charge. And when he had thus spoken, he slept.

8 And Saul consented to his death, and at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroad thorowe the regions of Iudea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.<sup>2</sup> Then certaine men fearing God, caried Steuen amongs them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.<sup>3</sup> But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, and drewe out both men and women, and put them into prison.<sup>4</sup> Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and from preaching the worde.<sup>5</sup> Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.<sup>6</sup> And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philippe spake, with one accorde, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.<sup>7</sup> For vncleane spirits crying with a loud voyce, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.<sup>8</sup> And there was great ioy in that citie.<sup>9</sup> And there was before in the citie a certaine man called Simon, which vsed witchcraft, and bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man.<sup>10</sup> To whome they gaue heede from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.<sup>11</sup> And they gaue heed vnto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.<sup>12</sup> But assoone as they beleued Philip, which preached the thinges that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.<sup>13</sup> Then Simon himselfe beleued also and was baptized, and continued with Philippe, and wondred, when he sawe the signes and great miracles which were done.<sup>14</sup> Nowe when the Apostles, which were at Hierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the worde of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Iohn. <sup>15</sup>Which whe they were come downe, prayed for them, that they might receiue the holy Ghost. <sup>16</sup>(For as yet, hee was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.) <sup>17</sup>Then layd they their handes on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost. <sup>18</sup>And when Simon sawe, that through laying on of the Apostles handes the holy Ghost was giuen, he offred them money, <sup>19</sup>Saying, Giue mee also this power, that on whomsoeuer I lay the handes, he may receiue the holy Ghost. <sup>20</sup>Then saide Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money. <sup>21</sup>Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this businesse: for thine heart is not right in the sight of God. <sup>22</sup>Repent therefore of this thy wickednes, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee. <sup>23</sup>For I see that thou art in the gall of bitternes, and in the bonde of iniquitie. <sup>24</sup>Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye haue spoken, come vpon me. <sup>25</sup>So they, when they had testified and preached the worde of the Lord, returned to Hierusalem, and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samaritans. <sup>26</sup>Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, and goe towarde the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste. <sup>27</sup>And hee arose and went on: and beholde, a certaine Eunuche of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queene of the Ethiopians chiefe Gouvernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship: <sup>28</sup>And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read Esaias the Prophet. <sup>29</sup>Then the Spirit said vnto Philip, Goe neere and ioyn thy selfe to yonder charet. <sup>30</sup>And Philip ranne thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and said, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest? <sup>31</sup>And he saide, Howe can I, except I had a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come vp and sit with him. <sup>32</sup>Nowe the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, Hee was lead as a sheepe to the slaughter: and like a lambe domme before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth. <sup>33</sup>In his humilitie his iudgement hath bene exalted: but who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth. <sup>34</sup>Then the Eunuche answered Philippe, and saide, I pray thee of whome speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man? <sup>35</sup>Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus. <sup>36</sup>And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water, and the Eunuche said, See, here is water: what doeth let me to be baptized? <sup>37</sup>And Philippe said vnto him, If thou beleueest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and saide, I beleue that that Iesus Christ is that Sonne of God. <sup>38</sup>Then he commanded the charet to stand stil: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuche, and he baptized him. <sup>39</sup>And as-

soone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuche sawe him no more: so he went on his way reioycing. <sup>40</sup>But Philippe was found at Azotus, and he walked to and from preaching in all the cities, till he came to Cesarea.

9And Saul yet breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the disciples of ye Lord, went vnto the hie Priest, <sup>2</sup>And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that way (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem. <sup>3</sup>Now as he iourneyed, it came to passe that as he was come neere to Damascus, suddenly there shined rounde about him a light from heauen. <sup>4</sup>And hee fell to the earth, and heard a voyce, saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? <sup>5</sup>And he sayd, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord sayd, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kicke against pricks. <sup>6</sup>He then both trembling and astonied, sayd, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord sayd vnto him, Arise and goe into the citie, and it shall be tolde thee what thou shalt doe. <sup>7</sup>The men also which iourneyed with him, stood amased, hearing his voyce, but seeing no man. <sup>8</sup>And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, <sup>9</sup>Where he was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke. <sup>10</sup>And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him sayd the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he sayd, Beholde, I am here Lord. <sup>11</sup>Then the Lord sayd vnto him, Arise, and goe into the streete which is called Straight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for beholde, he prayeth. <sup>12</sup>(And he sawe in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.) <sup>13</sup>Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, howe much euill hee hath done to thy saints at Hierusalem. <sup>14</sup>Moreouer here hee hath authoritie of the hie Priestes, to binde all that call on thy Name. <sup>15</sup>Then the Lord said vnto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessell vnto me, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel. <sup>16</sup>For I will shewe him, howe many things he must suffer for my Names sake. <sup>17</sup>Then Ananias went his way, and entred into that house, and put his hands on him, and sayd, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (euen Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost. <sup>18</sup>And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized, <sup>19</sup>And receiued meate, and was strengthened. So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus. <sup>20</sup>And straightway hee preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Sonne of God, <sup>21</sup>So that all that heard him, were amased, and sayde, Is not this hee, that made haucke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests? <sup>22</sup>But Saul encreased the more in strength, and confounded the Lewes which dwelt at Damascus, confirming, that this was that Christ. <sup>23</sup>And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Lewes tooke counsell together, to kill him, <sup>24</sup>But their laying awayte was knowen of Saul: nowe they watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him. <sup>25</sup>Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket. <sup>26</sup>And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, he assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afrayd of him, and beleued not that he was a disciple. <sup>27</sup>But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, howe hee had seene the Lord in the way, and that hee had spoken vnto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus. <sup>28</sup>And hee was conuersant with them at Hierusalem, <sup>29</sup>And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him. <sup>30</sup>But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus. <sup>31</sup>Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were edified and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost. <sup>32</sup>And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, hee came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda. <sup>33</sup>And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie. <sup>34</sup>Then said Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediately. <sup>35</sup>And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron, sawe him, and turned to the Lord. <sup>36</sup>There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good workes and almes which she did. <sup>37</sup>And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and dyed: and when they had washed her, they layd her in an vpper chamber. <sup>38</sup>Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them. <sup>39</sup>Then Peter arose and came with them: and when hee was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber, where all the widowes stode by him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them. <sup>40</sup>But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and sayd, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she sawe Peter, sate vp. <sup>41</sup>Then he gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saints and widowes, and restored her alieue. <sup>42</sup>And it was knowen throughout all Ioppa, and many beleued in the Lord. <sup>43</sup>And it came to passe that he taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

<sup>10</sup>Furthermore there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band, <sup>2</sup>A deuoute man, and one that feared God with all his housholde, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually. <sup>3</sup>He sawe in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius. <sup>4</sup>But when hee looked on him, hee was afrayd, and sayd, What is it, Lord? and he sayd vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are come vp into remembrance before God. <sup>5</sup>Nowe therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter. <sup>6</sup>Hee lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe. <sup>7</sup>And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him, <sup>8</sup>And tolde them all things, and sent them to Ioppa. <sup>9</sup>On the morow as they went on their iourney, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixth houre. <sup>10</sup>Then waxed hee an hungred, and would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a trance. <sup>11</sup>And hee sawe heauen opened, and a certaine vessell come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheete, knit at the foure corners, and was let downe to the earth. <sup>12</sup>Wherein were all maner of foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes and creeping things, and foules of the heauen. <sup>13</sup>And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eate. <sup>14</sup>But Peter sayd, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane. <sup>15</sup>And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not. <sup>16</sup>This was so done thrise: and the vessell was drawn vp againe into heauen. <sup>17</sup>Nowe while Peter douted in himselfe what this vision which he had seene, meant, beholde, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stode at the gate, <sup>18</sup>And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there. <sup>19</sup>And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit sayde vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee. <sup>20</sup>Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doute nothing: For I haue sent them. <sup>21</sup>Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and sayd, Beholde, I am he whome ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come? <sup>22</sup>And they sayd, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Lewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel, to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy wordes. <sup>23</sup>Then called he them in, and lodged them, and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him. <sup>24</sup>And the day after, they entred into Cesarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsemen, and special friends. <sup>25</sup>And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him. <sup>26</sup>But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man. <sup>27</sup>And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together. <sup>28</sup>And he sayd vnto them, Ye know that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iewe, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vn-cleane. <sup>29</sup>Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me? <sup>30</sup>Then Cornelius sayd, Foure dayes agoe, about this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and beholde, a man stood before me in bright clothing, <sup>31</sup>And sayd, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God. <sup>32</sup>Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (he is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee. <sup>33</sup>Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done to come. Nowe therefore are we all here present before God, to heare all things that are commanded thee of God. <sup>34</sup>Then Peter opened his mouth, and sayd, Of a trueth I perceiue, that God is no acceptor of persons. <sup>35</sup>But in euery nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousnesse, is accepted with him. <sup>36</sup>Ye know the worde which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all: <sup>37</sup>Euen the worde which came through all Iudea, beginning in Galile, after the baptisme which Iohn preached. <sup>38</sup>To wit, howe God anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him. <sup>39</sup>And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slewe, hanging him on a tree. <sup>40</sup>Him God raysed vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly: <sup>41</sup>Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eate and drinke with him, after he arose from the dead. <sup>42</sup>And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testifie, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead. <sup>43</sup>To him also giue all the Prophets witnesse, that through his Name all that beleeeue in him, shall receiue remission of sinnes. <sup>44</sup>While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fell on al them which heard the word. <sup>45</sup>So they of the circumcision which beleeeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost. <sup>46</sup>For they heard them speake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, <sup>47</sup>Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we? <sup>48</sup>So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tary certaine dayes.

Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also receiued the worde of God. <sup>2</sup>And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him, <sup>3</sup>Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them. <sup>4</sup>Then Peter beganne, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying, <sup>5</sup>I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I sawe this vision, A certaine vessell coming downe as it had bene a great sheete, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me. <sup>6</sup>Towarde the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and sawe foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes, and creeping things, and foules of the heauen. <sup>7</sup>Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eate. <sup>8</sup>And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vn-cleane hath at any time entred into my mouth. <sup>9</sup>But the voyce answered me the seconde time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not. <sup>10</sup>And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen. <sup>11</sup>Then behold, immediatly there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me. <sup>12</sup>And the Spirit saide vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer these sixe brethren came with me, and we entred into the mans house. <sup>13</sup>And he shewed vs, howe he had seene an Angel in his house, which stooode and said to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter. <sup>14</sup>He shall speake wordes vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shalbe saued. <sup>15</sup>And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, euen as vpon vs at the beginning. <sup>16</sup>Then I remembered the word of the Lord, howe he said, Iohn baptized with water, but ye shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost. <sup>17</sup>For as much then as God gaue them a like gift, as he did vnto vs, when we beleeeued in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I coulde let God? <sup>18</sup>When they heard these things, they helde their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles graunted repentance vnto life. <sup>19</sup>And they which were scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice and Cyprus, and Antiochia, preaching the worde to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely. <sup>20</sup>Nowe some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus. <sup>21</sup>And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleeeued and turned vnto the Lord. <sup>22</sup>Then tydings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent fourth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia. <sup>23</sup>Who when he was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord. <sup>24</sup>For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, and much people ioyned them selues vnto the Lord. <sup>25</sup>Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul: <sup>26</sup>And when he had founde him, he brought him

11 Nowe the Apostles and the brethren that were in

vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yere they were conuersant with ye Church, and taught much people, in so much that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia. <sup>27</sup>In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia. <sup>28</sup>And there stode vp one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar. <sup>29</sup>Then the disciples, euery man according to his ability, purposed to sende succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iudea. <sup>30</sup>Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders, by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

12Nowe about that time, Herod the King stretched forth his hands to vex certain of the Church, <sup>2</sup>And he killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword. <sup>3</sup>And when he sawe that it pleased the Iewes, he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnleauened bread.) <sup>4</sup>And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Passeouer to bring him forth to the people. <sup>5</sup>So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of ye Church vnto God for him. <sup>6</sup>And when Herod would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiers, bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison. <sup>7</sup>And behold the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in the house, and he smote Peter on the side, and rayseed him vp, saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his handes. <sup>8</sup>And the Angel saide vnto him, Girde thy selfe, and binde on thy sandales. And so he did. Then he said vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me. <sup>9</sup>So Peter came out and followed him, and knewe not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision. <sup>10</sup>Nowe when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate, that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from him. <sup>11</sup>And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Nowe I know for a trueth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the wayting for of the people of the Iewes. <sup>12</sup>And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Marie, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed. <sup>13</sup>And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide came forth to hearken, named Rhode, <sup>14</sup>But when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and tolde howe Peter stood before the entrie. <sup>15</sup>But they said vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel. <sup>16</sup>But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and sawe him, they were astonished.

<sup>17</sup>And he beckened vnto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he saide, Goe shewe these things vnto Iames and to the brethren: and he departed and went into an other place. <sup>18</sup>Nowe assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter. <sup>19</sup>And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode. <sup>20</sup>Then Herod was angrie with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land. <sup>21</sup>And vpon a day appointed, Herod arayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sate on the iudgement seate, and made an oration vnto them. <sup>22</sup>And the people gaue a shoute, saying, The voyce of God, and not of man. <sup>23</sup>But immediatly the Angel of the Lord smote him, because he gaue not glorie vnto God, so that he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost. <sup>24</sup>And the worde of God grewe, and multiplied. <sup>25</sup>So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

13There were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen (which had bin brought vp with Herod the Tetrarche) and Saul. <sup>2</sup>Nowe as they ministred to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue called them. <sup>3</sup>Then fasted they and prayed, and layde their hands on them, and let them goe. <sup>4</sup>And they, after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto Seleucia, and from thence they sayled to Cyprus. <sup>5</sup>And when they were at Salamis, they preached the worde of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also Iohn to their minister. <sup>6</sup>So when they had gone throughout the yle vnto Paphus, they found a certaine sorcerer, a false prophet, being a Iewe, named Bariesus, <sup>7</sup>Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to heare the woorde of God. <sup>8</sup>But Elymas, ye sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstoode them, and sought to turne away the Deputie from the faith. <sup>9</sup>Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him, <sup>10</sup>And sayde, O full of all subtiltie and all mischiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of all righteousnesse, wilt thou not cease to peruert the straight waies of the Lord? <sup>11</sup>Nowe therefore behold, the hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou shalt be blinde, and not see the sunne for a season. And immediatly there fel on him a mist and a darknes; and he went about, seeking some to leade him by the hand. <sup>12</sup>Then the Deputie when he sawe what was done, beleued, and was astonied at the doctrine of the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Nowe when Paul and they that were with him were departed by shippe from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hierusalem. <sup>14</sup>But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on ye Sabbath day, and sate downe. <sup>15</sup>And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of ye Synagogue sent vnto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye haue any word of exhortation for the people, say on. <sup>16</sup>Then Paul stode vp and beckened with the hand, and sayde, Men of Israel, and yee that feare God, hearken. <sup>17</sup>The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of Egypt, and with an high arme brought them out thereof. <sup>18</sup>And about the time of fourtie yeeres, suffered he their maners in the wilderness. <sup>19</sup>And he destroyed seuen nations in the land of Chanaan, and deuided their lad to them by lot. <sup>20</sup>Then afterward he gaue vnto them Iudges about foure hundreth and fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet. <sup>21</sup>So after that, they desired a King, and God gaue vnto them Saul, the sonne of Cis, a man of ye tribe of Benjamin, by the space of fourty yeres. <sup>22</sup>And after he had taken him away, he raised vp Daud to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I haue found Daud the sonne of Iesse, a man after mine owne heart, which will doe all things that I will. <sup>23</sup>Of this mans seede hath God according to his promise raised vp to Israel, ye Sauour Iesus: <sup>24</sup>When Iohn had first preached before his coming the baptisme of repentance to all the people of Israel. <sup>25</sup>And when Iohn had fulfilled his course, he saide, Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not he: but beholde, there commeth one after me, whose shooe of his feete I am not worthy to loose. <sup>26</sup>Yee men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whosoeuer among you feareth God, to you is the woorde of this saluation sent. <sup>27</sup>For the inhabitants of Hierusalem, and their rulers, because they knewe him not, nor yet the woordes of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him. <sup>28</sup>And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate to kill him. <sup>29</sup>And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him downe from the tree, and put him in a sepulchre. <sup>30</sup>But God raised him vp from the dead. <sup>31</sup>And hee was seene many dayes of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hierusalem, which are his witnesses vnto the people. <sup>32</sup>And we declare vnto you, that touching the promise made vnto the fathers, <sup>33</sup>God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he raised vp Iesus, euen as it is written in the seconde Psalme, Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee. <sup>34</sup>Nowe as concerning that he raised him vp from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, he hath said thus, I wil giue you the holy things of Daud, which are faithfull. <sup>35</sup>Wherefore hee

sayeth also in another place, Thou wilt not suffer thine Holy one to see corruption. <sup>36</sup>Howbeit, Daud after hee had serued his time by the counsell of God, hee slept, and was laid with his fathers, and sawe corruption. <sup>37</sup>But he whom God raised vp, sawe no corruption. <sup>38</sup>Be it knowen vnto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached vnto you the forgiuenesse of sinnes. <sup>39</sup>And from al things, from which ye could not be iustified by the Law of Moses, by him euery one that beleueeth, is iustified. <sup>40</sup>Beware therefore lest that come vpon you, which is spoken of in the Prophets, <sup>41</sup>Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I woorke a woorke in your daies, a woorke which yee shall not beleue, if a man would declare it you. <sup>42</sup>And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles besought, that they woulde preach these woordes to them the next Sabbath day. <sup>43</sup>Nowe when the congregation was dissolved, many of the Iewes and Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake to them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God. <sup>44</sup>And ye next Sabbath day came almost the whole citie together, to heare the worde of God. <sup>45</sup>But when the Iewes saw the people, they were full of enuie, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them. <sup>46</sup>Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and sayde, It was necessarie that the woorde of God shoulde first haue bene spoken vnto you: but seeing yee put it from you, and iudge your selues vnworthie of euerlasting life, loe, we turne to the Gentiles. <sup>47</sup>For so hath the Lord commanded vs, saying, I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the end of the world. <sup>48</sup>And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the woorde of the Lord: and as many as were ordeined vnto eternall life, beleued. <sup>49</sup>Thus the worde of the Lord was published throughout the whole countrey. <sup>50</sup>But the Iewes stirred certaine deuoute and honourable women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coastes. <sup>51</sup>But they shooke off the dust of their feete against them, and came vnto Iconium. <sup>52</sup>And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghost.

14And it came to passe in Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleued. <sup>2</sup>And the vnbeleeuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren. <sup>3</sup>So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gaue testimonie vnto the word of his grace, and caused signes and worders to be done by their hands. <sup>4</sup>But the multitude of the city was deuided: and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles. <sup>5</sup>And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them, <sup>6</sup>They were ware of it, and fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about, <sup>7</sup>And there preached the Gospel. <sup>8</sup>Nowe there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feete, which was a creepie from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked. <sup>9</sup>He heard Paul speake: who beholding him, and perceiuing that he had faith to be healed, <sup>10</sup>Said with a loude voyce, Stand vpright on thy feete. And he leaped vp, and walked. <sup>11</sup>Then when the people sawe what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, saying in ye speach of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men. <sup>12</sup>And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: and Paul, Mercurius, because hee was the chiefe speaker. <sup>13</sup>Then Iupiters priest, which was before their citie, brought bulles with garlands vnto the gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people. <sup>14</sup>But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying, <sup>15</sup>And saying, O men, why doe yee these things? We are euen men subiect to the like passions that yee be, and preache vnto you, that yee shoulde turne from these vaine things vnto the liuing God, which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are: <sup>16</sup>Who in times past suffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne waies. <sup>17</sup>Neuertheless, hee left not him selfe without witnes, in that hee did good and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with foode, and gladnesse. <sup>18</sup>And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them. <sup>19</sup>Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had persuaded the people, stoned Paul, and drewe him out of the citie, supposing he had bene dead. <sup>20</sup>Howbeit, as the disciples stode rounde about him, hee arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day hee departed with Barnabas to Derbe. <sup>21</sup>And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia, <sup>22</sup>Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God. <sup>23</sup>And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whome they beleueed. <sup>24</sup>Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia. <sup>25</sup>And when they had preached the woorde in Perga, they came downe to Attalia, <sup>26</sup>And thence sailed to Antiochia, from whence they had bene comended vnto the grace of God, to the woorke, which they had fulfilled. <sup>27</sup>And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and howe he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles. <sup>28</sup>So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, ye cannot be saued. <sup>2</sup>And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeyned that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question. <sup>3</sup>Thus being brought forth by ye Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren. <sup>4</sup>And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them. <sup>5</sup>But said they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleue, rose vp, saying, that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the lawe of Moses. <sup>6</sup>Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter. <sup>7</sup>And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and said vnto them, Ye men and brethren, ye know that a good while ago, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the worde of the Gospel, and beleuee. <sup>8</sup>And God which knoweth the heartes, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them ye holy Ghost euen as he did vnto vs. <sup>9</sup>And he put no difference betweene vs and them, after that by faith he had purified their heartes. <sup>10</sup>Nowe therefore, why tempt ye God, to lay a yoke on the disciples neckes, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare? <sup>11</sup>But we beleuee, through the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be saued, euen as they doe. <sup>12</sup>Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them. <sup>13</sup>And when they helde their peace, Iames answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me. <sup>14</sup>Simeon hath declared, howe God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name. <sup>15</sup>And to this agree the woordes of the Prophets, as it is written, <sup>16</sup>After this I will returne, and will builde againe the tabernacle of Daud, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it vp, <sup>17</sup>That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whom my Name is called, saith the Lord which doeth all these things. <sup>18</sup>From the beginning of the worlde, God knoweth all his workes. <sup>19</sup>Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God, <sup>20</sup>But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselues from filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood. <sup>21</sup>For Moses of olde time hath in euery citie them that preache him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day. <sup>22</sup>Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church, to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren, <sup>23</sup>And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting. <sup>24</sup>Forasmuch as we haue heard, that certaine which went out from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and cumbred your mindes, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe the Lawe: to whom we gaue no such commandement, <sup>25</sup>It seemed therefore good to vs, when we were come together with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul, <sup>26</sup>Men that haue giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>27</sup>We haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tell you ye same things by mouth. <sup>28</sup>For it seemed good to the holy Ghost, and to vs, to lay no more burden vpon you, then these necessary things, <sup>29</sup>That is, that ye abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well. <sup>30</sup>Nowe when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle. <sup>31</sup>And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation. <sup>32</sup>And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, and strengthened them. <sup>33</sup>And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles. <sup>34</sup>Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still. <sup>35</sup>Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other, the worde of the Lord. <sup>36</sup>But after certaine dayes, Paul said vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, and visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the worde of the Lord, and see how they doe. <sup>37</sup>And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke. <sup>38</sup>But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke. <sup>39</sup>Then were they so stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cyprus. <sup>40</sup>And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God. <sup>41</sup>And he went through Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

16Then came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine disciple was there named Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a Iewesse and beleued, but his father was a Grecian, <sup>2</sup>Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, reported well. <sup>3</sup>Therefore Paul would that he should go forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of ye Iewes, which were in those quarters: for they knewe all, that his father was a Grecian. <sup>4</sup>And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the decrees to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles and Elders, which were at Hierusalem. <sup>5</sup>And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and encreased in number daily. <sup>6</sup>Nowe when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden of the holy Ghost to preache the worde in Asia. <sup>7</sup>Then came they to Mysia, and sought to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not. <sup>8</sup>Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas, <sup>9</sup>Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stooode a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs. <sup>10</sup>And after he had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preache the Gospel vnto them. <sup>11</sup>Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis, <sup>12</sup>And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in ye partes of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes. <sup>13</sup>And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the citie, besides a Riuer, where they were wont to pray: and we sate downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together. <sup>14</sup>And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended vnto the things, which Paul spake. <sup>15</sup>And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithfull to ye Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained vs. <sup>16</sup>And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maide hauing a spirit of diuination, mette vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining. <sup>17</sup>She followed Paul and vs, and cryed, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shewe vnto you the way of saluation. <sup>18</sup>And this did she many dayes: but Paul being grieued, turned about, and said to the spirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre. <sup>19</sup>Nowe when her masters sawe that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drewe them into the market place vnto the Magistrates, <sup>20</sup>And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes, trouble our citie, <sup>21</sup>And preache ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes. <sup>22</sup>The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with roddes. <sup>23</sup>And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commaunding the Iayler to keepe them surely. <sup>24</sup>Who hauing receiued such commandement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete fast in the stockes. <sup>25</sup>Nowe at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them. <sup>26</sup>And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed. <sup>27</sup>Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when he sawe the prison doores open, he drewe out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bin fled. <sup>28</sup>But Paul cryed with a loude voyce, saying,

Doe thy selfe no harme: for we are all here. <sup>29</sup>Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, <sup>30</sup>And brought them out, and said, Syrs, what must I doe to be sauēd? <sup>31</sup>And they saide, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ, and thou shalt be sauēd, and thine houshold. <sup>32</sup>And they preached vnto him the worde of the Lord, and to all that were in the house. <sup>33</sup>Afterwarde he tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him, straighthway. <sup>34</sup>And when he had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and reioyced that he with all his houshold beleueed in God. <sup>35</sup>And when it was day, the gouernours sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe. <sup>36</sup>Then the keeper of the prison tolde these woordes vnto Paul, saying, The gouerness haue sent to loose you: nowe therefore get you hence, and goe in peace. <sup>37</sup>Then sayde Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncodemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and nowe would they put vs out priuily? nay verely: but let them come and bring vs out. <sup>38</sup>And the sergeants tolde these woordes vnto the gouernours, who feared whe they heard that they were Romanes. <sup>39</sup>Then came they and praied them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie. <sup>40</sup>And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

17Nowe as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes. <sup>2</sup>And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath daies disputed with them by the Scriptures, <sup>3</sup>Opening, and alleading that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead: and this is Iesus Christ, whom, said he, I preach to you. <sup>4</sup>And some of them beleueed, and ioyned in companie with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a fewe. <sup>5</sup>But the Iewes which beleueed not, mooued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine vagabonds and wicked fellowes, and whe they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people. <sup>6</sup>But when they found them not, they drew Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These are they which haue subuerted the state of the world, and here they are, <sup>7</sup>Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Cesar, saying that there is another King, one Iesus. <sup>8</sup>Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard these things. <sup>9</sup>Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient assurance of Iason and of the other, they let them goe. <sup>10</sup>And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into ye Synagogue of the Iewes. <sup>11</sup>These were also more noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the worde with all readinesse, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so. <sup>12</sup>Therefore many of them beleueed, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a fewe. <sup>13</sup>But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knewe, that the woord of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and mooued the people. <sup>14</sup>But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still. <sup>15</sup>And they that did conduct Paul, brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commandement vnto Silas and Timotheus that they shoulde come to him at once, they departed. <sup>16</sup>Nowe while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirite was stirred in him, when hee sawe the citie subiect to idolatrie. <sup>17</sup>Therefore he disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with whomesoeuer he met. <sup>18</sup>Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoickes, disputed with him, and some sayde, What will this babler say? Others sayde, He seemeth to be a setter forth of straunge gods (because hee preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.) <sup>19</sup>And they tooke him, and brought him into Mars streete, saying, May we not know, what this newe doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is? <sup>20</sup>For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: we woulde knowe therefore, what these things meane. <sup>21</sup>For all the Athenians, and strangers which dwelt there, gaue them selues to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare some newes. <sup>22</sup>Then Paul stode in the mids of Mars streete, and sayde, Yee men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things yee are too superstitious. <sup>23</sup>For as I passed by, and behelde your deuotions, I founde an altar wherein was written, VNTO THE VNKNOWEN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him shewe I vnto you. <sup>24</sup>God that made the world, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaue and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands, <sup>25</sup>Neither is worshipped with mens handes, as though he needed any thing, seeing hee giueth to all life and breath and all things, <sup>26</sup>And hath made of one blood all mankinde, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the boundes of their habitation, <sup>27</sup>That they shoulde seeke the Lord, if so be they might haue groped after him, and founde him though doubtlesse he be not farre from euery one of vs. <sup>28</sup>For in him we liue, and mooue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne Poets haue sayd, for we are also his generation. <sup>29</sup>Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that ye Godhead is like vnto gold, or siluer, or stone grauen by arte and the inuention of man. <sup>30</sup>And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but nowe hee admonisheth all men euery where to repent, <sup>31</sup>Because hee hath appoynted a day in the which he wil iudge the world in righteousnes, by that man whome hee hath appoynted, whereof he hath giuen an assurance to all men, in that hee hath raised him from the dead. <sup>32</sup>Now when they heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other sayde, We will heare thee againe of this thing. <sup>33</sup>And so Paul departed from among them. <sup>34</sup>Howbeit certaine men claue vnto Paul, and beleued: among whome was also Denys Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

18After these thinges, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus, <sup>2</sup>And found a certaine Iewe named Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla (because that Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them. <sup>3</sup>And because hee was of the same crafte, he abode with them and wrought (for their crafte was to make tentes.) <sup>4</sup>And he disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians. <sup>5</sup>Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul, forced in spirit, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ. <sup>6</sup>And when they resisted and blasphemed, he shooke his raiment, and saide vnto them, Your blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles. <sup>7</sup>So he departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue. <sup>8</sup>And Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleued in the Lord with all his housholde: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleued and were baptized. <sup>9</sup>Then saide the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake, and holde not thy peace. <sup>10</sup>For I am with thee, and no man shall lay handes on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie. <sup>11</sup>So he continued there a yeere and six moneths, and taught ye worde of God among them. <sup>12</sup>Now when Gallio was Deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accorde against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, <sup>13</sup>Saying, This fellow persuadeth me to worship God otherwise then the Lawe appointeth. <sup>14</sup>And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio saide vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O ye Iewes, I would according to reason maintaine you. <sup>15</sup>But if it bee a question of wordes, and names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will be no iudge of those things. <sup>16</sup>And hee draue them from the iudgement seate. <sup>17</sup>Then tooke al the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seat: but Gallio cared nothing for those things. <sup>18</sup>But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, hee tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that he had shorne his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vowe. <sup>19</sup>Then hee came to Ephesus, and left them there: but hee entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes. <sup>20</sup>Who desired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent, <sup>21</sup>But bade the farewel, saying, I must needes keepe this feast that commeth, in Hierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus. <sup>22</sup>And when hee came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Hierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia. <sup>23</sup>Nowe when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went thorowe the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples. <sup>24</sup>And a certaine Iewe named Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mightie in the Scriptures. <sup>25</sup>The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and hee spake feruently in the Spirite, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely. <sup>26</sup>And he began to speake boldely in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly. <sup>27</sup>And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleued through grace. <sup>28</sup>For mightily hee confuted publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

19And it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples, <sup>2</sup>And saide vnto them, Haue ye receiued the holy Ghost since ye beleued? And they saide vnto him, Wee haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost. <sup>3</sup>And he said vnto them, Vnto what were ye then baptized? And they saide, Vnto Iohns baptisme. <sup>4</sup>Then saide Paul, Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they shoulde beleue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus. <sup>5</sup>And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus. <sup>6</sup>So Paul layde his handes vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophecied. <sup>7</sup>And all the men were about twelue. <sup>8</sup>Moreouer he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God. <sup>9</sup>But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed dayly in the schoole of one Tyrannus. <sup>10</sup>And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of ye Lord Iesus, both Iewes and Grecians. <sup>11</sup>And God wrought no small miracles by the handes of Paul, <sup>12</sup>So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kerchefs or handkerchefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them. <sup>13</sup>Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, exorcistes, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euil spirits, the Name of the Lord Iesus, saying, We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth. <sup>14</sup>(And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iewe, the Priest, about seuen which did this) <sup>15</sup>And the euil spirit answered, and said, Iesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye? <sup>16</sup>And the man in whome the euil spirit was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and preuailed against them, so that they fledde out of that house, naked, and wounded. <sup>17</sup>And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Grecians also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Iesus was magnified, <sup>18</sup>And many that beleued, came and confessed, and shewed their workes. <sup>19</sup>Many also of them which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fiftie thousand pecies of siluer. <sup>20</sup>So the worde of God grewe mightily, and preuailed. <sup>21</sup>Nowe when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the Spirite to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome. <sup>22</sup>So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season. <sup>23</sup>And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way. <sup>24</sup>For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluersmith, which made siluer temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftsmen, <sup>25</sup>Whom he called together, with the workemen of like things, and saide, Syrs, ye knowe that by this craft we haue our goods: <sup>26</sup>Moreouer ye see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not gods which are made with handes. <sup>27</sup>So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our portion shall be reprobud, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed. <sup>28</sup>Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians. <sup>29</sup>And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney. <sup>30</sup>And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffred him not. <sup>31</sup>Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia which were his friendes, sent vnto him, desiring him that hee woulde not present him selfe in the Common place. <sup>32</sup>Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assemblie was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together. <sup>33</sup>And some of the company drew fourth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hande, and woulde haue excused the matter to the people. <sup>34</sup>But when they knew that he was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians. <sup>35</sup>Then the towne clearke when hee had stayed the people, saide, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not howe that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddesse Diana, and of the image, which came downe from Iupiter? <sup>36</sup>Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly. <sup>37</sup>For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacrilege, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse. <sup>38</sup>Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftes men which are with him, haue a matter against any man, the lawe is open, and there are Deputies: let them accuse one another. <sup>39</sup>But if ye inquire any thing cocerning other matters, it may be determined in a lawful assembly. <sup>40</sup>For we are euen in ieopardie to be accused of this dayes sedition, for as much as there is no cause, whereby we may giue a reason of this concourse of people. <sup>41</sup>And when he had thus spoken, hee let the assembly depart.

20Nowe after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia. <sup>2</sup>And when hee had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with many words, he came into Grecia. <sup>3</sup>And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Iewes layde waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, hee purposed to returne through Macedonia. <sup>4</sup>And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus. <sup>5</sup>These went before, and taried vs at Troas. <sup>6</sup>And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fiae dayes, where we abode seuen dayes. <sup>7</sup>And the first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching vnto midnight. <sup>8</sup>And there were many lightes in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together. <sup>9</sup>And there sate in a windowe a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee ouercome with sleepe, fell downe from the thirde loft, and was taken vp dead. <sup>10</sup>But Paul went downe, and layde himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him. <sup>11</sup>Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, hee so departed. <sup>12</sup>And they brought the boye aliuie, and they were not a litle comforted. <sup>13</sup>Then we went before to shippe, and sailed vnto the citie Assos, that wee might receiue Paul there: for so had hee appointed, and would himselfe goe afoote. <sup>14</sup>Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos, and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes. <sup>15</sup>And wee sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arriued at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum. <sup>16</sup>For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because hee woulde not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if hee could possible, at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost. <sup>17</sup>Wherefore from Miletum, hee sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church. <sup>18</sup>Who when they were come to him, hee said vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what maner I haue bene with you at all seasons, <sup>19</sup>Seruing the Lord with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto me by the layings awaite of the Iewes, <sup>20</sup>And how I kept backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, and taught you openly and throughout euery house, <sup>21</sup>Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance towarde God, and faith toward our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>22</sup>And nowe beholde, I goe bound in the Spirit vnto Hierusalem, and know not what things shall come vnto me there, <sup>23</sup>Saue that ye holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying, that bondes and afflictions abide me. <sup>24</sup>But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioye, and the ministration which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesus, to testifie the Gospell of the grace of God. <sup>25</sup>And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whome I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more. <sup>26</sup>Wherefore I take you to recorde this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men. <sup>27</sup>For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God. <sup>28</sup>Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerseers, to feede the Church of God, which hee hath purchased with that his owne blood. <sup>29</sup>For I knowe this, that after my departing shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke. <sup>30</sup>Moreouer of your owne selues shall men arise speaking peruerse things, to drawe disciples after them. <sup>31</sup>Therefore watche, and remember, that by the space of three yeres I ceased not to warne euery one, both night and day with teares. <sup>32</sup>And nowe brethren, I commend you to God, and to the worde of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified. <sup>33</sup>I haue coueted no mans siluer, nor gold, nor apparell. <sup>34</sup>Yea, ye knowe, that these handes haue ministred vnto my necessities, and to them that were with me. <sup>35</sup>I haue shewed you all things, howe that so labouring, ye ought to support the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lord Iesus, howe that hee saide, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue. <sup>36</sup>And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled downe, and prayed with them all. <sup>37</sup>Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him, <sup>38</sup>Being chiefly sorie for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

21 And as we launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara. <sup>2</sup>And we found a ship that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set forth. <sup>3</sup>And whe we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the ship vnloaded ye burden. <sup>4</sup>And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes. And they told Paul through the Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem. <sup>5</sup>But when the dayes were ended, we departed and went our way, and they all accompanied vs with their wiues and children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed. <sup>6</sup>Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home. <sup>7</sup>And when we had ended the course from Tyrus, we arriued at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day. <sup>8</sup>And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and we entred into the house of Philippe the Euangelist, which was one of the seuen Deacons, and abode with him. <sup>9</sup>Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did prophecie. <sup>10</sup>And as we taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus. <sup>11</sup>And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his owne hands and feete, and sayd, Thus sayth the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles. <sup>12</sup>And when we had heard these things, both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not go vp to Hierusalem. <sup>13</sup>Then Paul answered, and sayd, What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus. <sup>14</sup>So when he would not be perswaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done. <sup>15</sup>And after those dayes we trussed vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem. <sup>16</sup>There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whome we should lodge. <sup>17</sup>And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly. <sup>18</sup>And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled. <sup>19</sup>And when he had embraced them, hee tolde by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration. <sup>20</sup>So when they heard it, they glorified God, and sayd vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleuee, and they are all zealous of the Law: <sup>21</sup>Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes. <sup>22</sup>What is then to be done? the multitude must needes come together: for they shall heare that thou art come. <sup>23</sup>Doe therefore this that we say to thee. We haue foure men, which haue made a vowe, <sup>24</sup>Them take, and purifie thy selfe with them, and contribute with them, that they may shaue their heads: and all shall knowe, that those things, whereof they haue bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keep-est the Lawe. <sup>25</sup>For as touching ye Gentiles, which beleuee, we haue written, and determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselues from things offred to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication. <sup>26</sup>Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for euery one of them. <sup>27</sup>And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they sawe him in the Temple) moued all the people, and laide hands on him, <sup>28</sup>Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, and the Lawe, and this place: moreouer, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place. <sup>29</sup>For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple. <sup>30</sup>Then all the citie was moued, and the people ran together: and they tooke Paul and drewe him out of the Temple, and forth with the doores were shut. <sup>31</sup>But as they went about to kill him, tydings came vnto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an vproare. <sup>32</sup>Who immediately tooke souldiers and Centurions, and ran downe vnto them: and when they sawe the chiefe Captaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul. <sup>33</sup>Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demaunded who he was, and what he had done. <sup>34</sup>And one cryed this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certentie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castell. <sup>35</sup>And when hee came vnto the grieces, it was so that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people. <sup>36</sup>For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him. <sup>37</sup>And as Paul should haue bene led into the castell, he sayd vnto the chiefe Captaine, May I speake vnto thee? Who sayd, Canst thou speake Greeke? <sup>38</sup>Art not thou the Egyptian who before these dayes raised a sedition, and led out into the wilderness foure thousande men that were murtherers? <sup>39</sup>Then Paul sayde, Doubtlesse, I am a man which am a Iewe, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous citie of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer mee to speake vnto the people. <sup>40</sup>And when he had giuen him licence, Paul stode on the grieces, and beckened with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made great silence, hee spake vnto them in the Hebrewe tongue, saying,

22Ye men, brethren and Fathers, heare my defence nowe towards you. <sup>2</sup>(And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he sayd) <sup>3</sup>I am verely a man, which am a Iew, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect maner of the Lawe of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day. <sup>4</sup>And I persecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into prison both men and women. <sup>5</sup>As also ye chiefe Priest doeth beare me witnes, and al the company of the Elders: of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, that they might be punished. <sup>6</sup>And so it was, as I iourneyed and was come neere vnto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me. <sup>7</sup>So I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee? <sup>8</sup>Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest. <sup>9</sup>Moreouer they that were with me, sawe in deede a light and were afraide: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake vnto me. <sup>10</sup>Then I sayd, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord sayde vnto me, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe. <sup>11</sup>So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus. <sup>12</sup>And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Lawe, hauing good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there, <sup>13</sup>Came vnto me, and stode, and sayd vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre I looked vpon him. <sup>14</sup>And he sayd, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest knowe his wil, and shouldest see that Iust one, and shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth. <sup>15</sup>For thou shalt be his witnes vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard. <sup>16</sup>Now therefore why tariest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord. <sup>17</sup>And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a traunce, <sup>18</sup>And saw him saying vnto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnes concerning me. <sup>19</sup>Then I sayd, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beat in euery Synagogue them that beleueed in thee. <sup>20</sup>And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stood by, and consented vnto his death, and kept the clothes of them that slew him. <sup>21</sup>Then he sayd vnto me, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles. <sup>22</sup>And they heard him vnto this worde, but then they lift vp their voyces, and sayd, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue. <sup>23</sup>And as they cried and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the aire, <sup>24</sup>The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined, that he might knowe wherefore they cryed so on him. <sup>25</sup>And as they bound him with thongs, Paul sayd vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned? <sup>26</sup>Nowe when the Centurion heard it, hee went, and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane. <sup>27</sup>Then the chiefe captaine came, and sayd to him, Tel me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea. <sup>28</sup>And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul sayd, But I was so borne. <sup>29</sup>Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after he knewe that hee was a Romane, and that he had bound him. <sup>30</sup>On the next day, because hee would haue knowen the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, he loosed him from his bonds, and commanded the hie Priests and all their Councill to come together: and he brought Paul, and set him before them.

23And Paul behelde earnestly the Councill, and sayde, Men and brethren, I haue in all good conscience serued God vntill this day. <sup>2</sup>Then the hie Priest Ananias commanded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth. <sup>3</sup>Then sayd Paul to him, God will smite thee, thou whited wall: for thou sittest to iudge me according to the Lawe, and transgressing the Lawe, commaundest thou me to be smitten? <sup>4</sup>And they that stood by, sayd, Reuilest thou Gods hie Priest? <sup>5</sup>Then sayd Paul, I knewe not, brethren, that he was the hie Priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speake euill of the ruler of thy people. <sup>6</sup>But when Paul perceiued that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of the Pharises, hee cried in the Council, Men and brethren, I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead. <sup>7</sup>And when hee had saide this, there was a dissension betweene the Pharises and the Sadduces, so that the multitude was deuided. <sup>8</sup>For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both. <sup>9</sup>Then there was a great crye: and the Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God. <sup>10</sup>And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commanded the souldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castel. <sup>11</sup>Nowe the night folowing, the Lord stode by him, and saide, Be of good courage, Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witness also at Rome. <sup>12</sup>And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assemblie, and bounde themselues with a curse, saying, that they woulde neither eate nor drinke, till they had killed Paul. <sup>13</sup>And they were more then fourtie, which had made this conspiracie. <sup>14</sup>And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and said, We haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that wee will eate

nothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul. <sup>15</sup>Nowe therefore, ye and the Council signifie to the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morow: as though you would know some thing more perfectly of him, and we, or euer he come neere, will be readie to kill him. <sup>16</sup>But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying awaite, he went, and entred into the castel, and tolde Paul. <sup>17</sup>And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to shewe him. <sup>18</sup>So hee tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and saide, Paul the prisoner called mee vnto him, and prayed mee to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath some thing to say vnto thee. <sup>19</sup>Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hande, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shewe me? <sup>20</sup>And he saide, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul to morow into the Council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly: <sup>21</sup>But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in waite for him of them, more then fourtie men, which haue bound themselues with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and nowe are they readie, and waite for thy promise. <sup>22</sup>The chiefe captaine then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to vtter it to no man, that he had shewed him these things. <sup>23</sup>And he called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make readie two hundred souldiers, that they may go to Cæsarea, and horsemen three score and ten, and two hundred with dartes, at the thirde houre of the night. <sup>24</sup>And let them make readie an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the Gouvernour. <sup>25</sup>And he wrote an epistle in this maner: <sup>26</sup>Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble Gouvernour Felix sendeth greeting. <sup>27</sup>As this man was taken of the Iewes, and shoulde haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane. <sup>28</sup>And when I would haue knowen the cause, wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council. <sup>29</sup>There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Lawe, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bondes. <sup>30</sup>And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes layd waite for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the thinges that they had against him. Farewell. <sup>31</sup>Then the souldiers as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris. <sup>32</sup>And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the Castel. <sup>33</sup>Now when they came to Cæsarea, they deliuered the epistle to the Gouvernour, and presented Paul also vnto him. <sup>34</sup>So when the Gouvernour had read it, hee asked of what prouince he was: and when he vnderstoode that he was of Cilicia, <sup>35</sup>I will heare thee, said he, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to bee kept in Herods iudgement hall.

24 Now after five dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came downe with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certaine orator, which appeared before the Gouvernour against Paul. 2 And when he was called fourth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue obtained great quietnesse through thee, and that many worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence, 3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places most noble Felix, with all thanks, 4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy courtesie a fewe wordes. 5 Certainly we haue found this man a pestilent fellowe, and a mouer of sedition among all the Iewes throughout the world, and a chiefe maintainer of the secte of the Nazarites: 6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore wee tooke him, and woulde haue iudged him according to our Lawe: 7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our handes, 8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him. 9 And the Iewes likewise affirmed, saying that it was so. 10 Then Paul, after that the gouernour had beckened vnto him that hee shoulde speake, answered, I do the more gladly answere for my selfe, for as much as I knowe that thou hast bene of many yeres a iudge vnto this nation, 11 Seeing that thou mayest knowe, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem. 12 And they neither found mee in the Temple disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie. 13 Neither can they proue the things, whereof they now accuse me. 14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call heresie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets, 15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shalbe both of iust and vniust. 16 And herein I endeouour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience towarde God, and toward men. 17 Now after many yeres, I came and brought almes to my nation and offerings. 18 At what time, certaine Iewes of Asia founde mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult. 19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me. 20 Or let these themselues say, if they haue found any vniust thing in mee, while I stode in the Council, 21 Except it be for this one voyce, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day. 22 Nowe when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, and said, When I shall more perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decise your matter. 23 Then hee commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him. 24 And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called fourth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ. 25 And as he disputed of righteousnes and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee. 26 Hee hoped also that money shoulde haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore hee sent for him the oftner, and communed with him. 27 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix rounge: and Felix willing to get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

25 When Festus was then come into the prouince, after three dayes he went vp from Caesarea vnto Hierusalem. 2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him, 3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they layd waite to kill him by the way. 4 But Festus answered, that Paul should bee kept at Caesarea, and that he himselfe would shortly depart thither. 5 Let them therefore, saide he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednes in the man, let them accuse him. 6 Now when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, hee went downe to Caesarea, and the next day sate in the iudgement seat, and commanded Paul to be brought. 7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Hierusalem, stode about him and layd many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof they could make no plaine prooffe, 8 Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against ye temple, nor against Caesar. 9 Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and saide, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before mee? 10 Then said Paul, I stand at Caesars iudgment seate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest. 11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing worthie of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Caesar. 12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, hee answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Caesar? vnto Caesar shalt thou goe. 13 And after certaine dayes, King Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Caesarea to salute Festus. 14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the King, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix, 15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the high Priestes and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him. 16 To whome I answered, that it is not the maner of the Romanes for fauour to deliuer any man to the death, before that hee which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime. 17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to be brought forth. <sup>18</sup>Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed: <sup>19</sup>But had certaine questions against him of their owne superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliuē. <sup>20</sup>And because I doubted of such maner of question, I asked him whether he would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things. <sup>21</sup>But because he appealed to be reserued to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar. <sup>22</sup>Then Agrippa sayd vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morowe, sayd he, thou shalt heare him. <sup>23</sup>And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice with great pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought forth. <sup>24</sup>And Festus sayd, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer. <sup>25</sup>Yet haue I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: neuertheles, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him. <sup>26</sup>Of whome I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my Lord: wherefore I haue brought him forth vnto you, and specially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write. <sup>27</sup>For me thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are layde against him.

26Then Agrippa sayd vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe. <sup>2</sup>I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes. <sup>3</sup>Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee, to heare me patiently. <sup>4</sup>As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, know all the Iewes, <sup>5</sup>Which knewe me heretofore, euen from my elders (if they would testifie) that after the most strait sect of our religion I liued a Pharise. <sup>6</sup>And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our fathers. <sup>7</sup>Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes. <sup>8</sup>Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead? <sup>9</sup>I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrarie things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth. <sup>10</sup>Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the hie Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my sentence. <sup>11</sup>And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and compelled them to blaspheme, and being more mad against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities. <sup>12</sup>At which time, euen as I went to Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the hie Priests, <sup>13</sup>At midday, O King, I sawe in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnes of the sunne, shine round about mee, and them which went with me. <sup>14</sup>So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against pricks. <sup>15</sup>Then I sayd, Who art thou, Lord? And he sayd, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest. <sup>16</sup>But rise and stand vp on thy feete: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a minister and a witness, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee, <sup>17</sup>Deliuering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee, <sup>18</sup>To open their eyes, that they may turne from darknes to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenes of sinnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by fayth in me. <sup>19</sup>Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision, <sup>20</sup>But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthy amendment of life. <sup>21</sup>For this cause the Iewes caught me in the Temple, and went about to kill me. <sup>22</sup>Neuertheles, I obtained helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to small and to great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come, <sup>23</sup>To wit, that Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles. <sup>24</sup>And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus said with a loude voyce, Paul, thou art besides thy selfe: much learning doeth make thee mad. <sup>25</sup>But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the wordes of trueth and sobernes. <sup>26</sup>For the King knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a corner. <sup>27</sup>O King Agrippa, beleeuest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleeuest. <sup>28</sup>Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian. <sup>29</sup>Then Paul sayd, I would to God that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds. <sup>30</sup>And when he had thus spoken, the King rose vp, and the gouernour, and Bernice, and they that sate with them. <sup>31</sup>And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themselues, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds. <sup>32</sup>Then sayd Agrippa vnto Festus, This man might haue bene loosed, if hee had not appealed vnto Cesar.

27 Now when it was concluded, that we should sayle into Italie, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the band of Augustus. <sup>2</sup> And we entred into a ship of Adramyttium purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launched foorth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs. <sup>3</sup> And the next day we arriued at Sidon: and Iulius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to go vnto his friends, that they might refresh him. <sup>4</sup> And from thence we launched, and sayled hard by Cyprus, because ye windes were contrarie. <sup>5</sup> Then sayled we ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphilia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia. <sup>6</sup> And there the Centurion found a ship of Alexandria, sayling into Italie, and put vs therein. <sup>7</sup> And when we had sayled slowly many dayes, and scarce were come against Gnidum, because the winde suffered vs not, we sailed hard by Candie, neere to Salmone, <sup>8</sup> And with much adoe sayled beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Lasea. <sup>9</sup> So when much time was spent, and sayling was now ieopardous, because also the Fast was nowe passed, Paul exhorted them, <sup>10</sup> And sayde vnto them, Syrs, I see that this voiage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and ship onely, but also of our liues. <sup>11</sup> Neuertheles the Centurion beleued rather the gouernour and the master of the ship, then those things which were spoken of Paul. <sup>12</sup> And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lyeth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West. <sup>13</sup> And when the Southerne winde blew softly, they supposing to attaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sailed by Candie. <sup>14</sup> But anon after, there arose by it a stormy winde called Euroclydon. <sup>15</sup> And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her goe, and were caried away. <sup>16</sup> And we ran vnder a litle Yle named Clauda, and had much a doe to get the boat. <sup>17</sup> Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vndergirding the ship, fearing least they should haue fallen into Syrtes, and they strake saile, and so were caried. <sup>18</sup> The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the ship. <sup>19</sup> And the third day we cast out with our owne hands the tackling of the ship. <sup>20</sup> And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away. <sup>21</sup> But after long abstinece, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Syrs, ye should haue hearkened to me, and not haue loosed from Candie: so should ye haue gained this hurt and losse. <sup>22</sup> But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shalbe no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the ship onely. <sup>23</sup> For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whome I serue, <sup>24</sup> Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and lo, God hath giuen

vnto thee freely all that sayle with thee. <sup>25</sup> Wherefore, sirs, be of good courage: for I beleue God, that it shall be so as it hath bene tolde me. <sup>26</sup> Howbeit, we must be cast into a certaine Iland. <sup>27</sup> And when ye fourteenth night was come, as we were caried to and from in the Adriaticall sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some countrey approached vnto them, <sup>28</sup> And sounded, and found it twentie fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fiteene fathoms. <sup>29</sup> Then fearing least they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ancores out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come. <sup>30</sup> Nowe as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let downe the boat into the sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreship, <sup>31</sup> Paul sayde vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye can not be safe. <sup>32</sup> Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away. <sup>33</sup> And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing: <sup>34</sup> Wherefore I exhort you to take meate: for this is for your safegarde: for there shall not an heare fall from the head of any of you. <sup>35</sup> And when he had thus spoken, hee tooke bread and gaue thanks to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate. <sup>36</sup> Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meate. <sup>37</sup> Nowe we were in the ship in all two hundreth three score and sixteene soules. <sup>38</sup> And whe they had eaten ynough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea. <sup>39</sup> And when it was day, they knewe not the countrey, but they spied a certaine creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship. <sup>40</sup> So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the ship vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoised vp the maine saile to the winde, and drewe to the shore. <sup>41</sup> And when they fell into a place, where two seas met, they thrust in the ship: and the forepart stucke fast, and could not be moued, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waues. <sup>42</sup> Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, least any of them, when he had swomme out, should flee away. <sup>43</sup> But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commanded that they that coule swimme, shoulde cast them selues first into the sea, and goe out to land: <sup>44</sup> And the other, some on boardes, and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

28 And when they were come safe, then they knewe that the Yle was called Melita. <sup>2</sup> And the Barbarians shewed vs no litle kindnesse: for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present showre, and because of the colde. <sup>3</sup> And when Paul had gathered a number of stickes, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand. <sup>4</sup>Nowe when ye Barbarians saw the worme hang on his hand, they said among themselues, This man surely is a murtherer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet Vengeance hath not suffered to liue. <sup>5</sup>But he shooke off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme. <sup>6</sup>Howbeit they wayted whe he should haue swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and sawe no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and said, That he was a God. <sup>7</sup>In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Yle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously. <sup>8</sup>And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feauer, and of a bloodie flixe: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he laide his hands on him, and healed him. <sup>9</sup>When this then was done, other also in the Yle, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed, <sup>10</sup>Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessarie. <sup>11</sup>Nowe after three moneths we departed in a shippe of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Yle, whose badge was Castor and Pollux. <sup>12</sup>And when we arriued at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes. <sup>13</sup>And from thence we set a compasse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blew, and we came the seconde day to Putioli: <sup>14</sup>Where we found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so we went toward Rome. <sup>15</sup>And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the Market of Appius, and at the Three tauernes, whom when Paul sawe, he thanked God, and waxed bolde. <sup>16</sup>So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by him selfe with a souldier that kept him. <sup>17</sup>And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, he said vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the handes of the Romanes. <sup>18</sup>Who when they had examined me, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me. <sup>19</sup>But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of. <sup>20</sup>For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine. <sup>21</sup>Then they saide vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee. <sup>22</sup>But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we knowe that euery where it is spoken against. <sup>23</sup>And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whom he expounded testifying the kingdome of God, and persuading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Lawe of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night. <sup>24</sup>And some were persuaded with ye things which were spoken, and some beleued not. <sup>25</sup>Therefore when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers, <sup>26</sup>Saying, Goe vnto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue. <sup>27</sup>For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they winked, least they shoulde see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heartes, and should returne that I might heale them. <sup>28</sup>Be it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it. <sup>29</sup>And when he had saide these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues. <sup>30</sup>And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, <sup>31</sup>Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speache, without let.

Romans

1 Paul a seruant of Iesus Christ called to be an Apostle, put apart to preache the Gospel of God, 2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophetes in the holy Scriptures) 3 Concerning his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord (which was made of the seede of Daud according to the flesh, 4 And declared mightily to be the Sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead) 5 By whom we haue receiued grace and Apostleship (that obedience might be giuen vnto ye faith) for his Name among al ye Gentiles, 6 Among whom ye be also the called of Iesus Christ: 7 To all you that be at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saints: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 8 First I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is published throughout the whole world. 9 For God is my witsse (whom I serue in my spirit in the Gospel of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you 10 Alwayes in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come vnto you. 11 For I long to see you, that I might bestowe among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened: 12 That is, that I might be comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine. 13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (but haue bene let hitherto) that I might haue some fruite also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles. 14 I am detter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and vnto the vnwise. 15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am readie to preach ye Gospel to you also that are at Rome. 16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleueth, to the Iewe first, and also to the Grecian. 17 For by it the righteousness of God is reueiled from faith to faith: as it is written, The iust shall liue by faith. 18 For the wrath of God is reueiled from heauen against all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withhold the trueth in vnrighteousnesse. 19 Forasmuch as that, which may be knowe of God, is manifest in them: for God hath shewed it vnto them. 20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternal power and Godhead, are seene by ye creation of the

worlde, being considered in his workes, to the intent that they should be without excuse: 21 Because that when they knewe God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but became vaine in their thoughtes, and their foolish heart was full of darkenesse. 22 When they professed themselues to be wise, they became fooles. 23 For they turned the glorie of the incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and foure footed beastes, and of creeping things. 24 Wherefore also God gaue them vp to their hearts lusts, vnto vncleannesse, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselues: 25 Which turned the trueth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creator, which is blessed for euer, Amen. 26 For this cause God gaue them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature. 27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues such recompence of their errour, as was meete. 28 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a reprobate minde, to doe those things which are not conuenient, 29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednes, couetousnes, maliciousnes, full of enuie, of murder, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers, 30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proude, boasters, inuenters of euil things, disobedient to parents, 31 without vnderstanding, couenant breakers, without naturall affection, such as can neuer be appeased, mercilesse. 32 Which men, though they knew ye Lawe of God, how that they which comit such things are worthie of death, yet not onely do the same, but also fauour them that doe them.

2 Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that condemnest: for in that that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things. 2 But we know that the iudgement of God is according to trueth, against them which comit such things. 3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which doe such thinges, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God? 4 Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance? <sup>5</sup>But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that canot repent, heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God, <sup>6</sup>Who wil reward euery man according to his woorkes: <sup>7</sup>That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke glorie, and honour, and immortalitie, euerlasting life: <sup>8</sup>But vnto them that are contentious and disobey the trueth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shalbe indignation and wrath. <sup>9</sup>Tribulation and anguish shalbe vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian. <sup>10</sup>But to euery man that doeth good, shalbe glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian. <sup>11</sup>For there is no respect of persons with God. <sup>12</sup>For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Lawe, shall be iudged by the Lawe, <sup>13</sup>(For the hearers of the Lawe are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Lawe shalbe iustified. <sup>14</sup>For when the Gentiles which haue not the Lawe, doe by nature, the things contained in the Lawe, they hauing not the Lawe, are a Lawe vnto themselues, <sup>15</sup>Which shew the effect of the Lawe written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witnes, and their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing.) <sup>16</sup>At the day when God shall iudge the secretes of men by Iesus Christ, according to my Gospel. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, thou art called a Iewe, and restest in the Lawe, and gloriest in God, <sup>18</sup>And knowest his will, and triest the things that dissent from it, in that thou art instructed by the Lawe: <sup>19</sup>And persuadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse, <sup>20</sup>An instructor of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the forme of knowledge, and of the truth in ye Law. <sup>21</sup>Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale? <sup>22</sup>Thou that saist, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adulterie? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacrilege? <sup>23</sup>Thou that gloriest in the Lawe, through breaking the Lawe, dishonourest thou God? <sup>24</sup>For ye Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written. <sup>25</sup>For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou do the Lawe: but if thou be a transgressour of the Lawe, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision. <sup>26</sup>Therefore if the vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Lawe, shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision? <sup>27</sup>And shall not vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Lawe) condemne thee which by the letter and circumcision art a transgressour of the Lawe? <sup>28</sup>For hee is not a Iewe, which is one outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh: <sup>29</sup>But he is a Iewe which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the spirite not in the letter, whose

3What is then the preferment of the Iewe? or what is the profite of circumcision? <sup>2</sup>Much euery maner of way: for chiefly, because vnto them were of credite committed the oracles of God. <sup>3</sup>For what, though some did not beleue? shall their vnbeliefe make the faith of God without effect? <sup>4</sup>God forbid: yea, let God be true, and euery man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be iustified in thy words, and ouercome, when thou art iudged. <sup>5</sup>Now if our vnrighteousnes comend the righteousnes of God, what shall we say? Is God vnrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as a man.) <sup>6</sup>God forbid: els how shall God iudge ye world? <sup>7</sup>For if the veritie of God hath more abounded through my lye vnto his glorie, why am I yet condemned as a sinner? <sup>8</sup>And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme, that we say) why doe we not euil, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust. <sup>9</sup>What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we haue alreadie prooued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are vnder sinne, <sup>10</sup>As it is written, There is none righteous, no not one. <sup>11</sup>There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God. <sup>12</sup>They haue all gone out of the way: they haue bene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one. <sup>13</sup>Their throte is an open sepulchre: they haue vsed their tongues to deceit: the poyson of aspes is vnder their lippes. <sup>14</sup>Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitternesse. <sup>15</sup>Their feete are swift to shead blood. <sup>16</sup>Destruction and calamity are in their waies, <sup>17</sup>And ye way of peace they haue not knowen. <sup>18</sup>The feare of God is not before their eies. <sup>19</sup>Now we know that whatsoever ye Lawe saith, it saith it to them which are vnder ye Law, that euery mouth may bee stopped, and all the world be subiect to the iudgement of God. <sup>20</sup>Therefore by the woorkes of the Lawe shall no flesh be iustified in his sight: for by the Lawe commeth the knowledge of sinne. <sup>21</sup>But nowe is the righteousnesse, of God made manifest without the Lawe, hauing witnes of the Lawe and of the Prophets, <sup>22</sup>To wit, the righteousnesse of God by the faith of Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all that beleue. <sup>23</sup>For there is no difference: for all haue sinned, and are depriued of the glorie of God, <sup>24</sup>And are iustified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus, <sup>25</sup>Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his blood to declare his righteousnes, by the forgiuenesse of the sinnes that are passed, <sup>26</sup>Through the patience of God, to shewe at this time his righteousnesse, that hee might be iust, and a iustifier of him which is of the faith of Iesus. <sup>27</sup>Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what Lawe? of woorkes? Nay: but by the Lawe of faith. <sup>28</sup>Therefore we conclude, that a man is iustified by faith, without the woorkes of the Lawe. <sup>29</sup>God, is he the God of the Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also. <sup>30</sup>For it is one God, who shall iustifie circumcision of faith, and vn-circumcision through faith. <sup>31</sup>Doe we then make the Lawe of none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the Lawe.

<sup>4</sup>What shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the flesh? <sup>2</sup>For if Abraham were iustified by workes, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God. <sup>3</sup>For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleued God, and it was counted to him for righteousnesse. <sup>4</sup>Nowe to him that worketh, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by dette: <sup>5</sup>But to him that worketh not, but beleueeth in him that iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousnesse. <sup>6</sup>Euen as Daudid declareth the blessednesse of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousnes without workes, saying, <sup>7</sup>Blessed are they, whose iniquities are forgien, and whose sinnes are couered. <sup>8</sup>Blessed is the man, to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne. <sup>9</sup>Came this blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousnesse. <sup>10</sup>Howe was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was cricumcised, but when he was vncircumcised. <sup>11</sup>After, he receiued the signe of circumcision, as the seale of the righteousnesse of ye faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, that he should be the father of all them that beleue, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also, <sup>12</sup>And the father of circumcision, not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steppes of the faith of our father Abraham, which he had when he was vncircumcised. <sup>13</sup>For the promise that he should be the heire of the worlde, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seede, through the Lawe, but through the righteousnesse of faith. <sup>14</sup>For if they which are of the Lawe, be heires, faith is made voide, and the promise is made of none effect. <sup>15</sup>For the Lawe causeth wrath: for where no Lawe is, there is no transgression. <sup>16</sup>Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the seede, not to that onely which is of the Lawe: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all, <sup>17</sup>(As it is written, I haue made thee a father of many nations) euen before God whom he beleued, who quickeneth the dead, and calleth those thinges which be not, as though they were. <sup>18</sup>Which Abraham about hope, beleued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seede be. <sup>19</sup>And he not weake in the faith, considered not his owne bodie, which was nowe dead, being almost an hundreth yeere olde, neither the deadnes of Saraes wombe. <sup>20</sup>Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbefie, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue glorie to God, <sup>21</sup>Being fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to doe it. <sup>22</sup>And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnesse. <sup>23</sup>Nowe it is not written for him

onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnesse, <sup>24</sup>But also for vs, to whom it shalbe imputed for righteousnesse, which beleue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead, <sup>25</sup>Who was deliuered to death for our sinnes, and is risen againe for our iustification.

<sup>5</sup>Then being iustified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>2</sup>By who also through faith, we haue had this accesse into this grace, wherein we stand, and reioyce vnder ye hope of the glory of God. <sup>3</sup>Neither that onely, but also we reioyce in tribulations, knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience, <sup>4</sup>And patience experience, and experience hope, <sup>5</sup>And hope maketh not ashamed, because the loue of God is shed abroad in our heartes by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs. <sup>6</sup>For Christ, when we were yet of no strength, at his time died for the vngodly. <sup>7</sup>Doutles one will scarce die for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die. <sup>8</sup>But God setteth out his loue towards vs, seeing that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for vs. <sup>9</sup>Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shalbe saued from wrath through him. <sup>10</sup>For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shalbe saued by his life, <sup>11</sup>And not onely so, but we also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue nowe received the atonement. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore, as by one man sinne entred into ye world, and death by sinne, and so death went ouer all men: in who all men haue sinned. <sup>13</sup>For vnto the time of the Law was sinne in the worlde, but sinne is not imputed, while there is no lawe. <sup>14</sup>But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer them also that sinned not after the like maner of that transgression of Adam, which was the figure of him that was to come. <sup>15</sup>But yet the gift is not so, as is the offence: for if through the offence of that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many. <sup>16</sup>Neither is the gift so, as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to iustification. <sup>17</sup>For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousnesse, reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ. <sup>18</sup>Likewise then as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefite abounded toward all men to the iustification of life. <sup>19</sup>For as by one mans disobedience many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one shall many also be made righteous. <sup>20</sup>Moreouer the Law entred thereupon that the offence shoulde abound: neuerthesse, where sinne abounded, there grace abounded much more: <sup>21</sup>That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousnesse vnto eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

6What shall we say then? Shall we continue still in sinne, that grace may abounde? God forbid. <sup>2</sup>Howe shall we, that are dead to sinne, liue yet therein? <sup>3</sup>Knowe ye not, that all we which haue bene baptized into Iesus Christ, haue bene baptized into his death? <sup>4</sup>We are buried then with him by baptisme into his death, that like as Christ was raysed vp from the dead to the glorie of the Father, so we also should walke in newnesse of life. <sup>5</sup>For if we be planted with him to the similitude of his death, euen so shall we be to the similitude of his resurrection, <sup>6</sup>Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sinne might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serue sinne. <sup>7</sup>For he that is dead, is freed from sinne. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore, if we bee dead with Christ, we beleue that we shall liue also with him, <sup>9</sup>Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him. <sup>10</sup>For in that hee died, hee died once to sinne but in that he liueth, he liueth to God. <sup>11</sup>Likewise thinke ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are aliue to God in Iesus Christ our Lord. <sup>12</sup>Let not sinne reigne therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in ye lusts therof: <sup>13</sup>Neither giue ye your members, as weapons of vnrighteousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousnesse vnto God. <sup>14</sup>For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder ye Lawe, but vnder grace. <sup>15</sup>What then? shall we sinne, because we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid. <sup>16</sup>Knowe ye not, that to whomsoeuer yee giue your selues as seruats to obey, his seruants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteousnesse? <sup>17</sup>But God be thanked, that ye haue bene the seruants of sinne, but yee haue obeyed from the heart vnto the forme of the doctrine, wherunto ye were deliuered. <sup>18</sup>Being then made free from sinne, yee are made the seruants of righteousnesse. <sup>19</sup>I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as yee haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now giue your mebers seruants vnto righteousnesse in holinesse. <sup>20</sup>For when ye were the seruants of sinne, ye were freed from righteousnesse. <sup>21</sup>What fruit had ye then in those things, whereof ye are nowe ashamed? For the ende of those things is death. <sup>22</sup>But now being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruit in holines, and the end, euerlasting life. <sup>23</sup>For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

7Knowe yee not, brethren, (for I speake to them that knowe the Lawe) that the Lawe hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth? <sup>2</sup>For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Lawe to the man, while he liueth:

but if the man bee dead, shee is deliuered from the lawe of the man. <sup>3</sup>So then, if while the man liueth, she taketh another man, she shalbe called an adulteresse: but if the man be dead, she is free from the Law, so that shee is not an adulteresse, though shee take another man. <sup>4</sup>So yee, my brethren, are dead also to the Law by ye body of Christ, that ye should be vnto an other, euen vnto him that is raised vp from the dead, that we should bring forth fruite vnto God. <sup>5</sup>For when we were in ye flesh, the affections of sinnes, which were by the Law, had force in our members, to bring forth fruit vnto death. <sup>6</sup>But now we are deliuered from the Lawe, he being dead in whom we were holden, that we should serue in newnesse of Spirite, and not in the oldnesse of the letter. <sup>7</sup>What shall we say then? Is the Lawe sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knewe not sinne, but by the Lawe: for I had not knowen lust, except the Lawe had sayd, Thou shalt not lust. <sup>8</sup>But sinne tooke an occasion by ye commandement, and wrought in me all maner of concupiscence: for without the Lawe sinne is dead. <sup>9</sup>For I once was aliue, without the Law: but when the commandement came, sinne reuiued, <sup>10</sup>But I died: and the same commandement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death. <sup>11</sup>For sinne tooke occasion by the commandement, and deceiued me, and thereby slewe me. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore the Lawe is holy, and that commandement is holy, and iust, and good. <sup>13</sup>Was that then which is good, made death vnto me? God forbid: but sinne, that it might appeare sinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sinne might be out of measure sinfull by the commandement. <sup>14</sup>For we knowe that the Law is spirituall, but I am carnall, solde vnder sinne. <sup>15</sup>For I alow not that which I do: for what I would, that do I not: but what I hate, that do I. <sup>16</sup>If I doe then that which I woulde not, I consent to the Lawe, that it is good. <sup>17</sup>Nowe then, it is no more I, that doe it, but sinne that dwelleth in me. <sup>18</sup>For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to wil is preset with me: but I find no meanes to perform that which is good. <sup>19</sup>For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euil, which I would not, that do I. <sup>20</sup>Nowe if I do that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me. <sup>21</sup>I finde then that when I would doe good, I am thus yoked, that euill is present with me. <sup>22</sup>For I delite in the Law of God, concerning the inner man: <sup>23</sup>But I see another Law in my members, rebelling against the Lawe of my minde, and leading me captiue vnto the lawe of sinne, which is in my members. <sup>24</sup>O wretched man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the body of this death! <sup>25</sup>I thanke God through Iesus Christ our Lord. Then I my selfe in my minde serue the Lawe of God, but in my flesh the lawe of sinne.

8Now then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. <sup>2</sup>For the Lawe of the Spirite of life, which is in Christ Iesus, hath freed mee from the lawe of sinne and of death. <sup>3</sup>For (that that was impossible to ye Lawe, in as much as it was weake, because of ye flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in ye similitude of sinful flesh, and for sinne, condoned sinne in the flesh, <sup>4</sup>That that righteousnes of the Law might be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after ye flesh, but after the Spirit. <sup>5</sup>For they that are after the flesh, sauour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. <sup>6</sup>For the wisdom of the flesh is death: but the wisdom of the Spirit is life and peace, <sup>7</sup>Because the wisdom of the flesh is enimitie against God: for it is not subiect to the Lawe of God, neither in deede can be. <sup>8</sup>So then they that are in the flesh, can not please God. <sup>9</sup>Now ye are not in the flesh, but in ye Spirit, because ye spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not ye Spirit of Christ, ye same is not his. <sup>10</sup>And if Christ bee in you, the body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirite is life for righteousnes sake. <sup>11</sup>But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that dwelleth in you. <sup>12</sup>Therefore brethren, wee are detters not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh: <sup>13</sup>For if ye liue after the flesh, ye shall die: but if yee mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue. <sup>14</sup>For as many as are ledde by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God. <sup>15</sup>For ye haue not receiued the Spirit of bondage, to feare againe: but ye haue receiued the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry Abba, Father. <sup>16</sup>The same Spirit beareth witnesse with our spirit, that we are the children of God. <sup>17</sup>If we be children, we are also heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him. <sup>18</sup>For I count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shalbe shewed vnto vs. <sup>19</sup>For the feruent desire of the creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shalbe reueiled, <sup>20</sup>Because the creature is subiect to vanitie, not of it owne will, but by reason of him, which hath subdued it vnder hope, <sup>21</sup>Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God. <sup>22</sup>For we knowe that euery creature groneth with vs also, and trauaileth in paine together vnto this present. <sup>23</sup>And not onely the creature, but we also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen we doe sigh in our selues, waiting for the adoption, euen the redemption of our body. <sup>24</sup>For we are sauued by hope: but hope that is seene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth? <sup>25</sup>But if we hope for that we see not, we doe with patience abide for it. <sup>26</sup>Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we knowe not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh request for vs with sighs, which cannot be expressed. <sup>27</sup>But he that searcheth the heartes, knoweth what is the meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for ye Saints, according to the wil of God.

<sup>28</sup>Also we knowe that all thinges worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his purpose. <sup>29</sup>For those which hee knewe before, he also predestinate to bee made like to the image of his Sonne, that hee might be the first borne among many brethren. <sup>30</sup>Moreouer whom he predestinate, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he iustified, and whom he iustified, them he also glorified. <sup>31</sup>What shall we then say to these thinges? If God be on our side, who can be against vs? <sup>32</sup>Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall he not with him giue vs all things also? <sup>33</sup>Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is God that iustifieth, <sup>34</sup>Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea, or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs. <sup>35</sup>Who shall separate vs from the loue of Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sworde? <sup>36</sup>As it is written, For thy sake are we killed all day long: we are counted as sheepe for the slaughter. <sup>37</sup>Neuerthelesse, in all these thinges we are more then coquerours through him that loued vs. <sup>38</sup>For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, <sup>39</sup>Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shalbe able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

II say the trueth in Christ, I lye not, my conscience bearing mee witnes in the holy Ghost, <sup>2</sup>That I haue great heauinesse, and continuall sorow in mine heart. <sup>3</sup>For I woulde wish my selfe to be separate from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsemen according to the flesh, <sup>4</sup>Which are the Israelites, to whome pertaineth the adoption, and the glory, and the Couenants, and the giuing of the Lawe, and the seruice of God, and the promises. <sup>5</sup>Of whome are the fathers, and of whome concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is God ouer all, blessed for euer, Amen. <sup>6</sup>Notwithstanding it can not bee that the worde of God should take none effect: for all they are not Israel, which are of Israel: <sup>7</sup>Neither are they all children, because they are the seede of Abraham: but, In Isaac shall thy seede be called: <sup>8</sup>That is, they which are the children of the flesh, are not the children of God: but the children of the promise, are counted for the seede. <sup>9</sup>For this is a worde of promise, In this same time wil I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne. <sup>10</sup>Neither he onely felt this, but also Rebecca when shee had conceiued by one, euen by our father Isaac. <sup>11</sup>For yer the children were borne, and when they had neither done good, nor euill (that the purpose of God might remaine according to election, not by workes, but by him that calleth) <sup>12</sup>It was said vnto her, The elder shall serue the yonger. <sup>13</sup>As it is written, I haue loued Iacob, and haue hated Esau. <sup>14</sup>What shall wee say then? Is there vnrighteousnes with God? God forbid. <sup>15</sup>For he saith to Moses, I wil haue mercy on him, to whom I wil shew mercie: and wil haue compassion on him, on who I wil haue copassion. <sup>16</sup>So then it is not in him that willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercy. <sup>17</sup>For the Scripture saith vnto Pharao, For this same purpose haue I stirred thee vp, that I might shewe my power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout al the earth. <sup>18</sup>Therefore he hath mercie on whome he will, and whom he will, he hardeneth. <sup>19</sup>Thou wilt say then vnto me, Why doeth he yet complaine? for who hath resisted his will? <sup>20</sup>But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God? shall the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus? <sup>21</sup>Hath not the pottor power of the clay to make of the same lump one vessell to honour, and another vnto dishonour? <sup>22</sup>What and if God would, to shewe his wrath, and to make his power knowen, suffer with long patience the vessels of wrath, prepared to destruction? <sup>23</sup>And that hee might declare the riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercy, which hee hath prepared vnto glory? <sup>24</sup>Euen vs whome hee hath called, not of the Iewes onely, but also of the Gentiles, <sup>25</sup>As he sayth also in Osee, I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloued, which was not beloued. <sup>26</sup>And it shalbe in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, that there they shalbe called, The children of the liuing God. <sup>27</sup>Also Esaias cryeth concerning Israel, Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saued. <sup>28</sup>For he wil make his account, and gather it into a short summe with righteousnes: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth. <sup>29</sup>And as Esaias sayde before, Except the Lord of hostes had left vs a seede, we had bene made as Sodom, and had bene like to Gomorrha. <sup>30</sup>What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which folowed not righteousnes, haue attained vnto righteousnes, euen the righteousnes which is of faith. <sup>31</sup>But Israel which followed the Lawe of righteousnes, could not arteine vnto the Lawe of righteousnes. <sup>32</sup>Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the workes of the Lawe: for they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone, <sup>33</sup>As it is written, Beholde, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke to make men fall: and euery one that beleueeth in him, shall not be ashamed.

10 Brethren, mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saued. <sup>2</sup>For I beare them record, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge. <sup>3</sup>For they, being ignorant of the righteousnes of God, and going about to stablish their owne righteousnes, haue not submitted themselues to the righteousnes of God. <sup>4</sup>For Christ is the end of the Lawe for righteousnes vnto euery one that beleueeth. <sup>5</sup>For Moses thus describeth the righteousnes which is of the Lawe, That the man which doeth these things, shall liue thereby. <sup>6</sup>But the righteousnes which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue) <sup>7</sup>Or, Who shall descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead) <sup>8</sup>But what sayth it? The worde is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the worde of faith which we preach. <sup>9</sup>For if thou shalt confesse with thy mouth the Lord Iesus, and shalt beleue in thine heart, that God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt be saued: <sup>10</sup>For with the heart man beleueeth vnto righteousnes, and with the mouth man confesseth to saluation. <sup>11</sup>For the Scripture saith, Whosoouer beleueeth in him, shall not be ashamed. <sup>12</sup>For there is no difference betweene the Iewe and the Grecian: for he that is Lord ouer all, is rich vnto all, that call on him. <sup>13</sup>For whosoouer shall call vpon the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued. <sup>14</sup>But how shall they call on him, in whome they haue not beleueed? and how shall they beleue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and howe shall they heare without a preacher? <sup>15</sup>And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, Howe beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things! <sup>16</sup>But they haue not all obeyed ye Gospel: for Esaias saith, Lord, who hath beleueed our report? <sup>17</sup>Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the worde of God. <sup>18</sup>But I demaund, Haue they not heard? No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the worlde. <sup>19</sup>But I demaund, Did not Israel knowe God? First Moses sayth, I will prouoke you to enuie by a nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you. <sup>20</sup>And Esaias is bolde, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not, and haue bene made manifest to them that asked not after me. <sup>21</sup>And vnto Israel hee sayth, All the day long haue I stretched forth mine hand vnto a disobedient, and gainesaying people.

11 I Demaund then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for I also am an Israelite, of the seede of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin. <sup>2</sup>God hath not cast away his people which he knew before. Know ye not what the Scripture sayth of Elias, howe hee communeth with God against Israel, saying, <sup>3</sup>Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life? <sup>4</sup>But what saith the answere of God to him? I haue reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousand men, which haue not bowed the knee to Baal. <sup>5</sup>Euen so then at this present time is there a remnant according to the election of grace. <sup>6</sup>And if it be of grace, it is no more of workes: or els were grace no more grace: but if it be of workes, it is no more grace: or els were worke no more worke. <sup>7</sup>What then? Israel hath not obtained that he sought: but the election hath obtined it, and the rest haue bene hardened, <sup>8</sup>According as it is written, God hath giuen them the spirit of slumber: eyes that they should not see, and eares that they should not heare vnto this day. <sup>9</sup>And Dauid sayth,

Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling block, euen for a recompence vnto them. <sup>10</sup>Let their eyes be darkened that they see not, and bowe downe their backe alwayes. <sup>11</sup>I demaund then, Haue they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, saluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore if the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their aboundance be? <sup>13</sup>For in that I speake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of ye Gentiles, I magnifie mine office, <sup>14</sup>To trie if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my flesh to follow them, and might saue some of them. <sup>15</sup>For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing be, but life from the dead? <sup>16</sup>For if the first fruites be holy, so is the whole lump: and if the roote be holy, so are the branches. <sup>17</sup>And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast grafted in for them, and made partaker of the roote, and fatnesse of the Oliue tree. <sup>18</sup>Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee. <sup>19</sup>Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be grafted in. <sup>20</sup>Well: through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: bee not hie minded, but feare. <sup>21</sup>For if God spared not the naturall branches, take heede, least he also spare not thee. <sup>22</sup>Beholde therefore the bountifulnesse, and seueritie of God: towarde them which haue fallen, seueritie: but toward thee, bountifulnesse, if thou continue in his bountifulnesse: or els thou shalt also be cut off. <sup>23</sup>And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graffe them in againe. <sup>24</sup>For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by nature, and wast grafted contrary to nature in a right Oliue tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, bee grafted in their owne Oliue tree? <sup>25</sup>For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (least ye should bee arrogant in your selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be come in. <sup>26</sup>And so all Israel shalbe saued, as it is written, The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shall turne away the vngodlinesse from Iacob. <sup>27</sup>And this is my couenant to them, When I shall take away their sinnes. <sup>28</sup>As concerning the Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloued for the fathers sakes. <sup>29</sup>For the giftes and calling of God are without repentance. <sup>30</sup>For euen as yee in times past haue not beleued God, yet haue nowe obtained mercie through their vnbeliefe: <sup>31</sup>Euen so nowe haue they not beleued by the mercie shewed vnto you, that they also may obtaine mercie. <sup>32</sup>For God hath shut vp all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercie on all. <sup>33</sup>O the deepnesse of the riches, both of the wisdom, and knowledge of God! howe vnsearcheable are his iudgements, and his wayes past finding out! <sup>34</sup>For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? or who was his counsellour? <sup>35</sup>Or who hath giuen vnto him first, and he shalbe recompensed? <sup>36</sup>For of him, and through him, and for him are all things: to him be glory for euer. Amen.

12 Beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God, that yee giue vp your bodies a liuing sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your reasonable seruing of God. <sup>2</sup>And fashion not your selues like vnto this worlde, but bee yee changed by the renewing of your minde, that ye may prooue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is. <sup>3</sup>For I say through the grace that is giuen vnto me, to euery one that is among you, that no man presume to vnderstande about that which is meete to vnderstand, but that he vnderstande according to sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the measure of faith. <sup>4</sup>For as wee haue many members in one body, and all members haue not one office, <sup>5</sup>So we being many are one body in Christ, and euery one, one anothers members. <sup>6</sup>Seeing then that we haue gifts that are diuers, according to the grace that is giuen vnto vs, whether we haue prophecie, let vs prophecie according to the portion of faith: <sup>7</sup>Or an office, let vs waite on the office: or he that teacheth, on teaching: <sup>8</sup>Or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that distributeth, let him doe it with simplicitie: he that ruleth, with diligence: he that sheweth mercie, with cheerefulnesse. <sup>9</sup>Let loue be without dissimulation. Abhorre that which is euill, and cleaue vnto that which is good. <sup>10</sup>Be affectioned to loue one another with brotherly loue. In giuing honour, goe one before another, <sup>11</sup>Not slouthfull to do seruice: seruent in spirit seruing the Lord, <sup>12</sup>Reioycing in hope, patient in tribulation, continuing in prayer, <sup>13</sup>Distributing vnto the necessities of the Saintes: giuing your selues to hospitalitie. <sup>14</sup>Blesse them which persecute you: blesse, I say, and curse not. <sup>15</sup>Reioyce with them that reioyce, and weepe with them that weepe. <sup>16</sup>Be of like affection one towardes another: be not hie minded: but make your selues equall to them of the lower sort: be not wise in your selues. <sup>17</sup>Recompence to no man euill for euill: procure things honest in the sight of all men. <sup>18</sup>If it bee possible, as much as in you is, haue peace with all men. <sup>19</sup>Dearely beloued, auenge not your selues, but giue place vnto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine: I will repay, saith the Lord. <sup>20</sup>Therefore, if thine enemy hunger, feede him: if he thirst, giue him drinke: for in so doing, thou shalt heape coales of fire on his head. <sup>21</sup>Bee not overcome of euill, but overcome euill with goodnesse.

13 Let euery soule be subiect vnto the higher powers: for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are ordeined of God. <sup>2</sup>Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receiue to themselues condemnation. <sup>3</sup>For Magistrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for euill. Wilt thou then bee without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue praise of the same. <sup>4</sup>For he is ye minister of God for thy wealth, but if thou do euill, feare: for he beareth not the sworde for nought: for he is the minister of God to take vengeance on him that doeth euill. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore ye must bee subiect, not because of wrath only, but also for conscience sake. <sup>6</sup>For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselves for the same thing. <sup>7</sup>Giue to all men therefore their duetie: tribute, to whome yee owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whome feare: honour, to whom ye owe honour. <sup>8</sup>Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: for he that loueth another, hath fulfilled the Lawe. <sup>9</sup>For this, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witnes, Thou shalt not couet: and if there be any other commandement, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. <sup>10</sup>Loue doeth not euill to his neighbour: therefore is loue the fulfilling of the Lawe. <sup>11</sup>And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleepe: for now is our saluation neerer, then when we beleued it. <sup>12</sup>The night is past, and the day is at hande, let vs therefore cast away the workes of darkenesse, and let vs put on the armour of light, <sup>13</sup>So that wee walke honestly, as in the day: not in gluttonie, and drunkennesse, neither in chambering and wantonnes, nor in strife and enuying. <sup>14</sup>But put yee on the Lord JESUS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lustes of it.

<sup>14</sup>Him that is weake in the faith, receiue vnto you, but not for controuersies of disputations. <sup>2</sup>One beleueth that he may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbes. <sup>3</sup>Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for God hath receiued him. <sup>4</sup>Who art thou that condemnest another mans seruant? hee standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shalbe established: for God is able to make him stand. <sup>5</sup>This man esteemeth one day aboue another day, and another man counteth every day alike: let every man be fully perswaded in his minde. <sup>6</sup>He that obserueth the day, obserueth it to the Lord: and he that obserueth not the day, obserueth it not to the Lord. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord: for he giueth God thanks: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thanks. <sup>7</sup>For none of vs liueth to himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe. <sup>8</sup>For whether wee liue, we liue vnto the Lord: or whether we die, we die vnto the Lord: whether we liue therefore, or die, we are the Lords. <sup>9</sup>For Christ therefore died and rose againe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke. <sup>10</sup>But why doest thou condemne thy brother? or why doest thou despise thy brother? for we shall all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ. <sup>11</sup>For it is written, I liue, sayth the Lord, and every knee shall bowe to me, and all tongues shall confesse vnto God. <sup>12</sup>So then every one of vs shall giue accounts of himselfe to God. <sup>13</sup>Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vse your iudgement rather in this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother. <sup>14</sup>I know, and am perswaded through the Lord Iesus, that there is nothing vnclane of it selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vnclane, to him it is vnclane. <sup>15</sup>But if thy brother be grieued for the meate, nowe walkest thou not charitably: destroy not him with thy meate, for whome Christ dyed. <sup>16</sup>Cause not your commoditie to be euill spoken of. <sup>17</sup>For the kingdome of God, is not meate nor drinke, but righteousnes, and peace, and ioye in the holy Ghost. <sup>18</sup>For whosoever in these things serueth Christ, is acceptable vnto God, and is approued of men. <sup>19</sup>Let vs then follow those things which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another. <sup>20</sup>Destroy not the worke of God for meates sake: all things in deede are pure: but it is euill for the man which eateth with offence. <sup>21</sup>It is good neither to eate flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weake. <sup>22</sup>Hast thou faith? haue it with thy selfe before God: blessed is hee that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he alloweth. <sup>23</sup>For he that doubteth, is condemned if he eate, because he eateth not of faith: and whatsoever is not of faith, is sinne.

<sup>15</sup>We which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weake, and not to please our selues. <sup>2</sup>Therefore let every man please his neighbour in that that is good to edification. <sup>3</sup>For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is written, The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me. <sup>4</sup>For whatsoever things are written aforetime, are writte for our learning, that we through patience, and comfort of the Scriptures might haue hope. <sup>5</sup>Now the God of patience and consolation giue you that ye be like minded one towards another, according to Christ Iesus, <sup>6</sup>That ye with one minde, and with one mouth may prayse God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore receiue ye one another, as Christ also receiued vs to the glory of God. <sup>8</sup>Nowe I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision, for the trueth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the fathers. <sup>9</sup>And let the Gentiles prayse God, for his mercie, as it is written, For this cause I wil confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name. <sup>10</sup>And againe he saith, Reioyce, ye Gentiles with his people. <sup>11</sup>And againe, Prayse the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laude ye him, all people together. <sup>12</sup>And againe Esaias sayth, There shall be a roote of Iesse, and hee that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust. <sup>13</sup>Nowe the God of hope fill you with all ioye, and peace in beleeuing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost. <sup>14</sup>And I my selfe also am perswaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodnes, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another. <sup>15</sup>Neuerthesse, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God, <sup>16</sup>That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministring the Gospel of God, that the offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost. <sup>17</sup>I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God. <sup>18</sup>For I dare not speake of any thing, which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient in worde and deede, <sup>19</sup>With the power of signes and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God: so that from Hierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ. <sup>20</sup>Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation. <sup>21</sup>But as it is written, To whome hee was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him. <sup>22</sup>Therefore also I haue bene oft let to come vnto you: <sup>23</sup>But nowe seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue bene desirous many yeeres agone to come vnto you, <sup>24</sup>When I shall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue bene somewhat filled with your company. <sup>25</sup>But now go I to Hierusalem, to minister vnto the Saints. <sup>26</sup>For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine distribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hierusalem. <sup>27</sup>For it hath pleased them, and their detters are they: for if the Gentiles be made partakers of their spirituall things, their duetie is also to minister vnto them in carnall things. <sup>28</sup>When I haue therefore performed this, and haue sealed them this fruite, I will passe by you into Spaine. <sup>29</sup>And I knowe when I come, that I shall come to you with abundance of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ. <sup>30</sup>Also brethren, I beseeche you for our Lord Iesus Christes sake, and for the loue of the spirit, that ye would striue with me by prayers to God for me, <sup>31</sup>That I may be deliuered from them which are disobedient in Iudea, and that my seruice which I haue to doe at Hierusalem, may be accepted of the Saintes, <sup>32</sup>That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed. <sup>33</sup>Thus the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

16I Commende vnto you Phebe our sister, which is a seruaunt of the Church of Cenchrea: <sup>2</sup>That ye receiue her in the Lord, as it becommeth Saintes, and that ye assist her in whatsoever businesse she needeth of your ayde: for she hath giuen hospitalitie vnto many, and to me also. <sup>3</sup>Greete Priscilla, and Aquila my fellowe helpers in Christ

Iesus, <sup>4</sup>(Which haue for my life laide downe their owne necke. Vnto whom not I onely giue thankes, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.) <sup>5</sup>Likewise greet the Church that is in their house. Salute my beloued Epeneus, which is the first fruite of Achaia in Christ. <sup>6</sup>Greete Marie which bestowed much labour on vs. <sup>7</sup>Salute Andronicus and Iunia my cousins and fellowe prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me. <sup>8</sup>Greete Amplias my beloued in the Lord. <sup>9</sup>Salute Vrbanius our fellow helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloued. <sup>10</sup>Salute Apelles approoued in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus friendes. <sup>11</sup>Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greete them which are of the friendes of Narcissus which are in the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women labour in the Lord. Salute the beloued Persis, which woman hath laboured much in the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine. <sup>14</sup>Greete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them. <sup>15</sup>Salute Philologus and Iulias, Nereas, and his sister, and Olympas, and all the Saintes which are with them. <sup>16</sup>Salute one another with an holy kisse. The Churches of Christ salute you. <sup>17</sup>Now I beseech you brethren, marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrary to the doctrine which ye haue learned, and auoide them. <sup>18</sup>For they that are such, serue not the Lord Iesus Christ, but their owne bellies, and with faire speach and flattering deceiue the heartes of the simple. <sup>19</sup>For your obedience is come abroade among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I woulde haue you wise vnto that which is good, and simple concerning euill. <sup>20</sup>The God of peace shall treade Satan vnder your feete shortly. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you. <sup>21</sup>Timotheus my helper, and Lucius, and Iason, and Sosipater my kinsemen, salute you. <sup>22</sup>I Tertius, which wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord. <sup>23</sup>Gains mine hoste, and of the whole Church saluteth you. Erastus the steward of the citie saluteth you, and Quartus a brother. <sup>24</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all. Amen. <sup>25</sup>To him nowe that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Iesus Christ, by the reuelation of the mysterie, which was kept secrete since the worlde began: <sup>26</sup>(But nowe is opened, and published among all nations by the Scriptures of the Prophetes, at the commandement of the euerlasting God for the obedience of faith) <sup>27</sup>To God, I say, only wise, be praise through Iesus Christ for euer. Amen.

I Corinthians

1 Paul called to be an Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother Sosthenes, 2 Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are sanctified in Christ Iesus, Saintes by calling, with all that call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in euery place, both their Lord, and ours: 3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 4 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Iesus Christ, 5 That in all things ye are made rich in him, in all kinde of speach, and in all knowledge: 6 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene confirmed in you: 7 So that ye are not destitute of any gift: wayting for the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ. 8 Who shall also confirme you vnto the ende, that ye may be blamelesse, in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ. 9 God is faithfull, by whom ye are called vnto the fellowship of his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord. 10 Nowe I beseeche you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that ye all speake one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you: but be ye knit together in one mind, and in one iudgement. 11 For it hath bene declared vnto me, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentions among you. 12 Nowe this I say, that euery one of you saith, I am Pauls, and I am Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christs. 13 Is Christ deuided? was Paul crucified for you? either were ye baptized into the name of Paul? 14 I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but Crispus, and Gaius, 15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine owne name. 16 I baptized also the houshold of Stephanas: furthermore knowe I not, whether I baptized any other. 17 For CHRIST sent me not to baptize, but to preache the Gospel, not with wisdom of wordes, lest the crosse of Christ should be made of none effect. 18 For that preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but vnto vs, which are saued, it is the power of God. 19 For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will cast away the vnderstanding of the prudent. 20 Where is the wise? where is the Scribe? where is the disputer of this worlde? hath not God made the wisdom of this worlde foolishnesse? 21 For seeing the worlde by wisdom knewe not God in the wisdom of GOD, it pleased God by the foolishnesse of preaching to saue them that beleue: 22 Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seeke after wisdom. 23 But wee preach Christ crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen a stumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, foolishnesse: 24 But vnto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wisdom of God. 25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men. 26 For brethren, you see your calling, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called. 27 But God hath chosen the foolish thinges of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weake thinges of the worlde, to confound the mightie things, 28 And vile thinges of the worlde and thinges which are despised, hath God chosen, and thinges which are not, to bring to nought thinges that are, 29 That no flesh shoulde reioyce in his presence. 30 But ye are of him in Christ Iesus, who of God is made vnto vs wisdom and righteousnesse, and sanctification, and redemption, 31 That, according as it is written, Hee that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

2 And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellencie of woordes, or of wisdom, shewing vnto you the testimonie of God. 2 For I esteemed not to knowe any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified. 3 And I was among you in weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling. 4 Neither stooode my woorde, and my preaching in the entising speach of mans wisdom, but in plaine euidence of the Spirite and of power, 5 That your faith should not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God. 6 And we speake wisdom among them that are perfect: not the wisdom of this world, neither of the princes of this world, which come to nought. 7 But we speake the wisdom of God in a mysterie, euen the hid wisdom, which God had determined before the world, vnto our glory. 8 Which none of the princes of this world hath knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the Lord of glory. 9 But as it is written, The thinges which eye hath not seene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that loue him. 10 But God hath reueiled them vnto vs by his Spirit: for the spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deepe thinges of God. 11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, saue the spirite of a man, which is in him? euen so the things of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God. <sup>12</sup>Nowe we haue receiued not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, that we might knowe the thinges that are giuen to vs of God. <sup>13</sup>Which things also we speake, not in the woordes which mans wisdom teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, comparing spirituall things with spirituall things. <sup>14</sup>But the naturall man perceiueh not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishnesse vnto him: neither can hee knowe them, because they are spirituallly discerned. <sup>15</sup>But hee that is spirituall, discerneth all things: yet he himselfe is iudged of no man. <sup>16</sup>For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that hee might instruct him? But we haue the minde of Christ.

<sup>3</sup>And I could not speake vnto you, brethren, as vnto spirituall men, but as vnto carnall, euen as vnto babes in Christ. <sup>2</sup>I gaue you milke to drinke, and not meat: for yee were not yet able to beare it, neither yet nowe are yee able. <sup>3</sup>For yee are yet carnall: for whereas there is among you enuying, and strife, and diuisions, are ye not carnall, and walke as men? <sup>4</sup>For when one sayeth, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are yee not carnall? <sup>5</sup>Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the ministers by whome yee beleued, and as the Lord gaue to euery man? <sup>6</sup>I haue planted, Apollos watred, but God gaue the increase. <sup>7</sup>So then, neither is hee that planteth any thing, neither hee that watreth, but God that giueth the increase. <sup>8</sup>And he that planteth, and he that watreth, are one, and euery man shall receiue his wages, according to his labour. <sup>9</sup>For we together are Gods labourers: yee are Gods husbandrie, and Gods building. <sup>10</sup>According to the grace of God giuen to mee, as a skilfull master builder, I haue laide the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: but let euery man take heede how he buildeth vpon it. <sup>11</sup>For other foundation can no man laie, then that which is laied, which is Iesus Christ. <sup>12</sup>And if any man bulde on this foundation, golde, siluer, precious stones, timber, haye, or stubble, <sup>13</sup>Euery mans worke shalbe made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shalbe reueiled by the fire: and the fire shall trie euery mans worke of what sort it is. <sup>14</sup>If any mans worke, that he hath built vpon, abide, he shall receiue wages. <sup>15</sup>If any mans worke burne, he shall lose, but he shalbe saued himselfe: neuertheless yet as it were by the fire. <sup>16</sup>Knowe ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? <sup>17</sup>If any man destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are. <sup>18</sup>Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man among you seeme to be wise in this world, let him be a foole, that he may be wise. <sup>19</sup>For the wisdom of this worlde is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, He catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse. <sup>20</sup>And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughtes of the wise be vaine.

<sup>4</sup>Let a man so thinke of vs, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God: <sup>2</sup>And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that euery man be found faithfull. <sup>3</sup>As touching me, I passe very litle to be iudged of you, or of mans iudgement: no, I iudge not mine owne selfe. <sup>4</sup>For I know nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth me, is the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Therefore iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall euery man haue praise of God. <sup>6</sup>Nowe these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your sakes, that ye might learne by vs, that no man presume about that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause. <sup>7</sup>For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though thou haddest not receiued it? <sup>8</sup>Nowe ye are full: nowe ye are made rich: ye reigne as kings without vs, and would to God ye did reigne, that we also might reigne with you. <sup>9</sup>For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death: for we are made a gasing stocke vnto the worlde, and to the Angels, and to men. <sup>10</sup>We are fooles for Christes sake, and ye are wise in Christ: we are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable, and we are despised. <sup>11</sup>Vnto this houre we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, <sup>12</sup>And labour, working with our owne handes: we are reuiled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it. <sup>13</sup>We are euill spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the filth of the world, the offskowring of all things, vnto this time. <sup>14</sup>I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued children I admonish you. <sup>15</sup>For though ye haue tenne thousand instructours in Christ, yet haue ye not many fathers: for in Christ Iesus I haue begotten you through the Gospel. <sup>16</sup>Wherefore, I pray you, be ye folowers of me. <sup>17</sup>For this cause haue I sent vnto you Timotheus, which is my beloued sonne, and faithfull in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my wayes in Christ as I teache euery where in euery Church. <sup>18</sup>Some are puffed vp as though I woulde not come vnto you. <sup>19</sup>But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord will, and will knowe, not the woordes of them which are puffed vp, but the power. <sup>20</sup>For the kingdome of God is not in worde, but in power. <sup>21</sup>What will ye? shall I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in ye spirite of meekenes?

you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife. <sup>2</sup>And ye are puffed vp and haue not rather sorowed, that he which hath done this deede, might be put from among you. <sup>3</sup>For I verely as absent in bodie, but present in spirit, haue determined already as though I were present, that he that hath thus done this thing, <sup>4</sup>When ye are gathered together, and my spirit, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>5</sup>Be deliuered vnto Satan, for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be sauued in the day of the Lord Iesus. <sup>6</sup>Your reioycing is not good: knowe ye not that a litle leauen, leaueneth ye whole lump? <sup>7</sup>Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that ye may be a newe lump, as ye are vnleauened: for Christ our Passeouer is sacrificed for vs. <sup>8</sup>Therefore let vs keepe the feast, not with olde leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciousnes and wickednesse: but with the vnleauened bread of synceritie and trueth. <sup>9</sup>I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, that ye should not companie together with fornicatours, <sup>10</sup>And not altogether with the fornicatours of this world, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must goe out of the world. <sup>11</sup>But nowe I haue written vnto you, that ye companie not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or couetous, or an idolater, or a rayler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eate not. <sup>12</sup>For what haue I to doe, to iudge them also which are without? doe ye not iudge them that are within? <sup>13</sup>But God iudgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among your selues that wicked man.

<sup>6</sup>Dare any of you, hauing businesse against an other, be iudged vnder the vniust, and not vnder the Saintes? <sup>2</sup>Doe ye not knowe, that the Saintes shall iudge the worlde? If the worlde then shalbe iudged by you, are ye vnworthie to iudge the smallest matters? <sup>3</sup>Knowe ye not that we shall iudge the Angels? howe much more, things that pertaine to this life? <sup>4</sup>If then ye haue iudgements of things pertaine to this life, set vp them which are least esteemed in the Church. <sup>5</sup>I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren? <sup>6</sup>But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels. <sup>7</sup>Nowe therefore there is altogether infirmitie in you, in that yee goe to lawe one with another: why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather susteine yee not harme? <sup>8</sup>Nay, yee your selues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren. <sup>9</sup>Knowe yee not that the vnrighteous shall not inherite the kingdome of God? Be not deceiued: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers, <sup>10</sup>Nor theeues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall inherite the kingdome of God. <sup>11</sup>And such were some of you: but yee are washed, but yee are sanctified, but yee are iustified in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the Spirit of our God. <sup>12</sup>All thinges are lawfull vnto mee, but all thinges are not profitable. I may doe all thinges, but I will not be brought vnder the power of any thing. <sup>13</sup>Meates are ordeined for the bellie, and the belly for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Nowe the bodie is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the bodie. <sup>14</sup>And God hath also raised vp the Lord, and shall raise vs vp by his power. <sup>15</sup>Knowe yee not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid. <sup>16</sup>Doe ye not knowe, that he which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? for two, sayeth he, shalbe one flesh. <sup>17</sup>But hee that is ioyned vnto the Lord, is one spirite. <sup>18</sup>Flee fornication: euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the bodie: but hee that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne bodie. <sup>19</sup>Knowe yee not, that your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and yee are not your owne. <sup>20</sup>For yee are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your bodie, and in your spirit: for they are Gods.

God hath called vs in peace. <sup>16</sup>For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife? <sup>17</sup>But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lord hath called euery one, so let him walke: and so ordaine I, in all Churches. <sup>18</sup>Is any man called being circumcised? let him not gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not be circumcised. <sup>19</sup>Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God. <sup>20</sup>Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called. <sup>21</sup>Art thou called being a seruant? care not for it: but if yet thou maiest be free, vse it rather. <sup>22</sup>For he that is called in the Lord, being a seruant, is the Lords freeman: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christes seruant. <sup>23</sup>Yee are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men. <sup>24</sup>Brethren, let euery man, wherein hee was called, therein abide with God. <sup>25</sup>Nowe concerning virgines, I haue no commandement of the Lord: but I giue mine aduise, as one that hath obtained mercie of the Lord to be faithfull. <sup>26</sup>I suppose then this to bee good for the present necessitie: I meane that it is good for a man so to be. <sup>27</sup>Art thou bounde vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife. <sup>28</sup>But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgine marrie, shee sinneth not: neuertheless, such shall haue trouble in the flesh: but I spare you. <sup>29</sup>And this I say, brethren, because the time is short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none: <sup>30</sup>And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they possessed not: <sup>31</sup>And they that vse this worlde, as though they vsed it not: for the fashion of this worlde goeth away. <sup>32</sup>And I would haue you without care. The vnmarried careth for the things of the Lord, howe he may please the Lord. <sup>33</sup>But hee that is married, careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife. <sup>34</sup>There is difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirite: but shee that is married, careth for the things of the worlde, howe shee may please her husband. <sup>35</sup>And this I speake for your owne commoditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that yee follow that, which is honest, and that yee may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation. <sup>36</sup>But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgine, if shee passe the flower of her age, and neede so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married. <sup>37</sup>Neuertheless, hee that standeth firme in his heart, that hee hath no neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that hee will keepe his virgine, hee doeth well. <sup>38</sup>So then hee that giueth her to mariage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to mariage, doeth better. <sup>39</sup>The wife is bounde by the Lawe, as long as her husband liueth: but if her husband bee dead, shee is at libertie to marie with whome she will, onely in the Lord. <sup>40</sup>But shee is more blessed, if she so abide, in my iudgement: and I thinke that I haue also the Spirite of God.

8 And as touching things sacrificed vnto idols, wee knowe that wee all haue knowledge: knowledge puffeth vp, but loue edifieth. <sup>2</sup>Nowe, if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, hee knoweth nothing yet as hee ought to knowe. <sup>3</sup>But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him. <sup>4</sup>Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto idoles, we knowe that an idole is nothing in the worlde, and that there is none other God but one. <sup>5</sup>For though there bee that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords) <sup>6</sup>Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, of whome are all things, and we in him: and one Lord Iesus Christ, by whome are all things, and we by him. <sup>7</sup>But euery man hath not that knowledge: for many hauing conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled. <sup>8</sup>But meate maketh not vs acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, haue we the more: neither if we eate not, haue we the lesse. <sup>9</sup>But take heede lest by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake. <sup>10</sup>For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those things which are sacrificed to idoles? <sup>11</sup>And through thy knowledge shall the weake brother perish, for whome Christ died. <sup>12</sup>Nowe when ye sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, ye sinne against Christ. <sup>13</sup>Wherefore if meate offende my brother, I wil eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

9 Am I not an Apostle? am I not free? haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my worke in the Lord? <sup>2</sup>If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doutlesse I am vnto you: for ye are the seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord. <sup>3</sup>My defence to them that examine mee, is this, <sup>4</sup>Haue we not power to eat and to drinke? <sup>5</sup>Or haue we not power to lead about a wife being a sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas? <sup>6</sup>Or I only and Barnabas, haue not we power not to worke? <sup>7</sup>Who goeth a warfare any time at his owne coste? who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke? <sup>8</sup>Say I these thinges according to man? saith not the Lawe the same also? <sup>9</sup>For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, Thou shalt not mussell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for oxen? <sup>10</sup>Either saith hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, and that he that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope. <sup>11</sup>If wee haue sowed vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if we reape your carnall things? <sup>12</sup>If others with you bee partakers of this power, are not we rather? neuerthesse, we haue not vsed this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ. <sup>13</sup>Doe ye not knowe, that they which minister about the holy things, eate of the things of the Temple? and they which waite at the altar, are partakers with the altar? <sup>14</sup>So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach ye Gospel, should liue of the Gospel. <sup>15</sup>But I haue vsed none of these things: neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine. <sup>16</sup>For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel. <sup>17</sup>For if I do it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I do it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me. <sup>18</sup>What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I abuse not mine authoritie in ye Gospel. <sup>19</sup>For though I bee free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I might winne the moe. <sup>20</sup>And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the Lawe, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe: <sup>21</sup>To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe: <sup>22</sup>To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all meanes saue some. <sup>23</sup>And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you. <sup>24</sup>Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine. <sup>25</sup>And euery man that proueth masteries, abstaineth from all things: and they do it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible. <sup>26</sup>I therefore so runne, not as vncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre. <sup>27</sup>But I beate downe my body, and bring it into subiection, lest by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be reprobud.

10Moreouer, brethren, I woulde not that yee shoulde bee ignorant, that all our fathers were vnder that cloude, and all passed through that sea, <sup>2</sup>And were all baptized vnto Moses, in that cloude, and in that sea, <sup>3</sup>And did all eat the same spiritual meat, <sup>4</sup>And did all drinke the same spirituall drinke (for they dranke of the spiritual Rocke that folowed them: and the Rocke was Christ) <sup>5</sup>But with many of them God was not pleased: for they were ouerthrowen in ye wildernes. <sup>6</sup>Nowe these things are our ensamples, to the intent that we should not lust after euil things as they also lusted. <sup>7</sup>Neither bee ye idolaters as were some of them, as it is written, The people sate downe to

eate and drinke, and rose vp to play. <sup>8</sup>Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fell in one day three and twentie thousand. <sup>9</sup>Neither let vs tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted him, and were destroyed of serpents. <sup>10</sup>Neither murmure ye, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer. <sup>11</sup>Nowe all these things came vnto them for ensamples, and were written to admonish vs, vpon whome the endes of the world are come. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore, let him that thinketh he standeth, take heede lest he fall. <sup>13</sup>There hath no tentation taken you, but such as appertaine to man: and God is faithfull, which will not suffer you to be tempted aboue that you be able, but wil euen giue the issue with the tentation, that ye may be able to beare it. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore my beloued, flee from idolatrie. <sup>15</sup>I speake as vnto them which haue vnderstanding: iugde ye what I say. <sup>16</sup>The cup of blessing which we blesse, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ? <sup>17</sup>For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because we all are partakers of one bread. <sup>18</sup>Beholde Israel, which is after the flesh: are not they which eate of the sacrifices partakers of the altar? <sup>19</sup>What say I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idoles, is any thing? <sup>20</sup>Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye should haue fellowship with the deuils. <sup>21</sup>Ye can not drinke the cup of the Lord, and the cup of the deuils. Ye can not be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of the deuils. <sup>22</sup>Doe we prouoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger then he? <sup>23</sup>All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not. <sup>24</sup>Let no man seeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth. <sup>25</sup>Whatsoever is solde in the shambles, eate ye, and aske no question for conscience sake. <sup>26</sup>For the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is. <sup>27</sup>If any of them which beleeeue not, call you to a feast, and if ye wil go, whatsoever is set before you, eate, asking no question for conscience sake. <sup>28</sup>But if any man say vnto you, This is sacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, because of him that shewed it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is) <sup>29</sup>And the conscience, I say, not thine, but of that other: for why should my libertie be condemned of another mans conscience? <sup>30</sup>For if I through Gods benefite be partaker, why am I euill spoken of, for that wherefore I giue thanks? <sup>31</sup>Whether therefore ye eate, or drinke, or whatsoever ye doe, doe all to the glory of God. <sup>32</sup>Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God: <sup>33</sup>Euen as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine owne profite, but the profite of many, that they might be saued.

11Be yee followers of mee, euen as I am of Christ. <sup>2</sup>Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my

things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you. <sup>3</sup>But I wil that ye know, that Christ is the head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is Christs head. <sup>4</sup>Euery man praying or prophecying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head. <sup>5</sup>But euery woman that prayeth or propheciethe bare headed, dishonoureth her head: for it is euen one very thing, as though she were shauen. <sup>6</sup>Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be couered. <sup>7</sup>For a man ought not to couer his head: for as much as he is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man. <sup>8</sup>For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man. <sup>9</sup>For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake. <sup>10</sup>Therefore ought the woman to haue power on her head, because of the Angels. <sup>11</sup>Neuertheles, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man in the Lord. <sup>12</sup>For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all things are of God. <sup>13</sup>Iudge in your selues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncovered? <sup>14</sup>Doeth not nature it selfe teach you, that if a man haue long heare, it is a shame vnto him? <sup>15</sup>But if a woman haue long heare, it is a prayse vnto her: for her heare is giuen her for a couering. <sup>16</sup>But if any man lust to be contentious, we haue no such custome, neither the Churches of God. <sup>17</sup>Nowe in this that I declare, I prayse you not, that ye come together, not with profite, but with hurt. <sup>18</sup>For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I heare that there are dissentions among you: and I beleuee it to be true in some part. <sup>19</sup>For there must be heresies euen among you, that they which are approoued among you, might be knowen. <sup>20</sup>When ye come together therefore into one place, this is not to eate the Lords Supper. <sup>21</sup>For euery man when they should eate, taketh his owne supper afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken. <sup>22</sup>Haue ye not houses to eate and to drinke in? despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that haue not? what shall I say to you? shall I prayse you in this? I prayse you not. <sup>23</sup>For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I also haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Iesus in the night when he was betrayed, tooke bread: <sup>24</sup>And when hee had giuen thanks, hee brake it, and sayde, Take, eate: this is my body, which is broken for you: this doe ye in remembrance of me. <sup>25</sup>After the same maner also he tooke the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the Newe Testament in my blood: this doe as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me. <sup>26</sup>For as often as ye shall eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye shewe the Lords death till hee come. <sup>27</sup>Wherefore, whosoeuer shall eate this bread, and drinke the cup of the Lord vnworthily, shall be guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord. <sup>28</sup>Let euery man therefore examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup. <sup>29</sup>For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, because he discerneth not the Lords body. <sup>30</sup>For this cause many are weake, and sicke among you, and many sleepe. <sup>31</sup>For if we would iudge our selues, we should not be iudged. <sup>32</sup>But when we are iudged, we are chastened of the Lord, because we should not be condemned with the world. <sup>33</sup>Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eate, tary one for another. <sup>34</sup>And if any man be hungry, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. Other things will I set in order when I come.

12Now concerning spirituall giftes, brethren, I would not haue you ignorant. <sup>2</sup>Ye know that ye were Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumme Idoles, as ye were led. <sup>3</sup>Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Iesus execrable: also no man can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost. <sup>4</sup>Now there are diuersities of gifts, but the same Spirit. <sup>5</sup>And there are diuersities of administrations, but the same Lord, <sup>6</sup>And there are diuersities of operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all. <sup>7</sup>But the manifestation of the Spirit is giuen to euery man, to profite withall. <sup>8</sup>For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of wisdom: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit: <sup>9</sup>And to another is giuen faith by the same Spirit: and to another the giftes of healing, by the same Spirit: <sup>10</sup>And to another the operations of great workes: and to another, prophecie: and to another, the discerning of spirits: and to another, diuersities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues. <sup>11</sup>And all these thinges worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man seuerally as he will. <sup>12</sup>For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: euen so is Christ. <sup>13</sup>For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we bee Iewes, or Grecians, whether we be bonde, or free, and haue bene all made to drinke into one Spirit. <sup>14</sup>For the body also is not one member, but many. <sup>15</sup>If the foote would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body? <sup>16</sup>And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body? <sup>17</sup>If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling? <sup>18</sup>But nowe hath God disposed the members euery one of them in the bodie at his owne pleasure. <sup>19</sup>For if they were all one member, where were the body? <sup>20</sup>But now are there many members, yet but one body. <sup>21</sup>And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no neede of you. <sup>22</sup>Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to be more feeble, are necessarie. <sup>23</sup>And vpon those members of the body, which wee thinke most vn honest, put wee more honestie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelinsse

on. <sup>24</sup>For our comely partes neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, and hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked, <sup>25</sup>Lest there should be any diuision in the body: but that the members shoulde haue the same care one for another. <sup>26</sup>Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it. <sup>27</sup>Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your part. <sup>28</sup>And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophetes, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the giftes of healing, helpers, gouernours, diuersitie of tongues. <sup>29</sup>Are all Apostles? are all Prophetes? are all teachers? <sup>30</sup>Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interpret? <sup>31</sup>But desire you the best giftes, and I will yet shewe you a more excellent way.

13 Though I speake with the tongues of men and Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a tinkling cymbal. <sup>2</sup>And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knewe all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all faith, so that I could remooue mountaines and had not loue, I were nothing. <sup>3</sup>And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing. <sup>4</sup>Loue suffreth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doeth not boast it selfe: it is not puffed vp: <sup>5</sup>It doeth no vncomely thing: it seeketh not her owne things: it is not prouoked to anger: it thinketh not euill: <sup>6</sup>It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but reioyceth in the trueth: <sup>7</sup>It suffreth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things. <sup>8</sup>Loue doeth neuer fall away, though that prophecies be abolished, or the tongues cease, or knowledge vanish away. <sup>9</sup>For we knowe in part, and we prophecie in part. <sup>10</sup>But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part, shalbe abolished. <sup>11</sup>When I was a childe, I spake as a childe, I vnderstoode as a childe, I thought as a childe: but when I became a man, I put away childish things. <sup>12</sup>For nowe we see through a glasse darkely: but then shall wee see face to face. Nowe I know in part: but then shall I know euen as I am knowen. <sup>13</sup>And nowe abideth faith, hope and loue, euen these three: but the chiefest of these is loue.

diuers tongues, except hee expound it, that the Church may receiue edification. <sup>6</sup>And nowe, brethren, if I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profite you, except I speake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine? <sup>7</sup>Moreouer things without life which giue a sounde, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the soundes, how shall it be knowen what is piped or harped? <sup>8</sup>And also if the trumpet giue an vncertaine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to battell? <sup>9</sup>So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee vtter wordes that haue signification, howe shall it be vnderstand what is spoken? for ye shall speake in the ayre. <sup>10</sup>There are so many kindes of voyces (as it cometh to passe) in the world, and none of them is dumme. <sup>11</sup>Except I know then the power of ye voyce, I shall be vnto him that speaketh a barbarian, and he that speaketh, shalbe a barbarian vnto me. <sup>12</sup>Euen so, forasmuch as ye couet spirituall giftes, seeke that ye may excell vnto the edifying of the Church. <sup>13</sup>Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, pray, that he may interpret. <sup>14</sup>For if I pray in a strange togue, my spirit prayeth: but mine vnderstanding is without fruite. <sup>15</sup>What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I wil pray with the vnderstanding also: I wil sing with the spirite, but I will sing with the vnderstanding also. <sup>16</sup>Else, when thou blessest with the spirit, howe shall hee that occupieth the roome of the vnlearned, say Amen, at thy giuing of thankes, seeing he knoweth not what thou sayest? <sup>17</sup>For thou verely giuest thankes well, but the other is not edified. <sup>18</sup>I thanke my God, I speake languages more then ye all. <sup>19</sup>Yet had I rather in the Church to speake fiue wordes with mine vnderstanding, that I might also instruct others, then ten thousande wordes in a strange tongue. <sup>20</sup>Brethren, be not children in vnderstanding, but as concerning maliciousnes be children, but in vnderstanding be of a ripe age. <sup>21</sup>In the Lawe it is written, By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speake vnto this people: yet so shall they not heare me, sayth the Lord. <sup>22</sup>Wherefore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying serueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue. <sup>23</sup>If therefore when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speake strange tongues, there come in they that are vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wittes? <sup>24</sup>But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned, hee is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all, <sup>25</sup>And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so he will fall downe on his face and worship God, and say plainly that God is in you in deede. <sup>26</sup>What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying. <sup>27</sup>If any man speake a strange tongue, let it be

by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret. <sup>28</sup>But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God. <sup>29</sup>Let the Prophets speake two, or three, and let the other iudge. <sup>30</sup>And if any thing be reueiled to another that sitteth by, let the first holde his peace. <sup>31</sup>For ye may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort. <sup>32</sup>And the spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets. <sup>33</sup>For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all ye Churches of the Saints. <sup>34</sup>Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but they ought to be subiect, as also the Lawe sayth. <sup>35</sup>And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church. <sup>36</sup>Came the worde of God out from you? either came it vnto you onely? <sup>37</sup>If any man thinke him selfe to be a Prophet, or spirituall, let him acknowledge, that the things, that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord. <sup>38</sup>And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant. <sup>39</sup>Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to speake languages. <sup>40</sup>Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

15Moreouer brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospel, which I preached vnto you, which ye haue also receiued, and wherein ye continue, <sup>2</sup>And whereby ye are sauued, if ye keepe in memorie, after what maner I preached it vnto you, except ye haue beleued in vaine. <sup>3</sup>For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, how that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the Scriptures, <sup>4</sup>And that he was buried, and that he arose the third day, according to the Scriptures, <sup>5</sup>And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the twelue. <sup>6</sup>After that, he was seene of more then fife hudgeth brethren at once: whereof many remaine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe. <sup>7</sup>After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles. <sup>8</sup>And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time. <sup>9</sup>For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God. <sup>10</sup>But by the grace of God, I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more abundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleued. <sup>12</sup>Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead? <sup>13</sup>For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen: <sup>14</sup>And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine. <sup>15</sup>And we are found also false witnesses of God: for we haue testified of God, that he hath raised vp Christ: whome he hath not raised vp, if so be the dead be not raised. <sup>16</sup>For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised. <sup>17</sup>And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vaine: ye are yet in your sinnes. <sup>18</sup>And so they which are a sleepe in Christ, are perished. <sup>19</sup>If in this life onely wee haue hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable. <sup>20</sup>But nowe is Christ risen from the dead, and was made the first frutes of them that slept. <sup>21</sup>For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. <sup>22</sup>For as in Adam all die, euen so in Christ shall all be made alieue, <sup>23</sup>But euery man in his owne order: the first frutes is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his comming shall rise againe. <sup>24</sup>Then shalbe the end, when he hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when he hath put downe all rule, and all authoritie and power. <sup>25</sup>For he must reigne till hee hath put all his enemies vnder his feete. <sup>26</sup>The last enemy that shalbe destroyed, is death. <sup>27</sup>For he hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when he saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is accepted, which did put downe all things vnder him.) <sup>28</sup>And when all things shalbe subdued vnto him, then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect vnto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that God may be all in all. <sup>29</sup>Els what shall they doe which are baptized for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead? <sup>30</sup>Why are wee also in ieopardie euery houre? <sup>31</sup>By your reioycing which I haue in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die dayly. <sup>32</sup>If I haue fought with beastes at Ephesus after ye maner of men, what aduantagegeth it me, if the dead be not raised vp? let vs eate and drinke: for to morowe we shall die. <sup>33</sup>Be not deceiued: euill speakings corrupt good maners. <sup>34</sup>Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not: for some haue not ye knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame. <sup>35</sup>But some man will say, Howe are the dead raised vp? and with what body come they foorth? <sup>36</sup>O foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die. <sup>37</sup>And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shalbe, but bare corne as it falleth, of wheat, or of some other. <sup>38</sup>But God giueth it a body at his pleasure, euen to euery seede his owne body, <sup>39</sup>All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beastes, and another of fishes, and another of birdes. <sup>40</sup>There are also heauenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glorie of the heauenly is one, and the glorie of the earthly is another. <sup>41</sup>There is another glorie of the sunne, and another glorie of the moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glorie. <sup>42</sup>So also is the resurrection of the dead. The bodie is sowed in corruption, and is rayseed in incorruption. <sup>43</sup>It is sowed in dishonour, and is rayseed in glory: it is sowed in weaknesse, and is rayseed in power. <sup>44</sup>It is sowed a naturall body, and is rayseed a spirituall body: there is a naturall body, and there is a spirituall body. <sup>45</sup>As it is also written, The first man Adam was made a liuing soule: and the last Adam was made a quickening Spirit. <sup>46</sup>Howbeit that was not first which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is spirituall. <sup>47</sup>The first man is of the earth, earthly: the second man is the Lord from heauen. <sup>48</sup>As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, such are they also that are heauenly. <sup>49</sup>And as we haue borne the image of the earthly, so shall we beare the image of the heauenly. <sup>50</sup>This say I, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherite the kingdome of God, neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption. <sup>51</sup>Behold, I shewe you a secret thing, We shall not all sleepe, but we shall all be changed, <sup>52</sup>In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the last trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shalbe rayseed vp incorruptible, and we shalbe changed. <sup>53</sup>For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortall must put on immortalitie. <sup>54</sup>So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then shalbe brought to passe the saying that is written, Death is swallowed vp into victorie. <sup>55</sup>O death where is thy sting? O graue where is thy victorie? <sup>56</sup>The sting of death is sinne: and ye strength of sinne is the Lawe. <sup>57</sup>But thanks be vnto God, which hath giuen vs victorie through our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>58</sup>Therefore my beloued brethren, be ye stedfast, vnmoueable, abundant alwayes in the worke of the Lord, forasmuch as ye knowe that your labour is not in vaine in the Lord.

16Concerning the gathering for the Saintes, as I haue ordeined in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also. <sup>2</sup>Euery first day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aside by himselfe, and lay vp as God hath prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come. <sup>3</sup>And when I am come, whomsoeuer ye shall allowe by letters, them will I send to bring your liberalitie vnto Hierusalem. <sup>4</sup>And if it be meete that I goe also, they shall goe with me. <sup>5</sup>Nowe I will come vnto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I will passe through Macedonia.) <sup>6</sup>And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way, whither soeuer I goe. <sup>7</sup>For I will not see you nowe in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit. <sup>8</sup>And I wil tary at Ephesus vntill Pentecost. <sup>9</sup>For a great doore and effectuall is opened vnto me: and there are many aduersaries. <sup>10</sup>Nowe if Timotheus come, see that he be without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, euen as I doe. <sup>11</sup>Let no man therefore despise him: but conuey him foorth in peace, that he may come vnto me: for I looke for him with the brethren. <sup>12</sup>As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him, to come vnto you with the brethren: but his mind was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall haue conuenient time. <sup>13</sup>Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quite you like men, and be strong. <sup>14</sup>Let all your things be done in loue. <sup>15</sup>Nowe brethren, I beseeche you (ye knowe the house of Stephanas, that it is the first frutes of Achaia, and that they haue giuen themselues to minister vnto the Saintes) <sup>16</sup>That ye be obedient euen vnto such, and to all that helpe with vs and labour. <sup>17</sup>I am glad of the comming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they haue supplied the want of you. <sup>18</sup>For they haue comforted my spirite and yours: acknowledge therefore such men. <sup>19</sup>The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with ye Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord. <sup>20</sup>All the brethren greete you. Greete ye one another, with an holy kisse. <sup>21</sup>The salutation of me Paul with mine owne hand. <sup>22</sup>If any man loue not the Lord Iesus Christ, let him be had in execration maran-atha. <sup>23</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you. <sup>24</sup>My loue be with you all in Christ Iesus, Amen.

II Corinthians

1Pavl an Apostle of JESVS Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia: 2Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 3Blessed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort, 4Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we our selues are comforted of God. 5For as the sufferings of Christ abounde in vs, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ. 6And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and saluation, which is wrought in the induring of the same sufferings, which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation. 7And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as we know that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation. 8For brethren, we woulde not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, howe we were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether doubted, euen of life. 9Yea, we receiued the sentence of death in our selues, because we shoulde not trust in our selues, but in God, which rayseth the dead. 10Who deliuered vs from so great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whom we trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs, 11So that ye labour together in prayer for vs, that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thankes may be giuen by many persons for vs. 12For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly purenesse, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God wee haue had our conuersation in the worlde, and most of all to you wardes. 13For wee write none other thinges vnto you, then that ye reade or els that ye acknowledge, and I trust ye shall acknowledge vnto ye end. 14Euen as ye haue acknowledged vs partly, that we are your reioycing, euen as ye are ours, in the day of our Lord Iesus. 15And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that ye might haue had a double grace, 16And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth towarde Iudea of you. 17When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse? or minde I those thinges which I minde, according to the flesh, that with me should be, Yea, yea, and Nay, nay? 18Yea, God is faithfull, that our worde towarde you was not Yea, and Nay. 19For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, was not Yea, and Nay: but in him it was Yea. 20For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in him Amen, vnto the glorie of God through vs. 21And it is God which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anoynted vs. 22Who hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts. 23Nowe, I call God for a recorde vnto my soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus. 24Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but wee are helpers of your ioy: for by faith yee stande.

2Bvt I determind thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in heauinesse. 2For if I make you sorie, who is he then that shoulde make me glad, but ye same which is made sorie by me? 3And I wrote this same thing vnto you, lest when I came, I should take heauinesse of them, of whom I ought to reioyce: this confidence haue I in you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all. 4For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee should be made sorie, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, specially vnto you. 5And if any hath caused sorowe, the same hath not made mee sorie, but partly (lest I should more charge him) you all. 6It is sufficient vnto the same man, that hee was rebuked of many. 7So that nowe contrariwise yee ought rather to forgiue him, and comfort him, lest the same shoulde bee swallowed vp with ouermuch heauinesse. 8Wherefore, I pray you, that you woulde confirme your loue towards him. 9For this cause also did I write, that I might knowe the prooffe of you, whether yee would be obedient in all things. 10To whome yee forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgau any thing, to whome I forgau it, for your sakes forgau I it in the sight of Christ, 11Lest Satan should circumuent vs: for we are not ignorant of his enterprises. 12Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christs Gospell, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord, 13I had no rest in my spirit, because I founde not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia. 14Now thankes be vnto God, which alwaies maketh vs to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the sauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place. <sup>15</sup>For wee are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish. <sup>16</sup>To the one we are the sauour of death, vnto death, and to the other the sauour of life, vnto life: and who is sufficient for these things? <sup>17</sup>For wee are not as many, which make marchandise of the woorde of God: but as of sinceritie, but as of God in ye sight of God speake we in Christ.

3Doe we begin to praise our selues againe? or neede we as some other, epistles of recommendation vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you? <sup>2</sup>Yee are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is vnderstand, and read of all men, <sup>3</sup>In that yee are manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, ministred by vs, and written, not with yncke, but with the Spirite of the liuing God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart. <sup>4</sup>And such trust haue we through Christ to God: <sup>5</sup>Not that we are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing, as of our selues: but our sufficiencie is of God, <sup>6</sup>Who also hath made vs able ministers of the Newe testament, not of the letter, but of the Spirite: for the letter killeth, but the Spirite giueth life. <sup>7</sup>If then the ministration of death written with letters and ingrauen in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel coulde not beholde the face of Moses, for the glorie of his countenance (which glorie is done away.) <sup>8</sup>Howe shall not the ministration of the Spirite be more glorious? <sup>9</sup>For if the ministerie of condemnation was glorious, much more doeth the ministration of righteousnesse exceede in glorie. <sup>10</sup>For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glorie. <sup>11</sup>For if that which should be abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth, be glorious. <sup>12</sup>Seeing then that we haue such trust, we vse great boldnesse of speach. <sup>13</sup>And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke vnto the ende of that which should be abolished. <sup>14</sup>Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the same couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away. <sup>15</sup>But euen vnto this day, whe Moses is read, the vaile is laid ouer their hearts. <sup>16</sup>Neuertheles when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shalbe taken away. <sup>17</sup>Nowe the Lord is the Spirite, and where the Spirite of the Lord is, there is libertie. <sup>18</sup>But we al behold as in a mirroure the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glorie to glorie, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

4Therefore, seeing that we haue this ministerie, as we haue receiued mercy, we faint not: <sup>2</sup>But haue cast from vs ye clokes of shame, and walke not in craftines, neither handle we the woorde of God deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth we approue our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God. <sup>3</sup>If our Gospell bee then hid, it is hid to them that are lost. <sup>4</sup>In whom the God of this world hath blinded the mindes, that is, of the infidels, that the light of the glorious Gospell of Christ, which is the image of God, should not shine vnto them. <sup>5</sup>For we preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lord, and our selues your seruauents for Iesus sake. <sup>6</sup>For God that commanded the light to shine out of darknesse, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to giue the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ. <sup>7</sup>But we haue this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs. <sup>8</sup>Wee are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet wee despaire not. <sup>9</sup>We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not. <sup>10</sup>Euery where we beare about in our bodie the dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also be made manifest in our bodies. <sup>11</sup>For we which liue, are alwaies deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh. <sup>12</sup>So then death worketh in vs, and life in you. <sup>13</sup>And because we haue the same spirite of faith, according as it is written, I beleueed, and therefore haue I spoken, we also beleuee, and therefore speake, <sup>14</sup>Knowing that he which hath raised vp the Lord Iesus, shall raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you. <sup>15</sup>For all thinges are for your sakes, that that most plenteous grace by the thankesgiuing of many, may redound to the praise of God. <sup>16</sup>Therefore we faint not, but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed daily. <sup>17</sup>For our light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre most excellent and an eternall waight of glorie: <sup>18</sup>While we looke not on the thinges which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

5For we knowe that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, we haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with handes, but eternall in the heauens. <sup>2</sup>For therefore we sighe, desiring to be clothed with our house, which is from heauen. <sup>3</sup>Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found naked. <sup>4</sup>For in deede we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened, because we would not be vnclodhed, but would be clothed vpon, that mortalitie might be swallowed vp of life. <sup>5</sup>And he that hath created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit. <sup>6</sup>Therefore we are alway bolde, though we knowe that whiles we are at home in the bodie, we are absent from the Lord. <sup>7</sup>(For we walke by faith, and not by sight.) <sup>8</sup>Neuerthelesse, we are bolde, and loue rather to remoue out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore also we couet, that both dwelling at home, and remouing from home, we may be acceptable to him. <sup>10</sup>For we must all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill. <sup>11</sup>Knowing therefore that terrour of the Lord, we persuade men, and we are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that we are made manifest in your consciences. <sup>12</sup>For we prayse not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that ye may haue to answeere against them, which reioyce in the face, and not in the heart. <sup>13</sup>For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right minde, we are it vnto you. <sup>14</sup>For that loue of Christ constraineth vs, <sup>15</sup>Because we thus iudge, that if one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which liue, shoulde not henceforth liue vnto themselues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe. <sup>16</sup>Wherefore, henceforth know we no man after the flesh, yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet nowe henceforth know we him no more. <sup>17</sup>Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a newe creature. Olde things are passed away: beholde, all things are become newe. <sup>18</sup>And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministerie of reconciliation. <sup>19</sup>For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes vnto them, and hath committed to vs the word of reconciliation. <sup>20</sup>Now then are we ambassadours for Christ: as though God did beseeche you through vs, we pray you in Christes steade, that ye be reconciled to God. <sup>21</sup>For he hath made him to be sinne for vs, which knewe no sinne, that we should be made the righteousnesse of God in him.

<sup>6</sup>So we therefore as workers together beseech you, that ye receiue not the grace of God in vaine. <sup>2</sup>For he sayth, I haue heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of saluation haue I succoured thee: beholde nowe the accepted time, beholde nowe the day of saluation. <sup>3</sup>We giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministerie shoulde not be reprehended. <sup>4</sup>But in all things we approue our selues as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, <sup>5</sup>In stripes, in prisons, in tumults, in labours, <sup>6</sup>By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindnesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfaigned, <sup>7</sup>By the worde of trueth, by the power of God, by the armour of righteousnesse on the right hand, and on the left, <sup>8</sup>By honour, and dishonour, by euill report, and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true: <sup>9</sup>As vnknown, and yet known: as dying, and beholde, we liue: as chastened, and yet not killed: <sup>10</sup>As sorowing, and yet alway reioycing: as poore, and yet make many riche: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things. <sup>11</sup>O Corinthians, our mouth is open vnto you: our heart is made large. <sup>12</sup>Ye are not kept strait in vs, but ye are kept strait in your owne bowels. <sup>13</sup>Nowe for the same recompence, I speake as to my children, Be you also enlarged. <sup>14</sup>Be not vnequally yoked with the infidels: for what fellowship hath righteousnesse with vnrighteousnesse? and what communion hath light with darkenesse? <sup>15</sup>And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath the beleeuer with the infidell? <sup>16</sup>And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for ye are the Temple of the liuing God: as God hath said, I will dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they shalbe my people. <sup>17</sup>Wherefore come out from among them, and separate your selues, saith the Lord, and touch none vnclene thing, and I wil receiue you. <sup>18</sup>And I will be a Father vnto you, and ye shalbe my sonnes and daughters, saith the Lord almightie.

<sup>7</sup>Seing then we haue these promises, dearely beloued, let vs cense our selues from all filthinesse of the flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God. <sup>2</sup>Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: we haue corrupted no man: we haue defrauded no man. <sup>3</sup>I speake it not to your condemnation: for I haue said before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together. <sup>4</sup>I vse great boldnesse of speach toward you: I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation. <sup>5</sup>For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on euery side, fightings without, and terrours within. <sup>6</sup>But God, that comforteth the abiect, comforted vs at the comming of Titus: <sup>7</sup>And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you, when he tolde vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent minde to me warde, so that I reioyced much more. <sup>8</sup>For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season. <sup>9</sup>I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sorie, but that ye sorowed to repentance: for ye sorowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by vs. <sup>10</sup>For godly sorowe causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorowe causeth death. <sup>11</sup>For beholde, this thing that ye haue bene godly sorry, what great care it hath wrought in you: yea, what clearing of yourselues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, howe great desire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things ye haue shewed your selues, that ye are pure in this matter. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did not it for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the sight of God might appeare vnto you. <sup>13</sup>Therefore we were comforted, because ye were comforted: but rather we reioyced much more for the ioye of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all. <sup>14</sup>For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in trueth, euen so our boasting vnto Titus was true. <sup>15</sup>And his inwarde affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you all, and howe with feare and trembling

ye receiued him. <sup>16</sup>I reioyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

<sup>8</sup>We doe you also to wit, brethren, of the grace of God bestowed vpon the Churches of Macedonia, <sup>2</sup>Because in great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie. <sup>3</sup>For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyonde their power, they were willing, <sup>4</sup>And praied vs with great instance that we woulde receiue the grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints. <sup>5</sup>And this they did, not as we looked for: but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God, <sup>6</sup>That we should exhort Titus, that as hee had begon, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also. <sup>7</sup>Therefore, as yee abound in euery thing, in faith and worde, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen so see that yee abound in this grace also. <sup>8</sup>This say I not by commandement, but because of the diligence of others: therefore prooue I the naturalnesse of your loue. <sup>9</sup>For ye knowe the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, that hee being rich, for your sakes became poore, that yee through his pouertie might be made rich. <sup>10</sup>And I shewe my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begon not to doe onely, but also to will, a yeare agoe. <sup>11</sup>Nowe therefore performe to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so yee may performe it of that which yee haue. <sup>12</sup>For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not. <sup>13</sup>Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieved: But vpon like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke: <sup>14</sup>That also their abundance may bee for your lacke, that there may be equalitie: <sup>15</sup>As it is written, Hee that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and hee that gathered litle, had not the lesse. <sup>16</sup>And thanks be vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you. <sup>17</sup>Because hee accepted the exhortation, yea, hee was so carefull that of his owne accorde hee went vnto you. <sup>18</sup>And wee haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise is in the Gospel throughout al the Churches. <sup>19</sup>(And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellowe in our iourney, concerning this grace that is ministred by vs vnto the glorie of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde) <sup>20</sup>Auoiding this, that no man shoulde blame vs in this abundance that is ministred by vs, <sup>21</sup>Prouiuing for honest thinges, not onely before the Lord, but also before men. <sup>22</sup>And we haue sent with them our brother, whom we haue oft times prooued to be diligent in many thinges, but nowe much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I haue in you. <sup>23</sup>Whether any doe inquire of Titus, he is my fellowe and helper to you ward: or of our brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the glorie of Christ. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore shew toward them, and before the Churches

the prooue of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

<sup>9</sup>For as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you. <sup>2</sup>For I knowe your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many. <sup>3</sup>Nowe haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you shoulde bee in vaine in this behalfe, that yee (as I haue sayde) be readie: <sup>4</sup>Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (that wee may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my constant boasting. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore, I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might be readie, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of niggardlinesse. <sup>6</sup>This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and hee that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally. <sup>7</sup>As euery man wisheth in his heart, so let him giue, not grudgingly, or of necessitie: for God loueth a cheerefull giuer. <sup>8</sup>And God is able to make all grace to abound towarde you, that yee alwayes hauing all sufficiencie in all thinges, may abounde in euery good worke, <sup>9</sup>(As it is written, He hath sparsed abroad and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remayneth for euer. <sup>10</sup>Also hee that findeth seede to the sower, will minister likewise bread for foode, and multiplie your seede, and increase the fruites of your beneuolence.) <sup>11</sup>That on all partes yee may bee made rich vnto all liberalitie, which causeth through vs thanksgiuing vnto God. <sup>12</sup>For the ministration of this seruice not onely supplieth the necessities of the Saintes, but also abundantly causeth many to giue thanks to God, <sup>13</sup>(Which by the experiment of this ministration praise God for your voluntarie submission to the Gospell of Christ, and for your liberall distribution to them, and to all men) <sup>14</sup>And in their praiser for you, to log after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you. <sup>15</sup>Thanks therefore bee vnto God for his vnspeakeable gift.

<sup>10</sup>Nowe I Paul my selfe beseech you by the meekenes, and gentlenes of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bolde toward you being absent: <sup>2</sup>And this I require you, that I neede not to be bolde when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to bee bolde against some, which esteeme vs as though wee walked according to the flesh. <sup>3</sup>Neuerthesse, though wee walke in the flesh, yet we doe not warre after the flesh. <sup>4</sup>(For the weapons of our warrefare are not carnall, but mightie through God, to cast downe holdes) <sup>5</sup>Casting downe the imaginations, and euery high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captiuitie euery thought to the obedience of Christ, <sup>6</sup>And hauing ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled. <sup>7</sup>Looke yee on things after the appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that hee is Christes, let him consider this againe of himself, that as he is Christes, euen so are we Christes. <sup>8</sup>For though I shoulde boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should haue no shame. <sup>9</sup>This I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters. <sup>10</sup>For the letters, sayeth hee, are sore and strong, but his bodily presence is weake, and his speache is of no value. <sup>11</sup>Let such one thinke this, that such as wee are in woorde by letters, when we are absent, such wil we be also in deede, when we are present. <sup>12</sup>For wee dare not make our selues of the nomber, or to compare our selues to them, which praise themselues: but they vnderstand not that they measure themselues with themselues, and compare themselues with themselues. <sup>13</sup>But we wil not reioyce of things, which are not within our measure, but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you. <sup>14</sup>For we stretche not our selues beyonde our measure, as though wee had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ, <sup>15</sup>Not boasting of things which are without our measure: that is, of other mens labours: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to bee magnified by you according to our line abundantly, <sup>16</sup>And to preache the Gospel in those regions which are beyonde you: not to reioyce in another mans line, that is, in the thinges that are prepared already. <sup>17</sup>But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord. <sup>18</sup>For hee that praiseth himselfe, is not allowed, but he whome the Lord praiseth.

11Woulde to God, yee coulde suffer a litle my foolishnes, and in deede, ye suffer me. <sup>2</sup>For I am ielous ouer you, with godly ielousie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to present you as a pure virgine to Christ: <sup>3</sup>But I feare least as the serpent beguiled Eue through his subtiltie, so your mindes shoulde be corrupt from the simplicitie that is in Christ. <sup>4</sup>For if he that commeth, preacheth another Iesus whome we haue not preached: or if yee receiue another spirite whome ye haue not receiued: either another Gospell, which yee haue not receiued, ye might well haue suffered him. <sup>5</sup>Verely I suppose that I was not inferior to the very chiefe Apostles. <sup>6</sup>And though I be rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you wee haue bene made manifest to the vttermost, in all thinges. <sup>7</sup>Haue I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you ye Gospell of God freely? <sup>8</sup>I robbed other Churches, and tooke wages of them to doe you seruice. <sup>9</sup>And when I was present with you, and had neede, I was not slouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto me, the brethre which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all thinges I kept and will keepe my selfe, that

I should not be grieuous to you. <sup>10</sup>The trueth of Christ is in me, that this reioycing shall not be shut vp against me in the regions of Achaia. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore? because I loue you not? God knoweth. <sup>12</sup>But what I doe, that will I doe: that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like vnto vs in that wherein they reioyce. <sup>13</sup>For such false apostles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselues into the Apostles of Christ. <sup>14</sup>And no marueile: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an Angel of light. <sup>15</sup>Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselues, as though they were the ministers of righteousnes, whose end shall be according to their workes. <sup>16</sup>I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or els take mee euen as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a litle. <sup>17</sup>That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly, in this my great boasting. <sup>18</sup>Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also. <sup>19</sup>For ye suffer fooles gladly, because that yee are wise. <sup>20</sup>For ye suffer, euen if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face. <sup>21</sup>I speake as concerning the reproche: as though that we had bene weake: but wherein any man is bold (I speake foolishly) I am bold also. <sup>22</sup>They are Hebrues, so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seede of Abraham, so am I: <sup>23</sup>They are the ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more: in labours more abundant: in stripes about measure: in prison more plenteously: in death oft. <sup>24</sup>Of the Iewes fiue times receiued I fourtie stripes saue one. <sup>25</sup>I was thrise beaten with rodde: I was once stoned: I suffered thrise shipwracke: night and day haue I bene in the deepe sea. <sup>26</sup>In iourneying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine owne nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the citie, in perils in wildernes, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren, <sup>27</sup>In wearinesse and painefulnesse, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in colde and in nakednesse. <sup>28</sup>Beside the thinges which are outwarde, I am combred dayly, and haue the care of all the Churches. <sup>29</sup>Who is weake, and I am not weake? who is offended, and I burne not? <sup>30</sup>If I must needes reioyce, I will reioyce of mine infirmities. <sup>31</sup>The God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which is blessed for euermore, knoweth that I lie not. <sup>32</sup>In Damascus the gouernour of the people vnder King Aretas, layde watch in the citie of the Damascens, and would haue caught me. <sup>33</sup>But at a window was I let downe in a basket through the wall, and escaped his handes.

12It is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce: for I will come to visions and reuelations of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>I know a man in Christ aboute fourteene yeeres agone, (whether he were in the body, I can not tell, or out of the body, I can not tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the thirde

heauen. <sup>3</sup>And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I can not tell: God knoweth) <sup>4</sup>How that he was taken vp into Paradise, and heard words which cannot be spoken, which are not possible for man to vtter. <sup>5</sup>Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it bee of mine infirmities. <sup>6</sup>For though I woulde reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the trueth: but I refraine, lest any man should thinke of me aboute that hee seeth in me, or that he heareth of me. <sup>7</sup>And lest I should be exalted out of measure through the aboundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me a pricke in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet mee, because I should not be exalted out of measure. <sup>8</sup>For this thing I besought the Lord thrise, that it might depart from me. <sup>9</sup>And he said vnto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weaknesse. Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me. <sup>10</sup>Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christes sake: for when I am weake, then am I strong. <sup>11</sup>I was a foole to boast my selfe: yee haue compelled mee: for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferiour vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I bee nothing. <sup>12</sup>The signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great workes. <sup>13</sup>For what is it, wherein yee were inferiours vnto other Churches, except that I haue not bene slouthfull to your hinderance? forgiue me this wrong. <sup>14</sup>Behold, the thirde time I am ready to come vnto you, and yet will I not be slouthfull to your hinderance: for I seeke not yours, but you: for the children ought not to laye vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children. <sup>15</sup>And I will most gladly bestow, and will be bestowed for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued. <sup>16</sup>But bee it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile. <sup>17</sup>Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent vnto you? <sup>18</sup>I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we not in the same steppes? <sup>19</sup>Againe, thinke yee that wee excuse our selues vnto you? we speake before God in Christ. But wee doe all thinges, dearely beloued, for your edifying. <sup>20</sup>For I feare least when I come, I shall not finde you such as I would: and that I shalbe found vnto you such as ye woulde not, and least there be strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backebittings, whisperings, swellings and discord. <sup>21</sup>I feare least when I come againe, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleanesse, and fornication, and wantonnesse which they haue committed.

<sup>2</sup>I tolde you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene present the seconde time, so write I now being absent to them which heretofore haue sinned and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare, <sup>3</sup>Seeing that ye seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in mee, which towarde you is not weake, but is mightie in you. <sup>4</sup>For though hee was crucified concerning his infirmitie, yet liueth hee through the power of God. And wee no doubt are weake in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God towarde you. <sup>5</sup>Proue your selues whether ye are in the faith: examine your selues: knowe yee not your owne selues, howe that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates? <sup>6</sup>But I trust that ye shall knowe that wee are not reprobates. <sup>7</sup>Nowe I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, not that we should seeme approued, but that ye should doe that which is honest: though we be as reprobates. <sup>8</sup>For wee can not doe any thing against the trueth, but for the trueth. <sup>9</sup>For we are glad when wee are weake, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, euen your perfection. <sup>10</sup>Therefore write I these thinges being absent, least when I am present, I should vse sharpenesse, according to the power which the Lord hath giuen mee, to edification, and not to destruction. <sup>11</sup>Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shalbe with you. <sup>12</sup>Greete one another with an holy kisse. All the Saintes salute you. <sup>13</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

13Lo this is the thirde time that I come vnto you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery worde stand

Galatians

1Pavl an Apostle (not of men, neither by man, but by Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead) 2And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia: 3Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ, 4Which gaue himself for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs from this present euill world according to the will of God euen our Father, 5To whom be glory for euer and euer, Amen. 6I marueile that ye are so soone remoued away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ, 7Which is not another Gospel, saue that there be some which trouble you, and intend to peruert the Gospel of Christ. 8But though that we, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be accursed. 9As we sayd before, so say I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accursed. 10For nowe preach I mans doctrine, or Gods? or go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ. 11Now I certifie you, brethren, that ye Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man. 12For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the reuelation of Iesus Christ. 13For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, how that I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14And profited in the Iewish religion about many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the traditions of my fathers. 15But when it pleased God (which had separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace) 16To reueile his Sonne in me, that I should preach him among the Gentiles, immediatly I communicated not with flesh and blood: 17Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus. 18Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes. 19And none other of the Apostles sawe I, saue Iames the Lords brother. 20Nowe the things which I write vnto you, beholde, I witnes before God, that I lie not. 21After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: 22for I was vnknownen by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ. 23But they had heard onely some say, Hee which persecuted vs in time past, nowe preacheth the faith which before he destroyed. 24And they glorified God for me.

2Then fourteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also. 2And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, least by any meanes I should runne, or had runne in vaine: 3But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised, 4To wit, for the false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which we haue in Christ Iesus, that they might bring vs into bondage. 5To whom we gaue not place by subiection for an houre, that the trueth of the Gospel might continue with you. 6But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me about that I had. 7But contrariwise, when they saw that ye Gospel ouer ye vncircumcision was comitted vnto me, as the Gospel ouer ye circumcision was vnto Peter: 8(For he that was mightie by Peter in the Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mightie by me toward the Gentiles) 9And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto me, which are counted to be pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision, 10Warning onely that we should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe. 11And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him to his face: for he was to be condemned. 12For before that certaine came from Iames, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himselfe, fearing them which were of the Circumcision. 13And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas was led away with them by that their hypocrisie. 14But when I saw, that they went not ye right way to the trueth of ye Gospel, I sayd vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iewe, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes? 15We which are

Iewes by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles, <sup>16</sup>Knowe that a man is not iustified by the workes of the Law, but by ye faith of Iesus Christ, euen we, I say, haue beleued in Iesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the workes of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Lawe, no flesh shalbe iustified. <sup>17</sup>If then while we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid. <sup>18</sup>For if I build againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser. <sup>19</sup>For I through the Lawe am dead to the Lawe, that I might liue vnto God. <sup>20</sup>I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not I any more, but Christ liueth in me: and in that that I now liue in the flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen him selfe for me. <sup>21</sup>I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Lawe, then Christ dyed without a cause.

3O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the trueth, to whome Iesus Christ before was described in your sight, and among you crucified? <sup>2</sup>This only would I learne of you, Receiued ye the Spirit by the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of faith preached? <sup>3</sup>Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the flesh? <sup>4</sup>Haue ye suffered so many things in vaine? if so be it be euen in vaine. <sup>5</sup>He therefore that ministreth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached? <sup>6</sup>Yea rather as Abraham beleued God, and it was imputed to him for righteousness. <sup>7</sup>Knowe ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham. <sup>8</sup>For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, In thee shall all the Gentiles be blessed. <sup>9</sup>So then they which be of faith, are blessed with faithfull Abraham. <sup>10</sup>For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: for it is written, Cursed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them. <sup>11</sup>And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: for the iust shall liue by faith. <sup>12</sup>And the Lawe is not of faith: but the man that shall doe those things, shall liue in them. <sup>13</sup>Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Lawe, made a curse for vs, (for it is written, Cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree) <sup>14</sup>That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receiue the promise of the Spirit through faith. <sup>15</sup>Brethren, I speake as men do: though it be but a mans couenant, when it is confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto. <sup>16</sup>Nowe to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. Hee saith not, And to the seedes, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seede, as of one, which is Christ. <sup>17</sup>And this I say, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God in respect of Christ, the Lawe which was foure hundreth and thirtie yeeres after, can not disannull, that it shoulde make the promise of none effect. <sup>18</sup>For if the inheritance be of the Lawe, it is no more by the promise, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promise. <sup>19</sup>Wherefore then serueth the Law? It was added because of the transgressions, til the seed came, vnto the which the promise was made: and it was ordeined by Angels in the hande of a Mediatour. <sup>20</sup>Nowe a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: but God is one. <sup>21</sup>Is the Lawe then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had bene a Lawe giuen which coulde haue giuen life, surely righteousness should haue bene by the Lawe. <sup>22</sup>But the Scripture hath concluded all vnder sinne, that the promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should be giuen to them that beleue. <sup>23</sup>But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Law, as vnder a garison, and shut vp vnto that faith, which should afterward be reueiled. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore the Lawe was our scholemaster to bring vs to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith. <sup>25</sup>But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a scholemaster. <sup>26</sup>For ye are al the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus. <sup>27</sup>For all ye that are baptized into Christ, haue put on Christ. <sup>28</sup>There is neither Iewe nor Grecian: there is neither bonde nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Iesus. <sup>29</sup>And if ye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seede, and heires by promise.

4Then I say, that the heire as long as hee is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be Lord of all, <sup>2</sup>But is vnder tutours and gouernours, vntil the time appointed of the Father. <sup>3</sup>Euen so, we when wee were children, were in bondage vnder the rudiments of the world. <sup>4</sup>But when the fulnesse of time was come, God sent forth his Sonne made of a woman, and made vnder the Lawe, <sup>5</sup>That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we might receiue the adoption of the sonnes. <sup>6</sup>And because ye are sonnes, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Sonne into your heartes, which crieth, Abba, Father. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore, thou art no more a seruant, but a sonne: now if thou be a sone, thou art also the heire of God through Christ. <sup>8</sup>But euen then, when ye knewe not God, yee did seruiue vnto them, which by nature are not gods: <sup>9</sup>But now seeing ye knowe God, yea, rather are knowne of God, howe turne ye againe vnto impotent and beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye wil be in bondage againe? <sup>10</sup>Ye obserue dayes, and moneths, and times and yeeres. <sup>11</sup>I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine. <sup>12</sup>Be ye as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all. <sup>13</sup>And ye know, how through infirmitie of the flesh, I preached ye Gospel vnto you at the first. <sup>14</sup>And the trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued me as an Angel of God, yea, as Christ Iesus.

<sup>15</sup>What was then your felicitie? for I beare you recorde, that if it had bene possible, ye would haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue giuen them vnto me. <sup>16</sup>Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth? <sup>17</sup>They are ielous ouer you amisse: yea, they woulde exclude you, that ye shoulde altogether loue them. <sup>18</sup>But it is a good thing to loue earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you, <sup>19</sup>My litle children, of whome I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ be formed in you. <sup>20</sup>And I would I were with you nowe, that I might change my voyce: for I am in doubt of you. <sup>21</sup>Tell me, ye that will be vnder the Law, doe ye not heare the Lawe? <sup>22</sup>For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, one by a seruant, and one by a free woman. <sup>23</sup>But he which was of the seruant, was borne after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by promise. <sup>24</sup>By the which things another thing is meant: for these mothers are the two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount Sina, which gendreth vnto bondage. <sup>25</sup>(For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it answereth to Hierusalem which nowe is) and she is in bondage with her children. <sup>26</sup>But Hierusalem, which is aboue, is free: which is the mother of vs all. <sup>27</sup>For it is written, Reioyce thou barren that bearest no children: breake forth, and cry, thou that trauailest not: for the desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband. <sup>28</sup>Therefore, brethren, wee are after the maner of Isaac, children of the promise. <sup>29</sup>But as then hee that was borne after the flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the Spirit, euen so it is nowe. <sup>30</sup>But what sayth the Scripture? Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman. <sup>31</sup>Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

5Stand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, I Paul say vnto you, that if yee be circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing. <sup>3</sup>For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keepe the whole Lawe. <sup>4</sup>Ye are abolished from Christ: whosoever are iustified by the Law, ye are fallen from grace. <sup>5</sup>For we through the Spirit waite for the hope of righteousnes through faith. <sup>6</sup>For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaieth any thing, neither vncircumcision, but faith which worketh by loue. <sup>7</sup>Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth? <sup>8</sup>It is not the perswasion of him that calleth you. <sup>9</sup>A litle leauen doeth leauen the whole lump. <sup>10</sup>I haue trust in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whosoever he be. <sup>11</sup>And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slauder of the crosse abolished. <sup>12</sup>Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe disquiet you. <sup>13</sup>For brethren, ye haue bene called vnto libertie: onely vse not your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another. <sup>14</sup>For all the Lawe is fulfilled in one worde, which is this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. <sup>15</sup>If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heede least ye be consumed one of another. <sup>16</sup>Then I say, Walke in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lustes of the flesh. <sup>17</sup>For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that ye can not doe the same things that ye would. <sup>18</sup>And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Lawe. <sup>19</sup>Moreouer the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannes, wantonnes, <sup>20</sup>Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies, <sup>21</sup>Enuie, murthers, drunkennesse, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue tolde you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherite the kingdome of God. <sup>22</sup>But the fruite of the Spirit is loue, ioye, peace, long suffering, gentlenes, goodnes, fayth, <sup>23</sup>Meekenesse, temperancie: against such there is no lawe. <sup>24</sup>For they that are Christes, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lustes. <sup>25</sup>If we liue in the Spirit, let vs also walke in the Spirit. <sup>26</sup>Let vs not be desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

6Brethren, if a man be suddenly taken in any offence, ye which are spirituall, restore such one with the spirit of meekenes, considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted. <sup>2</sup>Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the Lawe of Christ. <sup>3</sup>For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, hee deceiueh himselfe in his imagination. <sup>4</sup>But let euery man prouue his owne worke: and then shall he haue reioycing in himselfe onely and not in another. <sup>5</sup>For euery man shall beare his owne burden. <sup>6</sup>Let him that is taught in the worde, make him that hath taught him, partaker of all his goods. <sup>7</sup>Be not deceiued: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall hee also reape. <sup>8</sup>For hee that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but hee that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reape life euerlasting. <sup>9</sup>Let vs not therefore be weary of well doing: for in due season we shall reape, if we faint not. <sup>10</sup>While we haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, but specially vnto them, which are of the housholde of faith. <sup>11</sup>Ye see how large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand. <sup>12</sup>As many as desire to make a faire shewe in the flesh, they constraine you to be circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the crosse of Christ. <sup>13</sup>For they themselues which are circumcised keepe not the law, but desire to haue you circumcised, that they might reioyce in your flesh. <sup>14</sup>But God forbid that I should reioyce, but in ye crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto ye world. <sup>15</sup>For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auaieth any thing, nor vncir-cumcision, but a new creature. <sup>16</sup>And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shalbe vpon them, and mercie, and vpon the Israel of God. <sup>17</sup>From henceforth let no man put me to busines: for I beare in my body the markes of the Lord Iesus. <sup>18</sup>Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

Ephesians

1 Pavl an Apostle of Jesvs Christ by the will of God, to the Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to ye faithfull in Christ Iesus: 2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 3 Blessed be God, and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which hath blessed vs with all spirituall blessing in heauenly things in Christ, 4 As hee hath chosen vs in him, before the foundation of the worlde, that we should be holy, and without blame before him in loue: 5 Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ in him selfe, according to the good pleasure of his will, 6 To the prayse of the glory of his grace, wherewith he hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued, 7 By whom we haue redemption through his blood, euen the forgiuenes of sinnes, according to his rich grace: 8 Whereby he hath bene abundant toward vs in all wisdome and vnderstanding, 9 And hath opened vnto vs the mysterie of his will according to his good pleasure, which he had purposed in him, 10 That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, euen in Christ: 11 In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinate according to ye purpose of him, which worketh all things after the counsell of his owne will, 12 That we, which first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glorie: 13 In whom also ye haue trusted, after that ye heard the worde of trueth, euen the Gospel of your saluation, wherein also after that ye beleueed, ye were sealed with the holy Spirite of promise, 14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the prayse of his glory. 15 Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints, 16 I cease not to giue thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers, 17 That the God of our Lord Iesus Christ, that Father of glory, might giue vnto you the Spirit of wisdome, and reuelation through the acknowledging of him, 18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may be lightened, that ye may knowe what the hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints, 19 And what is the exceeding greatnesse of his power toward vs, which beleuee, according to the working of his mightie power, 20 Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his right hand in the heauenly places, 21 Farre aboue al principalitie, and power, and might, and domination, and euery Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come, 22 And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, and hath giuen him ouer all things to be the head to the Church, 23 Which is his body, euen the fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

2 And you hath he quickened, that were dead in trespasses and sinnes, 2 Wherein, in times past ye walked, according to the course of this world, and after the prince that ruleth in the aire, euen the spirite, that nowe worketh in the children of disobedience, 3 Among whom we also had our conuersation in time past, in the lustes of our flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and were by nature the children of wrath, as well as others. 4 But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs, 5 Euen when we were dead by sinnes, hath quickened vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saued, 6 And hath rayseed vs vp together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus, 7 That he might shewe in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace, through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus. 8 For by grace are ye saued through faith, and that not of your selues: it is the gift of God, 9 Not of workes, least any man should boast himselfe. 10 For we are his workmanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordeined, that we should walke in them. 11 Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and called vncircumcision of them, which are called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands, 12 That ye were, I say, at that time without Christ, and were aliens from the common wealth of Israel, and were strangers from the couenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world. 13 But nowe in Christ Iesus, ye which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Christ. 14 For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall, 15 In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Lawe of commandements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one newe man in himselfe, so making peace, 16 And that he might reconcile both vnto God in one body by his crosse, and slay hatred thereby, <sup>17</sup>And came, and preached peace to you which were afarre off, and to them that were neere. <sup>18</sup>For through him we both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit. <sup>19</sup>Nowe therefore ye are no more strangers and forreiners: but citzens with the Saintes, and of the houshold of God, <sup>20</sup>And are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the chiefe corner stone, <sup>21</sup>In whom all the building coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord. <sup>22</sup>In whom ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

3For this cause, I Paul am the prisoner of Iesus Christ for you Gentiles, <sup>2</sup>If ye haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to you warde, <sup>3</sup>That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mysterie vnto me (as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes, <sup>4</sup>Whereby when ye reade, ye may knowe mine vnderstanding in the mysterie of Christ) <sup>5</sup>Which in other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is nowe reueiled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit, <sup>6</sup>That the Gentiles should be inheriters also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel, <sup>7</sup>Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto me through the effectuall working of his power. <sup>8</sup>Euen vnto me the least of all Saints is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearchable riches of Christ, <sup>9</sup>And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the mysterie is, which from the beginning of the world hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ, <sup>10</sup>To the intent, that nowe vnto principalities and powers in heauenly places, might be knownen by the Church the manifolde wisdomme of God, <sup>11</sup>According to the eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord: <sup>12</sup>By whom we haue boldenes and entrance with confidence, by faith in him. <sup>13</sup>Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory. <sup>14</sup>For this cause I bowe my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>15</sup>(Of whom is named the whole familie in heauen and in earth) <sup>16</sup>That he might graunt you according to the riches of his glorie, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the inner man, <sup>17</sup>That Christ may dwell in your heartes by faith: <sup>18</sup>That ye, being rooted and grounded in loue, may be able to comprehend with al Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height: <sup>19</sup>And to knowe the loue of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all fulnesse of God. <sup>20</sup>Vnto him therefore that is able to do exceeding abundantly aboue all that we aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, <sup>21</sup>Be praise in the Church by Christ Iesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

<sup>2</sup>With all humblenesse of minde, and meekenesse, with long suffering, supporting one an other through loue, <sup>3</sup>Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace. <sup>4</sup>There is one body, and one Spirit, euen as yee are called in one hope of your vocation. <sup>5</sup>There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptisme, <sup>6</sup>One God and Father of all, which is aboue all, and through all, and in you all. <sup>7</sup>But vnto euery one of vs is giuen grace, according to the measure of the gift of Christ. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore he saith, Whe he ascended vp on hie, he led captiuitie captiue, and gaue gifts vnto men. <sup>9</sup>(Nowe, in that hee ascended, what is it but that he had also descended first into the lowest partes of the earth? <sup>10</sup>Hee that descended, is euen the same that ascended, farre aboue all heauens, that hee might fill all things) <sup>11</sup>Hee therefore gaue some to be Apostles, and some Prophets, and some Euangelists, and some Pastours, and Teachers, <sup>12</sup>For the repairing of the Saintes, for the woorke of the ministerie, and for the edification of the bodie of Christ, <sup>13</sup>Till we all meete together (in the vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the measure of the age of the fulnesse of Christ, <sup>14</sup>That we henceforth be no more children, wauering and caried about with euery winde of doctrine, by the deceit of men, and with craftines, whereby they lay in wait to deceiue. <sup>15</sup>But let vs folowe the truth in loue, and in all things, grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Christ. <sup>16</sup>By whome al the body being coupled and knit together by euery ioynt, for ye furniture therof (according to the effectual power, which is in the measure of euery part) receiueh increase of the body, vnto the edifying of itselfe in loue. <sup>17</sup>This I say therefore and testifie in the Lord, that yee hencefoorth walke not as other Gentiles walke, in vanitie of their minde, <sup>18</sup>Hauiug their vnderstanding darkened, and being strangers from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardnesse of their heart: <sup>19</sup>Which being past feeling, haue giuen themselves vnto wantonnesse, to woorke all vncleannesse, euen with griedinesse. <sup>20</sup>But yee haue not so learned Christ, <sup>21</sup>If so be yee haue heard him, and haue bene taught by him, as the trueth is in Iesus, <sup>22</sup>That is, that yee cast off, concerning the conuersation in time past, that olde man, which is corrupt through the deceiueable lustes, <sup>23</sup>And be renewed in the spirit of your minde, <sup>24</sup>And put on ye new man, which after God is created vnto righteousnes, and true holines. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore cast off lying, and speake euery man truth vnto his neighbour: for we are members one of another. <sup>26</sup>Bee angrie, but sinne not: let not the sunne goe downe vpon your wrath, <sup>27</sup>Neither giue place to the deuil. <sup>28</sup>Let him that stole, steale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his handes the thing which is good, that hee may haue to giue vnto him that needeth. <sup>29</sup>Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouths: but that which is good, to ye vse of edifying, that it may minister grace vnto the hearers. <sup>30</sup>And grieue

not the holy Spirit of God, by whom ye are sealed vnto ye day of redemption. <sup>31</sup>Let all bitterness, and anger, and wrath, crying, and euill speaking be put away from you, with all maliciousnesse. <sup>32</sup>Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiuing one another, euen as God for Christes sake, freely forgaue you.

5 Bee yee therefore followers of God, as deare children, <sup>2</sup>And walke in loue, euen as Christ hath loued vs, and hath giuen himselfe for vs, to be an offering and a sacrifice of a sweete smelling sauour to God. <sup>3</sup>But fornication, and all vnclennesse, or couetousnesse, let it not be once named among you, as it becommeth Saintes, <sup>4</sup>Neither filthinesse, neither foolish talking, neither iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thanks. <sup>5</sup>For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither vnclane person, nor couetous person, which is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ, and of God. <sup>6</sup>Let no man deceiue you with vaine wordes: for, for such thinges commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of disobedience. <sup>7</sup>Be not therefore companions with them. <sup>8</sup>For ye were once darknesse, but are now light in the Lord: walke as children of light, <sup>9</sup>(For the fruit of the Spirit is in al goodnes, and righteousnes, and trueth) <sup>10</sup>Approouing that which is pleasing to the Lord. <sup>11</sup>And haue no fellowship with ye vnfruitfull works of darknes, but euen reprove them rather. <sup>12</sup>For it is shame euen to speake of the things which are done of them in secret. <sup>13</sup>But all thinges when they are reprobued of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore hee sayeth, Awake thou that sleepest, and stande vp from the deade, and Christ shall giue thee light. <sup>15</sup>Take heede therefore that yee walke circumspectly, not as fooles, but as wise, <sup>16</sup>Redeeming ye season: for ye daies are euill. <sup>17</sup>Wherefore, be ye not vnwise, but vnderstand what the will of the Lord is. <sup>18</sup>And be not drunke with wine, wherein is excesse: but be fulfilled with the Spirit, <sup>19</sup>Speaking vnto your selues in psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing, and making melodie to the Lord in your hearts, <sup>20</sup>Giuing thanks alwaies for all thinges vnto God euen the Father, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>21</sup>Submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God. <sup>22</sup>Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as vnto the Lord. <sup>23</sup>For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Christ is the head of the Church, and the same is the sauour of his body. <sup>24</sup>Therefore as the Church is in subiection to Christ, euen so let the wiues be to their husbands in euery thing. <sup>25</sup>Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gaue himselfe for it, <sup>26</sup>That hee might sanctifie it, and clense it by the washing of water through the worde, <sup>27</sup>That hee might make it vnto him selfe a glorious Church, not hauing spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it shoulde bee holy and without blame. <sup>28</sup>So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth him selfe. <sup>29</sup>For no man euer yet hated his owne flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord doeth the Church. <sup>30</sup>For we are members of his bodie, of his flesh, and of his bones. <sup>31</sup>For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and shall cleaue to his wife, and they twaine shalbe one flesh. <sup>32</sup>This is a great secrete, but I speake concerning Christ, and concerning the Church. <sup>33</sup>Therefore euery one of you, doe ye so: let euery one loue his wife, euen as himselfe, and let the wife see that shee feare her husband.

6 Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. <sup>2</sup>Honour thy father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise) <sup>3</sup>That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayst liue long on earth. <sup>4</sup>And ye, fathers, prouoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and information of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters, according to the flesh, with feare and trembling in singleness of your hearts as vnto Christ, <sup>6</sup>Not with seruite to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart, <sup>7</sup>With good will, seruing the Lord, and not men. <sup>8</sup>And knowe ye that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free. <sup>9</sup>And ye masters, doe the same thinges vnto them, putting away threatning: and know that euen your master also is in heauen, neither is there respect of person with him. <sup>10</sup>Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. <sup>11</sup>Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the assaultes of the deuil. <sup>12</sup>For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, and against the worldly gouernours, the princes of the darknesse of this worlde, against spirituall wickednesses, which are in ye hie places. <sup>13</sup>For this cause take vnto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to resist in the euill day, and hauing finished all things, stand fast. <sup>14</sup>Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with veritie, and hauing on the brest plate of righteousnesse, <sup>15</sup>And your feete shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace. <sup>16</sup>Above all, take the shilde of faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fierie dartes of the wicked, <sup>17</sup>And take the helmet of saluation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the worde of God. <sup>18</sup>And pray alwayes with all maner prayer and supplication in the Spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseuerance and supplication for al Saints, <sup>19</sup>And for me, that vtterance may be giuen vnto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel, <sup>20</sup>Whereof I am the ambassadour in bonds, that therein I may speake boldly, as I ought to speake. <sup>21</sup>But that ye may also know mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull minister in the Lord, shall shewe you of all things, <sup>22</sup>Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that ye might knowe mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts. <sup>23</sup>Peace be with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>24</sup>Grace be with all them which loue our Lord Iesus Christ, to their immortalitie, Amen.

Philippians

1 Paul and Timotheus the seruants of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saintes in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the Bishops, and Deacons: 2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 3 I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect memorie, 4 (Alwayes in all my praiers for all you, praying with gladnesse) 5 Because of the fellowship which ye haue in the Gospell, from the first day vnto now. 6 And I am persuaded of this same thing, that he that hath begunne this good worke in you, will performe it vntill the day of Iesus Christ, 7 As it becometh me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance that both in my bands, and in my defence, and confirmation of the Gospell you all were partakers of my grace. 8 For God is my recorde, howe I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ. 9 And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement, 10 That ye may alowe those things which are best, that ye may be pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ, 11 Filled with the fruites of righteousnesse, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glorie and praise of God. 12 I would ye vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospell, 13 So that my bandes in Christ are famous throughout all the iudgement hall, and in all other places, 14 In so much that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankly speake the word. 15 Some preache Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will. 16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bandes. 17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospell. 18 What then? yet Christ is preached all maner wayes, whether it be vnder a pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioye: yea and will ioye. 19 For I knowe that this shall turne to my saluation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ, 20 As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shalbe ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so nowe Christ shalbe magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death. 21 For Christ is to me both in life, and in death aduantage. 22 And whether to liue in the flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I knowe not. 23 For

I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loosed and to be with Christ, which is best of all. 24 Neuerthelesse, to abide in the flesh, is more needefull for you. 25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith, 26 That ye may more abundantly reioyce in IESVS CHRIST for me, by my comming to you againe. 27 Onely let your conuersation be, as it becommeth the Gospell of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or els be absent, I may heare of your matters that ye continue in one Spirit, and in one mind, fighting together through the faith of the Gospell. 28 And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God. 29 For vnto you it is giuen for Christ, that not onely ye should beleue in him, but also suffer for his sake, 30 Hauing the same fight, which ye sawe in me, and nowe heare to be in me.

2 If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any compassion and mercie, 2 Fulfill my ioye, that ye be like minded, hauing the same loue, being of one accorde, and of one iudgement, 3 That nothing be done through contention or vaine glory, but that in meekenesse of minde euery man esteeme other better then himselfe. 4 Looke not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men. 5 Let the same minde be in you that was euen in Christ Iesus, 6 Who being in ye forme of God, thought it no robberie to be equall with God: 7 But he made himself of no reputation, and tooke on him ye forme of a seruant, and was made like vnto men, and was founde in shape as a man. 8 He humbled himselfe, and became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the Crosse. 9 Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and giuen him a Name aboue euery name, 10 That at the Name of Iesus shoulde euery knee bowe, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth, 11 And that euery tongue shoulde confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lord, vnto the glory of God the Father. 12 Wherefore my beloued, as ye haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, so make an end of your owne saluation with feare and trembling. 13 For it is God which worketh in you, both the will and the deede, euen

of his good pleasure. <sup>14</sup>Do all things without murmuring and reasonings, <sup>15</sup>That ye may be blamelesse, and pure, and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom yee shine as lights in the world, <sup>16</sup>Holding forth the worde of life, that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine. <sup>17</sup>Yea, and though I bee offered vp vpon the sacrifice, and seruice of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all. <sup>18</sup>For the same cause also be ye glad, and reioyce with me. <sup>19</sup>And I trust in the Lord Iesus, to sende Timotheus shortly vnto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I knowe your state. <sup>20</sup>For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters. <sup>21</sup>For all seeke their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christes. <sup>22</sup>But yee knowe the prooue of him, that as a sonne with the father, hee hath serued with me in the Gospel. <sup>23</sup>Him therefore I hope to send assoone as I knowe howe it will goe with me, <sup>24</sup>And trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly. <sup>25</sup>But I supposed it necessarie to sende my brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and fellowe souldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministred vnto me such things as I wanted. <sup>26</sup>For he longed after all you, and was full of heauinesse, because yee had heard that hee had beene sicke. <sup>27</sup>And no doubt he was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercie on him, and not on him onely, but on me also, least I should haue sorowe vpon sorowe. <sup>28</sup>I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee shoulde see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the lesse sorowfull. <sup>29</sup>Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such: <sup>30</sup>Because that for the woorke of Christ he was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that seruice which was lacking on your part towarde me.

<sup>3</sup>Moreouer, my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. It griueth mee not to write the same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing. <sup>2</sup>Beware of dogges: beware of euil workers: beware of the concision. <sup>3</sup>For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirite, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence in the flesh: <sup>4</sup>Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I, <sup>5</sup>Circumcised the eight day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Beniamin, an Ebrewe of the Ebrewes, by the Lawe a Pharise. <sup>6</sup>Concerning zeale, I persecuted ye Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the Law, I was vnrebukeable. <sup>7</sup>But the thinges that were vantage vnto me, the same I counted losse for Christes sake. <sup>8</sup>Yea, doubtlesse I thinke all thinges but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whome I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to bee dongue, that I might winne Christ, <sup>9</sup>And might bee founde in him, that is, not hauing mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Lawe, but that which is through the faith of Christ, euen the righteousnesse which is of God through faith, <sup>10</sup>That I may know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death, <sup>11</sup>If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the resurrection of the dead: <sup>12</sup>Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am comprehended of Christ Iesus. <sup>13</sup>Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeouour my selfe vnto that which is before, <sup>14</sup>And follow hard toward the marke, for the prise of the hie calling of God in Christ Iesus. <sup>15</sup>Let vs therefore as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if yee be otherwise minded, God shall reueile euen the same vnto you. <sup>16</sup>Neuerthelesse, in that whereunto wee are come, let vs proceede by one rule, that wee may minde one thing. <sup>17</sup>Brethren, bee followers of mee, and looke on them, which walke so, as yee haue vs for an ensample. <sup>18</sup>For many walke, of whom I haue told you often, and nowe tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the Crosse of Christ: <sup>19</sup>Whose ende is damnation, whose God is their bellie, and whose glorie is to their shame, which minde earthly things. <sup>20</sup>But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the Sauour, euen the Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>21</sup>Who shall change our vile bodie, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby hee is able euen to subdue all things vnto him selfe.

<sup>4</sup>Therefore, my brethre, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my crowne, so continue in the Lord, yee beloued. <sup>2</sup>I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord, <sup>3</sup>Yea, and I beseech thee, faithfull yokefellow, helpe those women, which laboured with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellowe labourers, whose names are in the booke of life. <sup>4</sup>Reioyce in the Lord alway, againe I say, reioyce. <sup>5</sup>Let your patient minde be knowen vnto all men. The Lord is at hand. <sup>6</sup>Be nothing carefull, but in all thinges let your requestes be shewed vnto God in praier, and supplication with giuing of thanks. <sup>7</sup>And the peace of God which passeth all vnderstanding, shall preserue your heartes and mindes in Christ Iesus. <sup>8</sup>Furthermore, brethre, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are iust, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are worthie loue, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praise, thinke on these things, <sup>9</sup>Which yee haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in mee: those things doe, and the God of peace shalbe with you. <sup>10</sup>Nowe I reioyce also in the Lord greatly, that nowe at the last your care for mee springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were careful, but yee lacked opportunitie. <sup>11</sup>I speake not because of want: for

I haue learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to bee content. <sup>12</sup>And I can be abased, and I can abounde: euery where in all things I am instructed, both to be full, and to be hungrie, and to abounde, and to haue want. <sup>13</sup>I am able to do al things through the helpe of Christ, which strength-eneth me. <sup>14</sup>Notwithstanding yee haue well done, that yee did communicate to mine affliction. <sup>15</sup>And yee Philippians knowe also that in the beginning of the Gospell, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but yee onely. <sup>16</sup>For euen when I was in Thessalonica, yee sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie, <sup>17</sup>Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning. <sup>18</sup>Now I haue receiued all, and haue plentie: I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an odour that smelleth sweete, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God. <sup>19</sup>And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glorie in Iesus Christ. <sup>20</sup>Vnto God euen our Father be praise for euermore, Amen. <sup>21</sup>Salute all the Saintes in Christ Iesus. The brethren, which are with me, greete you. <sup>22</sup>All the Saintes salute you, and most of all they which are of Cesars houshold. <sup>23</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

Colossians

1 Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother, 2To them which are at Colosse, Saintes and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 3We giue thanks to God euen ye Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, alway praying for you: 4Since wee heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your loue toward all Saintes, 5For the hopes sake, which is laide vp for you in heauen, whereof yee haue heard before by the word of trueth, which is the Gospel, 6Which is come vnto you, eue as it is vnto al the world, and is fruitfull, as it is also amog you, from ye day that ye heard and truly knew ye grace of God, 7As yee also learned of Epaphras our deare fellowe seruaunt, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ: 8Who hath also declared vnto vs your loue in the Spirit. 9For this cause wee also, since the day wee heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of his will in all wisdom, and spirituall vnderstanding, 10That ye might walke worthy of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God, 11Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long suffering with ioyfulness, 12Giuing thanks vnto the Father, which hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saintes in light, 13Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darkenesse, and hath translated vs into the kingdome of his deare Sonne, 14In whome we haue redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiuenesse of sinnes, 15Who is the image of the inuisible God, the first begotten of euery creature. 16For by him were all things created, which are in heauen, and which are in earth, thinges visible and inuisible: whether they be Thrones or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him, 17And hee is before all things, and in him all things consist. 18And hee is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, and the first begotten of the dead, that in all thinges hee might haue the preeminence. 19For it pleased the Father, that in him should all fulnesse dwell, 20And through peace made by that blood of that his crosse, to reconcile to himselfe through him, through him, I say, all thinges, both which are in earth, and which are in heauen.

21And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your mindes were set in euill workes, hath he nowe also reconciled, 22In that body of his flesh through death, to make you holy, and vnblameable and without fault in his sight, 23If ye continue, grounded and stablished in the faith, and be not moued away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye haue heard, and which hath bene preached to euery creature which is vnder heauen, whereof I Paul am a minister. 24Now reioyce I in my suffrings for you, and fulfill the rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodies sake, which is the Church, 25Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is giuen mee vnto you ward, to fulfill the word of God, 26Which is the mysterie hid since the world began, and from all ages, but nowe is made manifest to his Saintes, 27To whome God woulde make knowen what is the riches of his glorious mysterie among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory, 28Whome we preache, admonishing euery man, and teaching euery man in all wisdom, that we may present euery man perfect in Christ Iesus, 29Whereunto I also labour and striue, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

2For I woulde ye knewe what great fighting I haue for your sakes, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as haue not seene my person in the flesh, 2That their heartes might be comforted, and they knit together in loue, and in all riches of the full assurance of vnderstanding, to know the mysterie of God, euen the Father, and of Christ: 3In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. 4And this I say, lest any man shoulde beguile you with entising wordes: 5For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, reioycing and beholding your order, and your stedfast faith in Christ. 6As ye haue therefore receiued Christ Iesus the Lord, so walke in him, 7Rooted and built in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye haue bene taught, abounding therein with thankesgiuing. 8Beware lest there be any man that spoile you through philosophie, and vaine deceit, through the traditions of men, according to the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. 9For in him dwelleth all the fulnesse of the Godhead bodily. 10And yee are complete in him, which is the head of all principallitie and power. 11In whome also yee are circumcised with circumcision made without hands, by putting off the sinfull body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ, <sup>12</sup>In that yee are buried with him through bap-tisme, in whome ye are also raised vp together through the faith of the operation of God, which raised him from the dead. <sup>13</sup>And you which were dead in sinnes, and in the vncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiuing you all your trespasses, <sup>14</sup>And putting out the hand writing of ordinances that was against vs, which was contrarie to vs, hee euen tooke it out of the way, and fastened it vpon the crosse, <sup>15</sup>And hath spoyled the Principalties, and Powers, and hath made a shew of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in the same crosse. <sup>16</sup>Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the newe moone, or of the Sabbath dayes, <sup>17</sup>Which are but a shad-owe of thinges to come: but the body is in Christ. <sup>18</sup>Let no man at his pleasure beare rule ouer you by humblenesse of minde, and worshipping of Angels, aduancing himselfe in those thinges which hee neuer sawe, rashly puft vp with his fleshly minde, <sup>19</sup>And holdeth not the head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by ioyntes and bands, increaseth with the increasing of God. <sup>20</sup>Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, as though ye liued in ye world, are ye burdened with traditions? <sup>21</sup>As, Touch not, Taste not, Handle not. <sup>22</sup>Which al perish with the vsing, and are after the commandements and doctrines of men. <sup>23</sup>Which thinges haue in deede a shewe of wisdom, in voluntarie religion and humblenesse of minde, and in not sparing the body, which are thinges of no valewe, sith they pertaine to the filling of the flesh.

3If yee then bee risen with Christ, seeke those thinges which are aboue, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God. <sup>2</sup>Set your affections on things which are aboue, and not on things which are on the earth. <sup>3</sup>For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. <sup>4</sup>When Christ which is our life, shall appeare, then shall ye also appeare with him in glory. <sup>5</sup>Mortifie therefore your members which are on the earth, fornication, vncleannes, the inordinate affection, euill concupiscence, and couetousnes which is idolatrie. <sup>6</sup>For the which things sake ye wrath of God commeth on the children of disobedience. <sup>7</sup>Wherein ye also walked once, when ye liued in them. <sup>8</sup>But now put ye away euen all these things, wrath, anger, maliciousnes, cursed speaking, filthie speaking, out of your mouth. <sup>9</sup>Lie not one to another, seeing that yee haue put off the olde man with his workes, <sup>10</sup>And haue put on the newe, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him, <sup>11</sup>Where is neither Grecian nor Iewe, circumcision nor vncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things. <sup>12</sup>Now therefore as the elect of God holy and beloued, put on the bowels of mercies, kindnesse, humblenesse of minde, meekenesse, long suffering: <sup>13</sup>Forbearing one another, and forgiuing one another, if any man haue a quarel to another: euen as Christ forgaue, euen so doe ye. <sup>14</sup>And aboute all these thinges put on loue, which is the bond of perfectnes. <sup>15</sup>And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which ye are called in one body, and be ye thankfull. <sup>16</sup>Let the worde of Christ dwell in you plenteously in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing your owne selues, in Psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord.

<sup>17</sup>And whatsoever ye shall doe, in worde or deede, doe
 all in the Name of the Lord Iesus, giuing thanks to God euen the Father by him. <sup>18</sup>Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as it is comely in the Lord. <sup>19</sup>Husbands, loue your wiues, and be not bitter vnto them. <sup>20</sup>Children, obey your parents in all thing for that is well pleasing vnto
 the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, least they be discouraged. <sup>22</sup>Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye seruite as men pleasers, but in singleness of heart, fearing God. <sup>23</sup>And whatsoever ye doe, doe it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, <sup>24</sup>Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receiue the reward of the inheritance: for ye serue the Lord Christ. <sup>25</sup>But he that doeth wrong, shall receiue for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

4Ye masters, doe vnto your seruants, that which is iust, and equall, knowing that ye also haue a master in heauen. <sup>2</sup>Continue in prayer, and watch in the fame with thankesgiuing, <sup>3</sup>Praying also for vs, that God may open vnto vs the doore of vtterance, to speake ye mysterie of Christ: wherefore I am also in bonds, <sup>4</sup>That I may vtter
 it, as it becommeth mee to speake. <sup>5</sup>Walke wisely towarde them that are without, and redeeme the season. <sup>6</sup>Let your speach be gracious alwayes, and powdred with salt, that ye may know how to answeere euery man. <sup>7</sup>Tychicus our beloued brother and faithfull minister, and fellow seruant in the Lord, shall declare vnto you my whole state: <sup>8</sup>Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose that he might know your state, and might comfort your hearts, <sup>9</sup>With Onesimus a faithfull and a beloued brother, who is one of you. They shall shew you of all things here.
<sup>10</sup>Aristarchus my prison fellow saluteth you, and Marcus, Barnabas cousin (touching whom ye receiued commandements. If he come vnto you, receiue him) <sup>11</sup>And Iesus which is called Iustus, which are of the circumcision. These onely are my worke fellowes vnto the kingdome of God, which haue bene vnto my consolation. <sup>12</sup>Epaphras the seruant of Christ, which is one of you, saluteth you, and alwayes striueth for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect, and full in all the will of God. <sup>13</sup>For I beare him record, that he hath a great zeale for you, and for them of Laodicea, and them of Hierapolis. <sup>14</sup>Luke the be-loued physician greeteth you, and Demas. <sup>15</sup>Salute the brethren which are of Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the Church which is in his house. <sup>16</sup>And when this Epistle is read of you, cause that it be read in the Church of the Laodiceans also, and that ye likewise reade the Epistle written from Laodicea. <sup>17</sup>And say to Archippus, Take heede to the ministerie, that thou hast receiued in the Lord, that thou fulfill it. <sup>18</sup>The salutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bands. Grace be with you, Amen.

I Thessalonians

1Pavl, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 2We giue God thanks alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers 3Without ceasing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God euen our Father, 4Knowing, beloued brethren, that ye are elect of God. 5For our Gospell was not vnto you in worde only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in much assurance, as ye know after what maner we were among you for your sakes. 6And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the worde in much affliction, with ioy of the holy Ghost, 7So that ye were as ensamples to all that beleuee in Macedonia and in Achaia. 8For from you sounded out the worde of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia only: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that we neede not to speake any thing. 9For they themselues shew of vs what maner of entring in we had vnto you, and how ye turned to God from idoles, to serue the liuing and true God, 10And to looke for his sonne from heauen, whome he raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from that wrath to come.

2For ye your selues knowe, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine, 2But euen after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at Philippi, (as ye knowe) we were bolde in our God, to speake vnto you the Gospell of God with much struing. 3For our exhortation was not by deceite, nor by vncleannes, nor by guile. 4But as we were allowed of God, that the Gospell should be committed vnto vs, so we speake, not as they that please men, but God, which approoueth our hearts. 5Neither yet did we euer vse flattering wordes, as ye knowe, nor coloured couetousnes, God is recorde. 6Neither sought we prayse of men, neither of you, nor of others, when we might haue bene chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ. 7But we were gentle among you, euen as a nource cherisheth her children. 8Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospell of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs. 9For ye remember, brethren, our labour and trauaile: for we laboured day and night, because we would not be chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospell of God. 10Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and iustly, and vnblameably we behaued our selues among you that beleuee. 11As ye knowe how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought every one of you (as a father his children) 12That ye would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glorie. 13For this cause also thanke we God without ceasing, that when ye receiued the worde of God, which ye heard of vs, ye receiued it not as the worde of men, but as it is in deede the worde of God, which also worketh in you that beleuee. 14For brethren, ye are become folowers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in Christ Iesus, because ye haue also suffered the same things of your owne countrey men, euen as they haue of the Iewes, 15Who both killed the Lord Iesus and their owne Prophets, and haue persecuted vs away, and God they please not, and are contrary to all men, 16And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to fulfill their sinnes alwayes: for the wrath of God is come on them, to the vtmost. 17For asmuch, brethren, as we were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, we enforced the more to see your face with great desire. 18Therefore we would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at least once or twice) but Satan hindered vs. 19For what is our hope or ioye, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in the presence of our Lord Iesus Christ at his comming? 20Yea, ye are our glory and ioy.

3Wherefore since we could no longer forbare, wee thought it good to remaine at Athens alone, 2And haue sent Timotheus our brother and minister of God, and our labour fellow in the Gospell of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith, 3That no man should be moued with these afflictions: for ye your selues knowe, that we are appointed thereunto. 4For verily when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and ye knowe it. 5Euen for this cause, when I could no longer forbare, I sent him that I might knowe of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had bene in vaine. <sup>6</sup>But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs, as we also do you, <sup>7</sup>Therefore, brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessitie through your faith. <sup>8</sup>For nowe are wee aliue, if ye stand fast in the Lord. <sup>9</sup>For what thanks can wee recompense to God againe for you, for all the ioy wherewith we reioyce for your sakes before our God, <sup>10</sup>Night and day, praying exceedingly that wee might see your face, and might accomplish that which is lacking in your faith? <sup>11</sup>Nowe God himselfe, euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, guide our iourney vnto you, <sup>12</sup>And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we doe toward you: <sup>13</sup>To make your hearts stable and vnblameable in holines before God euen our Father, at the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

<sup>4</sup>And furthermore we beseeche you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye increase more and more, as ye haue receiued of vs, how ye ought to walke, and to please God. <sup>2</sup>For ye knowe what commandements we gaue you by the Lord Iesus. <sup>3</sup>For this is the will of God euen your sanctification, and that ye should abstaine from fornication, <sup>4</sup>That euery one of you should know, how to possesse his vessell in holines and honour, <sup>5</sup>And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God: <sup>6</sup>That no man oppresse or defraude his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all such thinges, as we also haue tolde you before time, and testified. <sup>7</sup>For God hath not called vs vnto vncleannesse, but vnto holinesse. <sup>8</sup>Hee therefore that despiseth these thinges, despiseth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit. <sup>9</sup>But as touching brotherly loue, ye neede not that I write vnto you: for ye are taught of God to loue one another. <sup>10</sup>Yea, and that thing verily yee doe vnto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more, <sup>11</sup>And that ye studie to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne busines, and to worke with your owne handes, as we commanded you, <sup>12</sup>That yee may behaue your selues honestly towarde them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you. <sup>13</sup>I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant concerning them which are a sleepe, that ye sorow not euen as other which haue no hope. <sup>14</sup>For if we beleue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in Iesus, will God bring with him. <sup>15</sup>For this say we vnto you by the worde of the Lord, that we which liue, and are remaying in the comming of the Lord, shall not preuent them which sleepe. <sup>16</sup>For the Lord himselfe shall descende from heauen with a shoute, and with the voyce of the Archangel, and with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: <sup>17</sup>Then shall we which liue and remaine, be caught vp with them also in the clouds, to meete the Lord in the ayre: and so shall we euer be with the Lord. <sup>18</sup>Wherefore, comfort your selues one another with these wordes.

<sup>5</sup>Bvt of the times and seasons, brethren, yee haue no neede that I write vnto you. <sup>2</sup>For ye your selues knowe perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, euen as a thiefe in the night. <sup>3</sup>For when they shall say, Peace, and safetie, then shall come vpon them sudden destruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with childe, and they shall not escape, <sup>4</sup>But ye, brethren, are not in darkenes, that that day shall come on you, as it were a thiefe. <sup>5</sup>Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkenesse. <sup>6</sup>Therefore let vs not sleepe as do other, but let vs watch and be sober. <sup>7</sup>For they that sleepe, sleepe in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night. <sup>8</sup>But let vs which are of the day, be sober, putting on the brest plate of faith and loue, and of the hope of saluation for an helmet. <sup>9</sup>For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obtaine saluation by the meanes of our Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>10</sup>Which died for vs, that whether we wake or sleepe, we should liue together with him. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as ye doe. <sup>12</sup>Nowe we beseeche you, brethren, that ye acknowledge them, which labour among you, and are ouer you in the Lord, and admonish you, <sup>13</sup>That yee haue them in singular loue for their workes sake. Bee at peace among your selues. <sup>14</sup>We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are out of order: comfort ye feeble minded: beare with the weake: be pacient toward all men. <sup>15</sup>See that none recompense euil for euil vnto any man: but euer follow that which is good, both toward your selues, and toward all men. <sup>16</sup>Reioyce euermore. <sup>17</sup>Pray continually. <sup>18</sup>In all thinges giue thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Iesus toward you. <sup>19</sup>Quench not the Spirit. <sup>20</sup>Despise not prophecying. <sup>21</sup>Try all things, and keepe that which is good. <sup>22</sup>Absteine from all appearance of euill. <sup>23</sup>Nowe the very God of peace sanctifie you throughout: and I pray God that your whole spirite and soule and body, may be kept blamelesse vnto the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>24</sup>Faithfull is hee which calleth you, which will also doe it. <sup>25</sup>Brethren, pray for vs. <sup>26</sup>Greete all the brethren with an holy kisse. <sup>27</sup>I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle be read vnto all the brethren the Saintes. <sup>28</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you, Amen.

II Thessalonians

1Paul and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ: 2Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. 3We ought to thanke God alwayes for you, brethren, as it is meete, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you toward another, aboundeth, 4So that we our selues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in al your persecutions and tribulatioes that ye suffer, 5Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer. 6For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you, 7And to you which are troubled, rest with vs, when the Lord Iesus shall shewe himselfe from heauen with his mightie Angels, 8In flaming fire, rendring vengeance vnto them, that doe not know God, and which obey not vnto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ, 9Which shall be punished with euerlasting perdition, from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power, 10When he shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marueilous in all them that beleue ( because our testimonie toward you was beleueed) in that day. 11Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodnes, and the worke of faith with power, 12That the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ.

2Now we beseech you, brethren, by the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our assembling vnto him, 2That ye be not suddenly moued from your minde, nor troubled neither by spirit, nor by worde, nor by letter, as it were from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand. 3Let no man deceiue you by any meanes: for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that that man of sinne be disclosed, euen the sonne of perdition, 4Which is an aduersarie, and exalteth him selfe against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that he doeth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing him selfe that he is God. 5Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things? 6And nowe ye knowe what withholdeth that he might be reueiled in his time. 7For the mysterie of iniquitie doeth already worke: onely he which nowe withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way. 8And then shall that wicked man be reueiled, whome the Lord shall consume with the Spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightnes of his comming, 9Euen him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and signes, and lying wonders, 10And in al deceiuablenes of vnrighteousnes, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the trueth, that they might be saued. 11And therefore God shall send them strong delusion, that they should beleue lies, 12That all they might be damned which beleueed not the trueth, but had pleasure in vnrighteousnes. 13But we ought to giue thankes alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through sanctification of the Spirit, and the faith of trueth, 14Whereunto he called you by our Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lord Iesus Christ. 15Therefore, brethren, stand fast and keepe the instructions, which ye haue bene taught, either by worde, or by our Epistle. 16Now the same Iesus Christ our Lord; and our God euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in euery word and good worke.

3Furthermore, brethren, pray for vs, that the worde of the Lord may haue free passage and be glorified, euen as it is with you, 2And that we may be deliuered from vnreasonable and euill men: for all men haue not fayth. 3But the Lord is faithfull, which wil stablish you, and keepe you from euill. 4And we are perswaded of you through the Lord, that ye both doe, and will doe the things which we warne you of. 5And the Lord guide your hearts to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ. 6We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that ye withdrawe your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, and not after the instruction, which hee receiued of vs. 7For ye your selues know, how ye ought to follow vs: for we behaued not our selues inordinately among you, 8Neither tooke we bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, because we would not be chargeable to any of you. <sup>9</sup>Not because we haue not authoritie, but that we might make our selues an ensample vnto you to follow vs. <sup>10</sup>For euen when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he should not eate. <sup>11</sup>For we heare, that there are some which walke among you inordinately, and worke not at all, but are busie bodies. <sup>12</sup>Therefore them that are such, we warne and exhort by our Lord Iesus Christ, that they worke with quietnes, and eate their owne bread. <sup>13</sup>And ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing. <sup>14</sup>If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and haue no company with him, that he may be ashamed: <sup>15</sup>Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother. <sup>16</sup>Now the Lord himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all. <sup>17</sup>The salutation of me Paul, with mine owne hand, which is ye token in euery Epistle: so I write, <sup>18</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

I Timothy

1 Pavl an Apostle of Iesvs Christ, by the commandement of God our Sauour, and of our Lord Iesus Christ our hope, 2Vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord. 3As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest warne some, that they teach none other doctrine, 4Neither that they giue heede to fables and genealogies which are endles, which breede questions rather then godly edifying which is by fayth. 5For the end of the commandement is loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith vnfained. 6From the which things some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine iangling. 7They would be doctours of the Law, and yet vnderstande not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme. 8And we knowe, that the Law is good, if a man vse it lawfully, 9Knowing this, that the Lawe is not giuen vnto a righteous man, but vnto the lawles and disobedient, to the vngodly, and to sinners, to the vnholy, and to the prophane, to murtherers of fathers and mothers, to manslayers, 10To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menstealers, to lyers, to the periured, and if there be any other thing, that is contrary to wholesome doctrine, 11Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, which is committed vnto me. 12Therefore I thanke him, which hath made me strong, that is, Christ Iesus our Lord: for he counted me faithfull, and put me in his seruice: 13When before I was a blasphemer, and a persecuter, and an oppresser: but I was receiued to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through vnbeliefe. 14But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and loue, which is in Christ Iesus. 15This is a true saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued, that Christ Iesus came into the worlde to saue sinners, of whom I am chiefe. 16Notwithstanding, for this cause was I receiued to mercie, that Iesus Christ should first shewe on me all long suffering vnto the ensample of them, which shall in time to come beleue in him vnto eternall life. 17Nowe vnto the King euerlasting, immortall, inuisible, vnto God onely wise, be honour and glorie, for euer, and euer, Amen. 18This commandement commit I vnto thee, sonne Timotheus, according to the prophecies, which went before vpon thee, that thou by them shouldest fight a good fight, 19Hauing faith and a good conscience, which some haue put away, and as concerning faith, haue made shipwracke. 20Of whom is Hymeneus, and Alexander, whom I haue deliuered vnto Satan, that they might learne not to blaspheme.

2I Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giuing of thanks be made for all men, 2For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, that we may leade a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlinesse and honestie. 3For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Sauour, 4Who will that all men shalbe saued, and come vnto the acknowledging of the trueth. 5For there is one God, and one Mediatour betweene God and man, which is the man Christ Iesus, 6Who gaue himselfe a ransome for all men, to be that testimonie in due time, 7Whereunto I am ordeined a preacher and an Apostle (I speake the trueth in Christ, and lie not) euen a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and veritie. 8I will therefore that the men pray, euery where lifting vp pure hands without wrath, or douting. 9Likewise also the women, that they aray themselues in comely apparell, with shamefastnes and modestie, not with broyded heare, or gold, or pearles, or costly apparell, 10But (as becommeth women that professe the feare of God) with good workes. 11Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection. 12I permit not a woman to teache, neither to vsurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in silence. 13For Adam was first formed, then Eue. 14And Adam was not deceiued, but the woman was deceiued, and was in the transgression. 15Notwithstanding, through bearing of children she shalbe saued if they continue in faith, and loue, and holines with modestie.

3This is a true saying, If any man desire the office of a Bishop, he desireth a worthie worke. 2A Bishop therefore must be vnreproueable, the husband of one wife, watching, temperate, modest, harberous, apt to teache, 3Not giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous, 4One that can rule his owne house honestly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honestie. 5For if any cannot rule his owne house, how shall he care for the Church of God? 6He may not be a yong scholer, lest he being puffed vp fall into the condemnation of the deuil.

<sup>4</sup>Now the Spirit speaketh evidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, and shall giue heede vnto spirits of error, and doctrines of deuils, <sup>2</sup>Which speake lies through hypocrisie, and haue their consciences burned with an hote yron, <sup>3</sup>Forbidding to marrie, and commanding to abstaine from meates which God hath created to be receiued with giuing thanks of them which beleue and knowe the trueth. <sup>4</sup>For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be receiued with thankesgiuing. <sup>5</sup>For it is sanctified by the worde of God, and prayer. <sup>6</sup>If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hast bene nourished vp in the wordes of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually followed. <sup>7</sup>But cast away prophane, and olde wiues fables, and exercise thy selfe vnto godlinesse. <sup>8</sup>For bodily exercise profiteth litle: but godlinesse is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come. <sup>9</sup>This is a true saying, and by all meanes worthie to be receiued. <sup>10</sup>For therefore we labour and are rebuked, because we trust in the liuing God, which is the Sauour of all men, specially of those that beleue. <sup>11</sup>These things warne and teache. <sup>12</sup>Let no man despise thy youth, but be vnto them that beleue, an ensample, in worde, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith, and in purenesse. <sup>13</sup>Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine. <sup>14</sup>Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophecie with the laying on of the hands of the companie of the Eldership. <sup>15</sup>These things exercise, and giue thy selfe vnto them, that it may be seene howe thou profitest among all men. <sup>16</sup>Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou

<sup>5</sup>Rebuke not an Elder, but exhort him as a father, and the yonger men as brethren, <sup>2</sup>The elder women as mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all purenesse. <sup>3</sup>Honour widowes, which are widowes in deede. <sup>4</sup>But if any widowe haue children or nephewes, let them learne first to shewe godlinesse towarde their owne house, and to recompense their kinred: for that is an honest thing and acceptable before God. <sup>5</sup>And shee that is a widowe in deede and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and praiers night and day. <sup>6</sup>But shee that liueth in pleasure, is dead, while shee liueth. <sup>7</sup>These things therefore warne them of, that they may be blamelesse. <sup>8</sup>If there bee any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his housholde, hee denieth the faith, and is worse then an infidell. <sup>9</sup>Let not a widow be taken into the number vnder three score yeere olde, that hath bene the wife of one husband, <sup>10</sup>And well reported of for good woorkes: if shee haue nourished her children, if shee haue lodged the strangers, if shee haue washed the Saintes feete, if shee haue ministred vnto them which were in aduersitie, if shee were continually giuen vnto euery good woork. <sup>11</sup>But refuse the yonger widowes: for when they haue begun to waxe wanton against Christ, they will marrie, <sup>12</sup>Hauing damnation, because they haue broken the first faith. <sup>13</sup>And likewise also being idle they learne to goe about from house to house: yea, they are not onely ydle, but also pratlers and busibodies, speaking things which are not comely. <sup>14</sup>I will therefore that the yonger women marie, and beare children, and gouerne the house, and giue none occasion to the aduersary to speake euill. <sup>15</sup>For certaine are alreadie turned backe after Satan. <sup>16</sup>If any faithfull man, or faithfull woman haue widowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church bee charged, that there may bee sufficient for them that are widowes in deede. <sup>17</sup>The Elders that rule well, let them be had in double honour, specially they which labour in the worde and doctrine, <sup>18</sup>For the Scripture sayeth, Thou shalt not mouell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, The labourer is worthie of his wages. <sup>19</sup>Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnesses. <sup>20</sup>Them that sinne, rebuke openly, that the rest also may feare. <sup>21</sup>I charge thee before God and the Lord Iesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou obserue these thinges without preferring one to an other, and doe nothing partially. <sup>22</sup>Lay handes suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure. <sup>23</sup>Drinke no longer water, but vse a litle wine for thy stomakes sake, and thine often infirmities. <sup>24</sup>Some mens sinnes are open before hand, and goe before vnto iudgement: but some mens folowe after. <sup>25</sup>Likewise also the good woorkes are manifest before hande, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

<sup>6</sup>Let as many seruaunts as are vnder the yoke, count their masters worthie of all honour, that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of. <sup>2</sup>And they which haue beleeuing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithfull, and beloued, and partakers of the benefite. These things teach and exhort. <sup>3</sup>If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome wordes of our Lord Iesus Christ, and to the doctrine, which is according to godlinesse, <sup>4</sup>He is puffed vp and knoweth nothing, but doteth about questions and strife of words, whereof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill surmisings, <sup>5</sup>Frowarde disputations of men of corrupt mindes and destitute of ye trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlines: from such separate thy selfe. <sup>6</sup>But godlinesse is great gaine, if a man be content with that he hath. <sup>7</sup>For we brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out. <sup>8</sup>Therefore when wee haue foode and raiment, let vs therewith be content. <sup>9</sup>For they that will be rich, fall into temptation and snares, and into many foolish and noysome lustes, which drowne men in perdition and destruction. <sup>10</sup>For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and pearced themselues through with many sorowes. <sup>11</sup>But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousnesse, godlines, faith, loue, patience, and meekenes. <sup>12</sup>Fight the good fight of faith: lay holde of eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses. <sup>13</sup>I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all thinges, and before Iesus Christ, which vnder Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession, <sup>14</sup>That thou keepe this commandement without spot, and vnrebukeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>15</sup>Which in due time hee shall shewe, that is blessed and Prince onely, the King of Kings and Lord of Lordes, <sup>16</sup>Who onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine vnto, whom neuer man sawe, neither can see, vnto whome bee honour and power euerlasting, Amen. <sup>17</sup>Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high minded, and that they trust not in vncertaine riches, but in the liuing God, (which giueth vs abundantly, all things to enioy) <sup>18</sup>That they doe good, and be riche in good woorkes, and readie to distribute, and communicate, <sup>19</sup>Laying vp in store for themselues a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life. <sup>20</sup>O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppositios of science falsely so called, <sup>21</sup>Which while some professe, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

II Timothy

1Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Iesus, 2To Timotheus my beloued sonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Iesus Christ our Lord. 3I thanke God, whom I serue from mine elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my praiers night and day, 4Desiring to see thee, mindefull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy: 5When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also. 6Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou stirre vp the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands. 7For God hath not giuen to vs the Spirite of feare, but of power, and of loue, and of a sound minde. 8Be not therefore ashamed of the testimonie of our Lord, neither of me his prisoner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the Gospel, according to the power of God, 9Who hath saued vs, and called vs with an holy calling, not according to our workes, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was giuen to vs through Christ Iesus before the world was, 10But is nowe made manifest by that appearing of our Sauour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitie vnto light through the Gospel. 11Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles. 12For the which cause I also suffer these things, but I am not ashamed: for I knowe whom I haue beleued, and I am persuaded that he is able to keepe that which I haue committed to him against that day. 13Keepe the true patterne of the wholesome wordes, which thou hast heard of me in faith and loue which is in Christ Iesus. 14That worthie thing, which was committed to thee, keepe through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in vs. 15This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes. 16The Lord giue mercie vnto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chaine, 17But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me. 18The Lord graunt vnto him, that he may finde mercie with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

2Thou therefore, my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus. 2And what things thou hast heard of me, by many witnesses, ye same deliuer to faithfull men, which shalbe able to teache other also. 3Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ. 4No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of this life, because he woulde please him that hath chosen him to be a souldier. 5And if any man also striue for a Masterie, he is not crowned, except he striue as he ought to doe. 6The husbandman must labour before he receiue the frutes. 7Consider what I say: and the Lord giue thee vnderstanding in all things: 8Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seede of Dauid, was raysted againe from the dead according to my Gospel, 9Wherein I suffer trouble as an euill doer, euen vnto bondes: but the worde of God is not bounde. 10Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glorie. 11It is a true saying, For if we be dead together with him, we also shall liue together with him. 12If we suffer, we shall also reigne together with him: if we denie him, he also will denie vs. 13If we beleue not, yet abideth he faithfull: he cannot denie himselfe. 14Of these things put them in remembrance, and protest before the Lord, that they striue not about wordes, which is to no profit, but to the peruerting of the hearers. 15Studie to shewe thy selfe approued vnto God, a workeman that needeth not to be ashamed, diuiding the worde of trueth aright. 16Stay prophane, and vaine babblings: for they shall encrease vnto more vngodlinesse. 17And their worde shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymeneus and Philetus, 18Which as concerning ye trueth haue erred from the marke, saying that the resurrection is past alreadie, and do destroy the faith of certaine. 19But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let euery one that calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquitie. 20Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of gold and of siluer, but also of wood and of earth, and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour. 21If any man therefore purge him selfe from these, he shalbe a vessel vnto honour, sanctified, and meete for the Lord, and prepared vnto euery good worke. <sup>22</sup>Flee also from the lustes of youth, and follow after righteousnes, faith, loue, and peace, with them that call on the Lord with pure heart, <sup>23</sup>And put away foolish and vnlearned questions, knowing that they ingender strife. <sup>24</sup>But the seruant of ye Lord must not striue, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teache, suffering the euill, <sup>25</sup>Instructing them with meekenesse that are contrary minded, prouing if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the trueth, <sup>26</sup>And come to amendment out of that snare of the deuill, of whom they are taken prisoners, to doe his will.

3This knowe also, that in the last dayes shall come perillous times. <sup>2</sup>For men shalbe louers of their owne selues, couetous, boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, vnthankfull, vnholly, <sup>3</sup>Without naturall affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no louers at all of them which are good, <sup>4</sup>Traitours, headie, high minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God, <sup>5</sup>Hauing a shewe of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: turne away therefore from such. <sup>6</sup>For of this sort are they which creepe into houses, and leade captiue simple women laden with sinnes, and led with diuers lustes, <sup>7</sup>Which women are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the trueth. <sup>8</sup>And as Iannes and Iambres withstoode Moses, so doe these also resist the trueth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith. <sup>9</sup>But they shall preuaile no longer: for their madnesse shalbe euident vnto all men, as theirs also was. <sup>10</sup>But thou hast fully knowen my doctrine, maner of liuing, purpose, faith, long suffering, loue, patience, <sup>11</sup>Persecutions, and afflictions which came vnto me at Antiochia, at Iconium, and at Lystri, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me. <sup>12</sup>Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution. <sup>13</sup>But the euill men and deceiuers, shall waxe worse and worse, deceiuing, and being deceiued. <sup>14</sup>But continue thou in the thinges which thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of who thou hast learned them: <sup>15</sup>And that thou hast knowen the holy Scriptures of a childe, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus. <sup>16</sup>For the whole Scripture is giuen by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teache, to conuince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousnesse, <sup>17</sup>That the man of God may be absolute, being made perfect vnto all good workes.

4I charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdome, <sup>2</sup>Preach the worde: be instant, in season and out of season: improue, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine. <sup>3</sup>For the time will come, when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, shall after their

owne lustes get them an heape of teachers, <sup>4</sup>And shall turne their eares from the trueth, and shalbe giuen vnto fables. <sup>5</sup>But watch thou in all thinges: suffer aduersitie: doe the worke of an Euangelist: cause thy ministerie to be throughly liked of. <sup>6</sup>For I am nowe readie to be offered, and the time of my departing is at hand. <sup>7</sup>I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith. <sup>8</sup>For hence fourth is laide vp for me the crowne of righteousnesse, which the Lord the righteous iudge shall giue me at that day: and not to me onely, but vnto all them also that loue that his appearing. <sup>9</sup>Make speede to come vnto me at once: <sup>10</sup>For Demas hath forsaken me, and hath embraced this present world, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia. <sup>11</sup>Onely Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for he is profitable vnto me to minister. <sup>12</sup>And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus. <sup>13</sup>The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments. <sup>14</sup>Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much euill: the Lord rewarde him according to his workes. <sup>15</sup>Of whome be thou ware also: for he withstoode our preaching sore. <sup>16</sup>At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laide to their charge. <sup>17</sup>Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully beleued, and that al the Gentiles should heare: and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the lion. <sup>18</sup>And the Lord will deliuer me from euery euill worke, and will preserue me vnto his heauenly kingdome: to whome be praise for euer and euer, Amen. <sup>19</sup>Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the householde of Onesiphorus. <sup>20</sup>Erastus abode at Corinthus: Trophimus I left at Miletum sicke. <sup>21</sup>Make speede to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren. <sup>22</sup>The Lord Iesus Christ be with thy spirit. Grace be with you, Amen.

Titus

1Paul a seruaunt of God, and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods elect, and the acknowledging of the trueth, which is according vnto godlines, 2Vnto the hope of eternall life, which God that cannot lie, hath promised before the world began: 3But hath made his worde manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed vnto me, according to the commandement of God our Sauour: 4To Titus my naturall sonne according to the common faith, Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ our Sauour. 5For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the thinges that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in euery citie, as I appointed thee, 6If any be vnreprouable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are disobedient. 7For a Bishop must bee vnreprouable, as Gods steward, not froward, not angrie, not giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthie lucre, 8But hardberous, one that loueth goodnesse, wise, righteous, holy, temperate, 9Holding fast that faithfull worde according to doctrine, that he also may bee able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and conuince them that say against it. 10For there are many disobedient and vaine talkers and deceiuers of mindes, chiefly they of the Circumcision, 11Whose mouthes must bee stopped, which subuert whole houses, teaching things, which they ought not, for filthie lucre sake. 12One of themselues, euen one of their owne prophets said, The Cretians are alwaies liars, euill bestes, slowe bellies. 13This wisse is true: wherefore conuince them sharply, that they may be sound in ye faith, 14And not taking heede to Iewish fables and commandements of men, that turne away from the trueth. 15Vnto the pure are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing, is nothing pure, but euen their mindes and consciences are defiled. 16They professe that they know God, but by works they deny him, and are abominable and disobedient, and vnto euery good worke reprobate.

2Bvt speake thou the thinges which become wholesome doctrine, 2That the elder men be watchful, graue, teperate, sounde in the faith, in loue, and in patience: 3The elder women likewise, that they be in such behauiour as becommeth holinesse, not false accusers, not subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things, 4That they may instruct the yong women to be sober minded, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children, 5That they be temperate, chaste, keeping at home, good and subiect vnto their husbands, that the word of God be not euill spoken of. 6Exhort yong men likewise, that they bee sober minded. 7In all things shewe thy selfe an ensample of good woorkes with vncorrupt doctrine, with grauitie, integritie, 8And with the wholesome woorde, which can not be condemned, that hee which withstandeth, may be ashamed, hauing nothing concerning you to speake euill of. 9Let seruants be subiect to their masters, and please them in al things, not answering again, 10Neither pickers, but that they shew al good faithfulness, that they may adorne the doctrine of God our Sauour in all things. 11For that grace of God, that bringeth saluation vnto all men, hath appeared, 12And teacheth vs that we should denie vngodlinesse and worldly lusts, and that we should liue soberly and righteously, and godly in this present world, 13Looking for that blessed hope, and appearing of that glorie of that mightie God, and of our Sauour Iesus Christ, 14Who gaue him selfe for vs, that hee might redeeme vs from all iniquitie, and purge vs to bee a peculiar people vnto himselfe, zealous of good woorkes. 15These things speake, and exhort, and conuince with all authoritie. See that no man despise thee.

3Pvt them in remembrance that they bee subiect to the Principalities and powers, and that they bee obedient, and ready to euery good worke, 2That they speake euill of no man, that they be no fighters, but soft, shewing all meekenesse vnto all men. 3For wee our selues also were in times past vnwise, disobedient, deceiued, seruing the lustes and diuers pleasures, liuing in maliciousnes and enuie, hatefull, and hating one another: 4But when that bountifullnesse and that loue of God our Sauour toward man appeared, 5Not by the woorkes of righteousness, which we had done, but according to his mercie he saued vs, by the washing of the newe birth, and the renewing of the holy Ghost, 6Which he shed on vs abundantly, through Iesus Christ our Sauour, 7That we, being iustified by his grace, should be made heires according to the hope of eternall life. <sup>8</sup>This is a true saying, and these thinges I will thou shouldest affirme, that they which haue beleued God, might be carefull to shewe forth good woorkes. These things are good and profitable vnto men. <sup>9</sup>But stay foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Lawe: for they are vnprofitable and vaine. <sup>10</sup>Reiect him that is an heretike, after once or twice admonition, <sup>11</sup>Knowing that hee that is such, is peruerted, and sinneth, being damned of his owne selfe. <sup>12</sup>When I shall send Artemas vnto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to mee vnto Nicopolis: for I haue determined there to winter. <sup>13</sup>Bring Zenas the expounder of the Lawe, and Apollos on their iourney diligently, that they lacke nothing. <sup>14</sup>And let ours also learne to shewe forth good woorkes for necessary vses, that they be not vnfruitfull. <sup>15</sup>All that are with mee, salute thee. Greeete them that loue vs in the faith. Grace bee with you all, Amen.

Philemon

<sup>1</sup>Paul a prisoner of Iesus Christ, and our brother Timotheus, vnto Philemon our deare friende, and fellowe helper, <sup>2</sup>And to our deare sister Apphia, and to Archippus our fellowe souldier, and to the Church that is in thine house: <sup>3</sup>Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>4</sup>I giue thanks to my God, making mention alwaies of thee in my praiers, <sup>5</sup>(When I heare of thy loue and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Iesus, and towarde all Saintes) <sup>6</sup>That the fellowship of thy faith may bee made effectuell, and that whatsoever good thing is in you through Christ Iesus, may be knowen. <sup>7</sup>For we haue great ioy and consolation in thy loue, because by thee, brother, the Saintes bowels are comforted. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore, though I bee very bolde in Christ to commaund thee that which is conuenient, <sup>9</sup>Yet for loues sake I rather beseeche thee, though I be as I am, euen Paul aged, and euen nowe a prisoner for Iesus Christ. <sup>10</sup>I beseeche thee for my somme Onesimus, whome I haue begotten in my bondes, <sup>11</sup>Which in times past was to thee vnprofitable, but nowe profitable both to thee and to me, <sup>12</sup>Whome I haue sent againe: thou therefore receiue him, that is mine owne bowels, <sup>13</sup>Whom I woulde haue reteined with mee, that in thy steade he might haue ministred vnto me in the bondes of the Gospel. <sup>14</sup>But without thy minde woulde I doe nothing, that thy benefite should not be as it were of necessitie, but willingly. <sup>15</sup>It may be that he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receiue him for euer, <sup>16</sup>Not now as a seruant, but aboue a seruant, euen as a brother beloued, specially to me: howe much more then vnto thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord? <sup>17</sup>If therefore thou count our thinges common, receiue him as my selfe. <sup>18</sup>If he hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on mine accounts. <sup>19</sup>I Paul haue written this with mine owne hande: I will recompense it, albeit I doe not say to thee, that thou owest moreouer vnto me euen thine owne selfe. <sup>20</sup>Yea, brother, let mee obtaine this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilt do eue more then I say. <sup>22</sup>Moreouer also prepare mee lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be freely giuen vnto you. <sup>23</sup>There salute thee Epaphras my fellowe prisoner in Christ Iesus, <sup>24</sup>Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas and Luke, my fellowe helpers. <sup>25</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen.

Hebrews

1At sundry times and in diuers maners God spake in the olde time to our fathers by the Prophetes: in these last dayes hee hath spoken vnto vs by his Sonne, 2Whom he hath made heire of al things, by whome also he made the worldes, 3Who being the brightnes of the glory, and the ingraued forme of his person, and bearing vp all things by his mightie worde, hath by himselfe purged our sinnes, and sitteth at the right hand of the Maiestie in the highest places, 4And is made so much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as hee hath obtained a more excellent Name then they. 5For vnto which of the Angels saide he at any time, Thou art my Sonne, this day begate I thee? and againe, I will be his Father, and he shalbe my Sonne? 6And againe, when he bringeth in his first begotten Sonne into the worlde, hee saith, And let all the Angels of God worship him. 7And of the Angels he saith, He maketh the spirites his messengers, and his ministers a flame of fire. 8But vnto the Sonne he saith, O God, thy throne is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousnes. 9Thou hast loued righteousnes and hated iniquitie. Wherefore God, eue thy God, hath anointed thee with the oyle of gladnes about thy fellowes. 10And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast established the earth, and the heauens are the workes of thine handes. 11They shall perish, but thou doest remaine: and they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment. 12And as a vesture shalt thou folde them vp, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile. 13Vnto which also of the Angels saide he at any time, Sit at my right hand, til I make thine enemies thy footestool? 14Are they not al ministring spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shalbe heires of saluation?

2Wherefore wee ought diligently to giue heede to the thinges which wee haue heard, lest at any time we runne out. 2For if the worde spoken by Angels was stedfast, and euery transgression, and disobedience receiued a iust recompence of reward, 3How shall we escape, if we neglect so great saluation, which at the first began to be preached by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by them that heard him, 4God bearing witnes thereto, both with signes and wonders, and with diuers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his owne will? 5For he hath not put in subiection vnto the Angels the world to come, whereof we speake. 6But one in a certaine place witnessed, saying, What is man, that thou shouldest bee mindefull of him? or the sonne of man, that thou wouldest consider him? 7Thou madest him a litle inferiour to ye Angels: thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and hast set him about the workes of thine hands. 8Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that he hath put all things in subiection vnder him, he left nothing that should not be subiect vnto him. But we yet see not all things subdued vnto him, 9But we see Iesus crowned with glory and honour, which was made litle inferiour to the Angels, through the suffering of death, that by Gods grace he might taste death for all men. 10For it became him, for whome are all these thinges, and by whome are all these things, seeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, that he should consecrate the Prince of their saluation through afflictions. 11For he that sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren, 12Saying, I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Church will I sing praises to thee. 13And againe, I will put my trust in him. And againe, Beholde, here am I, and the children which God hath giuen me. 14Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himselfe likewise tooke part with them, that hee might destroye through death, him that had the power of death, that is the deuil, 15And that he might deliuer all them, which for feare of death were all their life time subiect to bondage. 16For he in no sort tooke on him the Angels nature, but hee tooke on him the seede of Abraham. 17Wherefore in all things it behoued him to be made like vnto his brethren, that hee might be mercifull, and a faithfull hie Priest in things concerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the sinnes of the people. 18For in that he suffered, and was tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

3Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, consider the Apostle and high Priest of our profession Christ Iesus: 2Who was faithfull to him that hath appointed him, euen as Moses was in al his house. 3For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moses, inas-much as he which hath builded the house, hath more honour then the house. <sup>4</sup>For euery house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God. <sup>5</sup>Now Moses verely was faithfull in all his house, as a seruant, for a wnesse of the things which should be spoken after. <sup>6</sup>But Christ is as the Sonne, ouer his owne house, whose house we are, if we holde fast that confidence and that reioycing of that hope vnto the ende. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore, as the holy Ghost sayth, To day if ye shall heare his voyce, <sup>8</sup>Harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wildernes, <sup>9</sup>Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, and sawe my workes fourtie yeeres long. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore I was grieued with that generation, and sayde, They erre euer in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest. <sup>12</sup>Take heede, brethren, least at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, and vnfaithfull, to depart away from the liuing God. <sup>13</sup>But exhort one another dayly, while it is called to day, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sinne. <sup>14</sup>For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure vnto the ende that beginning, wherewith we are vpholden, <sup>15</sup>So long as it is sayd, To day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation. <sup>16</sup>For some when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses. <sup>17</sup>But with whome was he displeased fourtie yeeres? Was hee not displeased with them that sinned, whose carkeises fell in the wildernes? <sup>18</sup>And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that obeyed not? <sup>19</sup>So we see that they could not enter in, because of vnbeliefe.

<sup>4</sup>Let vs feare therefore, least at any time by forsaking the promise of entring into his rest, any of you should seeme to be deprivied. <sup>2</sup>For vnto vs was the Gospel preached as also vnto them: but the worde that they heard, profited not them, because it was not mixed with faith in those that heard it. <sup>3</sup>For we which haue beleueed, doe enter into rest, as he said to the other, As I haue sworne in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world. <sup>4</sup>For he spake in a certaine place of the seuenth day on this wise, And God did rest the seuenth day from all his workes. <sup>5</sup>And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest. <sup>6</sup>Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter therein, and they to whom it was first preached, entred not therein for vnbeliefes sake: <sup>7</sup>Againe he appointed in Daudid a certaine day, by To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is sayd, This day, if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts. <sup>8</sup>For if Iesus had giuen them rest, then would he not after this haue spoke of an other day. <sup>9</sup>There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God. <sup>10</sup>For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne works, as God did from his. <sup>11</sup>Let vs studie therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same ensample of disobedience. <sup>12</sup>For the worde of God is liuely, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sword, and entreteth through, euen vnto the diuiding asunder of the soule and the spirit, and of the ioints, and the marow, and is a discerner of the thoughtes, and the intents of the heart. <sup>13</sup>Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whome we haue to doe. <sup>14</sup>Seeing then that wee haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs holde fast our profession. <sup>15</sup>For we haue not an hie Priest, which can not be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne. <sup>16</sup>Let vs therefore goe boldly vnto ye throne of grace, that we may receiue mercy, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

<sup>5</sup>For euery hie Priest is taken from among men, and is ordeined for men, in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both giftes and sacrifices for sinnes, <sup>2</sup>Which is able sufficiently to haue compassion on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that hee also is compassed with infirmitie, <sup>3</sup>And for the sames sake he is bound to offer for sinnes, as well for his own part, as for ye peoples. <sup>4</sup>And no man taketh this honor vnto him selfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron. <sup>5</sup>So likewise Christ tooke not to him selfe this honour, to be made the hie Priest, but hee that sayd vnto him, Thou art my Sonne, this day begate I thee, gaue it him. <sup>6</sup>As he also in another place speaketh, Thou art a Priest for euer, after ye order of Melchi-sedec. <sup>7</sup>Who in the dayes of his flesh did offer vp prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to saue him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared. <sup>8</sup>And though he were ye Sonne, yet learned he obedience, by the things which he suffered. <sup>9</sup>And being consecrate, was made the authour of eternall saluation vnto all them that obey him: <sup>10</sup>And is called of God an hie Priest after the order of Melchi-sedec. <sup>11</sup>Of whome we haue many things to say, which are hard to be vttered, because ye are dull of hearing. <sup>12</sup>For when as concerning ye time ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye neede againe that we teach you what are the first principles of the worde of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate. <sup>13</sup>For euery one that vseth milke, is inexpert in the worde of righteousnes: for he is a babe. <sup>14</sup>But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their wits exercised, to discerne both good and euill.

permit. <sup>4</sup>For it is impossible that they which were once lightened, and haue tasted of the heauenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost, <sup>5</sup>And haue tasted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come, <sup>6</sup>If they fal away, should be renewed againe by repentance: seeing they crucifie againe to themselues the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him. <sup>7</sup>For the earth which drinketh in the raine that commeth oft vpon it, and bringeth forth herbes meete for them by whome it is dressed, receiueh blessing of God. <sup>8</sup>But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reprobud, and is neere vnto cursing, whose end is to be burned. <sup>9</sup>But beloued, we haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompany saluation, though we thus speake. <sup>10</sup>For God is not vnrighteous, that hee should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye shewed toward his Name, in that ye haue ministred vnto the Saints, and yet minister. <sup>11</sup>And we desire that euery one of you shew the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende, <sup>12</sup>That ye be not slouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherite the promises. <sup>13</sup>For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to swere by, he sware by himselfe, <sup>14</sup>Saying, Surely I wil abundantly blesse thee and multiplie thee marueilously. <sup>15</sup>And so after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promise. <sup>16</sup>For men verely swere by him that is greater then themselues, and an othe for confirmation is among them an ende of all strife. <sup>17</sup>So God, willing more abundantly to shew vnto the heires of promise the stablenes of his counsell, bound himselfe by an othe, <sup>18</sup>That by two immutable things, wherein it is vnpossible that God should lye, we might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to lay holde vpon that hope that is set before vs, <sup>19</sup>Which hope we haue, as an acre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and it entreth into that which is within the vaile, <sup>20</sup>Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Iesus that is made an hie Priest for euer after the order of Melchi-sedec.

7For this Melchi-sedec was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and blessed him: <sup>2</sup>To whom also Abraham gaue the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation King of righteousnes: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace, <sup>3</sup>Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither ende of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Priest for euer. <sup>4</sup>Nowe consider how great this man was, vnto whome euen the Patriarke Abraham gaue the tithe of the spoyles. <sup>5</sup>For verely they which are the childre of Leui, which receiue the office of the Priesthode, haue a commandement to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their bethren) though they came out of ye loynes of Abraham. <sup>6</sup>But he whose kindred is not couted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises. <sup>7</sup>And without all contradiction the lesse is blessed of the greater. <sup>8</sup>And here men that die, receiue tithes: but there he receiueh them, of whome it is witnessed, that he liueh. <sup>9</sup>And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiueh tithes, payed tithes in Abraham. <sup>10</sup>For hee was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchi-sedec met him. <sup>11</sup>If therefore perfection had bene by the Priesthooe of the Leuites (for vnder it the Lawe was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchi-sedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron? <sup>12</sup>For if the Priesthood be changed, then of necessitie must there be a change of the Lawe. <sup>13</sup>For hee of whome these things are spoken, pertaineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man serued at the altar. <sup>14</sup>For it is euident, that our Lord sprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood. <sup>15</sup>And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchi-sedec, there is risen vp another Priest, <sup>16</sup>Which is not made Priest after the Law of the carnal commandement, but after the power of the endlesse life. <sup>17</sup>For hee testifieth thus, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec. <sup>18</sup>For the commandement that went afore, is disanulled, because of the weakenes thereof, and vnprofitablenes. <sup>19</sup>For the Law made nothing perfite, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfite, whereby we drawe neere vnto God. <sup>20</sup>And for as much as it is not without an othe (for these are made Priestes without an othe: <sup>21</sup>But this is made with an othe by him that said vnto him, The Lord hath sworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec) <sup>22</sup>By so much is Iesus made a suretie of a better Testament. <sup>23</sup>And among them many were made Priestes, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death. <sup>24</sup>But this man, because hee endureth euer, hath a Priesthood, which cannot passe from one to another. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore, hee is able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing he euer liueh, to make intercession for them. <sup>26</sup>For such an hie Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmelesse, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made hier then the heauens: <sup>27</sup>Which needeth not daily as those hie Priestes to offer vp sacrifice, first for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples: for that did he once, when he offered vp himselfe. <sup>28</sup>For the Law maketh men hie Priestes, which haue infirmitie: but the word of the othe that was since the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

wherefore it was of necessitie, that this man shoulde haue somewhat also to offer. <sup>4</sup>For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priestes that according to the Lawe offer giftes, <sup>5</sup>Who serue vnto the paterne and shadowe of heauenly things, as Moses was warned by God, whe he was about to finish the Tabernacle. See, saide hee, that thou make all thinges according to the paterne, shewed to thee in the mount. <sup>6</sup>But nowe our hie Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, in as much as he is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which is established vpon better promises. <sup>7</sup>For if that first Testament had bene vnblameable, no place should haue bene sought for the second. <sup>8</sup>For in rebuking them he saith, Beholde, the dayes will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a newe Testament: <sup>9</sup>Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord. <sup>10</sup>For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I wil be their God, and they shalbe my people, <sup>11</sup>And they shall not teache euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall knowe me, from the least of them to the greatest of them. <sup>12</sup>For I will bee mercifull to their vnrightheousnes, and I will remember their sinnes and their iniquities no more. <sup>13</sup>In that he saith a new Testament, he hath abrogate the olde: nowe that which is disanulled and waxed olde, is ready to vanish away.

<sup>9</sup>Then the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a worldly Sanctuarie. <sup>2</sup>For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlesticke, and the table, and the shewebread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places. <sup>3</sup>And after the seconde vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the Holiest of all, <sup>4</sup>Which had the golden censer, and the Arke of the Testament ouerlayde rounde about with golde, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and Aarons rod that had budded, and the tables of the Testament. <sup>5</sup>And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the mercie seat: of which things we will not nowe speake particularly. <sup>6</sup>Nowe when these things were thus ordeined, the Priestes went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice. <sup>7</sup>But into the second went the hie Priest alone, once euery yere, not without blood which hee offered for himselfe, and for the ignorances of the people. <sup>8</sup>Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into ye Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing, <sup>9</sup>Which was a figure for that present time, wherein were offred gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice, <sup>10</sup>Which only stood in meates and drinckes, and diuers washings, and carnal rites, which were inioyned, vntill the time of reformation. <sup>11</sup>But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, by a greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with handes, that is, not of this building, <sup>12</sup>Neither by the blood of goates and calues: but by his owne blood entred he in once vnto the holy place, and obtined eternall redemption for vs. <sup>13</sup>For if the blood of bulles and of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vnclane, sanctifieth as touching the purifying of the flesh, <sup>14</sup>How much more shall the blood of Christ which through the eternall Spirit offered himselfe without fault to God, purge your conscience from dead workes, to serue the liuing God? <sup>15</sup>And for this cause is he the Mediatour of the newe Testament, that through death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receiue the promise of eternall inheritance. <sup>16</sup>For where a Testament is, there must be the death of him that made the Testament. <sup>17</sup>For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is aliue. <sup>18</sup>Wherefore neither was the first ordeined without blood. <sup>19</sup>For when Moses had spoken euery precept to the people, according to the Law, he tooke the blood of calues and of goates, with water and purple wooll and hyssope, and sprinckled both the booke, and all the people, <sup>20</sup>Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed vnto you. <sup>21</sup>Moreouer, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministering vessels. <sup>22</sup>And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without sheading of blood is no remission. <sup>23</sup>It was then necessary, that the similitudes of heauenly things should be purified with such things: but the heauenly things them selues are purified with better sacrifices then are these. <sup>24</sup>For Christ is not entred into ye holy places that are made with handes, which are similitudes of ye true Sanctuarie: but is entred into very heauen, to appeare now in ye sight of God for vs, <sup>25</sup>Not that he should offer himselfe often, as the hie Priest entred into the Holy place euery yeere with other blood, <sup>26</sup>(For then must he haue often suffred since the foundation of the world) but now in the end of the world hath he bene made manifest, once to put away sinne by the sacrifice of him selfe. <sup>27</sup>And as it is appointed vnto men that they shall once die, and after that commeth the iudgement: <sup>28</sup>So Christ was once offered to take away the sinnes of many, and vnto them that looke for him, shall he appeare the second time without sinne vnto saluation.

ers once purged, should haue had no more conscience of sinnes? <sup>3</sup>But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes euery yeere. <sup>4</sup>For it is vnpossible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore when he commeth into the world, he saith, Sacrifice and offring thou wouldest not: but a body hast thou ordeined me. <sup>6</sup>In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure. <sup>7</sup>Then I sayd, Lo, I come (In the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should doe thy will, O God. <sup>8</sup>Aboue, when he sayd, Sacrifice and offring, and burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou wouldest not haue, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Lawe) <sup>9</sup>Then sayd he, Lo, I come to doe thy wil, O God, he taketh away the first, that he may stablish the second. <sup>10</sup>By the which wil we are sanctified, euen by the offring of the body of Iesus Christ once made. <sup>11</sup>And euery Priest standeth dayly ministring, and oft times offreth one maner of offring, which can neuer take away sinnes: <sup>12</sup>But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, sitteth for euer at the right hand of God, <sup>13</sup>And from henceforth tarieth, till his enemies be made his footestool. <sup>14</sup>For with one offering hath he consecrated for euer them that are sanctified. <sup>15</sup>For the holy Ghost also beareth vs record: for after that he had sayd before, <sup>16</sup>This is the Testament that I will make vnto them after those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them. <sup>17</sup>And their sinnes and iniquities will I remember no more. <sup>18</sup>Nowe where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for sinne. <sup>19</sup>Seeing therefore, brethren, that by the blood of Iesus we may be bolde to enter into the Holy place, <sup>20</sup>By the newe and liuing way, which hee hath prepared for vs, through the vaile, that is, his flesh: <sup>21</sup>And seeing we haue an hie Priest, which is ouer the house of God, <sup>22</sup>Let vs drawe neere with a true heart in assurance of faith, our hearts being pure from an euill conscience, <sup>23</sup>And washed in our bodies with pure water, let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without wauering, (for he is faithfull that promised) <sup>24</sup>And let vs consider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good workes, <sup>25</sup>Not forsaking the fellowship that we haue among our selues, as the maner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, and that so much the more, because ye see that the day draweth neere. <sup>26</sup>For if we sinne willingly after that we haue receiued and acknowledged that trueth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sinnes, <sup>27</sup>But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fire, which shall deuoure the aduersaries. <sup>28</sup>He that despiseth Moses Law, dieth without mercy vnder two, or three witnesses: <sup>29</sup>Of howe much sorer punishment suppose ye shall hee be worthy, which treadeth vnder foote the Sonne of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an vnholly thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doeth despite the Spirit of grace? <sup>30</sup>For we know him that hath sayd, Vengeance belongeth vnto mee: I will recompense, saith the Lord.

And againe, The Lord shall iudge his people. <sup>31</sup>It is a fearefull thing to fall into the hands of the liuing God. <sup>32</sup>Nowe call to remembrance the dayes that are passed, in the which, after ye had receiued light, ye endured a great fight in afflictions, <sup>33</sup>Partly while yee were made a gazing stocke both by reproches and afflictions, and partly while ye became companions of them which were so tossed to and from. <sup>34</sup>For both ye sorowed with mee for my bonds, and suffered with ioy the spoyling of your goods, knowing in your selues howe that ye haue in heauen a better, and an enduring substance. <sup>35</sup>Cast not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompense of reward. <sup>36</sup>For ye haue neede of patience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promise. <sup>37</sup>For yet a very litle while, and hee that shall come, will come, and will not tary. <sup>38</sup>Nowe the iust shall liue by faith: but if any withdrawe himselfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him. <sup>39</sup>But we are not they which withdrawe our selues vnto perdition, but follow faith vnto the conseruation of the soule.

11 Now faith is the grounds of things, which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene. <sup>2</sup>For by it our elders were well reported of. <sup>3</sup>Through faith we vnderstand that the world was ordeined by the worde of God, so that the things which we see, are not made of things which did appeare. <sup>4</sup>By faith Abel offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by the which he obtained witnes that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh. <sup>5</sup>By faith was Enoch translated, that he should not see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God. <sup>6</sup>But without faith it is vnpossible to please him: for he that commeth to God, must beleue that God is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seeke him. <sup>7</sup>By faith Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, mooued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the sauing of his housholde, through the which Arke hee condemned the world, and was made heire of the righteousnes, which is by faith. <sup>8</sup>By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which hee should afterward receiue for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whither he went. <sup>9</sup>By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange countrey, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Iacob heires with him of the same promise. <sup>10</sup>For he looked for a citie hauing a foundation, whose builder and maker is God. <sup>11</sup>Through faith Sara also receiued strength to conceiue seede, and was deliuered of a childe when she was past age, because she iudged him faithfull which had promised. <sup>12</sup>And therefore sprang there of one, euen of one which was dead, so many as the starres of the skie in multitude, and as the land of the sea shore which is innumerable. <sup>13</sup>All these died in faith, and receiued not the promises, but sawe them a

farre off, and beleued them, and receiued them thankfully, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. <sup>14</sup>For they that say such things, declare plainly, that they seeke a countrey. <sup>15</sup>And if they had bene mindfull of that countrey, from whence they came out, they had leasure to haue returned. <sup>16</sup>But nowe they desire a better, that is an heauenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a citie. <sup>17</sup>By faith Abraham offered vp Isaac, when he was tryed, and he that had receiued the promises, offered his onely begotten sonne. <sup>18</sup>(To whom it was said, In Isaac shall thy seede be called.) <sup>19</sup>For he considered that God was able to raise him vp euen from the dead: from whence he receiued him also after a sort. <sup>20</sup>By faith Isaac blessed Iacob and Esau, concerning things to come. <sup>21</sup>By faith Iacob when he was a dying, blessed both the sonnes of Ioseph, and leaning on the ende of his staffe, worshipped God. <sup>22</sup>By faith Ioseph when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel, and gaue commandement of his bones. <sup>23</sup>By faith Moses when he was borne, was hid three moneths of his parents, because they sawe he was a proper childe, neither feared they the kings commandement. <sup>24</sup>By faith Moses when he was come to age, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaohs daughter, <sup>25</sup>And chose rather to suffer aduersitie with the people of God, then to enioy the pleasures of sinnes for a season, <sup>26</sup>Esteeming the rebuke of Christ greater riches then the treasures of Egypt: for he had respect vnto the recompence of the reward. <sup>27</sup>By faith he forsooke Egypt, and feared not the fiercenes of the king: for he endured, as he that sawe him which is inuisible. <sup>28</sup>Through faith he ordeined the Passeouer and the effusion of blood, least he that destroyed the first borne, should touche them. <sup>29</sup>By faith they passed through the red sea as by drie land, which when the Egyptians had assayed to doe, they were swallowed vp. <sup>30</sup>By faith the walles of Iericho fell downe after they were copassed about seue dayes. <sup>31</sup>By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them which obeyed not, when she had receiued the spies peaceably. <sup>32</sup>And what shall I more say? for the time would be too short for me to tell of Gedeon, of Barac, and of Sampson, and of Iephte, also of Daud, and Samuel, and of the Prophets: <sup>33</sup>Which through faith subdued kingdomes, wrought righteousness, obtained the promises, stopped the mouthes of lions, <sup>34</sup>Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sworde, of weake were made strong, waxed valiant in battell, turned to flight the armies of the aliants. <sup>35</sup>The women receiued their dead raised to life: other also were racked, and woulde not be deliuered, that they might receiue a better resurrection. <sup>36</sup>And others haue bene tryed by mockings and scourgings, yea, moreouer by bondes and prisonment. <sup>37</sup>They were stoned, they were hewen asunder, they were tempted, they were slaine with the sworde, they wandred vp and downe in sheepes skinnes, and in goates skinnes, being destitute, afflicted, and tormented: <sup>38</sup>Whom the world was not worthie of: they wandered in wildernesses and mountaines, and dennes, and caues of the earth. <sup>39</sup>And these all through faith obtained good report, and receiued not the promise, <sup>40</sup>God prouiding a better thing for vs, that they without vs should not be made perfite.

12Wherefore, let vs also, seeing that we are compassed with so great a cloude of witnesses, cast away euery thing that presseth downe, and the sinne that hangeth so fast on: let vs runne with patience the race that is set before vs, <sup>2</sup>Looking vnto Iesus the authour and finisher of our faith, who for the ioy that was set before him, endured the crosse, and despised the shame, and is set at the right hand of the throne of God. <sup>3</sup>Consider therefore him that endured such speaking against of sinners, lest ye should be wearied and faint in your mindes. <sup>4</sup>Ye haue not yet resisted vnto blood, striuing against sinne. <sup>5</sup>And ye haue forgotten the consolation, which speaketh vnto you as vnto children, My sonne, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him. <sup>6</sup>For whom the Lord loueth, he chasteneth: and he scourgeth euery sonne that he receiueh: <sup>7</sup>If ye endure chastening, God offereth him selfe vnto you as vnto sonnes: for what sonne is it whom the father chasteneth not? <sup>8</sup>If therefore ye be without correction, whereof al are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sonnes. <sup>9</sup>Moreouer we haue had the fathers of our bodies which corrected vs, and we gaue them reuerence: should we not much rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirites, that we might liue? <sup>10</sup>For they verely for a few dayes chastened vs after their owne pleasure: but he chasteneth vs for our profite, that we might be partakers of his holinesse. <sup>11</sup>Now no chastising for the present seemeth to be ioyous, but, grievous: but afterwarde, it bringeth the quiet fruite of righteousness, vnto them which are thereby exercised. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore lift vp your hands which hang downe, and your weake knees, <sup>13</sup>And make straight steppes vnto your feete, lest that which is halting, be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed. <sup>14</sup>Followe peace with all men, and holinesse, without the which no man shall see ye Lord. <sup>15</sup>Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no roote of bitternes spring vp and trouble you, lest thereby many be defiled. <sup>16</sup>Let there be no fornicator, or prophane person as Esau, which for one portion of meate solde his birthright. <sup>17</sup>For ye knowe howe that afterwarde also when he woulde haue inherited the blessing, he was reiected: for he founde no place to repentance, though he sought that blessing with teares. <sup>18</sup>For ye are not come vnto the mount that might be touched, nor vnto burning fire, nor to blacknes and darkenes, and tempest, <sup>19</sup>Neither vnto the sounde of a trumpet, and the voyce of wordes, which they that heard it, excused themselues, that the word should not be spoken to them any more, <sup>20</sup>(For they were not able to abide that which was commanded, yea, though a beast touche the mountaine, it shalbe stoned, or thrust through with a dart: <sup>21</sup>And so terrible was the sight which appeared, that Moses said, I feare and quake.) <sup>22</sup>But ye are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the citie of the liuing God, the celestiall Hierusalem, and to ye company of innumerable Angels, <sup>23</sup>And to the assemblie and congregation of the first borne, which are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spirits of iust and perfite men, <sup>24</sup>And to Iesus the Mediatour of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things then that of Abel. <sup>25</sup>See that ye despise not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth: much more shall we not escape, if we turne away from him, that speaketh from heauen. <sup>26</sup>Whose voyce then shooke the earth and nowe hath declared, saying, Yet once more will I shake, not the earth onely, but also heauen. <sup>27</sup>And this worde, Yet once more, signifieth the remouing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remaine. <sup>28</sup>Wherefore seeing we receiue a kingdome, which cannot be shaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may so serue God, that we may please him with reuerence and feare. <sup>29</sup>For euen our God is a consuming fire.

13Let brotherly loue continue. <sup>2</sup>Be not forgetfull to intertaine strangers: for thereby some haue receiued Angels into their houses vnwares. <sup>3</sup>Remember them that are in bondes, as though ye were bounde with them: and them that are in affliction, as if ye were also afflicted in the body. <sup>4</sup>Mariage is honorable among all, and the bed vndefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will iudge. <sup>5</sup>Let your conuersation be without couetousnesse, and be content with those things that ye haue, for he hath said, <sup>6</sup>I will not faile thee, neither forsake thee: <sup>7</sup>So that we may boldly say, The Lord is mine helper, neither will I feare what man can doe vnto me. <sup>8</sup>Remember them which haue the ouersight of you, which haue declared vnto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering what hath bene the ende of their conuersation. Iesus Christ yesterday, and to day, the same also is for euer. <sup>9</sup>Be not caried about with diuers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be stablished with grace, and not with meates, which haue not profited them that haue bene occupied therein. <sup>10</sup>We haue an altar, whereof they haue no authoritie to eate, which serue in the tabernacle. <sup>11</sup>For the bodies of those beastes whose blood is brought into the Holy place by the high Priest for sinne, are burnt without the campe. <sup>12</sup>Therefore euen Iesus, that he might sanctifie the people with his owne blood, suffered without the gate. <sup>13</sup>Let vs goe forth to him therefore out of the campe, bearing his reproch. <sup>14</sup>For here haue we no continuing citie: but we seeke one to come. <sup>15</sup>Let vs therefore by him offer the sacrifice of prayse alwaies to God, that is, the fruite of the lippes, which confesse his Name. <sup>16</sup>To doe good, and to distribute forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased. <sup>17</sup>Obey them that haue the ouersight of you, and submit your selues: for they watche for your soules, as they that must giue accountes, that they may doe it with ioy, and not with grieffe: for that is vnprofitable for you. <sup>18</sup>Pray for vs: for we are assured that we haue a good conscience in all things, desiring to liue honestly. <sup>19</sup>And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that yee so doe, that I may be restored to you more quickly. <sup>20</sup>The God of peace that brought againe from the dead our Lord Iesus, the great shepheard of the sheepe, through the blood of the euerlasting Couenant, <sup>21</sup>Make you perfect in all good workes, to doe his will, working in you that which is pleasant in his sight through Iesus Christ, to whom be praise for euer and euer, Amen. <sup>22</sup>I beseeche you also, brethren, suffer the wordes of exhortation: for I haue written vnto you in fewe wordes. <sup>23</sup>Knowe that our brother Timotheus is deliuered, with whome (if hee come shortly) I will see you. <sup>24</sup>Salute all them that haue the ouersight of you, and all the Saintes. They of Italie salute you. <sup>25</sup>Grace be with you all, Amen.

James

1James a seruant of God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ, to the twelue Tribes, which are scattered abroad, salutation. 2My brethren, count it exceeding ioy, when ye fall into diuers tentations, 3Knowing that ye trying of your faith bringeth forth patience, 4And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect and entier, lacking nothing. 5If any of you lacke wisdom, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reprocheth no man, and it shalbe giuen him. 6But let him aske in faith, and wauer not: for hee that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, tost of the winde, and caried away. 7Neither let that man thinke that hee shall receiue any thing of the Lord. 8A double minded man is vnstable in all his waies. 9Let the brother of lowe degree reioyce in that he is exalted: 10Againe hee that is rich, in that hee is made lowe: for as the flower of the grasse, shall he vanish away. 11For as when the sunne riseth with heate, then the grasse withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in all his waies. 12Blessed is ye man, that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, hee shall receiue the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him. 13Let no man say when hee is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God can not bee tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man. 14But euery man is tempted, when hee is drawn away by his owne concupiscence, and is entised. 15Then when lust hath conceiued, it bringeth forth sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death. 16Erre not, my deare brethren. 17Euery good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and commeth downe from the Father of lights, with whome is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. 18Of his owne will begate hee vs with the worde of trueth, that we shoulde be as the first fruites of his creatures. 19Wherefore my deare brethren, let euery man be swift to heare, slowe to speake, and slowe to wrath. 20For the wrath of man doeth not accomplish the righteousnesse of God. 21Wherefore lay apart all filthinesse, and superfluitie of maliciousnesse, and receiue with meekenes the word that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules. 22And be ye doers of the word, and not hearers onely, deceiuing your owne selues. 23For if any heare the worde, and doe it not, he is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his naturall face in a glasse. 24For when he hath considered himselfe, hee goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what maner of one he was. 25But who so looketh in the perfect Lawe of libertie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the worke, shalbe blessed in his deede. 26If any man among you seeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiuethe his owne heart, this mans religion is vaine. 27Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to visite the fatherlesse, and widdowes in their aduersitie, and to keepe himselfe vnspotted of the world.

2My brethren, haue not the faith of our glorious Lord Iesus Christ in respect of persons. 2For if there come into your company a man with a golde ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vile raiment, 3And ye haue a respect to him that weareth the gaie clothing; and say vnto him, Sit thou here in a goodly place, and say vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or sit here vnder my footestool, 4Are yee not partiall in your selues, and are become iudges of euill thoughts? 5Hearken my beloued brethren, hath not God chosen the poore of this worlde, that they should be rich in faith, and heires of the kingdome which he promised to them that loue him? 6But ye haue despised the poore. Doe not the riche oppresse you by tyrannie, and doe not they drawe you before the iudgement seates? 7Doe nor they blaspheme the worthie Name after which yee be named? 8But if yee fulfill the royall Lawe according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe, yee doe well. 9But if yee regarde the persons, yee commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Lawe, as transgressours. 10For whosoever shall keepe the whole Lawe, and yet faileth in one poynt, hee is guiltie of all. 11For he that saide, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, saide also, Thou shalt not kill. Nowe though thou doest none adulterie, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressour of the Lawe. 12So speake ye, and so doe, as they that shall be iudged by the Lawe of libertie. 13For there shalbe condemnation merciles to him that sheweth not mercie, and mercie reioyceth against condemnation. 14What auaieth it, my brethren, though a man saith he hath faith, when he hath no workes? can that faith saue him? 15For if a brother or a sister bee naked and destitute of daily foode, <sup>16</sup>And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace: warme your selues, and fil your bellies, notwithstanding ye giue them not those things which are needefull to the body, what helpeth it? <sup>17</sup>Euen so the faith, if it haue no woorkes, is dead in it selfe. <sup>18</sup>But some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue woorkes: shewe me thy faith out of thy woorkes, and I will shewe thee my faith by my woorkes. <sup>19</sup>Thou beleueest that there is one God: thou doest well: the deuils also beleue it, and tremble. <sup>20</sup>But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without woorkes, is dead? <sup>21</sup>Was not Abraham our father iustified through woorkes, when he offred Isaac his sonne vpon the altar? <sup>22</sup>Seest thou not that the faith wrought with his woorkes? and through the woorkes was the faith made perfect. <sup>23</sup>And the Scripture was fulfilled which sayeth, Abraham beleued God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse: and hee was called the friende of God. <sup>24</sup>Ye see then howe that of woorkes a man is iustified, and not of faith onely. <sup>25</sup>Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot iustified through woorkes, when she had receiued ye messengers, and sent them out another way? <sup>26</sup>For as the body without ye spirit is dead, euen so the faith without woorkes is dead.

3My brethren, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receiue the greater condemnation. <sup>2</sup>For in many things we sinne all. If any man sinne not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body. <sup>3</sup>Beholde, we put bittes into the horses mouthes, that they should obey vs, and we turne about all their bodie. <sup>4</sup>Behold also the shippes, which though they be so great, and are driuen of fierce windes, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whither soeuer the gouernour listeth. <sup>5</sup>Euen so the tongue is a litle member, and boasteth of great things: beholde, howe great a thing a litle fire kindleth. <sup>6</sup>And the tongue is fire, yea, a worlde of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell. <sup>7</sup>For the whole nature of beasts, and of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man. <sup>8</sup>But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruly euill, full of deadly poyson. <sup>9</sup>Therewith blesse we God euen the Father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God. <sup>10</sup>Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be. <sup>11</sup>Doeth a fountaine send forth at one place sweete water and bitter? <sup>12</sup>Can ye figge tree, my brethren, bring forth oliues, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweete. <sup>13</sup>Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him shew by good conuersation his woorkes in meekenesse of wisdom. <sup>14</sup>But if ye haue bitter enuying and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be liars against the trueth. <sup>15</sup>This wisdom descendeth not from aboue, but is earthly, sensuall, and deuilish. <sup>16</sup>For where enuying and strife is, there is sedition, and all maner of euill woorkes. <sup>17</sup>But the wisdom that is from aboue, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to be intreated, full of mercie and good fruites, without iudging, and without hipocrisie. <sup>18</sup>And the fruite of righteousnesse is sown in peace, of them that make peace.

4From whence are warres and contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleasures, that fight in your members? <sup>2</sup>Ye lust, and haue not: ye enuie, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtaine: ye fight and warre, and get nothing, because ye aske not. <sup>3</sup>Ye aske, and receiue not, because ye aske amisse, that ye might lay the same out on your pleasures. <sup>4</sup>Ye adulterers and adulteresses, knowe ye not that the amitie of the world is the enimitie of God? Whosoeuer therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himselfe the enemy of God. <sup>5</sup>Doe ye thinke that the Scripture sayeth in vaine, The spirit that dwelleth in vs, lusteth after enuie? <sup>6</sup>But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore sayth, God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble. <sup>7</sup>Submit your selues to God: resist the deuill, and he will flee from you. <sup>8</sup>Drawe neere to God, and he will drawe neere to you. Clense your handes, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded. <sup>9</sup>Suffer afflictions, and sorrowe ye, and weepe: let your laughter be turned into mourning, and your ioy into heauinesse. <sup>10</sup>Cast downe your selues before the Lord, and he will lift you vp. <sup>11</sup>Speake not euill one of another, brethren. He that speaketh euill of his brother, or he that condemneth his brother, speaketh euill of ye Law, and condemneth the Lawe: and if thou condemnest the Lawe, thou art not an obseruer of the Lawe, but a iudge. <sup>12</sup>There is one Lawgiuer, which is able to saue, and to destroy. Who art thou that iudget another man? <sup>13</sup>Goe to now ye that say, To day or to morowe we will goe into such a citie, and continue there a yeere, and bye and sell, and get gaine, <sup>14</sup>(And yet ye cannot tell what shalbe to morowe. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a litle time, and afterward vanisheth away) <sup>15</sup>For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, and, if we liue, we will doe this or that. <sup>16</sup>But now ye reioyce in your boastings: all such reioycing is euill. <sup>17</sup>Therefore, to him that knoweth how to doe well, and doeth it not, to him it is sinne.

5Goe to now, ye rich men: weepe, and howle for your miseries that shall come vpon you. <sup>2</sup>Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten. <sup>3</sup>Your gold and siluer is cankred, and the rust of them shalbe a witness against you, and shall eate your flesh, as it were fire. Ye haue heaped vp treasure for the last dayes. <sup>4</sup>Behold, the hire of ye labourers, which haue reaped your fieldes (which is of you kept backe by fraude) cryeth, and the cryes of them which haue reaped, are entred into the eares of the Lord of hostes. <sup>5</sup>Ye haue liued in pleasure on the earth, and in wantonnes. Ye haue nourished your heartes, as in a day of slaughter. <sup>6</sup>Ye haue condemned and haue killed the iust, and he hath not resisted you. <sup>7</sup>Be patient therefore, brethren, vnto the comming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman wayteth for the precious fruite of the earth, and hath long patience for it, vntill he receiue the former, and the latter rayne. <sup>8</sup>Be ye also patient therefore and settle your hearts: for ye comming of the Lord draweth neere. <sup>9</sup>Grudge not one against another, brethren, least ye be condemned: behold, the iudge standeth before the doore. <sup>10</sup>Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffering aduersitie, and of long patience, which haue spoken in the Name of the Lord. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, we count them blessed which endure. Ye haue heard of the patience of Iob, and haue knowen what ende the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull. <sup>12</sup>But before all thinges, my brethren, sweare not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other othe: but let your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, lest ye fall into condemnation. <sup>13</sup>Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merie? Let him sing. <sup>14</sup>Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoynt him with oyle in the Name of the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And the prayer of faith shall saue the sicke, and the Lord shall raise him vp: and if he haue committed sinnes, they shalbe forgiuen him. <sup>16</sup>Acknowledge your faultes one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: for the prayer of a righteous man auailleth much, if it be feruent. <sup>17</sup>Helias was a man subiect to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rayne, and it rayned not on the earth for three yeeres and sixe moneths. <sup>18</sup>And he prayed againe, and the heauen gaue rayne, and the earth brought forth her fruite. <sup>19</sup>Brethren, if any of you hath erred from the trueth, and some man hath conuerted him, <sup>20</sup>Let him know that he which hath conuerted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall saue a soule from death, and shall hide a multitude of sinnes.

I Peter

1PETER an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Capadocia, Asia and Bithynia, 2Elect according to the foreknowledge of God ye Father vnto sanctification of ye Spirit, through obedience and sprinkeling of the blood of Iesus Christ: Grace and peace bee multiplied vnto you. 3Blessed bee God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which according to his aboundant mercie hath begotten vs againe vnto a liuely hope by the resurrection of Iesus Christ from the dead, 4To an inheritance immortall and vndefiled, and that withereth not, reserued in heauen for vs, 5Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto saluation, which is prepared to be shewed in the last time. 6Wherein yee reioyce, though nowe for a season (if neede require) yee are in heauinesse, through manifolde tentations, 7That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might bee founde vnto your praise, and honour and glorie at the appearing of Iesus Christ: 8Whome yee haue not seene, and yet loue him, in whome nowe, though yee see him not, yet doe you beleue, and reioyce with ioy vnspeakeable and glorious, 9Receiuing the ende of your faith, euen the saluation of your soules. 10Of the which saluation ye Prophets haue inquired and searched, which prophecied of the grace that should come vnto you, 11Searching when or what time the Spirite which testified before of Christ which was in them, shoulde declare the sufferings that should come vnto Christ, and the glorie that shoulde follow. 12Vnto whome it was reueiled, that not vnto themselues, but vnto vs they shoulde minister the things, which are nowe shewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Gospell by the holy Ghost sent downe from heauen, the which things the Angels desire to beholde. 13Wherefore, girde vp the Ioyes of your minde: bee sober, and trust perfectly on that grace that is brought vnto you, in the reuelation of Iesus Christ, 14As obedient children, not fashioning your selues vnto the former lustes of your ignorance: 15But as hee which hath called you, is holie, so be yee holie in all maner of conuersation; 16Because it is written, Be yee holie, for I am holie. 17And if ye call him Father, which without respect of person iudgeth according to euery mans woorke, passe the time of your dwelling here in feare, 18Knowing that yee were not redeemed with corruptible things, as siluer and golde, from your vaine conuersation, receiued by the traditions of the fathers, 19But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lambe vndefiled, and without spot. 20Which was ordeined before the foundation of the world, but was declared in the last times for your sakes, 21Which by his meanes doe beleue in God that raised him from the dead, and gaue him glorie, that your faith and hope might bee in God, 22Hauing purified your soules in obeying the trueth through the spirite, to loue brotherly without faining, loue one another with a pure heart feruently, 23Being borne anewe, not of mortall seede, but of immortall, by the woorde of God, who liueth and endureth for euer. 24For all flesh is as grasse, and all the glorie of man is as the flower of grasse. The grasse withereth, and the flower falleth away. 25But the worde of the Lord endureth for euer: and this is the woorde which is preached among you.

2Wherefore, laying aside all maliciousnes, and all guile, and dissimulation, and enuie, and all euill speaking, 2As newe borne babes desire that sincere milke of the woorde, that yee may growe thereby, 3Because yee haue tasted that the Lord is bountifull. 4To whome comming as vnto a liuing stone disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious, 5Yee also as liuely stones, bee made a spirituall house, an holy Priesthoode to offer vp spirituall sacrifices acceptable to God by Iesus Christ. 6Wherefore also it is conteyned in the Scripture, Beholde, I put in Sion a chiefe corner stone, elect and precious: and hee that beleueeth therein, shall not be ashamed. 7Vnto you therefore which beleue, it is precious: but vnto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, 8And a stone to stumble at, and a rocke of offence, euen to them which stumble at the woorde, being disobedient, vnto the which thing they were euen ordeined. 9But yee are a chosen generation, a royall Priesthoode, an holy nation, a people set at libertie, that yee shoulde shewe forth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darkenesse into his marueilous light, 10Which in time past were not a people, yet are nowe the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but nowe haue obtained mercie. 11Dearely beloued, I beseeche you, as strangers and pilgrims, abstaine from fleshly lusts, which fight against the soule, <sup>12</sup>And haue your conuersation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake euill of you as of euill doers, may by your good woorkes which they shall see, glorifie God in the day of visitation. <sup>13</sup>Therefore submit your selues vnto all maner ordinance of man for the Lordes sake, whether it be vnto the King, as vnto the superiour, <sup>14</sup>Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, for the punishment of euill doers, and for the praise of them that doe well. <sup>15</sup>For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men, <sup>16</sup>As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloke of maliciousnesse, but as the seruauntes of God. <sup>17</sup>Honour all men: loue brotherly fellowship: feare God: honour the King. <sup>18</sup>Seruauntes, be subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward. <sup>19</sup>For this is thanke worthie, if a man for conscience toward God endure grieffe, suffering wrongfully. <sup>20</sup>For what praise is it, if when ye be buffeted for your faultes, yee take it patiently? but and if when ye doe well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently, this is acceptable to God. <sup>21</sup>For hereunto ye are called: for Christ also suffred for you, leauing you an ensample that ye should follow his steppes. <sup>22</sup>Who did no sinne, neither was there guile found in his mouth. <sup>23</sup>Who when hee was reuiled, reuiled not againe: when hee suffered, hee threatned not, but comitted it to him that iudgeth righteously. <sup>24</sup>Who his owne selfe bare our sinnes in his body on the tree, that we being dead to sinne, should liue in righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed. <sup>25</sup>For ye were as sheepe going astray: but are now returned vnto the shepheard and Bishop of your soules.

3Likewise let the wiues bee subiect to their husbands, that euen they which obey not the worde, may without the worde be wonne by the conuersation of the wiues, <sup>2</sup>While they beholde your pure conuersation, which is with feare. <sup>3</sup>Whose apparelling, let it not be that outwarde, with broyded heare, and golde put about, or in putting on of apparell: <sup>4</sup>But let it bee the hidde man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meeke and quiet spirite, which is before God a thing much set by. <sup>5</sup>For euen after this maner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God, tire them selues, and were subiect to their husbands. <sup>6</sup>As Sara obeyed Abraham, and called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, whiles yee doe well, not being afraide of any terrour. <sup>7</sup>Likewise ye husbands, dwel with them as men of knowledge, giuing honour vnto the woman, as vnto the weaker vessell, euen as they which are heires together of the grace of life, that your prayers be not interrupted. <sup>8</sup>Finally, be ye all of one minde: one suffer with another: loue as brethren: bee pitifull: bee courteous, <sup>9</sup>Not rendring euil for euill, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrarywise blesse, knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing. <sup>10</sup>For if any man long after life, and to see good dayes, let him refraine his tongue from euill, and his lippes that they speake no guile. <sup>11</sup>Let him eschew euil, and do good: let him seeke peace, and follow after it. <sup>12</sup>For the eyes of the Lord are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers: and the face of the Lord is against them that do euil. <sup>13</sup>And who is it that will harme you, if ye follow that which is good? <sup>14</sup>Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousness sake. Yea, feare not their feare, neither be troubled. <sup>15</sup>But sanctifie the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready alwayes to giue an answer to euery man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekenesse and reuerence, <sup>16</sup>Hauing a good conscience, that whe they speake euill of you as of euill doers, they may be ashamed, which slander your good conuersation in Christ. <sup>17</sup>For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for well doing, then for euil doing. <sup>18</sup>For Christ also hath once suffered for sinnes, the iust for the vniust, that he might bring vs to God, and was put to death concerning the flesh, but was quickened by the spirit. <sup>19</sup>By the which hee also went, and preached vnto the spirits that are in prison. <sup>20</sup>Which were in time passed disobedient, when once the long suffering of God abode in the dayes of Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein fewe, that is, eight soules were sauued in the water. <sup>21</sup>Whereof the baptisme that nowe is, answering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a confident demaunding which a good conscience maketh to God) saueth vs also by the resurrection of Iesus Christ, <sup>22</sup>Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heauen, to whom the Angels, and Powers, and might are subiect.

4Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for vs in the flesh, arme your selues likewise with the same minde, which is, that he which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sinne, <sup>2</sup>That he hence forward should liue (as much time as remaineth in the flesh) not after the lusts of men, but after the will of God. <sup>3</sup>For it is sufficient for vs that we haue spet the time past of ye life, after the lust of the Gentiles, walking in wantonnes, lustes, drunkennes, in gluttonie, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries. <sup>4</sup>Wherein it seemeth to them strange, that yee runne not with them vnto the same excesse of riot: therefore speake they euill of you, <sup>5</sup>Which shall giue accounts to him, that is readie to iudge quicke and dead. <sup>6</sup>For vnto this purpose was the Gospell preached also vnto the dead, that they might bee condemned, according to men in the flesh, but might liue according to God in the spirit. <sup>7</sup>Now the ende of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore sober, and watching in prayer. <sup>8</sup>But aboue all thinges haue feruent loue among you: for loue shall couer the multitude of sinnes. <sup>9</sup>Be ye harberous one to another, without grudging. <sup>10</sup>Let euery man as hee hath receiued the gift, minister the same one to another, as good disposers of the manifolde grace of God. <sup>11</sup>If any man speake, let him speake as the wordes of God. If any man minister, let him do it as of the abilitie which God ministreth, that God in al things may be glorified through Iesus Christ, to whome is prayse and dominion for euer, and euer, Amen. <sup>12</sup>Dearely beloued, thinke it not strange concerning the firie triall, which is among you to proue you, as though some strange thing were come vnto you: <sup>13</sup>But reioyce, in asmuch as ye are partakers of Christs suffrings, that when his glory shall appeare, ye may be glad and reioyce. <sup>14</sup>If yee be railed vpon for the Name of Christ, blessed are ye: for the spirit of glory, and of God resteth vpon you: which on their part is euill spoken of: but on your part is glorified. <sup>15</sup>But let none of you suffer as a murtherer, or as a thiefe, or an euil doer, or as a busibodie in other mens matters. <sup>16</sup>But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not bee ashamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe. <sup>17</sup>For the time is come, that iudgement must beginne at the house of God. If it first beginne at vs, what shall the ende be of them which obey not the Gospel of God? <sup>18</sup>And if the righteous scarcely bee saued, where shall the vngodly and the sinner appeare? <sup>19</sup>Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their soules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull Creator.

<sup>5</sup>The elders which are among you, I beseech which am also an elder, and a witesse of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shalbe reueiled, <sup>2</sup>Feede the flocke of God, which dependeth vpon you, caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a ready minde: <sup>3</sup>Not as though ye were lords ouer Gods heritage, but that yee may bee ensamples to the flocke. <sup>4</sup>And when that chiefe shepheard shall appeare, ye shall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glory. <sup>5</sup>Likewise ye yonger, submit your selues vnto the elders, and submit your selues euery man, one to another: decke your selues inwardly in lowliness of minde: for God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble. <sup>6</sup>Humble your selues therefore vnder the mightie hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time. <sup>7</sup>Cast all your care on him: for he careth for you. <sup>8</sup>Be sober, and watch: for your aduersarie the deuil as a roaring lyon walketh about, seeking whom he may deuoure: <sup>9</sup>Whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren which are in the world. <sup>10</sup>And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternall glory by Christ Iesus, after that ye haue suffered a litle, make you perfite, confirme, strengthen and stablish you. <sup>11</sup>To him be glory and dominion for euer and euer, Amen. <sup>12</sup>By Syluanus a faithfull brother vnto you, as I suppose, haue I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand. <sup>13</sup>The Church that is at Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Marcus my sonne. <sup>14</sup>Greete yee one another with the kisse of loue. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Iesus, Amen.

II Peter

1 Simon Peter a seruant and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which haue obtained like precious faith with vs by the righteousnesse of our God and Sauour Iesus Christ: 2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you, through the acknowledging of God, and of Iesus our Lord, 3 According as his diuine power hath giuen vnto vs all things that pertaine vnto life and godlinesse, through the acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue. 4 Whereby most great and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by them ye should be partakers of the diuine nature, in that ye flee the corruption, which is in the worlde through lust. 5 Therefore giue euen all diligence thereunto: ioyne moreouer vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge: 6 And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlines: 7 And with godlines, brotherly kindnes: and with brotherly kindnes, loue. 8 For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shalbe idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Iesus Christ: 9 For he that hath not these things, is blinde, and can not see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his olde sinnes. 10 Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye doe these things, ye shall neuer fall. 11 For by this meanes an entring shalbe ministred vnto you abundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lord and Sauour Iesus Christ. 12 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that ye haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present trueth. 13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I knowe that the time is at hand that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath shewed me. 15 I will endeavour therefore alwayes, that ye also may be able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing. 16 For we followed not deceivable fables when we opened vnto you the power, and comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his maiestie: 17 For he receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from that excellent glory, This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased. 18 And this voyce we heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the Holy mount. 19 We haue also a most sure worde of the Prophets, to the which ye doe well that yee take heede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntill the day dawne, and the day starre arise in your hearts. 20 So that yee first knowe this, that no prophecie of the Scripture is of any priuate interpretation. 21 For the prophecie came not in olde time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moued by the holy Ghost.

2 Bvt there were false prophets also among the people, euen as there shalbe false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lord, that hath bought them, and bring vpon themselues swift damnation. 2 And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of trueth shalbe euil spoken of, 3 And through couetousnes shall they with fained words make marchandise of you, whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbreth not. 4 For if God spared not the Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into hell, and deliuered them into chaines of darkenes, to be kept vnto damnation: 5 Neither hath spared the olde worlde, but saued Noe the eight person a preacher of righteousnesse, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly, 6 And turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrhe into ashes, condemned them and ouerthrewe them, and made them an ensample vnto them that after should liue vngodly, 7 And deliuered iust Loth vexed with the vn-cleane conuersation of the wicked: 8 (For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soule from day to day with their vnlawfull deedes.) 9 The Lord knoweth to deliuer the godly out of tentation, and to reserue the vniust vnto the day of iudgement vnder punishment. 10 And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of vncleannesse, and despise gouernement, which are bolde, and stand in their owne conceite, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in dignitie. 11 Where as the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord. 12 But these, as naturall brute beasts, led with sensualitie and made to be taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their owne corruption, 13 And shall receiue the wages of vnrighteousnes, as they which count it pleasure dayly to liue deliciously. Spottes they are and blottes, deliting them selues in their deceiungs, in feasting with you, <sup>14</sup>Hauing eyes full of adulterie, and that can not cease to sinne, beguiling vnstable soules: they haue heartes exercised with couetousnesse, they are the children of curse: <sup>15</sup>Which forsaking the right way, haue gone astray, following the way of Balaam, the sonne of Bosor, which loued the wages of vnrighteousnes. <sup>16</sup>But he was rebuked for his iniquitie: for the dumme beast speaking with mans voyce, forbade the foolishnesse of the Prophet. <sup>17</sup>These are welles without water, and cloudes caried about with a tempest, to whome the blacke darkenes is reserued for euer. <sup>18</sup>For in speaking swelling wordes of vanitie, they beguile with wantonnesse through the lusts of the flesh them that were cleane escaped from them which are wrapped in error, <sup>19</sup>Promising vnto them libertie, and are themselues the seruants of corruption: for of whomsoeuer a man is ouercome, euen vnto the same is he in bondage. <sup>20</sup>For if they, after they haue escaped from the filthinesse of the world, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Sauour Iesus Christ, are yet tangled againe therein, and ouercome, the latter ende is worse with them then the beginning. <sup>21</sup>For it had bene better for them, not to haue acknowledged the way of righteousnes, then after they haue acknowledged it, to turne from the holy commandement giuen vnto them. <sup>22</sup>But it is come vnto them, according to the true Prouerbe, The dogge is returned to his owne vomit: and, The sowe that was washed, to the wallowing in the myre.

3This seconde Epistle I nowe write vnto you, beloued, wherewith I stirre vp, and warne your pure mindes, <sup>2</sup>To call to remembrance the wordes, which were tolde before of the holy Prophetes, and also the commandement of vs the Apostles of the Lord and Sauour. <sup>3</sup>This first vnderstande, that there shall come in the last dayes, mockers, which will walke after their lustes, <sup>4</sup>And say, Where is the promise of his comming? for since the fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation. <sup>5</sup>For this they willingly know not, that the heauens were of olde, and the earth that was of the water and by the water, by the word of God. <sup>6</sup>Wherefore the worlde that then was, perished, ouerflowed with the water. <sup>7</sup>But the heauens and earth, which are nowe, are kept by the same word in store, and reserued vnto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of vngodly men. <sup>8</sup>Dearely beloued, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, as a thousande yeeres, and a thousande yeeres as one day. <sup>9</sup>The Lord of that promise is not slacke (as some men count slackenesse) but is pacient toward vs, and would haue no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance. <sup>10</sup>But the day of the Lord will come as a thiefe in the night, in the which the heauens shall passe away with a noyse, and the elements shall melt with heate, and the earth with the workes that are therein, shalbe burnt vp. <sup>11</sup>Seeing therefore that all these things must be dissolued, what maner persons ought ye to be in holy conuersation and godlinesse, <sup>12</sup>Looking for, and hasting vnto the coming of that day of God, by the which the heauens being on fire, shall be dissolued, and the elements shall melt with heate? <sup>13</sup>But wee looke for newe heauens, and a newe earth, according to his promise, wherein dwelleth righteousness. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore, beloued, seeing that yee looke for such thinges, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot and blamelesse. <sup>15</sup>And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is saluation, euen as our beloued brother Paul according to the wisdome giuen vnto him wrote to you, <sup>16</sup>As one, that in all his Epistles speaketh of these thinges: among the which some thinges are hard to be vnderstand, which they that are vnlearned and vnstable, wrest, as they do also other Scriptures vnto their owne destruction. <sup>17</sup>Ye therefore beloued, seeing ye know these thinges before, beware, lest ye be also plucked away with the error of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnesse. <sup>18</sup>But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Sauour Iesus Christ: to him be glory both now and for euermore. Amen.

I John

1That which was from the beginning, which wee haue heard, which wee haue seene with these our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and these handes of ours haue handled of that Word of life, 2(For that life was made manifest, and wee haue seene it, and beare witness, and shewe vnto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was made manifest vnto vs) 3That, I say, which wee haue seene and heard, declare wee vnto you, that yee may also haue fellowship with vs, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father, and with his Sonne Iesvs Christ. 4And these thinges write we vnto you, that that your ioy may be full. 5This then is the message which wee haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkenes. 6If wee say that wee haue fellowship with him, and walke in darkenesse, we lie, and doe not truly: 7But if we walke in the light as he is in the light, we haue fellowship one with another, and the blood of Iesus Christ his Sonne clenseth vs from all sinne. 8If we say that we haue no sinne, we deceiue our selues, and trueth is not in vs. 9If we acknowledge our sinnes, he is faithfull and iust, to forgiue vs our sinnes, and to clense vs from all vnrighteousnes. 10If wee say we haue not sinned, wee make him a liar, and his word is not in vs.

2My little children, these things write I vnto you, that ye sinne not: and if any man sinne, wee haue an Aduocate with the Father, Iesus Christ, the Iust. 2And he is the reconciliation for our sinnes: and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the whole world. 3And hereby we are sure that we knowe him, if we keepe his commandements. 4Hee that saith, I knowe him, and keepeth not his commandements, is a liar, and the trueth is not in him. 5But hee that keepeth his worde, in him is the loue of God perfect in deede: hereby wee knowe that ye are in him. 6He that saith he remaineth in him, ought euen so to walke, as he hath walked. 7Brethren, I write no newe commandement vnto you: but an olde commandement, which ye haue had from the beginning: this olde commandement is that worde, which yee haue heard from the beginning. 8Againe, a new comandement I write vnto you, that which is true in him, and also in you: for the darkenes is past, and that true light now shineth. 9He that saith that hee is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkenes, vntill this time. 10Hee that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is none occasion of euil in him. 11But he that hateth his brother, is in darkenesse, and walketh in darkenesse, and knoweth not whither hee goeth, because that darkenesse hath blinded his eyes. 12Litle children, I write vnto you, because your sinnes are forgiuen you for his Names sake. 13I write vnto you, fathers, because yee haue knowen him that is from the beginning. I write vnto you, yong men, because ye haue ouercome that wicked one. I write vnto you, litle children, because ye haue knowen ye Father. 14I haue written vnto you, fathers, because ye haue knowen him, that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, yong men, because ye are strong, and the worde of God abideth in you, and ye haue ouercome that wicked one. 15Loue not this world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the loue of the Father is not in him. 16For all that is in this world (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world. 17And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth euer. 18Litle children, it is the last time, and as ye haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euen now are there many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time. 19They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, they should haue continued with vs. But this cometh to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs. 20But ye haue an ointment from that Holy one, and know all things. 21I haue not written vnto you, because ye knowe not the trueth: but because ye knowe it, and that no lie is of the trueth. 22Who is a liar, but he that denyeth that Iesus is that Christ? the same is that Antichrist that denyeth the Father and the Sonne. 23Whosoeuer denyeth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father. 24Let therefore abide in you that same which ye haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, ye also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father. 25And this is the promise that he hath promised vs, euen that eternall life. 26These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you. 27But that anointing which ye receiued of him, dwelleth in you: and ye neede not that any man teach you: but as the same Anoynting teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him. <sup>28</sup>And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shall appear, we may be bold, and not be ashamed before him at his coming. <sup>29</sup>If ye know that he is righteous, know ye that he which doeth righteously, is borne of him.

<sup>3</sup>Behold, what love the Father hath given to us, that we should be called the sons of God: for this cause this world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him. <sup>2</sup>Dear, beloved, now are we the sons of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when he shall be made manifest, we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is. <sup>3</sup>And every man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himself, even as he is pure. <sup>4</sup>Whosoever committeth sin, transgresseth also the Law: for sin is the transgression of the Law. <sup>5</sup>And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might take away our sins, and in him is no sin. <sup>6</sup>Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seen him, neither hath known him. <sup>7</sup>Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness, is righteous, as he is righteous. <sup>8</sup>He that committeth sin, is of the devil: for the devil sinneth from the beginning: for this purpose was he made manifest that Son of God, that he might loose the works of the devil. <sup>9</sup>Whosoever is borne of God, sinneth not: for his seed remaineth in him, neither can he sin, because he is borne of God. <sup>10</sup>In this are the children of God known, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness, is not of God, neither he that loveth not his brother. <sup>11</sup>For this is the message, that ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another, <sup>12</sup>Not as Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: and wherefore slew he him? because his own works were evil, and his brother's good. <sup>13</sup>Marvel not, my brethren, though this world hate you. <sup>14</sup>We know that we are translated from death unto life, because we love the brethren: he that loveth not his brother, abideth in death. <sup>15</sup>Whosoever hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye know that no manslayer hath eternal life abiding in him. <sup>16</sup>Hereby have we perceived love, that he lay down his life for us: therefore we ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren. <sup>17</sup>And whosoever hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? <sup>18</sup>My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue only, but in deed and in truth. <sup>19</sup>For thereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall before him assure our hearts. <sup>20</sup>For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things. <sup>21</sup>Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we boldness toward God. <sup>22</sup>And whatsoever we ask we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things which are pleasing in his sight. <sup>23</sup>This is

then his commandment, That we believe in the Name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another as he gave commandment. <sup>24</sup>For he that keepeth his commandments, dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in us, even by that Spirit which he hath given us.

<sup>4</sup>Dear, beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: for many false prophets are gone out into the world. <sup>2</sup>Hereby shall ye know the Spirit of God, Every spirit which confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God. <sup>3</sup>And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye have heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world. <sup>4</sup>Little children, ye are of God, and have overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, than he that is in this world. <sup>5</sup>They are of this world, therefore speak they of this world, and this world heareth them. <sup>6</sup>We are of God, he that knoweth God, heareth us: he that is not of God, heareth us not. Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error. <sup>7</sup>Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God, and every one that loveth, is borne of God, and knoweth God. <sup>8</sup>He that loveth not, knoweth not God: for God is love. <sup>9</sup>Herein was that love of God made manifest among us, because God sent that his only begotten Son into this world, that we might live through him. <sup>10</sup>Herein is that love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be a reconciliation for our sins. <sup>11</sup>Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. <sup>12</sup>No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfect in us. <sup>13</sup>Hereby know we, that we dwell in him, and he in us: because he hath given us of his Spirit. <sup>14</sup>And we have seen, and do testify, that the Father sent that Son to be our Saviour of the world. <sup>15</sup>Whosoever confesseth that Jesus is the Son of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God. <sup>16</sup>And we have known, and believed that love that God hath in us. God is love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him. <sup>17</sup>Herein is that love perfect in us, that we should have boldness in the day of judgment: for as he is, even so are we in this world. <sup>18</sup>There is no fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear: for fear hath painfulness: and he that feareth, is not perfect in love. <sup>19</sup>We love him, because he loved us first. <sup>20</sup>If any man say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: for how can he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, love God whom he hath not seen? <sup>21</sup>And this commandment have we of him, that he that loveth God, should love his brother also.

eth him also which is begotten of him. <sup>2</sup>In this we know that we loue the children of God, when we loue God, and keepe his commandements. <sup>3</sup>For this is the loue of God, that we keepe his commandements: and his commandements are not burdenous. <sup>4</sup>For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth this world: and this is that victorie that hath ouercome this world, euen our faith. <sup>5</sup>Who is it that ouercommeth this world, but he which beleueth that Iesus is that Sonne of God? <sup>6</sup>This is that Iesus Christ that came by water and blood: not by water onely, but by water and blood: and it is that Spirit, that beareth witness: for that Spirit is trueth. <sup>7</sup>For there are three, which beare recorde in heauen, the Father, the Worde, and the holy Ghost: and these three are one. <sup>8</sup>And there are three, which beare record in the earth, the spirit, and the water and the blood: and these three agree in one. <sup>9</sup>If we receiue the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God, which he testified of his Sonne. <sup>10</sup>He that beleueth in that Sonne of God, hath the witness in himselfe: he that beleueth not God, hath made him a lyar, because he beleued not ye record, that God witnessed of that his Sonne. <sup>11</sup>And this is that record, to wit, that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne. <sup>12</sup>He that hath that Sonne, hath that life: and he that hath not that Sonne of God, hath not that life. <sup>13</sup>These things haue I written vnto you, that beleue in the Name of that Sonne of God, that ye may knowe that ye haue eternall life, and that ye may beleue in the Name of that Sonne of God. <sup>14</sup>And this is that assurance, that we haue in him, that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs. <sup>15</sup>And if we know that he heareth vs, whatsoever we aske, we know that we haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him. <sup>16</sup>If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, let him aske, and he shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death. There is a sinne vnto death: I say not that thou shouldest pray for it. <sup>17</sup>All vnrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death. <sup>18</sup>We know that whosoever is borne of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not. <sup>19</sup>We knowe that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse. <sup>20</sup>But we know that that Sone of God is come, and hath giue vs a mind to know him, which is true: and we are in him that is true, that is, in that his Sone Iesus Christ: this same is that very God, and that eternal life. <sup>21</sup>Litle children, keepe your selues from idoles, Amen.

II John

1THE ELDER to the elect Lady, and her children, whom I loue in the trueth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowen the trueth, 2For the trueths sake which dwelleth in vs, and shalbe with vs for euer: 3Grace be with you, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of the Father, with trueth and loue. 4I reioyced greatly, that I founde of thy children walking in trueth, as we haue receiued a commandement of the Father. 5And nowe beseeche I thee, Lady, (not as writing a newe commandement vnto thee, but that same which we had from the beginning) that we loue one another. 6And this is that loue, that we should walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, ye should walke in it. 7For many deceiuers are entred into this worlde, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiuer and an Antichrist. 8Looke to your selues, that we lose not the things which we haue done, but that we may receiue full reward. 9Whosoeuer transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Sonne. 10If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, receiue him not to house, neither bid him, God speede: 11For he that biddeth him, God speede, is partaker of his euill deedes. 12Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I woulde not write with paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full. 13The sonnes of thine elect sister greete thee, Amen.

III John

<sup>1</sup>The Elder vnto the beloued Gaius, whom I loue in the trueth. <sup>2</sup>Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and faredst well as thy soule prospereth. <sup>3</sup>For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the trueth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the trueth. <sup>4</sup>I haue no greater ioy then these, that is, to heare that my sonnes walke in veritie. <sup>5</sup>Beloued, thou doest faithfully, whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers, <sup>6</sup>Which bare witness of thy loue before the Churches. Whom if thou bringest on their iourney as it beseemeth according to God, thou shalt doe well, <sup>7</sup>Because that for his Names sake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles. <sup>8</sup>We therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be helpers to the trueth. <sup>9</sup>I wrote vnto the Church: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiueth vs not. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deedes which he doeth, pratling against vs with malicious wordes, and not therewith content, neither he himselfe receiueth the brethren, but forbiddeth them that woulde, and thrusteth them out of the Church. <sup>11</sup>Beloued, follow not that which is euill, but that which is good: he that doeth well, is of God: but he that doeth euill, hath not seene God. <sup>12</sup>Demetrius hath good report of al men, and of the trueth it selfe: yea, and wee our selues beare recorde, and ye know that our record is true. <sup>13</sup>I haue many things to write: but I will not with yncke and pen write vnto thee: <sup>14</sup>For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greete the friends by name.

Jude

I I vde a seruaunt of Iesus Christ, and brother of Iames, to them which are called and sanctified of God the Father, and returned to Iesus Christ: <sup>2</sup>Mercie vnto you, and peace and loue be multiplied. <sup>3</sup>Beloued, when I gaue al diligece to write vnto you of the common saluation, it was needful for me to write vnto you to exhort you, that yee should earnestly contend for the maintenace of ye faith, which was once giuen vnto the Saintes. <sup>4</sup>For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: vngodly men they are which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse, and denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ. <sup>5</sup>I wil therfore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this, how that the Lord, after that he had deliuered the people out of Egypt, destroyed them afterward which beleued not. <sup>6</sup>The Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, hee hath reserued in euerlasting chaines vnder darknesse vnto the iudgement of the great day. <sup>7</sup>As Sodom and Gomorrhé, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, committed fornication, and followed strange flesh, are set foorth for an example, and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire. <sup>8</sup>Likewise notwithstanding these sleepers also defile the flesh, and despise gouernment, and speake euill of them that are in authoritie. <sup>9</sup>Yet Michael the Archangell, when hee stroue against the deuill, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but sayd, The Lord rebuke thee. <sup>10</sup>But these speake euill of those thinges, which they know not: and whatsoeuer things they know naturally, as beasts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt them selues. <sup>11</sup>Wo be vnto them: for they haue followed the way of Cain, and are cast away by the deceit of Balaams wages, and perish in the gainsaying of Core. <sup>12</sup>These are rockes in your feasts of charitie when they feast with you, without al feare, feeding themselues: cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees and without fruit, twise dead, and plucked vp by ye rootes. <sup>13</sup>They are the raging waues of the sea, foming out their owne shame: they are wandring starres, to whome is reserued the blacknesse of darknesse for euer. <sup>14</sup>And Enoch also the seuenth from Adam, prophecied of such, saying, Beholde, the Lord commeth with thousands of his Saints, <sup>15</sup>To giue iudgement against al men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deeds, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruel speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him. <sup>16</sup>These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: Whose mouthes speake proud things, hauing mens persons in admiration, because of aduantage. <sup>17</sup>But, yee beloued, remember the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ, <sup>18</sup>How that they told you that there should be mockers in ye last time, which should walke after their owne vngodly lustes. <sup>19</sup>These are they that separate them selues from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirit. <sup>20</sup>But, yee beloued, edifie your selues in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost, <sup>21</sup>And keepe your selues in the loue of God, looking for the mercie of our Lord Iesus Christ, vnto eternall life. <sup>22</sup>And haue compassion of some, in putting difference: <sup>23</sup>And other saue with feare, pulling them out of the fire, and hate euen that garment which is spotted by the flesh. <sup>24</sup>Nowe vnto him that is able to keepe you, that ye fall not, and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glorie with ioy, <sup>25</sup>That is, to God only wise, our Sauour, be glorie, and maiestie, and dominion, and power, both nowe and for euer, Amen.

Revelation of John

1The Reuelation of Iesus Christ, which God gaue vnto him, to shewe vnto his seruants things which must shortly be done: which he sent, and shewed by his Angel vnto his seruant Iohn, 2Who bare record of ye word of God, and of the testimonie of Iesus Christ, and of all things that he saw. 3Blessed is he that readeth, and they that heare the wordes of this prophecie, and keepe those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand. 4Iohn, to the seuen Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, and from the seuen Spirits which are before his Throne, 5And from Iesus Christ, which is that faithful wites, and that first begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, vnto him that loued vs, and washed vs from our sinnes in his blood, 6And made vs Kings and Priests vnto God euen his Father, to him I say be glory, and dominion for euermore, Amen. 7Beholde, he commeth with cloudes, and euery eye shall see him: yea, euen they which pearced him thorowe: and all kinreds of the earth shall waile before him, Euen so, Amen. 8I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, euen the Almightye. 9I Iohn, euen your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the yle called Patmos, for the worde of God, and for the witnessing of Iesus Christ. 10And I was rauished in spirit on the Lordes day, and heard behinde me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpet, 11Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: and that which thou seest, write in a booke, and send it vnto the seuen Churches which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, and vnto Smyrna, and vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea. 12Then I turned backe to see the voyce, that spake with me: and when I was turned, I sawe seuen golden candlestickes, 13And in the middes of the seuen candlestickes, one like vnto the Sonne of man, clothed with a garment downe to the feete, and girded about the pappes with a golden girdle. 14His head, and heares were white as white wooll, and as snowe, and his eyes were as a flame of fire, 15And his feete like vnto fine brasse, burning as in a fornace: and his voyce as the sounde of many waters. 16And he had in his right hand seuen starres: and out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword: and his face shone as the sunne shineth in his strength. 17And when I saw him, I fell at his feete as dead: then he laid his right hand vpon me, saying vnto me, Feare not: I am that first and that last, 18And am aliue, but I was dead: and beholde, I am aliue for euermore, Amen: and I haue the keyes of hell and of death. 19Write the things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter. 20The misterie of the seuen starres which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seuen golden candlestickes, is this, The seuen starres are the Angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen candlestickes which thou sawest, are the seuen Churches.

2VNto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write, These things saith he that holdeth the seuen starres in his right hand, and walketh in the middes of the seuen golden candlestickes. 2I knowe thy workes, and thy labour, and thy patience, and howe thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found the liars. 3And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted. 4Neuertheles, I haue somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue. 5Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first workes: or els I will come against thee shortly, and will remooue thy candlesticke out of his place, except thou amend. 6But this thou hast, that thou hatest the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate. 7Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spirite saith vnto the Churches, To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the middes of the Paradise of God. 8And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Smyrnians write, These things saith he that is first, and last, which was dead and is aliue. 9I knowe thy workes and tribulation, and pouertie (but thou art riche) and I knowe the blasphemie of them, which say they are Iewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan. 10Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: beholde, it shall come to passe, that the deuill shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tryed, and ye shall haue tribulation tenne dayes: be thou faithfull vnto the death, and I will giue thee the crowne of life. 11Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches. He that ouercommeth, shall not be hurt of the second death. <sup>12</sup>And to the Angel of the Church, which is at Pergamus write, This saith he which hath that sharpe sworde with two edges. <sup>13</sup>I knowe thy workes and where thou dwellest, euen where Satans throne is, and thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, euen in those dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth. <sup>14</sup>But I haue a fewe things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintaine the doctrine of Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before ye children of Israel, that they should eate of things sacrificed vnto Idoles, and commit fornication. <sup>15</sup>Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate. <sup>16</sup>Repent thy selfe, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sworde of my mouth. <sup>17</sup>Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirite saith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the Manna that is hid, and will giue him a white stone, and in the stone a newe name written, which no man knoweth sauing he that receiueth it. <sup>18</sup>And vnto ye Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse. <sup>19</sup>I knowe thy workes and thy loue, and seruice, and faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that they are more at the last, then at the first. <sup>20</sup>Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Iezabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teache and to deceiue my seruants to make them commit fornication, and to eate meates sacrificed vnto idoles. <sup>21</sup>And I gaue her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes. <sup>23</sup>And I will kill her children with death: and all the Churches shall know that I am he which searche the reins and heartes: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes. <sup>24</sup>And vnto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowen the deepenes of Satan (as they speake) I will put vpon you none other burden. <sup>25</sup>But that which ye haue already, hold fast till I come. <sup>26</sup>For he that ouercommeth and keepeth my workes vnto the end, to him will I giue power ouer nations, <sup>27</sup>And he shall rule them with a rodde of yron: and as the vessels of a potter, shall they be broken. <sup>28</sup>Euen as I receiued of my Father, so will I giue him the morning starre. <sup>29</sup>Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirite saith to the Churches.

3AND write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at Sardis, These things saith he that hath the seuen Spirits of God, and the seuen starres, I knowe thy workes: for thou hast a name that thou liuest, but thou art dead. <sup>2</sup>Be awake, and strengthen the things which remaine, that are readie to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfite before God. <sup>3</sup>Remember therefore, how thou hast receiued and heard, and hold fast and repent. If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thiefe, and thou shalt not know what houre I wil come vpon thee. <sup>4</sup>Notwithstanding thou hast a few names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they shall walke with me in white: for they are worthy. <sup>5</sup>He that ouercommeth, shalbe clothed in white araye, and I will not put out his name out of the booke of life, but I will confesse his name before my Father, and before his Angels. <sup>6</sup>Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spirite saith vnto the Churches. <sup>7</sup>And write vnto ye Angel of ye Church which is of Philadelphia, These things saith he that is Holy, and True, which hath ye keye of Daud, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth and no man openeth, <sup>8</sup>I knowe thy workes: beholde, I haue set before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a litle strength and hast kept my worde, and hast not denied my Name. <sup>9</sup>Behold, I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselues Iewes, and are not, but doe lye: beholde, I say, I will make them, that they shall come and worship before thy feete, and shall knowe that I haue loued thee. <sup>10</sup>Because thou hast kept the woorde of my patience, therefore I wil deliuer thee from the houre of tentation, which will come vpon all the world, to trie them that dwell vpon the earth. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, I come shortly: holde that which thou hast, that no man take thy crowne. <sup>12</sup>Him that ouercommeth, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he shall goe no more out: and I will write vpon him the Name of my God, and the name of the citie of my God, which is the newe Hierusalem, which commeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my newe Name. <sup>13</sup>Let him that hath an eare, heare what ye Spirit saith vnto the Churches. <sup>14</sup>And vnto the Angell of the Church of the Laodiceans write, These things saith Amen, the faithfull and true wnesse, that beginning of the creatures of God. <sup>15</sup>I knowe thy woorkes, that thou art neither colde nor hote: I woulde thou werest colde or hote. <sup>16</sup>Therefore, because thou art luke warme, and neither colde nor hote, it will come to passe, that I shall spewe thee out of my mouth. <sup>17</sup>For thou saiest, I am rich and increased with goods, and haue neede of nothing, and knowest not howe thou art wretched and miserable, and poore, and blinde, and naked. <sup>18</sup>I counsell thee to bye of me gold tried by the fire, that thou maiest bee made rich: and white raiment, that thou maiest be clothed, and that thy filthie nakednesse doe not appeare: and anoynt thine eyes with eye salue, that thou maiest see. <sup>19</sup>As many as I loue, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore and amend. <sup>20</sup>Behold, I stand at the doore, and knocke. If any man heare my voice and open ye doore, I wil come in vnto him, and will suppe with him, and he with me. <sup>21</sup>To him that ouercommeth, will I graunt to sit with me in my throne, euen as I ouercame, and sit with my Father in his throne. <sup>22</sup>Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

<sup>4</sup>After this I looked, and beholde, a doore was open in heauen, and the first voyce which I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with mee, saying, Come vp hither, and I will shewe thee things which must be done hereafter. <sup>2</sup>And immediatly I was rauished in the spirit, and behold, a throne was set in heauen, and one sate vpon the throne. <sup>3</sup>And he that sate, was to looke vpon, like vnto a iasper stone, and a sardine, and there was a rainbowe rounde about the throne, in sight like to an emeraude. <sup>4</sup>And round about the throne were foure and twentie seates, and vpon the seates I sawe foure and twentie Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crownes of golde. <sup>5</sup>And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings, and voyces, and there were seuen lampes of fire burning before the throne, which are the seuen spirits of God. <sup>6</sup>And before the throne there was a sea of glasse like vnto chrysell: and in the middes of the throne, and round about the throne were foure beasts full of eyes before and behinde. <sup>7</sup>And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calfe, and the thirde beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle. <sup>8</sup>And the foure beasts had eche one of them sixe wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy Lord God almighty, Which Was, and Which Is, and Which Is to come. <sup>9</sup>And when those beasts gaue glorie, and honour, and thanks to him that sate on the throne, which liueth for euer and euer, <sup>10</sup>The foure and twentie Elders fell downe before him that sate on the throne and worshipped him that liueth for euermore, and cast their crownes before the throne, saying, <sup>11</sup>Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receiue glory and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy wils sake they are, and haue bene created.

<sup>5</sup>And I saw in the right hand of him that sate vpon the throne, a Booke written within, and on the backside, sealed with seuen seales. <sup>2</sup>And I sawe a strong Angell which preached with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open ye booke, and to loose the seales thereof? <sup>3</sup>And no man in heauen, nor in earth, neither vnder the earth, was able to open the Booke, neither to looke thereon. <sup>4</sup>Then I wept much, because no man was foud worthy to open, and to reade the Booke, neither to looke thereon. <sup>5</sup>And one of the Elders saide vnto me, Weepe not: beholde, that Lion which is of the tribe of Iuda, that roote of Dauid, hath obtained to open the Booke, and to loose the seuen seales thereof. <sup>6</sup>Then I behelde, and loe, in the middes of the throne, and of the foure beasts, and in the middes of the Elders, stode a Labe as though he had bene killed, which had seuen hornes, and seuen eyes, which are the seuen

spirites of God, sent into all the world. <sup>7</sup>And hee came, and tooke the Booke out of the right hand of him that sate vpon the throne. <sup>8</sup>And when he had taken ye Booke, ye foure beasts and the foure and twenty Elders fel downe before the Lambe, hauing euery one harps and golden vials full of odours, which are the praiers of the Saintes, <sup>9</sup>And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthie to take the Booke, and to open the seales thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed vs to God by thy blood out of euery kinred, and tongue, and people, and nation, <sup>10</sup>And hast made vs vnto our God Kings and Priests, and we shall reigne on the earth. <sup>11</sup>Then I behelde, and I heard the voice of many Angels round about the throne, and about the beastes and the Elders, and there were ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands, <sup>12</sup>Saying with a loude voice, Worthie is the Lambe that was killed to receiue power, and riches, and wisdome, and strength, and honour, and glory, and praise. <sup>13</sup>And al the creatures which are in heauen, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the sea, and al that are in them, heard I, saying, Praise, and honour, and glory, and power be vnto him, that sitteth vpon the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore. <sup>14</sup>And the foure beasts said, Amen, and the foure and twentie Elders fell downe and worshipped him that liueth for euermore.

<sup>6</sup>After, I beheld whe the Lambe had opened one of the seales, and I heard one of the foure beastes say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see. <sup>2</sup>Therefore I behelde, and loe, there was a white horse, and hee that sate on him, had a bowe, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might ouercome. <sup>3</sup>And when he had opened the seconde seale, I heard the second beast say, Come and see. <sup>4</sup>And there went out an other horse, that was red, and power was giuen to him that sate thereon, to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great sword. <sup>5</sup>And when hee had opened the thirde seale, I heard the thirde beast say, Come and see: Then I behelde, and loe, a blacke horse, and he that sate on him, had balances in his hand. <sup>6</sup>And I heard a voice in the mids of the foure beastes say, A measure of wheate for a penie, and three measures of barley for a peny, and oyle, and wine hurt thou not. <sup>7</sup>And when he had opened the fourth seale, I heard the voice of the fourth beast say, Come and see. <sup>8</sup>And I looked, and beholde, a pale horse, and his name that sate on him was Death, and Hell folowed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sworde, and with hunger, and with death, and with beastes of the earth. <sup>9</sup>And when hee had opened the fifth seale, I sawe vnder the altar the soules of them, that were killed for the worde of God, and for the testimonie which they mainteined. <sup>10</sup>And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, Lord, which art holie and true! doest not thou iudge and auenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth? <sup>11</sup>And long white robes were giuen vnto euery one, and it was saide vnto them, that they shoulde rest for a litle season vntill their fellow seruants, and their brethren that shoulde bee killed euen as they were, were fulfilled. <sup>12</sup>And I behelde when hee had opened the sixt seale, and loe, there was a great earthquake, and the sunne was as blacke as sackcloth of heare, and the moone was like blood. <sup>13</sup>And the starres of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a figge tree casteth her greene figges when it is shaken of a mightie winde. <sup>14</sup>And heauen departed away, as a scroule, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and yle were moued out of their places. <sup>15</sup>And the Kinges of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mighty men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themselues in dennes, and among the rockes of the mountaines, <sup>16</sup>And said to the mountaines and rocks, Fal on vs, and hide vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe. <sup>17</sup>For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

<sup>7</sup>And after that, I sawe foure Angels stand on the foure corners of the earth, holding the foure windes of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree. <sup>2</sup>And I sawe another Angel come vp from the East, which had the seale of the liuing God, and hee cried with a loud voice to the foure Angels to who power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the sea, saying, <sup>3</sup>Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither the trees, til we haue sealed the seruants of our God in their foreheads. <sup>4</sup>And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed an hundreth and foure and fourtie thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel. <sup>5</sup>Of the tribe of Iuda were sealed twelue thousande. Of the tribe of Ruben were sealed twelue thousande. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelue thousande. <sup>6</sup>Of the tribe of Aser were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Nephthali were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed twelue thousand. <sup>7</sup>Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelue thousande. Of the tribe of Leui were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed twelue thousand. <sup>8</sup>Of the tribe of Ioseph were sealed twelue thousande. Of the tribe of Benjamin were sealed twelue thousand. <sup>9</sup>After these thinges I behelde, and loe a great multitude, which no man coulede number, of all nations and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stode before the throne, and before the Lambe, clothed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands. <sup>10</sup>And they cried with a loud voice, saying, Saluation commeth of our God, that sitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe. <sup>11</sup>And all the Angels stode rounde about the throne, and about the Elders, and the foure beastes, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, <sup>12</sup>Saying, Amen. Praise, and glorie, and wisdom, and thankes, and honour, and power, and might bee vnto our God for euermore, Amen. <sup>13</sup>And one of the Elders spake, saying vnto me, What are these which are araied in log white robes? and whence came they? <sup>14</sup>And I saide vnto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he saide to me, These are they, which came out of great tribulation, and haue washed their long robes, and haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe. <sup>15</sup>Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serue him day and night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne, wil dwell among them. <sup>16</sup>They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither shall the sunne light on them, neither any heate. <sup>17</sup>For the Lambe, which is in the middes of the throne, shall gouerne them, and shall leade them vnto the liuely fountaines of waters, and God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes.

<sup>8</sup>And when he had opened the seuenth seale, there was silence in heauen about halfe an houre. <sup>2</sup>And I sawe the seuen Angels, which stode before God, and to them were giuen seuen trumpets. <sup>3</sup>Then another Angel came and stode before the altar hauing a golden censer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that hee shoulde offer with the prayers of all Saintes vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne. <sup>4</sup>And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of the Saintes, went vp before God, out of the Angels hand. <sup>5</sup>And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake. <sup>6</sup>Then the seuen Angels, which had the seuen trumpets, prepared themselues to blow the trumpets. <sup>7</sup>So the first Angell blewe the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, and the thirde part of trees was burnt, and all greene grasse was burnt. <sup>8</sup>And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the thirde part of the sea became blood. <sup>9</sup>And the thirde part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the thirde part of shippes were destroyed. <sup>10</sup>Then the thirde Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torche, and it fell into the thirde part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters. <sup>11</sup>And the name of the starre is called wormewood: therefore the thirde part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter. <sup>12</sup>And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the thirde part of the sunne was smitten, and the thirde part of the moone, and the thirde part of the starres, so that the thirde part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the thirde part of it could not shine, and likewise the night. <sup>13</sup>And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, saying with a loude voyce, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

9And the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a starre fall from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was giuen the key of the bottomlesse pit. 2And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great fornace, and the sunne, and the ayre were darkened by the smoke of the pit. 3And there came out of the smoke Locustes vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the scorpions of the earth haue power. 4And it was comanded them, that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheads. 5And to them was comanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed fiue moneths, and that their paine should be as the paine that commeth of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man. 6Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flie from them. 7And the forme of the locustes was like vnto horses prepared vnto battel, and on their heads were as it were crownes, like vnto golde, and their faces were like the faces of men. 8And they had heare as the heare of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lyons. 9And they had habbergions, like to habbergions of yron: and the soud of their wings was like the sound of charets whe many horses runne vnto battel. 10And they had tailles like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailles, and their power was to hurt men fiue moneths. 11And they haue a King ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in Hebrewes is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying. 12One woe is past, and beholde, yet two woes come after this. 13Then the sixt Angel blew the trumpet, and I heard a voyce from the foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God, 14Saying to the sixt Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the foure Angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates. 15And the foure Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, and at a yeere, to slay the thirde part of men. 16And the number of horsemen of warre were twentie thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the number of them. 17And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sate on them, hauing firie habbergions, and of Iacynth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heades of lyons: and out of their mouthes went fourth fire and smoke and brimstone. 18Of these three was the thirde part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouthes. 19For their power is in their mouthes, and in their tailles: for their tailles were like vnto serpents, and had heades, wherewith they hurt. 20And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their handes that they should not worship deuils, and idoles of golde and of siluer, and of brasse, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither heare nor goe. 21Also they repented not of their murder, and of their sorcerie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

10And I sawe another mightie Angel come downe from heauen, clothed with a cloude, and the raine bowe vpon his head, and his face was as the sunne, and his feete as pillars of fire. 2And hee had in his hande a little booke open, and he put his right foote vpon the sea, and his left on the earth, 3And cried with a loude voyce, as when a lyon roareth: and when he had cried, seuen thunders vttered their voyces. 4And whe the seuen thunders had vttered their voyces, I was about to write: but I heard a voice from heauen saying vnto me, Seale vp those things which the seuen thunders haue spoken, and write them not. 5And the Angel which I sawe stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, lift vp his hand to heauen, 6And sware by him that liueth for euermore, which created heauen, and the thinges that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the thinges that therein are, that time should be no more. 7But in the dayes of the voyce of the seuenth Angel, when he shall beginne to blow the trumpet, euen the mysterie of God shalbe finished, as he hath declared to his seruants the Prophets. 8And the voyce which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe, and said, Go and take the litle booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth. 9So I went vnto the Angel, and saide to him, Giue me the litle booke. And he said vnto me, Take it, and eate it vp, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shalbe in thy mouth as sweete as honie. 10Then I tooke the litle booke out of ye Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony: but whe I had eaten it my belly was bitter. 11And he said vnto me, Thou must prophecie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

11Then was giuen me a reede, like vnto a rod, and the Angel stooode by, saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein. 2But the court which is without the temple cast out, and mete it not: for it is giuen vnto the Gentiles, and the holy citie shall they treade vnder foote, two and fourtie moneths. 3But I wil giue power vnto my two witnesses, and they shall prophecie a thousande two hundredth and threescore dayes, clothed in sackcloth. 4These are two oliue trees, and two candlestickes, standing before the God of the earth. 5And if any man wil hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoueth their enemies: for if any man would hurt the, thus must he be killed. 6These haue power to shut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their

prophecying, and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood, and to smite the earth with all maner plagues, as often as they will. <sup>7</sup>And when they haue finished their testimonie, the beast that commeth out of the bottomlesse pit, shall make warre against them, and shall ouercome them, and kill them. <sup>8</sup>And their corpses shall lie in the streetes of the great citie, which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where our Lord also was crucified. <sup>9</sup>And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles shall see their corpses three dayes and an halfe, and shall not suffer their carkeises to be put in graues. <sup>10</sup>And they that dwell vpon the earth, shall reioyce ouer them and be glad, and shall sende giftes one to an other: for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth. <sup>11</sup>But after three dayes and an halfe, the spirit of life comming from God, shall enter into them, and they shall stande vp vpon their feete: and great feare shall come vpon them which sawe them. <sup>12</sup>And they shall heare a great voyce from heauen, saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloude, and their enemies shall see them. <sup>13</sup>And the same houre shall there bee a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the citie shall fall, and in the earthquake shalbe slaine in nomber seuen thousande: and the remnant were sore feared, and gaue glorie to the God of heauen. <sup>14</sup>The second woe is past, and beholde, the third woe will come anon. <sup>15</sup>And the seuenth Angell blewe the trumpet, and there were great voyces in heauen, saying, The kingdomes of this worlde are our Lordes, and his Christes, and he shall reigne for euermore. <sup>16</sup>Then the foure and twentie Elders, which sate before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God, <sup>17</sup>Saying, We giue thee thankes, Lord God almightie, Which art, and Which wast, and Which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, and hast obtained thy kingdome. <sup>18</sup>And the Gentiles were angrie, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they shoulde be iudged, and that thou shouldest giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets, and to the Saintes, and to them that feare thy Name, to small and great, and shouldest destroy them, which destroy the earth. <sup>19</sup>Then the Temple of God was opened in heauen, and there was seene in his Temple the Arke of his couenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

12And there appeared a great wonder in heauen: A woman clothed with the sunne, and the moone was vnder her feete, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres. <sup>2</sup>And she was with childe, and cried traueiling in birth, and was pained readie to be deliuered. <sup>3</sup>And there appeared another wonder in heaue: for beholde, a great red dragon hauing seuen heads, and ten hornes, and seuen crownes vpon his heads: <sup>4</sup>And his taile drew the thirde part of the starres of heauen, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman, which was ready to be

deliuered, to deuoure her childe, when shee had brought it forth. <sup>5</sup>So shee brought forth a man childe, which should rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her childe was taken vp vnto God and to his throne. <sup>6</sup>And the woman fled into wildernes where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feede her there a thousande, two hundreth and three score dayes. <sup>7</sup>And there was a battell in heauen, Michael and his Angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels. <sup>8</sup>But they preuailed not, neither was their place found any more in heauen. <sup>9</sup>And the great dragon, that olde serpent, called the deuill and Satan, was cast out, which deceiuet all the world: he was euen cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. <sup>10</sup>Then I heard a loude voyce in heauen, saying, Now is saluation, and strength, and the kingdome of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night. <sup>11</sup>But they ouercame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that worde of their testimonie, and they loued not their liues vnto the death. <sup>12</sup>Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and ye that dwell in them. Wo to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time. <sup>13</sup>And when the dragon sawe that hee was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man childe. <sup>14</sup>But to the woman were giuen two wings of a great eagle, that she might flie into the wildernes, into her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent. <sup>15</sup>And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that he might cause her to be caried away of the flood. <sup>16</sup>But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth. <sup>17</sup>Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the comaundements of God, and haue the testimonie of Iesus Christ. <sup>18</sup>And I stood on the sea sand.

13And I saw a beast rise out of the sea, hauing seuen heads, and ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his heads the name of blasphemie. <sup>2</sup>And the beast which I sawe, was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie. <sup>3</sup>And I sawe one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondred and folowed the beast. <sup>4</sup>And they worshipped the dragon which gaue power vnto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like vnto the beast! who is able to warre with him! <sup>5</sup>And there was giuen vnto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, to doe two and fourtie moneths. <sup>6</sup>And he opened his mouth vnto blas-

phemie against God, to blaspheme his Name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen. <sup>7</sup>And it was giuen vnto him to make warre with the Saints, and to ouercome them, and power was giuen him ouer euery kinred, and tongue, and nation. <sup>8</sup>Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, shall worship him, whose names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world. <sup>9</sup>If any man haue an eare, let him heare. <sup>10</sup>If any leade into captiuitie, hee shall go into captiuitie: if any kill with a sword, he must be killed by a sword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints. <sup>11</sup>And I beheld another beast comming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he spake like the dragon. <sup>12</sup>And he did all that the first beast could doe before him, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed. <sup>13</sup>And he did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men, <sup>14</sup>And deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted to him to doe in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did liue. <sup>15</sup>And it was permitted to him to giue a spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed. <sup>16</sup>And he made all, both small and great, rich and poore, free and bond, to receiue a marke in their right hand or in their foreheads, <sup>17</sup>And that no man might buy or sell, saue hee that had the marke, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. <sup>18</sup>Here is wisdom. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man, and his number is sixe hundreth threescore and sixe.

14Then I looked, and lo, a Lambe stood on mount Sion, and with him an hundreth, fourtie and foure thousand, hauing his Fathers Name written in their foreheads. <sup>2</sup>And I heard a voyce from heauen, as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voyce of harpers harping with their harpes. <sup>3</sup>And they sung as it were a newe song before the throne, and before the foure beasts, and the Elders: and no man could learne that song, but the hundreth, fourtie and foure thousand, which were bought from the earth. <sup>4</sup>These are they, which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: these follow the Lambe whithersoever he goeth: these are bought from men, being the first fruites vnto God, and to the Lambe. <sup>5</sup>And in their mouthes was found no guile: for they are without spot before the throne of God. <sup>6</sup>Then I sawe another Angel flie in the mids of heauen, hauing an euerlasting Gospel, to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation, and kinred, and tongue, and people, <sup>7</sup>Saying with a loude voyce, Feare God, and giue glory to him: for the houre of his iugement is come: and worship him that made heauen and earth, and the sea, and the fountaines of waters. <sup>8</sup>And there followed another Angel, saying, Babylon that great citie is fallen, it is fallen: for she made all nations to drinke of the wine of the wrath of her fornication. <sup>9</sup>And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loude voyce, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand, <sup>10</sup>The same shall drinke of the wine of ye wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe. <sup>11</sup>And the smoke of their torment shall ascend euermore: and they shall haue no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiue the print of his name. <sup>12</sup>Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the commandements of God, and the fayth of Iesus. <sup>13</sup>Then I heard a voyce from heauen, saying vnto me, Write, The dead which die in the Lord, are fully blessed. Euen so sayth the Spirit: for they rest from their labours, and their workes follow them. <sup>14</sup>And I looked, and behold, a white cloude, and vpon the cloude one sitting like vnto the Sonne of man, hauing on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a sharpe sickle. <sup>15</sup>And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a loude voyce to him that sate on the cloude, Thrust in thy sickle and reape: for the time is come to reape: for the haruest of the earth is ripe. <sup>16</sup>And he that sate on the cloude, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped. <sup>17</sup>Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing also a sharpe sickle. <sup>18</sup>And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, and cryed with a loude crie to him that had the sharpe sickle, and sayd, Thrust in thy sharpe sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe. <sup>19</sup>And the Angel thrust in his sharpe sickle on the earth, and cut downe the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great wine presse of the wrath of God. <sup>20</sup>And the wine presse was troden without the citie, and blood came out of the wine presse, vnto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and sixe hundreth furlongs.

15And I sawe another signe in heauen, great and marueilous, seuen Angels, hauing the seuen last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God. <sup>2</sup>And I sawe as it were a glassie sea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victorie of the beast, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, stand at the glassie sea, hauing the harpes of God, <sup>3</sup>And they sung the song of Moses the seruant of God, and the song of the Lambe, saying, Great and marueilous are thy workes, Lord God almightie: iust and true are thy wayes, King of Saints. <sup>4</sup>Who shall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee:

for thy iudgements are made manifest. <sup>5</sup>And after that, I looked, and beholde, the Temple of the tabernacle of testimonie was open in heauen. <sup>6</sup>And the seuen Angels came out of the Temple, which had the seuen plagues, clothed in pure and bright linnen, and hauing their breasts girded with golden girdles. <sup>7</sup>And one of the foure beastes gaue vnto the seuen Angels seuen golden vials full of the wrath of God, which liueth for euermore. <sup>8</sup>And the Temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seuen plagues of the seuen Angels were fulfilled.

16And I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, saying to the seuen Angels, Go your wayes, and powre out the seuen vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth. <sup>2</sup>And the first went and powred out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noysome, and a grievous sore vpon the men, which had the marke of ye beast, and vpon them which worshipped his image. <sup>3</sup>And the second Angel powred out his viall vpon the sea, and it became as the blood of a dead man: and euery liuing thing dyed in the sea. <sup>4</sup>And the third Angel powred out his viall vpon the riuers and fountaines of waters, and they became blood. <sup>5</sup>And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, thou art iust, Which art, and Which wast: and Holy, because thou hast iudged these things. <sup>6</sup>For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthy. <sup>7</sup>And I heard another out of the Sanctuarie say, Euen so, Lord God almightie, true and righteous are thy iudgements. <sup>8</sup>And the fourth Angel powred out his viall on the sunne, and it was giuen vnto him to torment men with heate of fire, <sup>9</sup>And men boyled in great heate, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer these plagues, and they repented not, to giue him glorie. <sup>10</sup>And the fifth Angel powred out his viall vpon the throne of the beast, and his kingdome waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for sorowe, <sup>11</sup>And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their workes. <sup>12</sup>And the sixth Angel powred out his viall vpon the great riuier Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared. <sup>13</sup>And I sawe three vnclane spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet. <sup>14</sup>For they are the spirits of deuils, working miracles, to go vnto the Kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God Almighty. <sup>15</sup>(Beholde, I come as a theefe. Blessed is he that watcheth and keepeth his garments, least hee walke naked, and men see his filthines) <sup>16</sup>And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrewe Arma-gedon. <sup>17</sup>And the seuenth Angel powred out his viall into the ayre: and there came a loude voyce out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying, It is done. <sup>18</sup>And there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mightie an earthquake. <sup>19</sup>And the great citie was deuided into three partes, and the cities of the nations fell: and that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath. <sup>20</sup>And euery yle fled away, and the mountaines were not found. <sup>21</sup>And there fell a great haile, like talents, out of heauen vpon the men, and men blasphemed God, because of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

17Then there came one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials, and talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shewe thee the damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters, <sup>2</sup>With whom haue committed fornication the Kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication. <sup>3</sup>So he caried me away into the wilderness in the Spirit, and I sawe a woman sit vpon a skarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemie, which had seuen heads, and tenne hornes. <sup>4</sup>And the woman was arayed in purple and skarlet, and gilded with golde, and precious stones, and pearles, and had a cup of gold in her hand, full of abominations, and filthines of her fornication. <sup>5</sup>And in her forehead was a name written, A mysterie, that great Babylon, that mother of whoredomes, and abominations of the earth. <sup>6</sup>And I sawe ye woman drunken with the blood of Saintes, and with the blood of the Martyrs of IESVS: and when I sawe her, I wondred with great marueile. <sup>7</sup>Then the Angel saide vnto me, Wherefore marueilest thou? I will shewe thee the misterie of that woman, and of that beast, that beareth her, which hath seuen heads, and tenne hornes. <sup>8</sup>The beast that thou hast seene, was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomles pit, and shall goe into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, shall wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of ye world) when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is. <sup>9</sup>Here is the mind that hath wisdom. The seuen heads, are seuen mountaines, whereon the woman sitteth: they are also seuen Kings. <sup>10</sup>Fiue are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he commeth, he must continue a short space. <sup>11</sup>And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the seuen, and shall goe into destruction. <sup>12</sup>And the tenne hornes which thou sawest, are tenne Kings, which yet haue not receiued a kingdome, but shall receiue power, as Kings at one houre with the beast. <sup>13</sup>These haue one minde, and shall giue their power, and authoritie vnto the beast. <sup>14</sup>These shall fight with the Lambe, and the Lambe shall ouercome them: for he is Lord of Lordes, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side, called, and chosen, and faithfull. <sup>15</sup>And he said vnto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues. <sup>16</sup>And the tenne hornes which thou sawest vpon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eate her flesh, and burne her with fire. <sup>17</sup>For God hath put in their heartes to fulfill his will, and to doe with one consent for to giue their kingdome vnto the beast, vntill the wordes of God be fulfilled. <sup>18</sup>And that woman which thou sawest, is that great citie, which reigneth ouer the kings of ye earth.

18And after these thinges, I sawe another Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glorie, <sup>2</sup>And he cryed out mightily with a loud voyce, saying, It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great citie, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the holde of all foule spirits, and a cage of euery vn-cleane and hatefull birde. <sup>3</sup>For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the marchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures. <sup>4</sup>And I heard another voyce from heauen say, Goe out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sinnes, and that ye receiue not of her plagues. <sup>5</sup>For her sinnes are come vp into heauen, and God hath remembered her iniquities. <sup>6</sup>Rewarde her, euen as she hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her workes: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her ye double. <sup>7</sup>In as much as she glorified her selfe, and liued in pleasure, so much giue ye to her torment and sorow: for she saith in her heart, I sit being a queene, and am no widowe, and shall see no mourning. <sup>8</sup>Therefore shall her plagues come at one day, death, and sorowe, and famine, and she shalbe burnt with fire: for that God which condemmeth her, is a strong Lord. <sup>9</sup>And the kings of the earth shall bewayle her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, and liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning, <sup>10</sup>And shall stand a farre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come. <sup>11</sup>And the marchants of the earth shall weepe and wayle ouer her: for no man byeth their ware any more. <sup>12</sup>The ware of golde, and siluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and of skarlet, and of all maner of Thyne wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble, <sup>13</sup>And of cinamon, and odours, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and bestes, and sheepe, and horses, and charets, and seruants, and soules of men. <sup>14</sup>(And the apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fatte and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more) <sup>15</sup>The marchants of these thinges which were waxed riche, shall stand a farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wayling, <sup>16</sup>And saying, Alas, alas, that great citie, that was clothed in fine linnen and purple, and skarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles. <sup>17</sup>For in one houre so great riches are come to desolation. And euery shipmaster, and all the people that occupie shippes, and shipmen, and whosoever traffike on the sea, shall stand a farre off, <sup>18</sup>And crie, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie? <sup>19</sup>And they shall cast dust on their heads, and crie, weeping, and wayling, and say, Alas, alas, that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her costlinesse: for in one houre she is made desolate. <sup>20</sup>O heauen, reioyce of her, and ye holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her to be reuenged on her for your sakes. <sup>21</sup>Then a mightie Angell tooke vp a stone like a great milstone, and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great citie Babylon be cast, and shalbe found no more. <sup>22</sup>And the voyce of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpetters shalbe heard no more in thee, and no craftesman, of whatsoever craft he be, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a milstone shalbe heard no more in thee. <sup>23</sup>And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voyce of the bridegrome and of the bride shalbe heard no more in thee: for thy marchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantments were deceiued all nations. <sup>24</sup>And in her was found the blood of the Prophets, and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

19And after these things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, saying, Hallelu-iah, saluation, and glorie, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God. <sup>2</sup>For true and righteous are his iudgements: for he hath condemned that great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shed by her hand. <sup>3</sup>And againe they saide, Hallelu-iah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore. <sup>4</sup>And the foure and twentie Elders, and the foure bestes fell downe, and worshipped God that sate on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah. <sup>5</sup>Then a voyce came out of the throne, saying, Prayse our God, all ye his seruants, and ye that feare him, both small and great. <sup>6</sup>And I heard like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of strong thundrings, saying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that almightie God hath reigned. <sup>7</sup>Let vs be glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of that Lambe is come, and his wife hath made her selfe ready. <sup>8</sup>And to her was granted, that she should be arayed with pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine linnen is the righteousness of Saintes. <sup>9</sup>Then he said vnto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambes supper. And he said vnto me, These wordes of God are true. <sup>10</sup>And I fell before his feete, to worship him: but he said vnto me, See thou doe it not: I am thy fellowe seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the testimonie of Iesus. Worship God: for the testimonie of Iesus is the Spirit of prophecie. <sup>11</sup>And I sawe heauen open, and behold, a white horse, and he that sate vpon him, was called, Faithfull and true, and he iudgeth and fighteth righteously. <sup>12</sup>And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and he had a name written, that no man knewe but himselfe. <sup>13</sup>And he was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name is called THE WORD OF GOD. <sup>14</sup>And the hostes which werein heauen, followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnen white and pure. <sup>15</sup>And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sworde, that with it he should smite the heathen: for he shall rule them with a rod of yron: for he it is that treadeth the wine presse of the fiercenesse and wrath of almighty God. <sup>16</sup>And he hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, THE KINGS OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS. <sup>17</sup>And I sawe an Angel stand in the sunne, who cryed with a loude voyce, saying to all the foules that did flie by the middes of heauen, Come, and gather your selues together vnto the supper of ye great God, <sup>18</sup>That ye may eate the flesh of Kings, and the flesh of hie Captaines, and the flesh of mightie men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great. <sup>19</sup>And I sawe the beast, and the Kings of the earth, and their hostes gathered together to make battell against him that sate on the horse, and against his armie. <sup>20</sup>But ye beast was taken, and with him that false prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued ye beastes marke, and them that worshipped his image. These both were alieue cast into a lake of fire, burning with brimstone. <sup>21</sup>And the remnant were slayne with the sword of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the foules were filled full with their flesh.

<sup>20</sup>And I sawe an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the keye of the bottomles pit, and a great chaine in his hand. <sup>2</sup>And he tooke the dragon that olde serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bounde him a thousand yeeres: <sup>3</sup>And cast him into the bottomles pit, and he shut him vp, and sealed the doore vpon him, that he should deceiue the people no more, till the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for a litle season. <sup>4</sup>And I sawe seates: and they sate vpon them, and iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I saw the soules of them that were beheaded for the witnes of Iesus, and for the word of God, and which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads, or on their handes: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yeere. <sup>5</sup>But the rest of the dead men shall not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeres be finished: this is the first resurrection. <sup>6</sup>Blessed and holy is hee, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shalbe the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousand yeere. <sup>7</sup>And when the thousand yeres are expired, Satan shalbe loosed out of his prison, <sup>8</sup>And shall go out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is, as the sand of the sea. <sup>9</sup>And they went vp into the plaine of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them. <sup>10</sup>And the deuill that deceiued them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall be tormented euen day and night for euermore. <sup>11</sup>And I saw a great white throne, and one that sate on it, from whose face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found. <sup>12</sup>And I saw the dead, both great and small stand before God: and the bookes were opened, and another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, and the dead were iudged of those things, which were written in the bookes, according to their woorkes. <sup>13</sup>And the sea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their woorkes. <sup>14</sup>And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death. <sup>15</sup>And whosoouer was not found written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

<sup>21</sup>And I sawe a newe heauen, and a newe earth: for the first heauen, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea. <sup>2</sup>And I Iohn sawe the holie citie newe Hierusalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband. <sup>3</sup>And I heard a great voice out of heauen, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shalbe his people, and God himselfe shalbe their God with them. <sup>4</sup>And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes: and there shalbe no more death, neither sorow, neither crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the first things are passed. <sup>5</sup>And he that sate vpon the throne, sayd, Behold, I make all things newe: and he sayde vnto me, Write: for these wordes are faithfull and true. <sup>6</sup>And he said vnto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ende. I wil giue to him that is a thirst, of the well of the water of life freely. <sup>7</sup>He that ouercometh, shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my sonne. <sup>8</sup>But the fearful and vnbeleeuing, and the abominable and murtherers, and whoremogers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall haue their part in the lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death. <sup>9</sup>And there came vnto mee one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials full of the seuen last plagues, and talked with mee, saying, Come: I will shewe thee the bride, the Lambes wife. <sup>10</sup>And he caried

me away in the spirit to a great: and an hie mountaine, and he shewed me that great citie, that holie Hierusalem, descending out of heauen from God, <sup>11</sup>Hauing the glorie of God: and her shining was like vnto a stone most precious, as a Iasper stone cleare as crystall, <sup>12</sup>And had a great wall and hie, and had twelue gates, and at the gates twelue Angels, and the names written, which are the twelue tribes of the children of Israel. <sup>13</sup>On the East part there were three gates, and on the Northside three gates, on the Southside three gates, and on the Westside three gates. <sup>14</sup>And the wall of the citie had twelue foundations, and in them the Names of the Lambes twelue Apostles. <sup>15</sup>And hee that talked with mee, had a golden reede, to measure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof. <sup>16</sup>And the citie laie foure square, and the length is as large as the bredth of it, and he measured the citie with the reede, twelue thousande furlongs: and the length, and the bredth, and the height of it are equall. <sup>17</sup>And hee measured the wall thereof, an hundreth fourtie and foure cubites, by the measure of man, that is, of the Angell. <sup>18</sup>And ye building of the wall of it was of Iasper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleare glasse. <sup>19</sup>And the foundations of the wall of ye city were garnished with all maner of precious stones: the first foundation was Iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of a Chalcedonie: the fourth of an Emeraude: <sup>20</sup>The fift of a Sardonix: the sixt of a Sardius: the seuenth of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaze: the tenth of a Chrysoprasus: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyst. <sup>21</sup>And the twelue gates were twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the streete of the citie is pure golde, as shining glasse. <sup>22</sup>And I sawe no Temple therein: for the Lord God almightie and the Lambe are the Temple of it. <sup>23</sup>And this citie hath no neede of the sunne, neither of the moone to shine in it: for the glorie of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it. <sup>24</sup>And the people which are sauued, shall walke in the light of it: and the Kings of the earth shall bring their glorie and honour vnto it. <sup>25</sup>And the gates of it shall not be shut by day: for there shalbe no night there. <sup>26</sup>And the glorie, and honour of the Gentiles shall be brought vnto it. <sup>27</sup>And there shall enter into it none vnclene thing, neither whatsoever woorketh abomination or lies: but they which are written in ye Lambes booke of life.

22 And hee shewed me a pure riuer of water of life, cleare as crystall, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe. <sup>2</sup>In the middes of the street of it, and of either side of ye riuer, was the tree of life, which bare twelue maner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with. <sup>3</sup>And there shalbe no more curse, but ye throne of God and of the Lambe shall be in it, and his seruants shall serue him. <sup>4</sup>And they shall see his face, and his Name shalbe in their foreheads. <sup>5</sup>And there shalbe no night there, and they neede no candle, neither light of the sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they shall reigne for euermore. <sup>6</sup>And he said vnto me, These wordes are faithfull and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angell to shewe vnto his seruants the things which must shortly be fulfilled. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I come shortly. Blessed is hee that keepeth the woordes of the prophecie of this booke. <sup>8</sup>And I am Iohn, which sawe and heard these thinges: and when I had heard and seene, I fell downe to worship before the feete of the Angell which shewed me these things. <sup>9</sup>But he sayde vnto me, See thou doe it not: for I am thy fellowe seruaunt, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the woordes of this booke: worship God. <sup>10</sup>And he said vnto me, Seale not the wordes of the prophecie of this booke: for the time is at hand. <sup>11</sup>He that is vniust, let him be vniust stil and he which is filthie, let him be filthie still: and hee that is righteous, let him be righteous stil: and he that is holy, let him be holy still. <sup>12</sup>And beholde, I come shortly, and my reward is with mee, to giue euery man according as his worke shall be. <sup>13</sup>I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last. <sup>14</sup>Blessed are they, that doe his commandements, that their right may be in the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the Citie. <sup>15</sup>For without shall be dogs and inchanters, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loueth or maketh lies. <sup>16</sup>I Iesus haue sent mine Angell, to testifie vnto you these things in the Churches: I am the root and the generation of Daudid, and the bright morning starre. <sup>17</sup>And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth, say, Come: and let him that is a thirst, come: and let whosoever will, take of the water of life freely. <sup>18</sup>For I protest vnto euery man that heareth the words of the prophecie of this booke, If any man shall adde vnto these things, God shall adde vnto him the plagues, that are written in this booke: <sup>19</sup>And if any man shall diminish of the wordes of the booke of this prophecie, God shall take away his part out of the Booke of life, and out of the holie citie, and from those things which are written in this booke. <sup>20</sup>He which testifieth these things, saith, Surely, I come quickly. Amen. Euen so, come Lord Iesus. <sup>21</sup>The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, AMEN.
